SACRAMENTO COUNTY ADMISSION DAY PLANS

With proceeds from the event to be spent for Christmas presents for all Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West from Sacramento County who are now in the services of Uncle Sam, an all-day celebration Admission Day, September 9 at Elk Grove Community Park will be staged by members of the Curly Bears of Sacramento.

Walter N. Bailey, Elk Grove Parlor No. 11, NSGW, general chairman of the outdoor highjinks, announced the following lineup of entertainment for the afternoon and evening: Swimming, games, contests of all kinds and dancing; a baseball game between two of the best service teams in Northern California, and a rival championship game between Native Sons of Sacramento and Elk Grove.

Vaudeville acts will also be presented during the afternoon, and Past Grand President Henry S. Lyon will discuss "The Meaning of Admission Day."

In the evening Mather Field's sixteen-piece band will furnish music for dancing. Members of Chairman Bailey's committee are Bill Kelly, Jack Walker, Nello Malerbi, Roy Cothrin, Mrs. William Kelly, George Miller and Fred McPherson.

WAR BONDS PURCHASED

Eight $100 war bonds have been purchased by Donner Parlor No. 193, NDGW, Byron, and plans are to buy two more of the same amount before the end of 1944.

Proceeds from the parlor's annual Admission Day ball, September 9 in Veterans' Hall, Brentwood, Contra Costa County, will go toward this patriotic purpose. Meanwhile, Donner Parlor has many other important affairs on its calendar, some of which are:

Annual bazaar in the IOOF hall, Byron, October 18; Entertainment of its three charter members and nine members who have belonged to the Order twenty-five years, November 7; participation in a district meeting now being arranged by SDDGP Virginia Boltzen.

Assume Stations

Installation of officers for the new term highlighted the business meeting July 17 of Vista del Mar Parlor No. 55 NDGW at Half Moon Bay. Marian Miramontes, president, lead the business session and DGP Bertha Brown, of Bonita Parlor No. 10, Redwood City, assisted by six members of that parlor, officiated at the installation ceremonies.

Deputy grand president, Evelyn Cabral, Ano Nuevo Parlor No. 180, Pescadero, was introduced as the deputy for the home parlor for the ensuing term. Following the installation, refreshments were served in the banquet hall by Chairman Irene Francis and her committee.

ADMISSION DAY IN ALAMEDA COUNTY

The Joint Committee of Native Sons and Daughters of Alameda County will observe Admission Day, September 9, with a banquet to be held in Oakland's Leamington hotel.

Invited to the affair are Grand Parlor officers; ranking representatives of the Army, Navy and Marine corps; and state, county and city officials.

Grand Inside Sentinel Raymond Burke is banquet chairman and Grand First Vice-President Richard F. McCarthy, will be master of ceremonies.

Admission Day Banquet

The Green Patrol drill team of Sequoia Parlor No. 272 and Argonaut Parlor No. 166 will feature the program following an Admission Day banquet to be staged by the two NDGW parlors in the Leamington Hotel, Oakland. Plans for the affair were formed August 10 when newly installed officers of Sequoia, headed by President Marion McGuire, approved the suggestion that servicemen be invited as guests. Edna Williams is Admission Day chairman for the parlor.

Arrangements also are being made by Sequoia for a "Russian party" to be given later in September, with Edna Williams again serving as chairman. Emily Ohman is chairman of a committee laying plans for another service men's party to be held in October. Emma Haggerty, co-organizer of the parlor was an honored guest at the meeting where plans for the several affairs were formed.

The annual whist party of the parlor will be given November 9, President McGuire having appointed committees. Election and installation of a new treasurer for Sequoia was held August 24.

Membership Teams

To stimulate interest in the parlor's forthcoming membership drive, Cora Welch, newly-installed president of Piedmont Parlor No. 87, NDGW, on August 3 appointed competing teams for an all-out effort to bring more California-born girls into the parlor. The losing team, President Welch announced, will treat the winning team to a dinner.

Departmental chairmen for the ensuing year were also announced at the meeting. District deputy Gladys Farley attended and spoke on the subjects of Admission Day and Extension of the Order. Jennie Peterson, Aloha Parlor No. 106, Oakland, member of the Native Daughters' Home committee also was present and spoke on the activities of that committee.

Annual Roundup

With the main event of the evening to be a southern baked ham with all the "trimmings," Piedmont Parlor No. 120, NSGW, Oakland, will hold its annual Roundup at seven o'clock the evening of September 1. Dinner reservations for 150 have been received.

Fritz Brause, co-chairman of the Good of the Order Committee, Frenchie Weber and a cooking contingent will prepare and serve the dinner. Al Weber will be in charge of entertainment.

Hospitality House

Sequoia Parlor No. 272, NDGW, Berkeley, was hostess to 650 service men in the Berkeley Hospitality House August 5. During the evening, refreshments were served and a musical entertainment was given under direction of Tessie Socker, organist. Mary Galotta was general chairman.

Members are on duty from 7 p.m. until midnight at the Hospitality House the first Saturday of every month. The majority of the men at the hospitality house recently have returned from overseas duty.

Serve Twenty-five Years

Financial Secretary Willis Edwards and Treasurer George Hans, of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW, Oakland, both veterans in the service of the Order for twenty-five years, received much praise for their devoted work, when they were installed in office July 14 by DDGP Al Vinther, of Claremont Parlor No. 242, NSGW, Emeryville. Vinther, who was assisted by Ed Hanson, installed other officers as follows:

James Ambrosi, junior past president; Dan Billings, president; James Hubbard, William H. Dombrink and Kenneth Hall, respectively first, second and third vice-presidents; Carl Ragon, marshal; John W. McNiece, inside sentinel; Charles Eiferle, outside sentinel; Miller Markey, Ed Barthold and Kenn Halnen, trustees; Willis Edwards, financial secretary; George Hans, treasurer. Edward T. Schnarr, secretary, who is in the army, was represented by Treasurer Hans as proxy. Hans will perform Schnarr's work while the latter is absent in uniform.

Members of the parlor with their families attended a steak barbecue at Joaquin Miller park July 16, with arrangements for the affair made by Jim Ambrosi and Willie Dombrink. The latter collected red OPA meat points from those in attendance, while Jesse Cosma presided over the barbecue pit. A dinner will be held soon, when awards will be made to winners of the parlor's victory garden contest.

One Day Session Planned

Scheduled for one day only due to limited hotel accommodations, the twenty-fourth General Assembly of the Past Presidents' Association NSGW will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 21 in Oakland.

Governor-General Harold B. Farley, Piedmont Parlor No. 120, Oakland, will preside at the one-day session, which will be held in Native Sons Building, 11th and Clay Streets.

Frank Roemer, Piedmont Parlor No. 120, will be general chairman of the meet. Following the business session a cocktail hour will be held, with a banquet in the evening.

During the past two months Governor-General Farley has visited San Francisco Assembly No. 1 and John A. Sutter Assembly No. 10 in Sacramento.

Daughters Install

At impressive ceremonies August 17, Matilda Pappas was installed president of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW, succeeding Eileen Blair. Ceremonies were held in the Vallejo Women's Club, with more than 200 members and guests in attendance.

Martha Brien, deputy grand president from Eschol Parlor No. 16, Napa, served as installing officer, assisted by a corps of acting grand officers from the same parlor.

Others installed were Layol German, Alma Holzworth and Eunice Ealy, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Pauline Pappas, marshal; Flora Gebhardt, Nellie Bohland and Dorothy Walte, trustees; Kathryn Fitzgerald, secretary; Anna Johnson, financial secretary; Tessie O'Neil, secretary; Juliet Bliss, organist; Audelle Clark, inside sentinel; Aileen Adrianson, outside sentinel.

Edith Cavagnero, of Calistoga, new deputy to Vallejo Parlor and many visitors were present, as well as a representative group from Vallejo Parlor No. 77, NSGW.

New President

W. B. Hallin, Jr., newly elected president of Vallejo Parlor No. 77, NSGW, and his corps of officers were installed July 25 by DDGP M. E. Coronado. Assisting in the ceremonies were H. L. Palmer, senior past president, who was acting junior past president and senior past president H. K. Brewster, who acted as marshal.

Following the installation a banquet was served, with F. J. Holdener as toastmaster.

Those taking office with president Hallin, were E. H. Munson, senior past president; W. S. Woolery, junior past president; P. B. Lynch, George Thomson and M. E. Johnson, respectively, first, second and third vice-presidents; W. B. Hallin, Sr., recording secretary; F. J. Holdener, financial secretary; R. C. Taliferro, treasurer; Robert Gibson, marshal; W. B. Alexander, inside sentinel; N. B. Bennett, outside sentinel and G. C. Demmon, trustee.

Officers Seated

Marinita Parlor No. 195, NDGW, San Rafael, held installation ceremonies July 24, with Deputy Catherine Ingram as installing officer. Virginia Ingram, newly elected president, when escorted to her station, was presented with a bouquet of red roses by her mother, while Kay Mattos, accompaned by Ruth Hall, rendered a vocal selection.

Refreshments, under the chairmanship of Catherine Kelly, were served in the banquet room. During the business session, plans were formed for participation in the annual San Rafael Days Fiesta October 13-15.

The eighth annual dinner party of the Past Presidents' Club, held July 15, was followed by a meeting when Secret Pals were revealed. PGP Emma Foley, mother of Marinita, spoke of early days when the parlor was instituted and members had to walk to and from the meetings for lack of other transportation. Verna Strittmatter presided until time to turn the meeting over to Ella Trumbly, who will serve for the next term.

Appropriate Ceremonies

Menlo Park's Central school auditorium was the setting July 28 for installation of officers of Menlo Parlor No. 211, NDGW. Margaret Locatelli, deputy grand president, was the installing officer, assisted by a corps of officers from Bonita Parlor No. 10, Redwood City.

New officers of Menlo parlor are: Laura Bartels, president; Agnes Mosher, past president; Madeline Cossuti, first vice-president; Myrtle Alterton, second vice-president; Alice Robinson, third vice-president; Beverly Carnaval, marshal; Francis E. Maloney, recording secretary; Grace Loverich, financial secretary; Catherine Derry, treasurer; Norma Gugliemoni, organist; Louise Murray, inside sentinel; Bette Rehorst, outside sentinel; Mary Sparks, Dorothy Curran, and Eva Carnaval, trustees.

Guests at the colorful affair included PGP Evelyn I. Carlson, Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio, and SDDGP Stella Zanetti, of San Bruno Parlor.

Gifts were presented to the Grand Officers, Deputy Margaret Locatelli; and the outgoing and incoming presidents. Refreshments were served at the close of the ceremonies to the large throng present. San Francisco, Palo Alto, Daly City, San Bruno and Redwood City visitors were present.

Honor Deputies

Members of Susanville Parlor No. 243, NDGW, presented gifts to SDDGP Agnes Packwood, and DGP Blanch Keller, whose terms of office expired at their meeting July 18. Sincere appreciation for the two officers' splendid cooperation and advice through the past year was expressed by Alice Kirkpatrick, president of Susanville Parlor.

It was announced that Blanch Keller had been appointed Supervising District Deputy Grand President for the ensuing year by Grand President Emily Ryan.

Santa Barbara plans Mission Canyon Fete

Committees in charge of Santa Barbara's Admission Day celebration have been named by Presidents Mrs. William Birss of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126, NDGW, and Paul Sweetser, Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116, NSGW. The affair will take place in the Mission Canyon home of the Santa Barbara Women's Club. The general committee includes:

Mabel Erwin, Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, PGP Cora B. Sifford of Ventura, Mrs. Ray King, Mrs. William Poole, Mrs. Harry Lamb, Mrs. C. E. Lataillade, Mrs. C. W. Alexander, Mrs. George Castagnola, Mrs. John Pomatto, Mrs. Albert Ames, Mrs. E. Giorgi, Mrs. Hal D. Caywood, Mrs. Charlton Graham, Mrs. Ben Hartman, Mrs. Richard King, Mrs. E. A. Fenn, Mrs. R. B. Romero, Mrs. W. M. Laughlin, Mrs. R. W. Phelan, Mrs. B. A. Tucker, Mrs. L. C. Miles, Josie Pagliotti, Frances McDermott, Barbara Hernster, Estell Nichols, Wilford H. Rutherford and Raymond B. Romero.

The roster committee work of securing additional pioneer signatures will be carried on at the observance by Mamie C. Harrison, Mrs. Ben Dismuke, Mrs. R. J. Schuld, Mrs. Stanley Clem, Harry Sweetser and Lester Buell.

The reception which will follow the Admission Day program will be directed by Mrs. Henry J. Griffiths and Mrs. Elizabeth Coen with many aides.

Swell Charity Fund

Through efforts of Edna Collins, a $200 check was received by El Tejon Parlor No. 239, NDGW, Bakersfield, from the "Buck of the Month Club," Lockheed Aircraft plant in the valley city. One half of the sum immediately was turned over to the Homeless Children's Fund and the balance retained for local charity work. With Georgia Sanders and Marie Finn as co-chairmen of the War Activities committee, it was voted to buy furnishings for a sun porch at Muroc Base hospital, while playing cards, games and books are being donated by members for the veterans housed there.

Cletha Alippi, president, Irma Jones, Alice Blalock, Edith Penland and Wilma Smith formed a committee, which in conjunction with Native Sons, recently presented a bear flag to the Bakersfield Lockheed plant as a token of recognition of its war work.

Three new members, Marjorie Bouw, Jacqueline Lorang and Barbara Hale were initiated September 15, and a larger class is expected to be introduced on Admission Day. Daughters have been born to Mildred Villard, Margaret Crawford and Rosie Brooks.

New Leaders

Officers of San Jose Parlor No. 22, NSGW, were installed recently, with DDGP Herman Mager, of Observatory Parlor No. 177, San Jose, installing officer. He was assisted in the ceremony by Will Compton, Observatory Parlor No. 177, and E. Lorentz, Jr., and Al Berryessa of San Jose Parlor.

The parlor's new officials are Nathan Morgin, president; J. Lawrence, J. Castillo and W. Lordge, respectively, first, second and third vice presidents; Harold Semichy, recording secretary; G. Origlia, financial secretary; Charles Baldasini, treasurer; George Gordon, marshal; V. Badalamente, trustee, and Dan Higuera, junior past president.

Native Daughters and Native Sons of Bakersfield are continuing once-a-month breakfasts, and now are planning a huge barn dance for the near future.

Heavy attendance marked the last meeting of the Young Women's Activity group, which was held out of doors, with refreshments served by Cletha Alippi, Edith Penland and Alice Blalock. After the refreshments, the group moved to a nearby bowling alley for several games.

First Minutes Read

Members of the Past Presidents' Association No. 3, recently met, with Georgia Shannon, who is the newly installed president, and Adeline Boyson acting as hostess.

Minutes of the first meeting of the Association held twenty years ago were read by the secretary, Alice Roll. In attendance were Clara Briggs, the Association's organizer and Mary Champion, another charter member.

A large birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Briggs, who also was observing her natal anniversary that day. Chairmen for the day were Mrs. Guardino, who had assistance from Dora Dunn and Addie Boyson. Hostesses for the next meeting will be Henrietta Marcott, Mary Champion and Addie Boyson.

HISTORY BOARD MEETS

The California History Board of the Native Sons met August 11 and discussed plans for the relocation of the Broderick monument. Initial plans were also made for a dinner honoring Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, noted historian, and a survey of the study of history in the California public schools.

Those who attended were Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy; PGP Edward J. Lynch; Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy; William C. Luchan, Berkeley and Louis J. Peter, San Rafael.

WILD AND WOOLY WEST

Heralding Admission Day, Central Parlor No. 284, NSGW, Santa Maria, and Santa Maria Parlor No. 276, NDGW, announce plans for a two-day celebration to take place in that city September 9 and 10.

One of the outstanding events of the big celebration will be a Rodeo, Sunday, September 10, at 2 p.m. Bull, bronco and bare-back riding, bull-dogging, calf-roping, stear-roping, horse races and other hair-raising stunts of the wild and wooly west will take place. What promises to be a "standout" feature for laughs at the outdoor event will be an offer extended to any Native Son present at the rodeo to participate in a steer-stopping contest.

The winner of this event will receive a trophy, to be kept by him for a year and returned the following September as an award to whoever wins the contest at that time. If a parlor contestant wins for three consecutive times, the award becomes a permanent parlor trophy.

Dr. L. M. Clemons, chairman of the two-day event suggested that if Native Sons rodeo contestants desire, an entrance fee can be paid and the total split fifty-thirty-twenty percent to first, second and third place winners.

Following is the complete program: Saturday, September 9, a reception and tea from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. honoring pioneers of Santa Maria valley; Dance at Veterans Memorial Building, 9 to 12 p.m., Sunday, August 10: Picnic and band concert, Buena Vista Park, 12 noon to 2 p.m.; Rodeo, 2 to 6 p.m.

Redwood Parlors

Joint installation ceremonies were performed July 27 when new officers of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, and Redwood Parlor No. 66, NSGW, of Redwood City, were seated for the coming year's activities.

Deputy Grace Loverich, of Menlo Parlor and DDGP Blalock of Mountain View Parlor No. 215, NSGW, were installing officers.

New officers of Bonita Parlor are Dorothy Bank, president; Ulrica O'Sullivan, past president; Maud Canvin, Beulah Simoni and Margaret Jory, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Vera Burbank, marshal; Martha Bernasque, recording secretary; Bertha Brown, financial secretary; Agnes Casaretto, treasurer; Dollie Jamieson, organist; Mary Sears, inside sentinel; Dorothy Sabin, outside sentinel; Mamie Glenna, Jessie Bloomquist and Eloise Dwyer, trustees.

Redwood Parlor's new officers are Phillip Bozzo, president; George Solari, Charles R. Curran and Aris Partidos, first, second and third vice presidents; Paul De Force, marshal; A. P. Sahlberg, financial secretary; A. S. Liguori, recording secretary; Edward Chasseur, inside sentinel; Gene Cerqui, outside sentinel; Edward T. Randolph, A. N. Blomquist and E. P. Locatelli, trustees; John Oliver, junior past president.

Agnes Casaretto and Phillip Bozzo served as joint chairmen. The former was assisted by Martha Bernasque, Dorothy Cerqui, Bertha Brown and Maud Canvin, while the latter was aided by Ralph Dodge, Arthur Blomquist and A. S. Liquori. Isabel Macpherson was chairman of installation ceremonies.

Bonita's new president was presented an orchid by the parlor as she stood at the altar for installation, and Mrs. H. A. Clattenburg sang "The Lord's Prayer," while Mrs. O. M. Van Duyn accompanied at the piano.

Following the installation, a program was offered, during which A. S. Liquori gave a medal to Tillie Trager, of Sequoia Union High School, Redwood City, winner of San Mateo County in the Native Sons state-wide public speaking contest. Mrs. Clattenburg sang two numbers and piano selections were rendered by Josephine Sylvestri.

Jessie Blomquist was presented her past president's jewel, by Mrs. Casaretto. Mamie Glennan, a charter member who has rendered fifty-seven years of service to the parlor was honored with an ovation. Mary Fischer, Menlo Parlor No. 211, was introduced as the new deputy grand president.

Steadfast Service

A fifty-year pin was presented to John J. Kelly, of Woodside, when Redwood Parlor No. 66, NSGW, Redwood City, recently celebrated its fifty-ninth anniversary with a stag dinner. Kelly was initiated into the Order on August 15, 1894. Seven twenty-five year pins also were awarded.

A birthday cake was presented the parlor and served by members of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, Redwood City. Alphonse Liguori acted as toastmaster, and introduced Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy,

VISIT LANDMARKS ADMISSION DAY

Revered landmarks of Monterey will be included in a tour on Admission Day, September 9, by Junipero Parlor No. 141, NDGW, of that historic city.

With Alice Bentley serving as chairman, the tour will include the Gragg adobe, the Soberanes adobe, Larkin house, Customs House museum, the house of four winds and the first theater of California. Tea will be served in the Gragg adobe and Larkin house, with members of old Spanish families in charge.

A highlight of the August 15 meeting was the showing of "To the Ladies," official U. S. Army Signal Corps film, which shows WAC's of the medical corps in action.

With all proceeds going to the general fund, an impromptu fashion show of tea and utility aprons was staged by the newly organized apron club, under direction of Rose Bradley. The group meets each Thursday afternoon and evening at her home when orders are taken for future deliveries of aprons. Refreshments were served by Alice Bentley, Dorothy Greenfield, Elois Beach, Luella Mayer and Dorothy Wilson.

Hill Billy Band

Redwood Parlor No. 66, NSGW, Hill-billy band will provide dance music for the big September 9 Admission Day celebration to be given by the drill team of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, at Redwood City's Hospitality House for servicemen.

Approximately 200 members of the armed forces stationed in that vicinity will be guests at the affair, with members of Bonita and Redwood parlors acting as hosts and hostesses.

The drill team committee working on plans for the gay evening, which will include waltz and jitter-bug contests, are Margaret Locatelli, Jessie Blomquist, Agnes Casaretto and Madeline Wallace.

Historic Development

Outstanding events in the historic development of Marysville Parlor No. 162, NDGW, were recollected at the parlor's thirty-ninth anniversary observance, held July 10 in the home of its president, Ida Murphy.

Brief outlines of interesting occurrences, which took place during their terms of office, were described by past presidents, Helen O'Brien, Agnes Weber Meade, Ruth Clark, Ruth Manwell, Katherine McQuaid, Nina Dempsey, Ada Lewis, Jean Binniger, Ella McCarty, Ina Wells, Martha Bossen, Anna Heisch, Mary Moncur, Mayme Barrett, Edythe McKinsey and Past Grand President Esther R. Sullivan.

Miss Sullivan spoke interestingly of the parlor's institution and its early day functions. The first installation ceremonies were conducted by PGP Emma Gett of Sacramento. Visitors attended from South Butte, Camp Far West and Colus parlors. Ina Wells acted as mistress of ceremonies, calling on all present to name the county in which they were born. Ruth Manwell was general chairman, assisted by Ella McCarty and Ina Wells.

Betty May Owens and June Johnson, new members of Albany Parlor No. 260, NDGW, this month entertained the sewing club at their homes. The club is completing items for the fall bazaar. In memory of Nellie Sherwood, a charter member who died last May, the parlor has presented a book to the Albany Naval Amphibian base.

In Old Benicia

Highlight of a two-day Admission Day observance planned by Vallejo Parlor No. 195, NDGW; Vallejo Parlor No. 77, NSGW, and Benicia Parlor No. 89, NSGW, to be held in historic Benicia will be an old-timer parade the evening of September 9. Native Sons drill teams and units representing civic and patriotic orders will take part.

Admission Day observances will get under way in the afternoon with a children's pet parade and dances will be held at two downtown halls after the parade, with the public invited.

Military services will be well represented in the big evening parade. Matilda Pappas, president of Vallejo Parlor No. 195; Werner B. Hallin, Jr., president of Vallejo Parlor No. 77, and William Davena, president of Benicia Parlor No. 89, who are serving jointly as chairmen of the celebration, report a mechanized unit from Benicia arsenal, Bluejackets, Waves, the Mare Island Navy band, members of the Marine Corps and Women's Marine Corps Reserve are expected to take part in the spectacle.

A girls' softball game between teams of Vallejo and Benicia is announced for 10:30 in the morning. A basketball team consisting of Benicia old-timers will tangle with Benicia Merchants in the afternoon, maintaining an Admission Day tradition which has prevailed for some time in Benicia.

The Native Sons and Daughters 94th Admission Day Committee will award a cup to the afternoon's winning team. In the last eight years the old-timers have won five games and the Merchants three.

Grand President Visits

Grand President Emily Ryan arrived in Redwood City August 24 for an official visit to Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, of that city and Menlo Parlor No. 211, NDGW, Menlo Park, who joined together for the occasion to welcome their state leader.

Initiatory ceremonies were performed by Bonita Parlor officers, with Menlo Parlor officials taking charge of opening and closing ceremonies.

Bonita's committee for the evening were Isabel MacPherson, Jessie Blomquist, Mary Sears, Thelma Locatelli, Agnes Casaretto, Margaret Locatelli, Martha Bernasque and Maud Canvin. Menlo's committee consisted of Agnes Mosher, Grace Loverich and Mary Sparks.

Individualism carried to excess soon becomes rebellion.—Isabel Carnaby.

The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West sponsor through a central committee, the Homeless Children, a most worthy project. The Homeless Children is one of two authorized adoption agencies in the State of California. The central office is at 998 Eddy street, San Francisco 9. Telephone ORdway 5241. Mary E. Brusie is executive secretary. The Los Angeles office is located at 3924 Sunset boulevard 27. Telephone OLympic 4105. Dorothy Schlingman is in charge of the Los Angeles office.

Elect New Chairman

The southern area Homeless Children committee met recently and accepted the resignation of Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss as chairman with regret. Robert Pesqueira of Valley Parlor No. 285, Van Nuys, was elected to the office.

Eugenia Smith, secretary, reports that the meeting night has been changed to the fourth Friday of the month. All members will be notified and all parlors are urged to send the names and addresses of their committee chairmen to Mrs. Smith, 618 West Kelso street, Inglewood.

New Natives

Congratulations were extended Mr. and Mrs. William Wooster by members of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266 upon arrival of a daughter, July 14. Philomena, proud mother of the infant, is an active member of the parlor.

Another future member of the NSGW arrived August 4 at the California Hospital. His name is John Edward, and his father is Edward W. Hill, member of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 277. His grandmother is past president, Hortense Hill of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266, NDGW.

Box for Babes

The Homeless Children fund will benefit financially from a boxing match to be staged September 21 between Henry Armstrong and Willie Joyce in the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco.

During the intermission, preceding the main event, members of San Francisco's Native Daughters will pass through the audience taking a collection for the worthy cause. A large sum is expected to be realized.

Fifteen hundred dollars was raised in the same manner earlier this year for the Homeless Children Fund, at a boxing match held in the East Bay area.

High Combs Worn

Virginia Stahl, newly elected president of Ivy Parlor No. 88, NDGW, Lodi, and her corps of officers were installed August 2 by Deputy Elizabeth Baker, assisted by officials of Stockton Parlor No. 256.

Honored guests at the colorful ceremony were Past Grand President Mamie C. Peyton and Doris Treat, former grand trustee.

The new officers wore high Spanish combs made of red, white and yellow flowers in the colors of the Order. Bouquets of brilliant red gladioli tied with yellow streamers were carried by the six members of the escort team, who presented them to the new president.

Louise Braghetta, Stockton Parlor No. 256, new deputy to Ivy parlor was presented to members by retiring deputy Elizabeth Baker.

Cookies By the Dozen

Large donations of home-made cookies are being presented to the USO in San Jose, with Dolly Weller chairman. As this service is set up on a permanent month-to-month basis, members are urged by Mrs. Weller to prepare their cookies for delivery at the next meeting date, September 12.

Notice was served by Tillie Guardino, rummage sale chairman, for all members to contact her at once concerning donations for the activity, which will take place at an unannounced date early in the fall. Mrs. Guardino, also serves as Red Cross chairman.

Lieutenant Frank Jordan, husband of Mildred Jordan, Long Beach Parlor No. 154, is serving in the transportation division in France.

For State and Country

Reunion in New Guinea

A number of letters have been received this month from members of Piedmont Parlor No. 120, NSGW, Oakland, now serving overseas in various branches of the armed forces.

A joyful reunion took place in New Guinea, recently, between Captain Robert S. Peer, of the Marine corps, First Sergeant Bernie Dignan and Corporal Kenneth Dignan. The trio met in the Captain's headquarters there. From a foxhole in France, Glen Wilson sent word all was well with him.

Seabee Walter Weinneman, it was heard, has returned to Hawaii from a five months stay in the South Pacific. Sergeant Arnold Halstead is now aboard ship, bound for Europe.

Sergeant John Allen, president of Piedmont Parlor in 1925, wrote that his duties in New Caledonia are keeping him busy. Corporal William Vestal, now in Italy, sends greetings to all inquiring friends.

Son Shoots Down Zeros

He was in the two big B29 raids over Japan; shot down more than one zero and wrote his parents in the true Native Son spirit, "It's wonderful to know you're doing your part . . ."

Staff Sergeant Albert F. Eberts, gunner with the twentieth bomber command and member of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, also claims his experiences in India "have been better than college." His bomber is called "Ding How," Chinese for "the best."

Three Years of Service

When San Francisco's Hospitality House celebrated its third anniversary August 5 with a reception and ball, a number of that city's Native Daughters served on the executive and reception committees.

Among these members were Ann Dippel, Mission Parlor No. 227; Martha Field, of Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, and Ruby Bried, El Vespero Parlor No. 118. Mrs. Dippel is president of the San Francisco Women's Chamber of Commerce, Martha Field is president of the San Francisco City and County Federation of Women's Clubs and Ruby Bried is president of the Bertola Assembly.

Sixty members of the NDGW, representing parlors in San Francisco city and county, served on the refreshment committee during the day, with Ruby Bried as chairman. Thousands of servicemen have been entertained at Hospitality House during its three years existence as a city project.

Sons Return

San Jose Parlor No. 22, welcomed back six members who recently were honorably discharged from various branches of the armed forces. They are Julian Castillo, Walter Laranjo, Leon Garnaud, Gerald Birke, Ralph Bravo and Albert J. Bernal.

Historical Calendar

September 1, 1772—Fathers Junipero Serra and Jose Cavaller founded Mission San Luis Obispo de Tolosa, fifth of the Franciscan missions of California.

September 1, 1840—Governor Juan B. Alvarado authorized John Augustus Sutter to erect what was later to be known as "Sutter's Fort" on the site of the present city of Sacramento.

September 1, 1843—A party of Mexican colonists known as the Padres y Hijar colony arrived at San Diego having come from San Blas, Lower California, by boat. There were two hundred in the party including artisans of many trades.

September 1, 1849—The convention called to write a constitution for California assembled in Colton Hall, Monterey.

September 2, 1846—Com. Robert F. Stockton appointed Maj. John C. Fremont as military governor of the territory of California. Thus Fremont was the first governor under American rule.

September 4, 1781—Los Angeles was founded by Governor Felipe de Neve. The colonists had come overland 1,500 miles from Sonora in Old Mexico. There were eleven families.

September 4, 1846—The first jury impanelled in California was called by Alcalde Walter Colton at Monterey.

September 5, 1876—The first railroad connection between San Francisco and Los Angeles, via the Southern Pacific Company was established. Charles F. Crocker drove a golden spike at the junction where the advancing rails met at Lang Station in Soledad Canyon, Newhall.

September 5, 1917—The first contingent of the great American army in the first world war created under the selective service act was entrained for the mobilization camp at American Lake, Washington.

"The Wake of the Prairie Schooner," by Irene D. Paden. Published by The MacMillan Company. Price $3.00. Reviewed by Jack Stratton.

The earliest story ever written on overland trails was prepared by the famous Gregg and it stands as a source book for all writers who have written the story of the route to Santa Fe since the 1820's. Now comes the latest source book of the present status of another overland route, used in pioneering the West, the northern route to California.

This latest effort, entitled, "The Wake of the Prairie Schooner," was prepared by Mrs. Irene D. Paden, and there is every indication this story will stand as a guide for historians of future generations as another source book on the great migration.

Mrs. Paden, accompanied by her husband and son, expended almost ten years in retracing the ruts, grooves and other aspects left by the covered wagons, which rumbled out of Westport (now Kansas City), traveled west to Council Grove; angled northwest to the great bend of the Platte; followed that watercourse into the present Wyoming; ascended the Sweetwater; proceeded through the Devil's Gate; plodded through the arid plains to Green River; stopped briefly at Fort Hall; swung southwest to Mary's (Humboldt) river; descended that treacherous valley; labored across the Forty-mile desert; rested briefly on the Truckee; and then toiled over the high Sierras into the promised land.

Summers were spent in explorations. Winters were devoted to research. Consequently when Mrs. Paden arrived at a scene of historic interest, she was qualified to re-construct every event recorded in the chronicles of the pioneers.

She found the rock near Marysville, Kansas, on which members of the Donner party left an inscription which attests to their having camped at Alcove Spring. She retraced the torturous passage of the wagons over Ash Meadows. At Fort Laramie, the Paden party re-lived countless chronicled events.

West of there, her husband actually found the blunt instrument used by wagon train pioneers in scratching their names on the cliffs south of the river near Caspar.

At Fort Hall, she succeeded in locating the precise site of the famous stopping place, although residents of the nearby city had long believed the fort's foundations had been inundated by an artificial lake.

Thus it goes throughout the entrancingly interesting story.

To read "The Wake of the Prairie Schooner," is to see the old overland trail as it lies in unforgettable magnificence today.

Liberty Parlor No. 213, NDGW, Elk Grove sponsored a card party August 25, with net proceeds to go toward the station wagon fund. Carol Riley is a new member of the parlor, initiated August 11.

George F. Roesch

Friends and acquaintances are mourning the death of George F. Roesch, Stockton Parlor No. 7, NSGW, who passed away July 22 at the age of eighty-three in the Roesch family home, one of Stockton's early day landmarks.

Mr. Roesch is survived by his sister, Laura May Roesch, president of Joaquin Parlor No. 5, NDGW.

George Rutan

George Rutan, son of Mae Rutan, past president of Albany Parlor No. 260, NDGW, gave his life in the service of his country, but his memory lives on. The parlor in testimony to his sacrifice will make a cash donation to Albany's Hospitality House for the military for the duration.

Carl Kern, Jr.

Sympathy of many members of both Native Sons and Daughters has been expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kern upon the loss of their son, Carl, Jr., recently. Mrs. Kern is deputy to Aloha Parlor No. 106.

Carl Kern, Jr., was one of the younger generation of natives who was loved and admired by all who knew him. He was honorable, sweet and considerate and the Native Sons have lost a fine prospective member. Carl was seventeen and had just graduated from High School in Berkeley where the family resides.

To the Officers and Members of Junipero Parlor No. 141, NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of love and respect to the memory of our departed sister, Nellie Broocke Ingram, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called from our midst Sister Ingram, a charter and honorary life member of this Parlor,

Therefore, Let it be resolved, that we pay fond and loving tribute to her memory, and be it further,

Resolved, That we extend our expression of love and sympathy to her bereaved family, in this their hour of sorrow.

May a copy of this resolution be sent to the family; a copy spread upon our minutes, and a copy sent to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectively submitted,
ETHEL W. HYDE,
MARY FARRELL,
ELEANOR R. FRASIER,
Committee.

Monterey, California, August 16, 1944.

Elsie Bachigalupi

To the Officers and Members of Brooklyn Parlor No. 157, NDGW—Resolved, That in the death of sister Elsie Bachigalupi, this parlor has lost a good and faithful member, and

Whereas, Our Dear Lord in His infinite wisdom, has taken from our midst, one of our beloved sisters, Elsie Bachigalupi; one who was loved by all who knew her and whose loss is deeply felt by all.

Therefore, Be it resolved, that while bowing in submission to the will of our Heavenly Father, we do sincerely mourn the loss of Sister Elsie Bachigalupi, be it further

Resolved, That Brooklyn Parlor No. 157, NDGW, extend to the bereaved sons, and her sister, Esther Harvey, their sincere sympathy in the loss of their dear one.

Be it also resolved that these resolutions be entered upon the minutes; that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased sister, and a copy be send to the Grizzly Bear Magazine.

MAE FIELD,
MINNIE LUHR,
NELL de BLOIS,
Committee.

Oakland, California, August 2, 1944.

Joseph J. Bach

University Parlor No. 272, NSGW, Los Angeles, is grieved at the sudden death of its member, Joseph J. Bach, who was carrier foreman in the Los Angeles post office. The sympathy of the parlor has been extended to the family.

John Steven McGroarty

THE philosopher, historian and beloved poet laureate of California, John Steven McGroarty, passed away August 8, 1944, in Los Angeles. Although not a native son, McGroarty loved California as few natives do. From the day he set foot on California soil, forty years ago, he was an ardent booster for this state.

His Mission Play, presented so many years in San Gabriel was one of the greatest historical pageants of all time and his many poems and history volumes have left an indelible imprint on the hearts and minds of native and adopted Californians alike. McGroarty was born in Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, August 20, 1862, and soon after 1900 came with his wife Ida Lubrecht, to California.

John Steven McGroarty, who was named poet laureate by the state legislature in 1933, lived in the Verdugo Hills, Los Angeles county where countless admirers beat a path to his door. His wife preceded him in death by several years. He is survived by a nephew, John McHale who made his home with the poet, two nieces and a grandnephew. The first and second verses of his poem "Just California" is quoted as a memorial to this gentle man whom Californians loved and for whom they grieve.

'Twixt the seas and the deserts,
'Twixt the wastes and the waves,
Between the sands of buried lands,
And ocean's coral caves;
It lies nor east nor west,
But like a scroll unfurled,
Where the hand of God hath flung it,
Down the middle of the world.

Sun and views that kiss it,
Balmy winds that blow,
The stars in clustered diadems
Upon its peaks of snow;
The mighty mountains aureate,
Below, the white seas swirled—
Just California,
Stretching down the middle of the world.

In Memoriam

To the Officers and Members of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126—Whereas, Our Almighty God in his infinite wisdom has called John Steven McGroarty, poet laureate of California, to his ultimate reward, and

Whereas, Deeply appreciating the fact that for half of his eighty-one years, this gifted adopted Californian gave freely of his talents and his time to the betterment of the Golden State by preservation of landmarks through his "Mission Play" that will remain unperishable, and

Whereas, Mindful of his many particularized services to the Santa Barbara he loved—In the restoration following the earthquake; in many Old Spanish Days fiestas; in our own Admission Day programs and in his day-by-day column in the Los Angeles Times, Therefore, be it

Resolved, That Reina del Mar Parlor, NDGW, in meeting assembled, hereby express deep regret to surviving relatives and indicates a desire to participate with other Santa Barbarans in a lasting memorial to the state's poet laureate. The parlor further directs that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the McGroarty family and to the Grizzly Bear Magazine."

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. GEORGE TACKABERRY,
MRS. BEN DISMUKE,
MABEL IRWIN,
Committee,

Santa Barbara, California.

Amanda Evert Greenleaf

To the Officers and Members of Santa Ana Parlor No. 235, NDGW—We, your Memorial Committee, submit the following resolution:

Whereas, the Supreme Ruler of the Universe has called our Charter Member and Pioneer Mother, Amanda Evert Greenleaf, to the Native Daughter Home on High, be it

Resolved, That we extend our deepest sympathy to her bereaved family; that copies of these resolutions be sent to her family, to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication and be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor.

"Day has ended—Night has come!
She feared it not, for well she knew
In all the long day of her life
She walked with God by her side."

Respectfully submitted,
GENEVIEVE M. HISKEY,
ADELINA MARSCHALL,
ROSE E. FORD,
Committee.

Santa Ana, California, August 14, 1944.

Mamie Rooney

To the Officers and Members of Genevieve Parlor No. 132, NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions in loving memory of our beloved charter member and past president, Sister Mamie Rooney, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called to her eternal reward, our beloved charter member and past president, Sister Mamie Rooney, whose lovable charity and nobility of character will always be remembered, and be it further

Resolved, That while we mourn her loss, we bow to the will of God, and extend to her bereaved family our deepest sympathy, and be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor; a copy be sent to her family and to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
BRANICE PEGUILLAN,
NORA SCHEFLIN,
ROSE JOORISEN,
Committee.

San Francisco, California, July 20, 1944.

Dora Wilson

To the Officers and Members of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence and respect to the memory of our departed Sister, Dora Wilson, report the following—be it

Resolved, That the members of Bonita Parlor No. 10 NDGW most deeply deplore the passing of our beloved sister; that while bowing to the will of the Great Ruler of the Universe, our hearts must retain a lasting affection of one so true to her convictions of right and duty; a most true and loyal friend, whose virtues endeared her not only to the members of our Parlor, but to the entire community as well. Hers was a noble character; none knew her but to love and admire her. Be it, further

Resolved, That we tenderly condole with her bereaved family, in this hour of trial and sorrow.

"Then let our sorrow cease to flow,
God has recalled His own;
And let our hearts in every woe
Still say, Thy will be done."

Resolved, That a copy be sent the family; one be spread upon the minutes of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, and one be sent to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

MARTHA BERNASQUE,
MARY JUNKER,
GERALDINE BROWN,

War Chest Appeal

THIS year you cared for a sailor's child while its mother worked. You took a soldier home for Sunday dinner. You put fresh sheets on a comfortable bed in a cool clean room, where a merchant seaman recovered from torpedo nerves. You took bowls of nourishing soup and loaves of bread to starving Greek children. You made a dress for an orphan Chinese girl. You planted a garden in the scorched earth of Russia. You sent a box of gifts to one of our soldiers in a barbed wire-enclosed Japanese camp. You bandaged the torn arm of a Yugoslavian guerrilla-fighter.

You did all this—and lots more—when you made your generous contribution to the War Chest last fall.

This year, when another year of war has destroyed thousands of other homes and exhausted the food supply of hundreds of thousands more, we must increase our help to the people who are taking the enemy's bombing. This year, with an army of 14,000,000 (as compared with 8,000,000 last year), our duty to our armed forces is even greater. This year, when homeless children and helpless old people need our help here at home, we can't stop and rest on our record. This year, 133 War Chest agencies, including 95 Community Chest agencies, will share the one sum of money we'll contribute when we're asked this fall.

Homeless Children Month

Our Children's Future Is At Stake!

While our gallant sons and brothers are fighting abroad to insure peace and freedom for future generations of American children, we at home have a far easier but equally sacred obligation to fulfill—Our responsibility for the welfare of the children of today is heightened, not slackened, by war.

Our obligation to help maintain EQUAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL OUR CHILDREN is a cornerstone of the great patriotic program of the NATIVE SONS OF THE GOLDEN WEST.
In pursuance of that program the Grand Parlor has taken forthright action—action based on the conviction that

California Faces Serious Breakdown In Elementary School System

To help correct the trouble and avert the breakdown, a strong resolution has been adopted by the grand parlor based on these alarming but factual reasons for the crisis which today threatens the education of our children.

1. Lack of adequate State support of the elementary schools—despite the fact that the California State Constitution recognizes that adequate support of the public schools is a fundamental State responsibility.

2. An acute and growing shortage of teachers—which began long before Pearl Harbor. As a direct result of substandard teacher salaries still based on a State allotment schedule set in 1920—over 20 years ago—the teacher shortage is not war-born though it is sharply aggravated by the war.

3. An increase of a million and a half in California's population resulting in overcrowded schools, teacherless classrooms and half day education schedules.

4. Inability of many school districts with low assessment rolls—and many others made tax-poor by Federal acquisition of property, removing it from local tax rolls—to provide additional local school funds.

5. Inability of new residents, not yet local property taxpayers, to contribute to school support except through the State sales tax and income tax.

THE CRISIS IN EDUCATION is recognized by eminent educators throughout California. A SOLUTION has been proposed by the State Council of Education in the form of PROPOSITION 9 ON THE NOVEMBER BALLOT to increase the state contribution of $60 per year for each child in elementary school to $80 per year.

THE NATIVE SONS OF THE GOLDEN WEST, acting in accordance with its own splendid and patriotic Americanism program, AGAIN DEDICATED ITSELF TO THE YOUTH OF CALIFORNIA, in the following formal action:

BE IT RESOLVED THAT THE GRAND PARLOR OF THE NATIVE SONS OF THE GOLDEN WEST AS AN ORGANIZATION ALWAYS DEVOTED TO MAINTAINING THE HIGH STANDARDS OF EDUCATION IN OUR CALIFORNIA SCHOOLS STRONGLY ENDORSES PROPOSITION 9, THE BETTER SCHOOLS ACT ON THE NOVEMBER BALLOT.

VOTE YES ON PROPOSITION NO. 9 AT THE NOVEMBER 7 ELECTION

Following are other organizations which recognize the strong obligation we at home bear to the education and the welfare of today's children which have endorsed Proposition No. 9 and urge you to.

Attention, Contributors

News must be received in this office by the eighteenth of the month excepting when holidays necessitate the setting of an earlier date when all NSGW and NDGW parlors are notified. Please give name, address and parlor of sender; name, number and address of parlor, dates and locations of events, presiding officers, chairmen and committees in charge. Do not refer to raffles or drawings as these are classed as lotteries by the Federal Government and publication of news concerning them is prohibited. Do not send clippings. Please write with plenty of space between lines and make sure names are clearly written and correctly spelled. Study the style of the magazine and try and write your copy to conform with it.

Pictures of important events are desired, if they are large, good and clear glossy prints. Do not send newspaper mats or snapshots. Enclose return postage if you wish cuts or photographs returned. Be sure persons in the pictures are completely identified with left to right captions.

Bataan Hero Inspects B-29 Engine

Major Sam Grashio, last survivor of the Bataan "march of death," praises the Boeing B-29 Superfortress as a mighty air weapon against the Japs, while inspecting one of its powerful Wright engines made in the huge Dodge Chicago plant. This largest plant in the world is devoted exclusively to making engines for the world's largest bomber. Pictured below is a B-29 in flight.

Bear Flag Bomber Sales

A total of $3,000 in bonds sold under the "Buy a Bomber" program, as outlined by Grand Presidents Emily Ryan and Raymond Williamson, is reported by Morada Parlor No. 199, NDGW, and Modesto Parlor No. 11, NSGW, committees on War Activities and Americanism. The bond drive was held in conjunction with the Admission Day celebration.

A pot-luck supper served to members and their families in the main dining room was followed by a program of community singing, musical numbers and the showing of colored slides from various California points of interest, including Lassen National Park, Yosemite and Calaveras Big Trees. Grand Trustee Charles D. Blaine of Modesto Parlor gave some interesting highlights concerning Modesto and Stanislaus Counties. Grand Vice-President Ethel Enos spoke on "Our California and Admission Day."

Birthday celebrants of June, July and August were honored guests at a recent meeting. Eva Paul and her social committee served refreshments. President Joy Yribarren announced the first joint public card party, sponsored with Modesto Parlor would be held October 18. Mrs. Mary J. Blaine is chairman in charge of general arrangements.

October Events

Ellen Wilson, president of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, NDGW, announced the following calendar of parlor events for the month of October:

October 4—Initiation of eight new members at regular meeting in Friday Morning Clubhouse, 940 South Figueroa street. October 7—Evelyn Howell, vice president of Los Angeles Parlor, and co-workers will serve at Main Street USO. October 13—Hospital Workshop group will sew on garments for convalescent fighting men at Torrance Military Hospital. They will meet at Kate Williams' home, 649 South Mansfield Avenue.

Gay Nineties Party

Plans for a gay nineties costume party and pot-luck supper October 6 to which husbands will be invited are being made by San Andreas Parlor No. 113 NDGW. Norma Zierdt is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

"I Love You California" and "California Is a Grand Old Name" were sung by Yvonne Squellati at the parlor's Admission Day meeting. Games pertaining to California history were played and prizes were awarded Rosa Lloyd and Ethel Buck.

Report Bond Sales

Many parlors of both Native Sons and Native Daughters throughout the state reported their Admission Day Bear Flag bomber sales separately to the Grizzly Bear including them in the accounts of their local celebrations. The Grand Parlors received reports from the following:

Reports from joint Sons and Daughters Bond sales:

San Francisco Parlors—$148,650.75; Oakland Parlors, $25,000; Humboldt County $15,393.75; Monterey Parlors, $11,030; Santa Ana and Long Beach, Orange County $3,175; San Mateo County Parlors, $1,261.

SUCCESSFUL BONDS FOR BOMBERS DRIVE

SAN FRANCISCO County Native Sons and Daughters joined in the state-wide celebration of California's ninety-fourth birthday, in the Bonds for Bombers drive. The usual colorful parade and pageantry of Admission Day in San Francisco was not in evidence, but Native Daughters used their Grand President's slogan "Action, Not Words," and went to work, assisted by the Native Sons.

Three bond booths were staffed through the entire day on Post Street. $150,000 in bonds were sold. The Port of Embarkation Army Band presented several hours of songs and specialties. Hugh Ryan, past president of Pacific Parlor No. 10, and son of Grand President Emily E. Ryan, NDGW, was master of ceremonies. Many prominent Native Sons and Daughters were introduced. Members of the San Francisco Native Daughters drill and drum corps in uniform, assisted in the sale of bonds.

San Francisco County Native Sons and Daughters owe a debt of appreciation to Beatrice Nishkian of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 for her untiring efforts in the promotion of the drive, as San Francisco County chairman of War Activities. Members of the Native Daughters who assisted Mrs. Nishkian on Admission Day in staffing booths were Constance Warshaw, chairman of the San Francisco Extension of the Order committee; Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Loretta Schaertzer, Gladys Knight, Margaret Barrett, Helen O'Connell, Elaine Kilkenny, Mae Waring, Lois Loss, Eda Levy, Ernestine Ranzolla, Birdie Koss, A. M. Nishkian and Matthew Claigari for the Sons. Rena Taube, who was in charge of stamp sales, sold $650 in war savings stamps.

Mrs. William Bayless of the United States Treasury War Finance Department, was so enthusiastic over the work accomplished that she asked the Orders to extend the bond drive through the entire month of September.

Old Timers Parade

A mammoth old timers' parade was the highlight of the two day Admission Day celebration held in Benicia sponsored by Vallejo Parlor No. 77, NSGW, Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW and Benicia Parlor No. 89 NSGW. Vallejo Sons' drum and bugle corps in colorful costumes of the old West; the Vallejo Native Daughters drill team in gay "cow girl" outfits and Benicia Native Sons presented marching units. Charter members and old-timers of the parlors rode in a stage couch in costumes of pioneer days. Sheriff Jack Thornton, member of Vallejo Parlor NSGW acted as grand marshal of the parade.

William Davenna, president of Benicia Parlor NSGW served as general chairman of the celebration, assisted by Werner Hallin, Jr., president of Vallejo Parlor NSGW and Matilda Pappas, president of Vallejo Parlor NDGW. Steve de Benedetti of Benicia Parlor acted as committee secretary and Gertrude M. Briggs of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW handled publicity.

Report Bond Sales

Mary Hudson, president of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, NDGW San Pedro and Del Hudson of Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263, NSGW, San Pedro, hauled the San Pedro Mobile Unit trailer to the scene of the Los Angeles Admission Day celebration and conducted the bond sales throughout the afternoon and evening. District Chairman of War Activities Margaret Kerr reports bonds purchased by members of the following parlors and the amounts: Los Angeles No. 124, $400; East Los Angeles No. 266, $125; Californiana No. 247, $1000; Long Beach Parlor No. 154, $2000; Grace Parlor No. 242 Placentia reports $2500 in bond sales, for the day.

Forty-Niner Party

"Forty-niners" high-lighted the September 9 celebration of Marysville Parlor No. 162, NDGW, when they sponsored a "49'er" party at the USO on that date. Members were dressed in pioneer costumes and a display of relics was shown. Novelty of the evening was the old time music and dances. Esther R. Sullivan, past grand president and state chairman of History and Landmarks, broadcast "The Story of Early California and Its Admission to the Sisterhood of States" over station KMYC.

Bond Sales Committee

All parlors of Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West banded together and manned the bond booths September 9 in order that the state birthday present to Tokyo would be a fleet of B-29 superfortresses.

San Jose Parlors; Observatory Parlor No. 177 NSGW, San Jose Parlor No. 22 NSGW, Vendome Parlor No. 100 NDGW and San Jose Parlor No. 81 NDGW issued pledge forms concerning the drive in advance of the date in order to solicit all members.

Representing the four parlors on the joint War Activities committee were Grand Trustee Margaret Farnsworth, Dorothy Salas, Clara Briggs, Mary Champion, Tillie Guardino, Irene Allen, N. Morgin and Harry Pacheco.

Civic Leaders Meet Grand President

SAN FRANCISCO County parlors of the Native Daughters of which there are thirty-one joined in honoring their esteemed member, Grand President Emily E. Ryan, at a civic luncheon in the Gold Room of the Palace Hotel, September 23. Over four hundred Native Daughters and their friends gathered to honor the grand president.

Seated with the guest of honor and paying tribute to her were many prominent leaders in state and civic groups and women's clubs of San Francisco County. Foremost among them were Lieut.-Gov. Fred Houser, Mayor and Mrs. Roger Lapham, Grand President Raymond Williamson, NSGW; Superior Judge Theresa Meikle, Dr. Ezra Allen Van Nuys, the Rt. Rev. Peter H. Dunn of San Francisco college, Mrs. John Millete, national director of the Catholic Daughters; Martha Field, president of Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, who is president of San Francisco city and county Federation of Women's Clubs; Ann Dippel, Mission Parlor No. 227, president of the Women's San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and state chairman of War Activities; Mrs. William Bayless of the United States Treasury Department, and the following grand officers: Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Vice-President Ethel Enos, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, Grand Inside and Outside Sentinels Dorothy Donofrio and Jewell McSweeney, Past Grand Presidents Dr. Mariana Bertola, Emma Foley, Mary Bell, Mamie Peyton, Orinda Giannini, Anne Theusen, and May McDonald, supervising district deputy of San Francisco County.

Featured during the program was the presentation of colors by Grand Sentinels Donofrio and McSweeney, followed by the salute to the Flag by Grand Marshal Cameron. Special guest artist was Eda Morelli, soprano, of the New York Metropolitan Opera company.

Guest speaker of the day was Judge Theresa Meikle of the San Francisco Superior Court. A special table was provided for the use of the American Red Cross, presided over by Mrs. William P. Roth, San Francisco chairman who signed up some several hundred San Francisco County Native Daughters as blood donors, commemorating Founders day September 25.

The parlors of San Francisco county, seated ten at a table, presented table decorations representing historic California and the many projects of the Order.

Past Grand President Dr. Mariana Bertola was general chairman and was assisted by PGP Anne Theusen and PGP Orinda Giannini and representative committee of every San Francisco parlor.

For Kenny Institute

So much good is accomplished through the activities of the Native Sons and Native Daughters that is never brought to the attention of the membership at large, that the Grizzly Bear is happy to publish the following letter, since it reveals the great and tender heart of the organizations:

"Mayor's Office, Minneapolis, Minn., August 23, 1944.

"Mr. Elmer J. Gaetjen, 40 Cole street, San Francisco, California. Dear Mr. Gaetjen: May I take this opportunity of thanking (San Francisco) Parlor No. 49, Native Sons of the Golden West, for the contribution of $1,222.75 for the benefit of the extension of the work of Sister Kenny. It is gratifying to know that public spirited citizens are realizing the great need to help make available the Kenny method to polio sufferers everywhere.

"It is our hope that with the continued voluntary support of the people of America, the humanitarian work of Miss Kenny may be extended as rapidly as possible.

"To your group in San Francisco who so kindly made possible this contribution, I extend my hearty good wishes with assurance that we shall always be grateful to you. Please extend my regards to Mr. Frank Marini who, according to your attached news clipping, originated the idea of the fund.

"We would like to make mention of your contribution in the public press here and ask your permission to release this material to the newspapers. Sincerely yours, Marvin L. Kline, President, Elizabeth Kenny Institute, Inc."

SONS ASSIST RETURNED VETERANS

The Veterans Welfare committee of the Native Sons, with Thomas Ryan chairman, met in the office of the grand secretary August 26 and discussed the activities of the committee in relation to ironing out the problems of returned veterans. John Shannon, a Marine veteran, was assisted in such an efficient manner that a job was obtained for him and disability compensation obtained.

According to Hugh Ryan, past president of Pacific Parlor No. 10, another returned veteran who is a member of the Order and had been turned down by the Civil Service commission, appealed to the Native Sons and through the efforts of the committee was returned to his old job and given an opportunity to make a new start.

The San Francisco members of the committee have also been attending the San Francisco Coordinating Council for Veterans' Welfare. Members of the Grand Parlor Veterans' Welfare committee are, beside the chairman, John Phelan, Thomas V. Butts, Guy Foulks, William Burke, Ed Hearne and Paul Otten.

FOR PAST PRESIDENTS

Past Presidents of Dolores Parlor No. 169 were honored September 13 when all those who had served the parlor as its leader received gifts. A large decorated birthday cake was enjoyed by the members who were celebrating their birthdays.

Ninety decks of cards were donated to the Red Cross of which Mae Baumeister is chairman. Deputy Patricia Creighton of Portola Parlor No. 172 attended the meeting and party.

Class Initiation

A class of candidates surpassing in number any regular class initiated into the Native Sons other than at a parlor institution was inducted into Stanford Parlor No. 76 September 5 in the Hall of the Grand Presidents, NSGW building, San Francisco. Sixty-five new members took the oath of membership. President Webster K. Nolan introduced Judge Alfred J. Fritz of the Superior Court.

Stanford Parlor was host to all San Francisco parlors September 26 in Yosemite Hall, Native Sons building. Awards were made to twenty-five and fifty year members of Stanford and to all charter members of visiting parlors. An entertainment was featured and buffet refreshments were served. J. Layton Riley was chairman of the evening.

Service Men Feted Admission Day

A group of San Francisco County Native Daughters, under the general chairmanship of Ruby Bried, El Vespero Parlor No. 118, staffed San Francisco's Hospitality House in the Civic Center, as their Admission Day celebration. Several thousand service men were entertained by a special band and refreshments were served throughout the day. Every service man who shared California's birthday was presented with a gift. The Native Sons Extension of the Order committee of San Francisco shared with the Native Daughters in making the affair possible.

One Man Committee

San Francisco Parlor No. 49, NSGW, has a one man membership committee. He is Treasurer Frank Marini. At Grand Parlor in June he promised Grand President Raymond D. Williamson he would start a drive for new members. As a result of his efforts, the parlor initiated a class of twenty-five candidates in honor of Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy, September 28.

Preceding initiation, the candidates, together with members of the parlor were guests of Treasurer Marini at a banquet held in the San Remo Cafe. Grand President Williamson, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and other grand officers were invited. President Reynald J. Bianchi was toastmaster of the evening.

Grand Officers Broadcast

The following grand officers and members appeared on prominent radio programs during Admission Day week in connection with the Bonds for Bombers drive: Grand Secretaries Sallie R. Thaler and John Regan, Grand Presidents Emily E. Ryan and Raymond Williamson, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewell McSweeney, Ann Dippel, state chairman of War Activities, and Beatrice Nishkian, San Francisco County chairman of War Activities. Broadcasts were made over KPO, KGO, KSFO, KFRC and NQW.

Southern Area Activities

Daughters Cheer Veterans

Following the colorful celebration of Los Angeles' 163rd anniversary of its founding, in the old plaza September 4, Native Daughters who had assisted in the fiesta, headed by PGP Mary B. Noerenberg and State Radio Chairman Margaret Kerr transported the huge birthday cake, a replica of the city hall steps to the Los Angeles Port of Embarkation Hospital at Torrance where the GIs were entertained and feasted.

The group were accompanied by Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, who gave an inspirational historical message to the men assembled in the auditorium who numbered among them several hundred battle casualties and hospital aides. Katherine Bush, Virginia Brummeler and Betty Lee Maynard, Compton girls' vocal trio, were accompanied on the piano by Doris Thompson. Lura Sears, a native daughter, rounded out the program with a number of delightful solos in Spanish costume.

As the auditorium was darkened, the GIs lighted the city's birthday candles. Their beaming faces formed such an inspiring sight, that Rabbi Magnin was moved to remark that they resembled a beautiful Christmas Tree—the most beautiful he had ever seen. He voiced the wish for all, that they would be home by Christmas as the candles were extinguished. Numerous California born wounded were cheered by the program. Mrs. Edgar I. Magnin, chairman of California History and Landmarks for the Women's Auxiliary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce served the cake to the eager service men assisted by Junior Hostesses, Mary Joan Noerenberg, Californiana Parlor No. 247; Betty Lou Glavinic, daughter of Kate Glavinic, Compton Parlor No. 258 and Loranita Forster and Patricia Provost, all born in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

New Members Welcomed

Ramona Parlor No. 109 welcomed four new members into the fold August 18. They are Joseph Parsons Putnam, Paul Maylor Hall, James Robert Anderson, and Horace H. Bresee. Charles Guerra Renteria of the United States Army was accepted as a member since the parlor had received the necessary qualifying form.

"Southern California Beginnings," a series of illustrated slides were shown by Dr. Mars Baumgardt, well known astronomer, September 15. The one hour program, enhanced by appropriate music, was arranged by First Vice-president John Haas, program chairman.

Earle W. Magee, prominent Ramonan, received his past president's pin recently when the presentation was made by Grand Third Vice-president Walter H. Odemar. Initiation was held September 22 and a birthday dinner was scheduled for September 29.

Rudecinda Parlor

Another very successful meeting of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, NDGW, was held August 23 with Margaret Burch of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 acting as chairman. Phyllis Hirst of Verdugo Parlor No. 240, Deputy Grand President to Rudecinda was introduced. Other visitors were Beatrice Wahrmund and Grace Vejar of Californiana Parlor No. 247. Evelyn Kirk Smith was initiated into the parlor.

Kate Dodson was the center of attraction during the refreshment hour when her seventieth birthday was celebrated. Members gave her a handkerchief shower. Florencita Thimble club met at the house of Margaret Kreider, August 16. The sale of articles made by members netted the parlor a neat sum.

Inter Parlor Dance

The September 7 meeting of Los Angeles County's Inter Parlor committee resulted in the completion of plans for a dance to be held November 4 in Elks Temple, 607 Parkview avenue, Los Angeles, with the Oakmont Country Club dance orchestra supplying music for "rug-cutters," waltzers, rumba fans, etcetera. Joseph Coyle was responsible for securing the temple for the event. Tickets have been mailed to all parlors for the dance and President J. J. Murphy, telephone AXminister 11097 or Gertrude Allen, secretary, CApitol 4327 will see that tickets are delivered.

Proceeds from the dance will be placed in a fund for the purpose of procuring a beach club for the use of Native Sons and Daughters and their families and friends.

Members of the committee also voted to supply doughnuts once a month for the Union Station USO. Marguerite Tann, former president of Inter Parlor, was a visitor. Private Tann is a WAC stationed at Biggs Field, El Paso, Texas, and gave the committee an interesting account of her experiences and duties at the air-field. Both she and Margaretha Phelan, also a former president of the committee, were presented gifts. Refreshments were served following the business meeting. The next committee meeting is schduled for October 5.

Ten Per Cent Gain

Having initiated six new members in August, Stephen M. White Parlor No. 203 will be able to show the ten per cent increase promised Grand President Raymond Williamson, after the next initiation.

Short talks at the regular meeting were made by Grand Third Vice-President Walter Odemar and SDDGP Robert Ziegler, Ramona Parlor No. 109, and DDGP Hugh Ryan of Pacific Parlor No. 10, San Francisco. Reports were given on the Homeless Children Fund.

Members Buy Bonds

In a secluded spot, far from the crowds who generally boost bond sales, the Los Angeles Admission Day celebration attracted approximately 300 members and friends, and from this representation realized a sale of $6,000 in war bonds and stamps.

The afternoon of games and swimming passed swiftly for those who arrived early and when the call for dinner was made, the tender pit barbecue, served with beans, rice and salad, quickly vanished. Accordionettes Frances Setterburg, Elda Maga and Marjory Killinger supplied lively music during the dinner hour.

The evening's program included an hour of entertainment by Talent Time, directed by Myrtle Hoffman with Bill Collins as Master of Ceremonies.

Charles Wakefield Cadman, noted composer, presented a number of his compositions sung by Josephine Bushell, soprano. Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz introduced the speaker of the evening, Lieut.-Gov. Frederick F. Houser, whose subject was "California's Historical Destiny." Extracts from his remarks are published on another page in this issue.

A Bear flag was presented to the police academy by the Native Sons. Chairman of the presentation was PGP Eldred L. Meyer who introduced Grand Third Vice-president Walter H. Odemar. The latter related the history of the state flag before he presented it to Lieut. Alvin M. Strand who received the banner in behalf of Chief of Police C. B. Horrall. The balance of the entertainment was presented by Program Chairman John Winslow as published in the September issue of the Grizzly Bear.

Gift Purchases Assured

One hundred and sixty Christmas gift packages for servicemen will be purchased and packed with the funds realized from the annual barbecue held by Cabrillo Parlor No. 144, NSGW, Ventura, September 10. More than 300 members and friends attended and partook of the excellently prepared repast.

Among out of town guests present were Grand Third Vice-President Walter H. Odemar and Mrs. Odemar with son, Ricky; Past Grand President Eldred L. Meyer and Mrs. Meyer; Walter C. Richards, former grand trustee, of Wilmington Parlor No. 280, and Mrs. Richards; Ray Jones of Long Beach Parlor No. 278 and Mrs. Jones.

John Lagomarsino supervised the preparation of the meal and assistant cooks included William Flint, Chester R. Hartman and Robert B. Fraser. The parlor's own Spanish orchestra played throughout the afternoon and evening and a program of music and dancing was presented. Ball room dancing terminated the day's festivities. Charles Blackstock acted as master of ceremonies.

Founding Observed

Santa Barbara's Native Daughters celebrated the Fifty-eighth anniversary of the Order's founding in Jackson, Amador County, September 25, 1886, and the Forty-third anniversary of their own, Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126, one of the most active in the state. For good measure they programmed for Constitution Day, taking over the City Woman's clubhouse for the three-pronged occasion.

Dr. Anna McCaughey, a life member, served as toastmistress. Mrs. Henry Griffiths, past-president, presented Mrs. Albert Ames as the speaker on the Constitution and an unusually large attendance of members were challenged to "accept in full, the privileges which the immortal document confers on all American citizens.

Five of the living charter members of Reina del Mar were at the banquet table for the birthday observance. They are Mesdames Henry Myers,, J. A. Callis, F. L. Bierbent, J. T. Woods and Dr. A. E. McCaughey. An unusual feature of the anniversary was the presence of six past presidents of the parlor with their daughters who also had served in the presidency.

Mrs. M. C. Harrison who has been chairman of the parlor's pioneer roster committee since 1926, but who is removing to San Francisco, was presented with a string of pearls by Mrs. Mabel Erwin. The priceless record will be continued by Mrs. R. J. Schuld. Mrs. Paul Miller, financial secretary of the parlor for many years, received a gift to mark her silver wedding anniversary.

Fall Installation

Gowned in pastel formals and wearing bright floral corsages, new officers of Grace Parlor No. 242, NDGW, were installed August 17 by DGP Jennie Raymond and a team from Los Angeles Parlor No. 124. The hall was adorned with baskets of Amaryllis and fern.

When the new president, Mae Lemke, was escorted to the altar and to her station by acting grand marshal, Evelyn Howell, the "Honey Song" was sung with words to fit the occasion. Also installed were past president, Pauline Johnson; first vice-president, Edna Gendar; second vice-president, Helen Hilliard; third vice-president, Elsie Campbell; marshal, Viola Watts; recording secretary, Evelyn Stroscheim; financial secretary, Matilda Enfield; treasurer, Ella Watters; outside sentinel, Mary Apalabegui; inside sentinel, Ollie Mae Grainger; trustees, Sylvia Meyers, Lillie Lopera, Mary Williams, and organist, Marie Haiber.

Among the honored guests present were PGP Mary B. Noerenberg, PGP Grace S. Stoermer, State Radio Chairman Margaret Kerr and SDDGP Adeline Marschall.

Grace Parlor and Mother Colony Parlor No. 281, NSGW, celebrated Admission Day with a picnic at Anaheim Park with seventy-five present. Past President James Tuffree of Mother Colony was the speaker for the occasion and gave an inspiring talk on California before and after her admission into the Union.

Organize New Parlor

Plans are in progress in Burbank for the institution of another Native Daughter parlor for the southern area. Grand Trustee Anna T. Scheibusch is the organizer of the group and thirty-five members have been signed. Organization preliminaries for the group have been conducted by the grand officer assisted by Grace Norton of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124.

Election of future officers was expected to be held September 27 in the Masonic Hall, Burbank, where a concluding organization meeting is scheduled for October 11.

University Parlor

Superior Court Judge William R. McKay was guest speaker at University Parlor No. 272 September 13. Judge McKay was introduced by Robert Groman, program chairman.

Members of Ramona Parlor No. 109 were honored guests and SDDGP Robert Ziegler was called upon to introduce his fellow members. Ziegler expressed his gratitude to University Parlor members for their cooperation on the Admission day program and thanked John Winslow, program chairman and Bernarr Wade for their fine work.

Hugh Ryan, past president of Pacific Parlor No. 10, was a visitor. Kenneth Messick, postal employee, was reinstated. An abundance of refreshments was served by Cliff Ganow and Julian Whittier, together with their committee composed of George Dearing, Jack Curran and Milan Friga.

The next regular meeting of University Parlor will be held October 11. Program Chairman Groman and President Al Meyers are preparing another top-notch night of entertainment and fun.

Meet In Old Adobe

In the historic surroundings of the Palomares Adobe, Los Ranchos Parlor No. 283 celebrated its first anniversary September 15. Second Vice-President Frank Pedley prepared and served one of his famous barbecues prior to the regular meeting. Fifty-five members acclaimed it an outstanding success. The regular meeting was held in the parlor of the recently restored landmark.

President Nelson Van Fleet asked District Deputy Jack McCoy of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 to obligate five candidates. J. Avery Anderson acted as marshal and Roy Finkle acted as junior past president. Both are members of Arrowhead from which parlor eight members were in attendance, together with Ward McConnell, past president of Ramona Parlor No. 109, Los Angeles, Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss and Woodrow W. Wade of University Parlor No. 272. The next regular meeting of the parlor will be held at the St. Charles Grill, West Holt street, on Friday evening, October 6.

Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebush

Funds for USO

To raise funds for the furtherance of USO work in the Sixth and Main street Canteen, Los Angeles, Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW, will sponsor a rummage sale in October. Members are asked to call Evelyn Skinner, GRanite 5265, or President Charlotte Carpenter, CItrus 2-4741, if they have good discarded clothing or other salable articles they would like to donate.

The parlor also voted to send gifts to overseas service men. The names of the recipients have already been listed and the boxes will be packed at the Gertrude sewing circle meeting to be held October 2 in the home of Ora Evans. Members are asked to call Mrs. Evans at WEbster 7502 if they plan to attend.

Judo Methods Exposed

An expose of judo methods of making American soldiers vulnerable to quick death at the hands of judo-trained soldiers on the battlefield was a feature of the September 20 meeting of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, NSGW. Balloting on thirteen applications for membership which were presented before September 1, was handled.

In place of the regular parlor meeting, a watermelon feed at Perris Hill Park for all members and families of Arrowhead Parlor and Lugonia Parlor No. 241, NDGW, was held September 13. Jack H. Waddle was chairman of the event.

The parlor initiation by grand officers is planned for October 28, with a 6:30 dinner in the offing. Grand President Raymond D. Williamson will head the initiatory team. Dinner will be free to approximately thirty candidates.

Study Jap Problem

Headed by Ivan Harper of Paradise Parlor No. 282, Huntington Beach, a joint committee from the three Orange County parlors, Paradise, Mother Colony No. 281 and Santa Ana No. 265, met Friday evening, September 8, in the court house in Santa Ana to organize a Japanese study group, the purpose of which will be to delve into the facts of the Japanese situation and to present the information to the public.

Sons Visit Lions' Lair

Members of Paradise Parlor No. 262, NSGW, were guests of the Huntington Beach Lion's Club September 7. More than seventy-five members of the two organizations enjoyed a dinner meeting at the Golden Bear cafe.

Rockwell D. Hunt, dean of the graduate school, University of Southern California, and a member of Ramona Parlor No. 109, was guest speaker. Dean Hunt had returned the previous day from an extended vacation in the Sacramento area. As the Lions were honoring Admission Day, Dean Hunt chose "Our Thirty-First Star" as his subject.

His brilliant talk was filled with the early history of our state and mention was made of the pioneers he had had the good fortune of knowing personally. Woodrow W. Wade of University Parlor No. 272 presented the speaker.

President Jack Robinson and his committee are to be highly complimented on the fine meeting. John M. Johnston of Mother Colony Parlor No. 281, Anaheim, and Julian LeGrivian and Ivan Harper of Santa Ana Parlor No. 265 also were introduced.

Class Initiation

Grand President Raymond D. Williamson visited Central Parlor No. 284, Santa Maria, Santa Barbara county, September 19, and initiated a class of fifty candidates. He was assisted by the following: Junior Past Grand President Wayne R. Millington; Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy; Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Grand Trustees Peter T. Conmy, and Edward J. Wren. A barbecue was served in the evening.

Santa Maria's Admission Day celebration (program outlined in the September Grizzly Bear) was a successful event. Sunday, September 10, former grand trustee, Thomas C. Ryan, San Francisco, represented the grand president at the big outing and rodeo before several thousand people.

ISLAND BARBEQUE

A six o'clock barbecue dinner on Brenner Island, located in the bay of San Diego, was the beginning of the September 9 celebration enjoyed when San Diego Parlor No. 108, NSGW, acted as host to San Diego Parlor No. 208, NDGW.

Following the dinner a very appropriate program was held with remarks from Judge Eugene Daney on the history of California and an inspiring talk by President Emily Welch, San Diego Parlor No. 208. President H. DeGraff Austin of the Native Sons parlor, acting as master of ceremonies, gave very cordial welcome to all the members of both parlors and their friends who gathered for the occasion. Later everyone adjourned to the Rowing Club clubhouse where the balance of the evening was spent in dancing and a reuniting of friendships.

Woodrow W. Wade, past president of University Parlor No. 272 and the new secretary of the El Monte Chamber of commerce, also recently has been elected War Chest chairman for that city.

The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West sponsor through a central committee, the Homeless Children, a most worthy project. The Homeless Children is one of two authorized adoption agencies in the State of California. The central office is at 998 Eddy street, San Francisco 9. Telephone ORdway 5241. Mary E. Brusie is executive secretary. The Los Angeles office is located at 3924 Sunset boulevard 27. Telephone OLympic 4105. Dorothy Schlingman is in charge of the Los Angeles office.

Fund Increased

The Homeless Children Fund was increased by more than $4000 August 21, when at a boxing match held in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium under the auspices of the Disabled War Veterans, Native Sons and Daughters were allowed to pass through the audience and take up a collection for this worthy project.

With the cooperation of Judge Thomas M. Foley, Pacific Parlor No. 10, one of the spokesmen for the Veterans; the State Athletic Commission, John Rustigan and Ed Pencevich, Pacific Parlor No. 10; Donn J. Shields, chief inspector for the Northern district and his assistant Al Sandell, and Joseph E. Tracy all of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214; Harry Wentworth, South San Francisco Parlor No. 157, and chairman of the DAV Boxing committee, and Benny Ford, match maker, arrangements for the collection were made.

Charles (Scotty) Butterworth made a magnificent appeal to the more than 12,000 people in the audience in behalf of the Homeless Children, stressing the fact that the children of veterans who give their lives in the present war will receive the committee's attention and care, regardless of race, color or creed.

The headliners on the show were Willy Joyce and Henry Armstrong. In addition to the hundred members of the two Orders who assisted in collecting the donations, special mention should be made of the cooperation lent by Joseph Schmidt, Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214, superintendent of the Civic Auditorium, Joseph Phillips, director of San Francisco properties, and Micky Joyce of Rincon Parlor No. 72, prize fight announcers.

ITALY FILMS SHOWN

Wilmington Parlor No. 280, NSGW, was privileged to see films taken by the son of Ray Merles in the Army Medical Corps in Italy at the regular meeting held September 22.

The parlor plans to send Christmas packages to members in service and has arranged for the American Legion to pack the gifts. The parlor has thirty men in the service. John Freitas who was outside sentinel has been called into service and Ray Merles has been elected to fill his post in the parlor.

The Fairy Godmother

TWO tiny babies slept in their immaculate bassinets. One tot, eleven months old, played with bright, harmless toys on a blanket spread out on the floor, while a three-year-old was just awaking from his afternoon nap. The charming little house to which the caller had been welcomed was in perfect order.

And the fairy godmother who seemingly waved her magic wand over the little brood, guided us tiptoeing to the bedroom, where she lifted the most adorable six-weeks-old infant out of its little bed and carefully prepared her for her visit to the doctor, for a final check-up. Later that day she was to go to her new home where parents waited longingly and impatiently for the precious mite who was destined to make their life complete.

What do you do for Homeless Children? Perhaps you are not in a position to board three tiny babies beside your own three-year-old—and all this without the aid of a washing machine. Then what can you do? Can you help make layettes for the babies whose clothing must be furnished while they are being boarded? Lovely and complete outfits are sent with them when they go to their foster homes.

Can you march in the coin march and donate a nickel, dime or quarter? Can you solicit aid among your neighbors for this worthy cause? Can you take babies to the hospital clinics or the doctor's office for examinations and treatments?

Do you have any clever ideas for raising money? If you have, why not suggest them to your local Homeless Children committee. If you don't feel you have given as much in time and money as circumstances might permit, why not make up your mind to do something about it now, during the month of October which is set aside among Native Sons and Daughters as Homeless Children month?

MEETING NOTICE

Presidents of Native Sons and Native Daughters parlors from Kern, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Bernardino, Riverside, and Orange Counties are urged to attend a Homeless Children committee meeting for the southern area, October 18. The meeting will be held at 1832 S. Hope Street, Los Angeles, at 7:45 in the evening, according to an announcement made by Secretary Eugenia Smith.

BAY AREA

Life Membership for Grand Secretary

THE first life membership ever given by Aloha Parlor No. 106, NDGW, was presented to Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler at a reception given in her honor September 12.

After a brief meeting, the evening was turned over to Chairman Myrtle S. Ransom who introduced one of her committee members, Past President Gladys I. Farley. Past President Farley gave a brief resume of Sallie's career as a Native Daughter leading up to the Grand Parlor at Santa Cruz in 1934. At that meeting, Anna M. Armstrong, being installed as Grand President, asked Thelma Rogers to sing while the grand secretary was being escorted to her station. Mrs. Rogers at that point of the speech sang the song, "I'll String Along With You" as she did on that evening in 1934. Grand Secretary Thaler was escorted to the president's station by Past President Juanita de Romo, where she was greeted by Chairman Ransom who presented her with a gift and the life membership. The citation which was printed on a parchment scroll read:

"Certificate of Permanent Membership.

"In recognition of her meritorious service to the Order of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, and as a token of appreciation and esteem for her loyal, devoted and untiring efforts on behalf of her own parlor, the members of Aloha Parlor, No. 106, Native Daughters of the Golden West, this twelfth day of September, 1944, award and present to Sallie Rutherford Thaler this certificate of permanent membership in Aloha Parlor, No. 106, Native Daughters of the Golden West. Signed: Irma S. Murray, President; Margaret Riley, Recording Secretary."

Grand Secretary Thaler responded with words of gratitude and reminiscence and spoke a personal word to assembled members, as well as to DGP Patricia Reardon of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 and to SDDGP Louise Benedetti of Encinal Parlor No. 156.

Mrs. Rogers, accompanied by President Irma Murray, sang a medley of Sallie's favorite songs, "The Old Refrain," "The Desert Song," and "One Alone."

After the program the members and guests went into the banquet room which was decorated with souvenirs and replicas of the grand sessions when Grand Secretary Thaler first aspired for grand office. Refreshments were served by co-chairmen Jennie Dieden and May Meyer.

Lieutenant Agnes M. Willeges, Army Nurses Corps, a member of Aloha on leave from her duties in Alaska, was present and spoke briefly.

The reception committee appointed by the president were Myrtle Ransom, Jennie Peterson, Gladys Farley, Margery Diederichs, Sally Jordan, Thelma Rogers and Juanita deRomo.

APPETITES WHETTED

All appetites were whetted for the Victory Garden dinner and garden contest award of prizes staged September 23 by Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW. Fifty-seven parlor members participated in the festival, which was in the form of an annual family harvest. The winners prepared a dinner, the essentials being provided by themselves from the production of their Victory gardens. A display of the prize winning vegetables was held and awards presented. Deputy Guy Robinson of Fruitvale was chairman of the harvest program and the concluding dance.

Dignitaries Attend

Governor Earl Warren, member of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, was guest of honor at the Alameda County Admission Day celebration held September 9 in the Leamington Hotel, Oakland, when a banquet and entertainment were held.

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors, Mayor John Slavich and the City Council of Oakland; high officers of the Army, Navy and Marine corps and other dignitaries honored the occasion with their presence.

Joseph R. Knowland of Halcyon Parlor No. 146, Alameda, delivered the principal address and First Vice-president Richard McCarthy acted as master of ceremonies.

New Officers

Installation of officers of Fruitvale Parlor No. 177, NDGW, recently was conducted with DGP Ann Lewis of El Cereso Parlor No. 207, NDGW, San Leandro, and her corps of officers installing.

Ann Turnbull was installed as president and carried an old fashioned handkerchief bouquet and the escort team also carried old fashioned nosegays. Other officers seated were Mildred Bechtel, Theresa Freund and Edna Billings, respectively first, second and third vice-presidents; Agnes Grant, secretary; Christine Harrison, financial secretary; Nell Crowley, treasurer; Jane Lange, organist; Maxine R. Clements, marshal; Jean Mattos, Gertrude Silligo and Flora Crockett, trustees; Helen Adamo, inside sentinel and Blanche Davis, outside sentinel.

Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Trustee Marion White attended the ceremonies. Maxine Clements was chairman for the installation and was assisted by Ethel Casey, Blanche Davis, Esther Ragon, Flora Crockett, Neil Crowley, Alice Miller and Violet Salter.

Initiation was held August 14 at which time four new members, Elizabeth Bromley, Lois Bogusch, Gloria Brindle and Edwina Enos were admitted into the parlor.

The sewing club is reported very active, meeting twice a month with some of the members handling the sewing and the others forming a bridge club. About twenty daughters attend each meeting. Nell Crowley, in charge of war bonds and stamps, is busy every Friday evening taking care of sales and has fine support. A past president's evening is being planned by the parlor at which time all chairs will be filled by the past presidents.

Service Men Invited

With DGP Ethel Kern officiating, Alice Gilligan was installed as secretary and Della Wakefield as treasurer of Sequoia Parlor No. 272 NDGW, September 14. Jennie Diedon acted as grand marshal and Imelda Hall as acting past grand president. With service men as guests, a dinner and program will be presented Thursday evening, October 26. Emily Ohman is in charge.

BEARS AND LIONS VIE FOR LOUDEST ROAR

Grand officers and members of the NDGW and NSGW were special guests of the Alameda Lions Club, "The Loudest Roar in Town" at the Lion club dinner meeting September 6 in celebration of Admission Day.

Past President and Recording Secretary George H. Hagy, Alameda Parlor No. 47, NSGW, who is also a Past President of the Lions Club was chairman of the evening and presented an interesting and appropriate program for the occasion. Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, NSGW, was the principal speaker, whose message was broadcast over radio station KLX. Grand President Emily Ryan, NDGW, honored the club by dedicating its new silk Bear flag, the first to be obtained by any service club in the bay area. Mrs. Ryan gave an excellent account of the Bear Flag revolt and the making of the first Bear flag in California.

Special guests in attendance included beside the grand presidents were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, NDGW; Grand First Vice-President Richard F. McCarthy, NSGW.; SDDGP Louise Benedetti of Encinal Parlor No. 156, NDGW; SDDGP Maury Pessano, Oakland Parlor No. 50, NSGW; DGP Guy Robinson of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW, and officers and members of Encinal Parlor, Halcyon Parlor No. 146, and Alameda Parlor No. 47, NSGW.

With the Lions club members and their wives in attendance, the dinner was served for 200 guests and members. This meeting having proven such a success, the club immediately voted to make the Admission Day celebration an annual affair.

Elaborate Escort

Encinal Parlor No. 156 NDGW spent a pleasant evening with Grand President Emily Ryan on the occasion of her first official visit to Alameda County, August . An attendance of 108 members enjoyed the presentation of the work and the dress of the distinguished guest.

The hall was beautifully decorated with massed yellow African marigolds. The tables were brilliant with golden marigolds and yellow candles. Yellow souvenir napkin rings marked with an "E" were the work of Louise Benedetti, chairman of the evening.

An escort team, wearing yellow paper dresses, held aloft a red, white and gold arch, through which the grand president was escorted to her seat of honor where she was presented with a lovely corsage. The escort team consisted of Stephani Flood, Marie Mason, Eleanor Thomas, Louise Benetti, Ann Bajuk, Genevieve Patria, Terry Cooper, Dorothy Hardy, Ione Chapman and Carmen Speroni. Two vocal selections were rendered by Hazel Tearle, accompanied by Doris Phelan.

Other grand officers present were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Trustee Marian White, Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe, PGP May Boldeman, DGP Katherine Duffy and SDDGP Louise Benedetti.

Silver Wedding

In observance of their mutual twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. William Luhr and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fields recently entertained Brooklyn Parlor No. 157, Oakland NDGW, and their husbands at a dinner and card party.

Each couple was presented with a gift of silver dollars in accordance with the silver wedding theme. Prominent among the forty-two guests were Mrs. Frank Perry and Mary Blas, mothers of the hostesses.

Welcome Grand President

Grand President Emily E. Ryan made a joint official visit to Albany Parlor No. 260 and Brooklyn Parlor No. 157, NDGW, Oakland, September 6 at Pythian Castle in Oakland. The honored guest was presented with silver butter spreaders from the two parlors.

Also attending the affair were Grand Trustee Marion E. White, Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe, SDDGP Louise Benedetti. May Ellis Olson was chairman of the evening.

Two members were initiated for Albany Parlor, both the daughters of the parlor president. Brooklyn Parlor greeted one new member, the sister of Minnie Luhr, past president of the parlor.

The banquet room was decorated in gold and white; the Grand officers' table having white and gold tapers, hand-painted china, and a center-piece in the form of an "E" of white and yellow sweet peas.

A cake, lettered in gold and white with the words "Welcome Emily, from Albany Parlor," was presented to the Grand President.

Albany Parlor's sewing club met at the homes of Hazelett Taylor and Louise Romero for their monthly sessions. The annual dinner of the group was held August 24, at Monaco's in San Francisco with Hazelett Taylor as club hostess.

Class Initiation

Grand President Raymond Williamson witnessed the initiation of seventeen candidates by a ritualistic team picked from the parlors of Alameda County, August 25. Miller Markey of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252 acted as president.

The Grand President told the new members what Native Sons stand for, outlined the activities of the Order and explained the possibilities of a great gain in membership.

Other grand officers present were: Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, SDDGP Lewis Geigerich of San Francisco and the oldest living past grand president of the Order, George Hofmeister of Placerville Parlor No. 9, of which parlor he has been a member for sixty years. A buffet lunch was served following the meeting and informal entertainment furnished by members was enjoyed.

Friendship Theme

Grand President Emily E. Ryan paid her first official visit in San Francisco when she was received by El Vespero Parlor No. 118 NDGW August 8. Witnessing the initiation of twelve candidates were 300 members of the Order from various sections of the state.

Carrying out the motif of friendship and love, Grand President Ryan was presented with a basket of gladoli by her sister-in-law, Agnes Ryan, and was then escorted to her station while eight members of the parlor sang "A Melody of Love" as they formed a friendship chain of dainty red and white baskets filled with red dahlias. Letters on the baskets formed the words, "with love," as they were placed at the foot of the president's station.

Evelyn Brady was chairman of the escort work and Florence Johnson arranged the musical program. The latter sang "My Ideal" in honor of the grand president.

STORM HUNTS BEAR OLD TIMERS EAT

Bear steaks will form the piece de resistance when Claremont Parlor No. 240, NSGW, Emeryville, honors "old timers" at the October 17 meeting, with President Warren Langtry presiding. The old timers and visiting members will be introduced to the younger men of the parlor by Grand Inside Sentinel Raymond P. Burke. The hunting ability of Trustee George Storm will be responsible for the steaks which the Good of The Order committee will prepare.

In keeping with the evening's program, Charter Member Albert Finck will present twenty-five year pins to George Wesnichow and Wilford Welsh. Edgar Sturgeon will be presented with his past president's jewel after completing two successful terms as presiding officer by chairman of the evening, Edgar Hanson.

GAME OF HORSESHOES

Scoring another first, Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW, inaugurated a Native Sons' athletic program for Alameda County with a horseshoe pitching contest held September 15. Fruitvale Parlor, playing in their own meeting hall, gave a sound beating to the crack team of Piedmont Parlor No. 120.

The match was a warming up contest, preliminary to the coming tourney in which all of the county parlors are expected to take part. SDDGP Miller Markey, Fruitvale member of the Grand Parlor Athletic committee, arranged the contest and is now working on arrangements for a bowling competition.

Blood Donors Travel By Stage to Donate

Candlelight ceremonies were held as El Tejon Parlor No. 239, NDGW, welcomed Sarah Bartel, Lillian Bell and her twin daughters, Betty and Dorothy, Enid Johnson, Maxine Guzzard, Enid Steadman, and Lee Trimble into the parlor as a part of the Admission Day program. Past Presidents Madge Fote, Winifred Bowen and Lucy Supertino presented the parlor with a Bear Flag.

Under the chairmanship of Georgia Sanders, the War Activities committee was very busy in Bakersfield with the statewide bond sale. Four different booths were obtained and staffed, reporting a large sale of stamps and bonds.

Marjorie Rouw, a new member, has proven to be one of the most efficient and interested workers for the Blood Bank committee. Through her efforts a stage was secured from the Orange Belt Stages, and seventeen members journeyed to Los Angeles and gave seventeen pints of blood plasma. Mrs. Rouw expects to round up the same amount of donors for two trips each month.

The Young Women's Activity group with Lucy Supertino as chairman, continues to meet once a month for a social gathering and meeting. The last one was held at Beale Park with a dinner served by Mrs. Bowen, Aileen Ward, and Ada Bartholomew.

Mrs. Cletha Alippi, president, was surprised with a gift on her birthday. Twenty-eight members have signed up for the drill team and the next performance will be given at the Pioneer Tea, October 15. Wednesday is Red Cross Day in Bakersfield for Native Daughters. The Past Presidents club is sewing on layettes, and all members supply cookies for the USO.

Another barn dance is planned and arrangements are already completed. Maude Kollenborn and Florence Rea are co-chairman of the dance, which will take place October 13. Tickets are now on sale and "moving fast."

Halloween Plans

Halloween festivity plans are being arranged by Argonaut Parlor No. 166, NDGW, and Claremont Parlor No. 240, NSGW. The evening of merriment for members of both parlors and their invited friends is to be held October 31 at the Emeryville hall.

Bond Booth Successful

In observance of California's Admission day, Eshcol Parlor No. 16, NDGW, Napa, sponsored a street war bond booth and an evening dance, both of which were reported very successful.

Gertrude Briggs, deputy grand president of Vallejo Parlor No. 195, visited the Eshcol group September 25. A reception was held in her honor.

Grand Officer Visits

Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26, NDGW, was honored by a visit from Grand Vice-President Ethel Enos September 18. The visitor had a message that was of great interest to every Native Daughter. A very successful bond sale was sponsored by the Native Daughters in keeping with Admission Day.

The Daughters and Santa Cruz Parlor No. 90, NSGW, held a joint Admission Day celebration. Friends and families were invited to the program. The guest speaker was Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy, NSGW. Musical numbers and solos on the program were given by Arista K. Mellor, and Alice and Evelyn Barnhill. A large birthday cake, which was lighted with electric lights with the figure "94," added much to the decorations. Delicious refreshments were served, and dancing and games were enjoyed.

Parlors Fete Servicemen

With a war bond and stamp sale amounting to $8,479, Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, and Redwood Parlor No. 66, NSGW, commemorated the ninety-fourth birthday of their native state at the local USO Hospitality House.

Hospitality House appropriately decorated in blue and gold with garlands spelling "California" was overflowing with soldiers and sailors as they danced. Entertainment was furnished by Fred Rasmussen, the Double H Boys and recordings especially reproduced by Walter Huggins.

Thirty dozen cookies and punch were quickly disposed of during the dancing and entertainment period. Afterward hot dogs and their accessories were served at colorfully decorated blue and gold tables. Two cakes, one from Bonita Parlor and one from Redwood Parlor, each bearing a happy birthday message, bore candles which were lighted as the dining room was darkened. Dorothy Bank and Phillip Bozzo, respective presidents, served the cakes.

Senior hostesses, members of Bonita Parlor, included Margaret Locatelli, chairman; Madeline Wallace, Catherine Mileti, Agnes Casaretto, Jessie Blomquist, Thelma Locatelli, Margaret Rice, Dolly Jamison, Bertha Brown, Edith Murray, Mary Byrd, Dorothy Cerqui, Leona Hefner and Mrs. William Jory.

Junior hostesses Josephine Sylvestri and Eloise Dwyer and Dorothy Sabin were responsible for the decorations. Other Native Daughter Junior hostesses present were Willa MacPherson, Dorothy Bank, Evelyn Hefner, Lillian Raso, Isabel MacPherson, Grace Dillon, Lauraine Mayer, Gertrude MacPherson, Jean Duncan, Elizabeth De-Benedetti, Marion Popik and Margaret Jory. The committee from Redwood Parlor, NSGW, included Eugene Cerqui, chairman; Phillip Bozzo, George Locatelli and Al Brown.

True Native Style

Dancing until the wee hours of the morning, the members of Utopia Parlor No. 270, NSGW, and Utopia Parlor No. 252 NDGW, celebrated in true native style with an open house celebration September 9. Friends of the parlors were guests of the evening.

Assemblyman Edward O'Day, a member of Utopia Parlor No. 270, delivered a short oration on the reason for keeping alive the celebration of the state's birthday. Ray Schiller, publicity chairman, spoke on the future of the Order in maintaining the Admission Day celebration.

With the rapid approach of V Day, Utopia parlors are making ready for the return of their fighting members by the re-organization of their drum corps and drill teams. The first turnout of the group will be at the Homeless Children section of the San Raphael fiesta October 15.

Parlor Named for Historic Highway

EL CAMINO Real, the storied highway of the king, has lent its name to the newest parlor of the Native Sons, which on August 28 was instituted in Burlingame, San Mateo county, by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson and a staff of grand officers.

The name was chosen by means of a contest sponsored by Grand President Williamson through publicity in the San Mateo newspapers. A prize was offered for the best name sent in and the one chosen was submitted by Wilma Campbell of San Bruno, who was declared winner of the competition.

The Grand President also presided over the institutional ceremonies and was assisted by Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy, Grand Secretary Regan and Grand Trustee Conmy.

District Deputy Grand President John M. Reid of South San Francisco Parlor No. 157, was the installing officer and charter officers were installed as follows: Edward R. McDonald, president; Joseph H. Lorenz, junior past president; R. L. Stone, senior past president; Herbert J. Williamson, first vice-president; A. W. Font, second vice-president; Robert Higgins, third vice-president; Arthur T. Townsend, secretary; Hamilton W. Nolan, treasurer; Maxwell C. Orrisch, marshal; William J. McKeon, inside sentinel; Eugene G. Arrillaga, outside sentinel; Peter Dahl, Hugh F. Mullin, Junior, and Daniel J. O'Connell, trustees.

During a recess, a group of officers and members of Burlingame Parlor No. 274, NDGW, headed by President Gladys Kabatchwick, were escorted into the room and remained to witness the installation ceremonies. President Edward McDonald of the newly instituted parlor, addressed the gathering, briefly outlining his plans for the organization.

Miss Kabatchwick presented a beautifully engraved gavel to the new parlor in behalf of Burlingame Parlor, NDGW, and it was announced that refreshments would be served upon adjournment by the sister group.

Barbecue at Bert Barrett's

Those members of Observatory Parlor No. 177 NSGW who availed themselves of the stag barbecue recently held at Bert Barrett's rendezvous, came home that night fully convinced that this was a most outstanding party. Nothing was left undone. From early in the morning, when the first of the boys started pushing their way through the thickets until the last one edged his way home, the day was filled with pleasant times.

The committee under Clarence Leese worked unceasingly to see that everyone was given the best of attention. Louie Dietz presided over the pits, chopping and cutting the choice morsels of beef. Congenial host, Bert Barrett kept an eye on the whole proceedings and spent much time and effort in making the party a success.

NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Spark-plugged by the election of Ed Wren to the office of grand trustee, National Parlor No. 118, NSGW, has taken a new and refreshing lease on life. A membership drive is now in full swing, and the parlor reports ten new members have been signed up. Two successful dinners were held recently; one in honor of Grand Trustee Wren, the other for the members of the various membership teams.

A whist and bingo game will be held October 19 and a Halloween party is contemplated for October 28.

JUDGE JOINS SONS

Among the candidates initiated by Mission Parlor No. 38 NSGW recently was Thomas C. Lynch, Chief Deputy District Attorney of San Francisco. Grand Marshal Raymond J. McGrath secured the application of Attorney Lynch.

Celebrities in attendance included SDDGP Louis Geigerich, DDGP's Victor de Ganna and Les Ashworth, and Past Governor General James F. Stanley.

Officers Announced

Officers of John A. Sutter Assembly No. 10, Past Presidents Association, NSGW, were installed by District Deputy Governor General J. F. Didion, September 13. Seated were E. A. Williard, junior past governor; Walter N. Bailey, governor; Irving D. Gibson, first vice-president; Clarence Casey, second vice-president; Harold Duden, third vice-president; J. J. Longshore, secretary; J. F. Didion, treasurer; Al Schaden, marshal; F. E. Schmidt, inside guard; James Sinnott, outside sentinel, and Judge T. F. Lewis, Guy G. Foulks and Joseph Green, trustees.

Another large Sacramento County class initiation will be held at Elk Grove Thursday, October 12. Governor Walter N. Bailey, John A. Sutter Assembly No. 10, Past Presidents Association, NSGW, is chairman of the gathering. The Grand Officers will officiate and some 100 candidates will take the oath.

After the meeting the entertainment committee will hold forth with plenty of refreshments and fun at the nearby ranch of Guy Foulks, Sutter Assembly trustee.

MEMBERSHIP STANDING

HOMELESS CHILDREN MONTH!

Tuolumne Celebrates

Making its first public appearance in many years, Toulumne Parlor No. 144, NSGW, celebrated California's ninety-fourth birthday September 9. The committee from Tuolumne cooperated with the Sonora Grange, which held a Victory garden fair on that date. The Natives staged a very fine program of music for the event.

Nearly 500 persons later attended a Toulumne sponsored dance at Camp Sunshine. Proceeds of $150 were netted by the parlor.

So far this year the parlor has been busy initiating candidates on meeting nights. There are now over 100 members in good standing.

Centinela Parlor No. 279, NSGW, has scheduled some fist-flying boxing bouts for the regular October 6 meeting. The parlor held its first bowling series Tuesday, September 5.

VOTE YES ☒ ON NO. 3

The legislature now has power to fix the salaries of the Attorney General, the State Judges and Members of the Board of Equalization.

Your "YES VOTE" will enable the legislature to fix the salaries of the State Controller, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Lieutenant Governor. At present these salaries are fixed by the Constitution AS OF 1908.

We believe the law should be made uniform, and recommend that you VOTE YES ON PROPOSITION NO. 3.

ELDRED L. MEYER BERNARD G. HISS

For Grand Trustee

One of the largest social events of the season for Sutter Parlor No. 111 NDGW, Sacramento, was the reception held August 15 for Grand Trustee Maxine Bundy Kelly of that parlor. The affair was held in Native Sons Hall, following the regular meeting.

Present to greet their fellow member of the board of grand trustees were Henrietta Toothaker of Woodland Parlor No. 90 and Betty Read of Ursula Parlor No. 1, Jackson. Other guests were SDDGP Genevieve Didion, DPG Norma Valmadre, Ursula; DGP Marie Moore, Califia Parlor No. 22, Sacramento and representatives from Ursula, La Bandera, Califia, Coloma, Rio Rito, Chispa and Liberty Parlors.

Red candles centered the refreshment tables where red and white geraniums formed the decorations and large baskets of dahlias graced the meeting room.

The program included accordian selections by little Vian Buletti and a monologue by Grace Richmond of Sutter Parlor. Wilma Gutenberger presented the honoree with a gift of silver from the parlor. Mrs. Gutenberger also acted as refreshment chairman, assisted by her committee, Helena Islip, Coral Davis, Edna Kretcher, Lily Tilden, Adele Nix, Minnie Haller, Dorothea Manica, Edna Mooney, Eunice Millman, May Rust, Elsie Beskeen.

Nautical Theme

Ending the usual summer recess of two months, Copa de Oro Parlor No. 105, NDGW, Hollister, opened the season's activities with installation of officers September 6.

The evening's theme "Anchors' Aweigh," complimentary to President-elect Eugenia Cunan, was carried out in the table decorations and program at the covered-dish dinner. Tables were centered with floral boats with lighted funnels. Knotted ropes extended the table's length with blue anchors scattered here and there. Napkins in the national colors were fashioned as life-savers. Assembly singing featured appropriately-worded parodies.

Deputy Grand President Loretta McAleer conducted the installation ceremonies, assisted by officers of San Juan Bautista Parlor No. 179 in white formals who wore flowers in their hair. Officers-elect wore gold formals and carried blue and white nosegays. An escort group of eight in white formals, carried blue and gold anchors.

Gifts were presented to DGP McAleer and Past President Marguerite Beresini by the escort group accompanying Marjorie Lanning in a natty sailor uniform and Ethel Hostetter as "Pop Eye, the Sailor Man" with his usual can of spinach and duffle bag.

Guests were Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke and representatives of San Juan Bautista. Monterey, San Jose, San Pedro and Rudecinda Parlors.

Punch was served at the close of the happy evening. The planning group was headed by PGP Bertha Briggs.

On Admission Day, the membership sponsored a War Bond sale, the receipts of which were $5,075.

Unusual Pleasure

The unusual pleasure of initiating two daughters and two grand-daughters of a charter member was the experience of Junipero Parlor No. 141, NDGW, when they met September 19 in San Carlos Parish Hall. Sadie Ingram Clickard and her daughter, Dorothy, and Inez Ingram Harkless and her daughter, Shirley, joined the parlor that Nellie Ingram had helped to form. Mrs. Ingram was a member of the parlor until the time of her death in July and was happy in the thought that her daughters and granddaughters were planning to join her parlor. Another candidate the same evening was Jeanie Rogers Sutliffe.

Alva Banta, war activities chairman, reported that the Native Daughters' Pacific Grove bond booth and the Native Sons and Daughters' bond booth in Monterey had turned in a total of $11,030 for the Bear Flag Bomber. Ethel W. Hyde and W. E. Parker presided over the booths.

Nearly 100 interested people attended the walking pilgrimage, conducted by Junipero Parlor on September 9, when two groups visited historic homes and public buildings under the guidance of Amelie Kneass and Gladys Stalter. Native Daughters in early California costume received the guests at the Soberanes Adobe, home of Mrs. William O'Donnell. Tea and chocolate were served by Alice Larkin Toulmin at her historic home, the Larkin House. She was assisted in the garden and house by members of the parlor. Punch was served at the Stokes Adobe, home of Mrs. M. M. Gragg, at the completion of the tour. Alice Bentley was in charge of arrangements and she was assisted by Emma Lee Lippman and Anita Church. A check for $37.50 was received from Mrs. Toulmin for the Homeless Children with the request that a baby be named Oliver Larkin for her father.

Lieut. Robert Banchero

Lieutenant Robert "Bob" Banchero, born in Napa February 10, 1919, succumbed to a fatal malady at the U. S. Hospital in Hot Springs, Arkansas, August 12. A faithful and congenial member of Sonoma Parlor No. 111, NSGW, his death cut short a very promising career in the army. He had advanced steadily in the army Postal Service and was shortly to take an examination which would have made him a captain.

Bob attended schools in the valley and after his graduation he entered the Sonoma Post Office where he worked until his induction into the army. The heartfelt and sincere sympathies of the parlor are extended his bride of a year. Members of the parlor acted as pall bearers at the military burial services.

Jesse M. Waterman

To his wife, daughter, and son, Observatory Parlor No. 177 extends condolences at the death of the Parlor's secretary, Jesse M. Waterman. Deceased was born in San Jose in 1875, where he went to school, and made his home.

Judge James C. Sharp

Judge James Claude Sharp, 69, justice of the peace of Cucamonga township, died August 28, in Upland, following an illness of several weeks. Judge Sharp was a member of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, NSGW, having joined December 17, 1930.

Born in San Francisco in 1875 of pioneer parents, Judge Sharpe had been a resident of San Bernardino County for some twenty-five years. He is survived by his widow and one daughter to whom the sympathy of the parlor was extended.

Andrew Jackson Wilson

"Always of a very friendly nature and ever considerate of others," is how Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, NSGW, described Andrew Jackson Wilson, fifty-three year old member who died at his San Bernardino home August 27.

Jackson, affectionately known to his friends as "Peeny", was a native of Sacramento. He was born September, 1890, of pioneer parents, pictures of whom still hang in old historic Sutter's Fort in his native city.

He is survived by his wife, Opal Wilson, two brothers and three sisters. Members of the parlor were his pall bearers.

William C. Fithian

William C. Fithian, financial secretary of Ione Parlor No. 33, NSGW, for the past forty-six years, passed to the Grand Parlor on High, September 6. He was born June 23, 1871, on the Fithian ranch near Ione, the son of early settlers of that district.

The greater portion of his life was spent as a cattle raiser on the old home, until a few years ago when he retired. He is survived by his wife, Alpha, a sister, Mrs. Tillie Hamble of Los Angeles and two brothers, Ed of Berkeley and Elmer of Sacramento. Members of Ione Parlor conducted graveside services.

Raymond R. Marchio

To Fresno Parlor No. 25, NSGW—Your Committee on Resolutions, with heavy heart, reports the loss of Brother Raymond R. Marchio, age 33, who passed to the Heavenly Parlor on High on the afternoon of September 14, 1944, leaving his wife, Barbara, and their two children, Rebecca Lee and Richard. Also surviving him are his mother, Emma, of San Francisco, a sister, Mrs. Russell Heapy, of Richmond, a brother, Sal, of Modesto and a brother, Jack, of Concord.

To say that brother Ray will be missed in the deliberations of our Parlor and around our festive boards would be an understatement. He was the life of our meetings and parties; his generosity, keen sense of humor and his untiring efforts for our Order cannot be replaced, but are forever engraved on our hearts.

Therefore, Be It Resolved that a copy of this Resolution be recorded in the minutes of our Order and that a copy be mailed to his beloved wife.

C. SAM JOHNSON,
GERALD H. CATANIA,
EDWARD BORING,
Committee.

Elizabeth Brass Delay

Charter President of Marysville Parlor No. 162 NDGW, Elizabeth Brass Delay, passed away August 20. Officers and members of the parlor conducted funeral services and PGP Esther R. Sullivan delivered the eulogy. Deceased was greatly admired for her sterling qualities and her community spirit.

Mary Ellen Gorgas

Dardanelle Parlor No. 66, Native Daughters of the Golden West, mourn the loss of a beloved member, Mary Ellen Gorgas, August 30. Deceased was born at Shaw's Flat, Tuolumne County, daughter of a pioneer couple, the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Harrington. After her marriage to Lee Gorgas, she made her home in Sonora.

Mrs. Gorgas is survived by her sister, Adele Crail, and by a son, Edmund L. Gorgas, both of San Francisco, and three daughters, Stella Porter and Gladys Dow, both of San Francisco and Maude Gorgas of Sonora and three grandchildren.

Journey West

Bertha Rufus Wainwright

Bertha Rufus Wainwright of Sonoma passed away September 3, 1944. Mrs. Wainwright was a daughter of Major E. Rufus, colorful early California pioneer and troop trainer for General John Sutter of Sacramento. As a result of his fine service, Major Rufus received an extensive land grant in Sonoma county, known as the German grant.

John Money

John Cornelius Money, for more than forty years a member of the St. Helena city council, died in that city August 13. Money was born in Santa Rosa, September 22, 1855, the son of Cornelius C. and Elizabeth Money. In 1885 he married Sarah Richie and in 1935 the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. Money died two years later. Two sons and two daughters survive.

Sympathy Expressed

Sympathy is extended to SDDGP Robert Ziegler and his brothers, James and Frank, of Ramona Parlor No. 109, NSGW, Los Angeles, on the loss of their mother, Cora E. Ziegler, who passed away August 21.

Newton H. Turner

Newton H. Turner, born in Plainsburg, Merced County, in 1866, died August 30, at his home in Chinese Camp, Tuolumne County. His grandfather and father were responsible for much of the early development of Merced County. Mr. Turner is survived by his widow, Henrietta Turner, and three children and several grandchildren.

Annie E. Merrithew

A beloved pioneer of the community of Gold Run, Annie Elizabeth Merrithew, passed away September 5, 1944, in Auburn. Born Annie Elizabeth Hewitt, she came to Golden Run in 1869 with her parents and lived in the same house since that time.

John C. Duchow, Jr.

A son of pioneer residents of Sonora, John C. Duchow, Jr., co-publisher with his brother of the Tuolumne Independent for fifty years, passed away September 16. John Duchow, Sr., was the pioneer journalist of the county, having started publication of the Columbia Gazette in 1852 and later the Tuolumne Independent which John, Jr., continued to operate after his father's death. Beside his brother, A. D. Duchow, he leaves several nieces and nephews.

Son Visits Grand President

Grand President Emily E. Ryan was thrilled to see her son, Sgt. Francis P. Ryan of Pacific Parlor No. 10, walk in after many months in the southern part of the United States. Sgt. Ryan, who is attached to the Army Air Force as a ground mechanic, had been sent to the Port of Embarkation and was able to visit his mother for a few hours. Word since has been received that he arrived safely in New Guinea.

William Keville, Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263, now of the United States Navy, has been home on leave.

Mrs. Kate Hill, Grace Parlor No. 242, has received word from the War Department that her son, Pvt. Robert F. Hill, has been wounded in battle in the Central Pacific.

Contest Winners

Successful participants in the Home makers club contest for gathering labels from California products, La Reina Parlor No. 267 NDGW added seventy-five dollars to their treasury recently. As contestants in the weekly broadcast of the club, the parlor won the second prize of ten dollars. President Orabelle Schmidt and First Vice President Frankie Lamberth attended the Quiz College in behalf of the parlor.

An event in the Young Women's Activities program was an evening of bowling, September 13. Eleanor Hephner, Cecelia Valenzuela, Barbara Poe, Beatrice and Dolly Sulli attended accompanied by husbands and fathers.

A picnic was held September 17, celebrating the sixth anniversary of the institution of the parlor. Sycamore Grove Park was the scene of the event.

The October 12 meeting will be devoted to sewing for the Homeless Children and the annual Hallowe'en party will be celebrated at the home of Eleanor Hephner with a pot luck dinner, 132 W. Avenue 45, Highland Park.

BOWL 'EM OVER

A move has been made by Sonoma Parlor No. 111, NSGW, to organize a Native Sons' bowling team to participate in the local Sonoma bowling league. Athletic Chairman W. Cole claims that with the results of the last Native Sons state-wide bowling tournament in mind the parlor is capable of putting a very well balanced team on the alleys.

August Pinelli attended a recent meeting and gave an outline of the plans laid and progress made on the community hospital. He answered a number of questions and after the matter was thoroughly discussed the parlor endorsed the idea and planned to put the worthy cause over.

Purchase of a beautiful service flag was announced. The flag, containing over sixty names, will soon be displayed in the meeting hall.

Orchids to Mother

Orchids to Katharine Dodson, charter trustee and past president of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 NDGW, San Pedro, who celebrated her seventieth birthday August 28! A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Dodson is the mother of five boys and two girls, the eldest being Ynez Dodson Hoefs of Orange, California. The eldest son, William S. Dodson, is in defense work and Pvt. John F. Dodson is serving his country in the Marine Corps. Her daughter Mary is the widow of Major Frances B. Rang, reported killed in action during August.

Arthur M. Dodson is Bos'ns Mate 1/c in the Navy and Father Robert Dodson, ordained in January 1943, is a member of the Order of St. Benedict. Mrs. Dodson's youngest son, Sgt. James Dodson, is serving in the Army Air Corps.

Service Plaque Unveiled

The unveiling of a service plaque, upon which was inscribed the names of some 400 men and women of Avenal, was a feature of the September 9 celebration among members of Las Flores Parlor No. 262, NDGW, and Avenal Parlor No. 287, NSGW.

A Bear flag was also presented to the city which will be flown with the Red, White and Blue from the fire house. During the day and evening the Daughters manned a bond booth at the Avenal theater. The festivities closed with a dance.

October 30, 1911—The first venire of women ever called for jury duty in California was drawn by the constable of San Antonio Township. None refused to serve. The trial was set for the Justice Court at Watts, near Los Angeles.

October 31, 1846—The Donner Overland party, trapped by winter snows in the Sierras, was forced to establish camp in the vicinity of modern Truckee and Donner Lake. The last survivor was rescued April 17, 1847.

Japan Negotiated Peace Denounced

THE danger of a negotiated peace with Japan which would leave that country in possession of territory gained in this war, was the subject of a talk given by Lieutenant Governor Fred Houser, principal speaker at the Los Angeles County Admission Day celebration held at the Police Academy, Elysian Park.

"Residents of California, particularly Native Sons and Daughters, should be greatly concerned with the danger of a negotiated peace with Japan," the lieutenant governor declared.

"We in California know the Japanese and how little they can be trusted. But unfortunately there are other sections of the United States where there is an entirely different attitude.

"On the Atlantic coast and in the midwestern states there are many people who are already expressing the opinion that we should call off the war with Japan provided we get back our own territory which was seized by Japan.

"If we should ever negotiate such a peace with Japan, it would be the greatest mistake this country could make. To leave Japan in possession of other territory seized in this war would certainly mean another war in twenty years. For, by that time Japan would have consolidated all of the gains she has made in Asia and New Guinea, and tremendous resources in manpower, metals, oil and food would be at her disposal.

"The next step would be another 'Pearl Harbor' attack upon this country, and with unlimited men and materials at her disposal, Japan would bring the war to the shores of the United States. That war would not be fought in the South Pacific, but on the continent of the United States, and California would be in the front line trenches.

"If California, Oregon and Washington are to be protected against the possibility of another war, then Japan must be rapidly and completely defeated in this present war. And in order to make the peace effective and lasting, Japan must be reduced to a third rate power both from an economic and military standpoint. And it must be done in the present war."

The speaker commended Isadore Dockweiler for securing passage of legislation providing for the display of the Bear Flag on public buildings.

Plaza Bond Sales

Native Sons and Daughters are continuing their support of the war bond sales in Los Angeles' historic old plaza.

The Latin-American Consular Association, headed by Juan Pradenas M., president and consul general of Chile, is sponsoring the October programs of the Latin-American War Finance Committee for Southern California.

Consuelo Castillo de Bonzo, chairman of the latter committee, announces the Thursday serenatas will be enlived by music and dancing supplied through the consular corps. The chairman announces sales to date in war bonds and stamps amounting to $552,000.

General Assembly

The twenty-fourth annual session of the General Assembly of the Past Presidents' Association, Native Sons of the Golden West, will be held in Native Sons Building, Oakland, Saturday, October 21, at 2 o'clock p.m. with Governor General Harold B. Farley presiding. East Bay Counties Assembly No. 3 will act as host.

The following Assemblies have notified the secretary-treasurer general of the election of delegates and they are as follows: San Francisco Assembly No. 1, Governor J. Emmet Chapman; Junior Past Governor John J. Lewis, Peter T. Conmy, James Brady, Lewis A. Geigerich, Henry Storti, Louis J. Peter, Raymond Conroy, Emmet P. Joy. General John A. Sutter Assembly No. 10—Governor Walter N. Bailey, Junior Past Governor Ellsworth A. Williard, J. F. Didion, Henry S. Lyon, Al Schaden, Irving D. Gibson.

San Rafael Fiesta

Active annually in the San Rafael Fiesta, the Past Presidents of Marinita Parlor No. 198, NDGW, are putting the finishing touches to the clowns and animals that will appear in the Homeless Children Booth at the fiesta this month.

The fiesta opens October 12 with a dance at the USO. October 13 there will be a street dance. Spanish Market Day will be featured October 14 and the climax will be a parade and horse show on October 15.

Celebrating California's ninety-fourth birthday, the members of Marinita and Mt. Tamalpais Parlor No. 64, NSGW, and their families held a barbecue at McNear's Beach, Sunday, September 10. Singing, dancing and games provided entertainment. County Assessor George Hall was master of ceremonies and parlor chairmen for the day were Beverly Paini and Walter Mazza. Lena Lyrell had charge of the bond booth.

Marinita Parlor was hostess at the USO September 9. Besides the usual refreshments, a treat of California oranges was brought in for the celebration.

Stress War Activities

San Diego Parlor No. 208, NDGW, under the leadership of President Emily Welch, is carrying out the watchword of Grand President Emily Ryan with increasing participation in war activities. Dorothy Holley, chairman, has outlined an ambitious program of bond selling and cooperation in USO projects.

The second meeting in the month now is being held at night and the fine attendance August 22 reflected the popularity of the night meeting.

Past President Anna Simmonds entertained the officers who had served with her during her term as president at a dinner in her home in North Park, August 10. Bear flags were used as favors. The hostess' daughter Anna Dittmars assisted.

HOMELESS CHILDREN MONTH!

Staff Seated

Officers were installed by El Pajaro Parlor No. 35, NDGW, Watsonville, September 5, with DGP Ethel Hyde of Junipero Parlor No. 141, Monterey, officiating.

The new staff includes: Carrie Payton, past president; Mae Bongiovanni, president; Sara L. Arbanas, first vice-president; Grace Locatelli, second vice-president; Van Cantonwine, third vice-president; Theresa Mooney, recording secretary; Alice Morse, financial secretary; Dora Zmudowski, treasurer; Ida East, marshal; Maureen Sheriff, outside sentinel; Patricia Secondo, inside sentinel; Ann Balanac, organist; Josie Daley, Marie Golly and Charlotte Trafton, trustees.

A large delegation of neighboring parlors was present, with Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke of Junipero Parlor accompanying the installing officer. Members of the local parlor who celebrated their birthdays during the last three months were honored.

The Los Angeles Times printed the following story in its issue of July 16, 1944.

Nisei Support of Downey and F. D. R. Urged

By WARREN B. FRANCIS
Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Japanese-Americans have been urged to support Sen. Sheridan Downey for re-election and to vote for President Roosevelt if he is a fourth-term candidate.

The Manzanar Free Press, semiweekly paper published at the Owens Valley Relocation center, recently endorsed Downey without qualifications but gave conditional backing to the President.

The paper, which is supervised by the War Relocation Authority, carried a column describing Downey and Interior Secretary Ickes, who now has control of the W.R.A., as friends of the Nisei removed from the Pacific Coast in 1942.

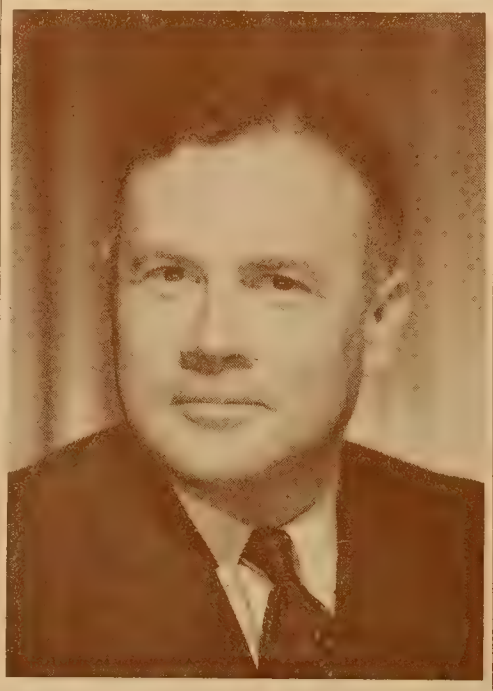
Praise for Downey

"Sheridan Downey . . . has been concerned more than once with the Japanese problem but has proven to be a clear thinker in that matter. Unlike some other officials from California, Downey sees the situation openmindedly," the paper said in a column printed under the name of K. Matoba.

"He is aware of the fact that aliens cannot be handled in the same way as citizens; that the disloyal and the loyal are separate groups. He does not make blanket statements against Japanese as many other self-appointed California big shots are wont to do."

Advice to Nisei

The Japanese-American writer, indicating little enthusiasm for President Roosevelt as an individual, said the Nisei should "realize" that Secretary Ickes will not be reappointed by a Republican President.



"The Nisei cannot afford to lose the all-powerful proponent of tolerance," Matoba wrote. "Ickes may at times be outspoken, even to the point of embarrassing the evacues, but he is still the man who understands our position and who realizes that justice comes above all."

Downey's Record

Sheridan Downey, since he was first elected, in 1938, to the U. S. Senate, has been marked absent on 43 per cent of the votes.

Downey during the past two years, 1942 and 1943, since Pearl Harbor, has been absent from voting more than half the time. Specifically, he has missed 52 per cent of these wartime votes.

FOR U. S. SENATOR

Lieut. Gov. Fred Houser, Native Son of the Golden West, three times elected to the California State Legislature as a member of the Assembly from Alhambra, is the Republican party nominee for United States Senator at the November 7 election.

Houser's Record

As Lieutenant Governor, member of the State War Council, and as legislator, he has consistently supported defense measures and the war effort, both before and after Pearl Harbor.

As a member of the California Legislature for three terms, he has successfully supported and worked for the passage of progressive and liberal laws in the fields of labor, old age pensions, unemployment insurance, and social security. The A. F. of L. endorsed Houser in his three successful campaigns for the state legislature.

He was a strong supporter, however, both in the legislature and as a successful candidate for Lieutenant Governor, of the law which prohibits unfair practices known as "Hot Cargo" and "Secondary Boycotts" for the duration of the war.

As a member of the legislative committee on agriculture he has a consistent record supporting measures beneficial to farmers and ranchers.

He was a leader in the legislative economy bloc organized to prevent waste and extravagance, and helped to save the California taxpayers more than $200,000,000.

HOUSER CHARGES NEW DEAL PLANS RETURN OF JAPS

Lieutenant-Governor reveals decision has been made for resettlement of evacuees in California communities after November 7th election.

ALTURAS, August 28 — Lieutenant-Governor Fred Houser, speaking here to residents of Modoc county, the scene of Tule Lake Japanese camp uprisings, charged the New Deal administration with plans to permit the return of Japs to California immediately after the November 7 election.

"I have been informed by competent authorities, and it is well known by the Japs and officials at relocation centers, that the decision has been made to permit Japanese to resettle in this state, regardless of the fact that California is still in the war zone, and regardless of objections people here have to such a move," Houser told his audience.

"As a matter of fact, the Japs would be back here already except for the fact that the administration decided to wait until after the November 7 election. Most recent indication of the administration's attitude was revealed in Los Angeles where the United States District Attorney dismissed cases against two Japs and thereby permitted their return.

"You in Modoc county know better than most Californians the character of these people with whom we are at war, and how little they can be trusted, yet the administration is ready to turn the Japs loose in our communities as soon as the November election is out of the way."

Houser, candidate for United States Senator, made his talk at a public meeting during the course of his campaign tour of northern California counties.

DOWNEY SAID ON FLOOR OF SENATE

Downey said on the floor of the Senate: "If the Japanese people for whom I have friendship and respect should attempt to break that line (Pearl Harbor), in 24 hours their great fishing industry in the Pacific Ocean would be wiped out. I do not mean to infer we should ever anticipate any Japanese war. On the contrary I can see no cause that should ever involve us in conflict with them." (Congressional Record, Vol. 85, Part 1, Oct. 6, 1939 pages 177-179.)

WAGES are GROCERIES
DON'T ROB YOUR BREAD BASKET

Proposition No. 12, the so-called "Right To Work" amendment, will NOT guarantee the "Right To Work" but the "Right To Work" for low wages . . . It will reduce YOUR standard of living . . . It will disrupt collective bargaining and create disunity between management and labor . . . It will impede the war effort on the home front . . . It will deprive returning veterans of their right to return to their old jobs at decent wages and working conditions . . . Don't be fooled by this tricky amendment.

WHAT IS YOUR LEFT HAND DOING?

By Isabel Fages

DOES your right hand know what your left hand is doing? Are you your brother's keeper or does he keep you?

In this case, your right hand is the man who sits by you in meetings or joins with you in deciding momentous problems concerning the Order and California, even though he belongs to a parlor at the other end of the state.

If you are your brother's keeper, you are the man who supports your brother member's interests by encouraging him in whatever endeavor he may enter as long as it is legitimate and honest.

If your brother keeps you, he is the fellow member who seeks you out because you are a member of the Native Sons or Native Daughters and offers to do business with you rather than with some stranger who directs his profits into channels not conducive to the progress and development of California.

Why not advertise in your official magazine? Keep your brother and let him keep you. Know what your left hand is doing.

Make your official magazine a paying business by making your own business pay. Know the business of your fellow member and let him know yours. Advertise in the Grizzly Bear Magazine. Write to Barney Browne, Advertising Director, for rates.

Don't forget our business survey! It is important! Prospective advertisers like to know the percentage of subscribers in certain businesses so they may know in what products we are most interested.

Do you send your copy in by the deadline date, or do you mail it on that day and expect it to be published after all the copy has been in and set-up ready for make-up? Are you the member who fails to cooperate and then complains about not getting an even break in Grizzly Bear columns? If you are, please realize the Bear is "your left hand" if you are willing to extend your "right."

THE GRIZZLY BEAR MAGAZINE, the official California monthly is published the first day of each month by the Grizzly Bear Publishing Company, a corporation, composed of Native Sons of the Golden West. The Grizzly Bear is the official organ of both the Native Sons of the Golden West and the Native Daughters of the Golden West and has been published continuously since 1907. The publication office is located in the Wilcox building, 206 South Spring street, suite 309-315, Los Angeles 13; Telephone, VA 6234. The San Francisco office is in the NSGW building, 414 Mason street, Room 302, San Francisco 3; Telephone EX 1223.

Entered as second class matter May 29, 1918, at the Post Office of Los Angeles, California, under the act of August 24, 1912. The magazine is on sale at either office at fifteen cents per copy. For blanket parlor subscription rates and club rates, please write to the Los Angeles office.

Board of Directors

Harry J. Lelande, president; Mary B. Berenberg, vice-president; Bernard G. Ellis, secretary and treasurer; Raymond D. Williamson, Wayne R. Millington, John T. Regan, Walter H. Odemar, Charles R. Thomas and Ann Schiebusch.

Attention, Contributors

News must be received in this office by the eighteenth of the month excepting when holidays necessitate the setting of an earlier date when all NSGW and NDGW parlors are notified. Please give name, address and parlor of sender; name, number and address of parlor, dates and locations of events, presiding officers, chairmen and committees in charge. Do not refer to raffles or drawings as these are classed as lotteries by the Federal Government and publication of news concerning them is prohibited. Do not send clippings. Please write with plenty of space between lines and make sure names are clearly written and correctly spelled. Study the style of the magazine and try and write your copy to conform with it.

Pictures of important events are desired, if they are large, good and clear glossy prints. Do not send newspaper mats or snapshots. Enclose return postage if you wish cuts or photographs returned. Be sure persons in the pictures are completely identified with left to right captions.

A Prayerful Thanksgiving

THANKSGIVING is particularly expressive to us this year, because only by giving does one properly give thanks. By giving all we can, we express our thankfulness for the security and freedom from want and destruction our boys are providing for us. Thus we might amplify the War Chest slogan for the current drive by adding, "Give Thanks by Giving."

This month's cover was supplied to us by the United States Navy through the War Chest. It is a picture of boys on the battle field in a hastily arranged open air Catholic chapel, with the cross fashioned of empty shell cases. In the accompanying photograph, Protestant boys sing praises to the Supreme Ruler.

You fight by giving. If you do your share, your Thanksgiving Day will be a glorious one.

For State and Country

REPEATING last year's highly successful "Christmas gifts to all members in the service everywhere on the fighting fronts" project, Grand President Raymond D. Williamson announces more than 2,000 boxes with assorted gifts were expressed out by the Native Sons of the Golden West before the deadline October 15.

Every endeavor was made by the Order to select gifts best suitable for the men in various regions with especial attention being given to climatic conditions and other factors.

Close cooperation of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marines and Seabees was given the Native Sons with the result that men receiving the Christmas boxes will find an assortment of gifts well suited to their needs.

Wives, sisters and sweethearts all gave their time to preparing and wrapping the packages under the methods suggested by the military.

Welcome Jack Meyer

Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW welcomed Jack Meyer, who was wounded in the South Pacific, after having been stationed there two years, to a recent meeting. Meyer is now in Letterman Hospital in San Francisco receiving medical treatment.

Louis Lapperich, Jr., is on leave, and John Cleary, has been inducted into the army. "Chow time" was the subject of a picture, showing Andy Barrachi and his buddies stationed in the South Pacific, recently passed around in parlor. Bob Dutil finished boot camp training in Idaho and is now stationed at Treasure Island.

University Parlor

Corporal Gordon L. Pollock of University Parlor No. 272 NSGW, is now assigned to the special troops at Camp Powie, Texas. Lieutenant Bob Keefer has a new APO address out of Fort Dix, New Jersey. Frank Longo is in the Coast Guard—not too far from home, and Frank Tierheimer, McMM 2/c writes a brief note to his parlor and intimates that he is "pushing around a landing boat" somewhere in the great Pacific.

"Somewhere in France," Pvt. Charles Curry, a member of Modesto Parlor No. 11, is receiving his Grizzly Bear and writes that he is enjoying it, according to a letter received by Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West sponsor through a central committee, the Homeless Children, a most worthy project. The Homeless Children is one of two authorized adoption agencies in the State of California. The central office is at 993 Eddy street, San Francisco 9. Telephone ORdway 5241. Mary E. Brusie is executive secretary. The Los Angeles office is located at 3924 Sunset boulevard 27. Telephone OLympic 4105. Dorothy Schlingman is in charge of the Los Angeles office.

They All Want Babes

During the last year and one half, 665 childless couples in Southern California applied to adopt babies through Los Angeles headquarters of the Central Committee on Homeless Children, 3924 Sunset Boulevard. Ninety-three little ones were placed in foster homes. Forty-five mothers, the majority un-wed, were helped to keep their babies through financial and material aid of the two Orders.

Miss Dorothy Schlingman, professional welfare worker of the project, who has been in charge of the Southern California office fifteen years, helps distraught young mothers to keep their infants if they wish. Children are boarded until mothers regain health and courage to find jobs or return to their own parents.

Unfortunately there are mothers who, for various causes cannot keep their babies. These children are put into boarding homes by Miss Schlingman, to be cared for until suitable foster parents are found.

Each year increasing numbers of applications for babies are sent to our Southern area headquarters. So great is the demand for children, and so long the waiting-list of applicants that many potential foster parents wait from two to three years before receiving a little one.

Before a child is given to foster parents they must furnish a physician's report stating it is physically impossible for them to have a child of their own.

Miss Schlingman is "on the go" day and night, visiting babies in temporary boarding homes, driving them to the Children's Hospital for medical examination, calling on foster parents to ascertain how they and their recently acquired babies are progressing, and visiting young mothers who have sent word they must relinquish their new-born babies. Miss Schlingman's territory extends from Santa Barbara to the Mexican border, and includes San Bernardino and Imperial counties.

Members of Southland parlors assist Miss Schlingman by acting as volunteer supervisory visitors. They drive babies to the hospital for checkups and make monthly visits to homes of foster parents to study conditions. After these calls they furnish reports to the office.

Layettes are made by the parlors' sewing groups and sent to Miss Schlingman, who distributes them among the infants in boarding homes or those who will remain with their mothers. When a baby arrives at the home of its new foster parents, the project furnishes a complete layette. Southland parlors adopt babies during their stays in boarding homes and contribute $37.50 for the six-weeks' milk bill for the youngster. Usually at the end of six weeks a baby has been given to its foster parents.

Fourth Infant Adopted

Thanks to Margaret Burch and her Homeless Children committee, Long Beach Parlor No. 154 NDGW adopted a fourth baby at their first meeting in October. The baby was named Mary Ann after two members in the service, Mary Broaded of the Waves and Ann Fisher of the WAC. Margaret Burch entertained the girls who helped her with the Homeless Children Waffle Breakfast at a barbecue in her home Sunday, October 1.

The Thimble Club and the cooks of the parlor each had a concession at the Public Market October 20. The Thimble club featured aprons, luncheon cloths and pot holders for the sale.

Long Beach Parlor had an enchilada dinner for members and friends before the October 9 meeting. Deputy Lottie Miller made the enchilades. Announcement was made that Lois McDougal, a past president, had been a member of the parlor twenty-five years on September 19. Her son, Sergeant Albert McDougal, just back from forty-five months in the South Pacific, visited the members before the meeting.

Jack Lewis of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco writes that he is now in Rome and "had breakfast with a Cardinal" and Lloyd Curtis is stationed at Lowry Field No. 2, Colorado.

A class initiation is planned for November 20 for Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW. Sonoma and the membership joined in preparing Christmas boxes for those in the service.

Lapsation Spectre

THE lapsation spectre is cowering in a dark corner, awaiting a death struggle with Native Sons who hope to tear him limb from limb and never again allow his ugly form to rear its beastly head within their ranks.

And what finer method could Grand President Raymond D. Williamson employ than to appoint two responsible members, one at each end of the state to stalk the cowardly creature to his lair?

Walter F. Wells, a member of University Parlor No. 272, Los Angeles, and of the Grand Parlor Committee on Laws of Subordinates, is already putting in his appearance at the meeting halls of Southern California parlors with alacrity and ferocity, while Al Walcott of Guadalupe Parlor No. 231 is turning all guns on the monster in the northern area.

Hand in hand with this able duo are working the membership council, headed by Grand First Vice President Richard McCarthy. A plan devised and approved under Section 15-D, Constitution of the Grand Parlor and approved by the Board of Grand Officers September 23, has been sent to the Supervising Deputies with the request that meetings be called as provided in order to put the plan into effect. Also on the membership committee are Grand Second Vice President R. G. Power. Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar, John Lewis, Webster K. Nolan, Bernard Abrott and Charles Childers.

In brief, the plan provides for a membership council consisting of the Grand President, the membership committee of the Grand Parlor, all supervising deputies and district deputies, the presidents and first vice presidents and membership chairmen of all the parlors.

Quarterly meetings are to be called by the supervisors, the first not later than November 1, to discuss proposals and plans for increasing membership and eliminating lapsation. Joint parlor or inter-county meetings and initiations, open meetings and entertainment events, to which prospective members may be invited, are suggested. Such plans should be sent to the supervising deputies and the membership committee and to the Grand Parlor office, which in turn, will prepare reports for distribution to all the parlors, grand officers, deputies and membership chairmen with specific instructions concerning the manner in which such ideas may be carried out.

The membership committee will submit a report of the progress of the plan to the Board of Grand Officers at the next regular meeting and each meeting thereafter and prepare and submit a report to the Grand Parlor thirty days before the opening of Grand Parlor.

Congratulations to President Henry Smith of Mission Parlor No. 38 NSGW! As a trustee of the Widows and Orphans Aid Association of the San Francisco Police Department, President Smith was the purchaser of $20,000 in war bonds on Admission Day in support of the state-wide "Buy a B-29 Bomber" campaign.

WITH THE GREATEST OF PLEASURE

Efforts for War Bond Sales Redoubled

"Native Sons will redouble their efforts in the November sale of bonds because this will be one of the most important appeals of the entire war due to the many victories scored by our fighting forces creating in the minds of thousands on the home front the idea that no further appeal is necessary. This is quite the contrary as the expanded combat; construction of ships and the multiplied demand for implements of war for the knockout of Germany and intensification of the defeat of Japan commands a much heavier drain on the country's finances, Grand President Raymond D. Williamson tells us.

With scores of smaller towns yet to report total sales of war bonds on Admission Day $1,250,000 was realized according to figures furnished by the office of Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

There will be no let-up in the sales of bonds, Grand President Williamson stated. Plans for the Native Sons participation in the November bond campaign are being inaugurated.

Success of the Admission Day drive was credited by Grand President Williamson to the indefatigable efforts of the Native Daughters who worked in close cooperation with the Native Sons and handled all details for the personnel in the bond booths throughout the State.

Dr. Mariana Bertola, Past Grand President, NDGW, is visiting in Manhattan. While in New York she will attend a series of medical round tables, at which she has been asked to speak.

Schools Amendment

The Board of Grand Officers at a meeting September 23 of the Native Sons of the Golden West placed itself strongly on record with an endorsement of Proposition No. 9, the Better Schools Amendment, sponsored by the State Council of Education, the State Federation of Labor, the PTA, CIO, American Legion, League of Women Voters and other statewide organizations to avert a breakdown in California's elementary school system.

The endorsement was voted as part of the organization's program to maintain "the high standard of education of our Calfornia schools," and declared:

"That the Board of Grand Officers of the Native Sons of the Golden West . . . endorses Proposition No. 9 so that our elementary schools, the foundation of the entire public school system, may have adequate financing. . . ."

In placing its strong and far-reaching influence behind the move to avert a breakdown of the State's elementary school system, the Grand Parlor recognized that "the allotment by the State of $60 per year for pupils in average daily attendance in elementary school was fixed twenty-four years ago and is nowise adequate to conditions confronting the schools and teachers today. . . ."

Proposition No. 9 proposes an increase in the State's allotment from sixty dollars to eighty dollars per pupil per year, and according to John F. Brady, president of the State Council of Education, "will protect the birthright of every child in California to equality of educational opportunity."

Series of Whists

The first of a series of whist card parties was given by Modesto Parlor No. 11 NSGW, jointly with Morada Parlor No. 199 NDGW, for charitable purposes in Odd Fellows Hall October 18. The party was well attended and after sixteen hands of whist had been played refreshments were served which was followed by dancing. Mary J. Blaine had charge of the prizes. Bess Elmore and her committee served refreshments. Grand Trustee Chas. D. Blaine was master of ceremonies. A short business meeting of Modesto Parlor was held prior to the card playing and final arrangements were made for the anniversary party of the parlor celebrating the sixty-third anniversary of its institution. Grand Trustee Peter Conmy will make his official visit to the Modesto Parlor on this occasion which will occur on Wednesday evening, November 1. It is planned to hold a Christmas party for members on December 20.

For a Happy Future

By Grand President Emily E. Ryan

NOVEMBER, the eleventh month of the year, heralds the approach of the holiday season, when families anticipate happy meetings. Since 1918, November has held a deeper significance, as it marks the day of Armistice, November 11, the end of hostilities of World War I. This was to have been the beginning of Peace for all times, but today we are engaged in another conflict and it is our earnest hope that this will result in the lasting peace.

Many of our sons and daughters are engaged in the service of our country and are absent from home. They will be missed from the family circles, while others will be just dear memories. May we look forward to another year when Armistice Day will be celebrated with great rejoicing because of the victory that must surely be ours.

As we gather together on November 23 to offer thanks for the blessings bestowed upon us in the past year, may we humbly pray that our dear ones will return soon and that the great work of our Order will be extended into greater fields of endeavor.

To each of you, I extend my greetings and best wishes for good health and the promise of a brighter and happier future.

Joint Official Visit

Grand President Emily E. Ryan made a joint official visit to Susanville Parlor No. 243 and Nataqua Parlor No. 152 NDGW, October 4 at the IOOF Hall in Susanville. The honored guest was presented with a gift from the two parlors.

Also attending the meeting was DGP Hazel French, a member of Nataqua Parlor. Seven members were initiated for Susanville: Daisy Herrick, Maxine Herrick, June Pollastrini, Gladys Evelyn Bates, Letha Shultz, Viola Self and Viola Woods.

Grand President Ryan gave an interesting and enlightening talk on past and current activities of Native Daughters throughout the state and asked the members present to consider instituting a Junior Organization for young girls in Susanville. Preceding the meeting a pot-luck supper was served in the banquet room.

Commemorate Founding

Copa de Oro Parlor No. 105, NDGW, observed Constitution Day and Founder's Day with a Quiz Kid broadcast with awards being won by Eugenia Cunan, Ann Gould, Elmo Libao and Ethel Hostetter.

The meeting of October 4 was devoted to formulating plans for the annual Homeless Children benefit card party October 18. The membership voted full cooperation with the Veterans' Employment Council and authorized the contribution of ten dollars to the emergency fund being set up by the council. A contribution of $5.00 was voted for the War Chest.

SAN FRANCISCO COUNTY

Inter Parlor Night

Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco, held an Inter-Parlor Night September 26 in Yosemite Hall, Native Sons building, which was a tremendous success, largely due to the indefatigable efforts of Chairman J. Layton Riley and his "flying committeemen."

Three hundred members of the Order put in their appearance at the event planned to honor charter members of San Francisco parlors to whom some 160 parchment scrolls were presented.

One hundred and twenty-five members of the host parlor received twenty-five and fifty year membership medals. President Webster K. Nolan made a plea for a united front among natives on the Japanese problem.

Judge Clarence Morris responded and a widely publicized resolution was adopted after presentation by Waldo F. Postel, adjuring Hawaii that she is not ready for statehood until she is prepared to acquiesce in the findings of the nation as a whole, particularly regarding legislation affecting Japanese residents.

Moonlight?

Aha! A moonlight picnic! Wish we could have had a last minute report on the barbecue and dance at Sigmund Stern Grove, October 24, when members, wives, and sweethearts of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco must have had a time. Arthur T. Poheim was chairman.

And then there was Newspapermen's Night October 17 at the Elks' Club, entitled "The Scribes and Pharisees Department of Stanford Parlor No. 76," when "Whistledizzy or Life in a News Factory," with an all-star cast of 150 natives and aliens, was presented under the co-chairmanship of Edmond D. Coblentz and John D. Hanley. Barney Gould, Arthur T. Poheim and Edwin S. Sullivan were the directors and President Webster K. Nolan authored the extravaganza. Dunking doughnuts was to furnish the windup of the fiasco.

Blood Bank Donations Planned by Deputies

San Francisco Native Daughter deputies recently were guests of SDDGP May L. McDonald at a buffet supper in her home. During the meeting, Vera Thompson, Keith Parlor No. 137, was elected as secretary and Pearl Wedde, Las Lomas Parlor No. 72, was chosen as treasurer. The main project for the year will be the securing of blood plasma contributions.

Plans for a joint reception, honoring Grand Presidents Emily Ryan and Raymond Williamson, are being completed by Sons and Daughters deputies. The affair will take place at the Scottish Rite auditorium Thursday evening, November 30.

Honor Grand Marshal

Over two hundred members and friends were in attendance October 10 when Twin Peaks Parlor No. 185, NDGW, San Francisco, honored their esteemed member, Grand Marshal Loretta M. Cameron with a reception. The drill team of the parlor acted as escort.

The Salute and Pledge to the Flag was led by Captain Loraine Quartaroli, after which Alice Jehley and Martha Field entertained the guests with selections. Grand Marshal Cameron was the recipient of a very lovely gift from her parlor, presented by President Carmel Roach.

The evening was in charge of Mrs. Merle Sandell, assisted by the delegates to the last Grand Parlor and the officers of Twin Peaks. Refreshments were served at tables decorated with Autumn colors and yellow candles.

Also present were Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney, Past Grand Presidents Evelyn I. Carlson, Orinda Giannini and Claire Lindsey and Deputy Grand President Kathleen Holland.

Life Membership

Darina Parlor No. 114, NDGW, San Francisco, met October 16 to honor Charter Member Emma Marks with a life membership certificate on the ocasion of her birthday. Mrs. Marks was born at Montgomery and Market streets, San Francisco, October 16, 1857, her parents having been pioneers of 1854.

Darina Parlor observed its forty-fifth anniversary at a banquet October 18.

Martha Field, Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, vice-chairman of the Executive Committee of the San Francisco Juvenile Delinquency Board, presided at a Civic Luncheon in the Gold Room of the Palace Hotel, October 16. Civic and club leaders of San Francisco County met in support of a proposition to build a new Juvenile Delinquency Home for the City and County of San Francisco, appearing on the November ballot.

BEHIND TOP MAN

In collaboration with Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, Mission Parlor No. 38 NSGW initiated three candidates into the Order October 3. This brings a total of six new members initiated by the Parlor since the commencement of Grand President Williamson's term. As Grand Marshal Ray McGrath says, "Mission is behind top man Ray 100 per cent."

Attendance Prize

As an inducement for larger attendances at regular meetings, and to stimulate interest and activity, Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, has drawn up a plan whereby members present will be given a number and at the conclusion of the meeting, a drawing will be held and the possessor of the lucky number will be awarded a month's dues as a prize.

Prizes for Outstanding Table Decorations

At the Civic Luncheon given in honor of Grand President Emily E. Ryan the following San Francisco Parlors were awarded cash prizes for the best decorated tables: Castro Parlor No. 178 NDGW—First award: table design representing the Great Seal of California, made of flowers; Yerba Buena Parlor No. 273 NDGW: the Golden Gate Bridge in replica, and Alta Parlor No. 3: a unique centerpiece of California grapes. The judges were SDDGP May L. McDonald, of San Francisco County and Angela Koenig of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158. Grand President Emily E. Ryan was presented with a handsome black leather portfolio, by all the Parlors of San Francisco County.

Al Fresco Dinner

Past Presidents Association No. 13, NDGW, enjoyed a sunset al fresco dinner at Dunne Memorial Park with Edna Butterfield, Eileen Hansen, Edna Wiese and Mollie Daveggio as the entertaining group.

After partaking of the appetizing food, adjournment was made to the park recreation hall where Marguerite Beresini was initiated. At Dutch whist, prizes were won by Rose Guilhamet, Mary Prendergast, Marguerite Beresini and Katherine Black.

Hats Off to Grand President Ryan

Members of Manzanita Parlor No. 29 NDGW took their hats off to Grand President Emily Ryan when she made her official visit to the parlor September 26. Preceding the special meeting a banquet was served. Each guest wore a lapel ornament in the form of a yellow, red and white crepe paper hat. During the repast, Elizabeth Hansen sang "Where Did You Get That Hat," as a large bonnet was placed on Grand President Ryan.

Pauline Patterson, Ann Whiting, Wilma Bluette, Ruth Short, Elsie Peard, Beatrice George and Ethel Dart presented an appropriate skit entitled "Sally's Hat Shop."

Guests included SDDGP Ann Whiting, Deputy Emmaline Chase of Sierra Pines Parlor No. 275, Deputy Kay Gallivo, Manzanita, Beryl Granholm, Laurel Parlor No. 6, and Irma Murray, President of Aloha Parlor No. 106, who accompanied the Grand President.

Membership Gain Reported

A membership gain of 965 was reported to the Board of Grand Officers NSGW September 23, when a meeting was held in the offices of the grand secretary, in the Native Sons building, 414 Mason street, San Francisco. This gain covers the period of January 1 to August 31.

A membership Council, the plan of which is printed elsewhere in this issue, was submitted by Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, chairman of the Grand Parlor membership committee.

A progressive report was made by Grand Third Vice-president Walter H. Odemar on the activities of the Committee on Japanese Legislation. Letters were received containing the reports of Isadore Dockweiler, chairman of the Flag Observance committee; and Roy W. Cloud of the Education committee.

A committee was appointed to act on the revision of the constitution. This group includes, Junior PGP Wayne R. Millington, chairman; Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy; Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy; Grand Third Vice-president Walter H. Odemar and PGP Jesse H. Miller. Chairman Millington asked that all suggestions for changes to the constitution be mailed to the Grand Secretary's office before November 1.

Veterans Aided

Since his appointment as state chairman of the Veteran's Welfare committee by Grand President Williamson, as well as a member of the San Francisco Coordinating Council for Veterans' Welfare by Mayor Lapham, Tom Ryan, Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW has devoted much time and energy in that direction.

The newly organized Native Sons committee has been doing work in the interest of the discharged veteran members. Several cases which have come to Ryan's attention, have been presented to the proper authorities. The rights of these veterans were given consideration and the discharged service men were either restored to their original positions or were placed in comparable jobs where physical handicaps precluded their return to former jobs.

Bear Sports by Bruce Bernard

Introducing a new section—sports. With Bruce Bernard as the editor of the feature, we hope parlors will send in their dope on what's what on their local fields, including football, baseball, boat racing, horse racing, bowling, horseshoe slinging, hunting, fishing and so on, written in the best sports vernacular. Along with parlor sponsored sports, Bernard intends to lay the cards on the table on fast moving, state-wide sports plays in all fields, interspersed with national and universal competitions. Herewith we commence Bernard's browsing midst the rugged sports rallies of the west. Keep attuned to this station. We don't want to miss anything? Do you?

Hail Hayburners

The good news of the month is that Hollywood Park opens November 1. Slide Rule and Devil's Thumb, are coming south for the opening race. Both of these hayburners are owned by William E. Boeing. Trainer Cecil Wilhelm has had the two big winners stationed at Ted Horning's ranch in Northern California. Wilhelm expects both of them to come through in fine style. A second division of the Coward and Du Pap stable is due soon in California from Chicago.

Passing the Buck

Simon Semichy of San Jose Parlor No. 22, spent a week deer hunting at Pinecrest. He got in a shot at a buck, but missed. Brother Semichy says he's going back later in the season and try his luck again.

Out For Blood

Tossing what they are pleased to call an Athletic Night, which looks to this reporter more like D-Day, Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco, boasts a card with a pair of stars who will be after blood from the first ringing of the bell. Since the bout was slated for October 24 in Sierra Hall, we hope to give our readers a punch to punch account of the struggle in the December issue. Al La Rocca tangles with Ray Crivello. La Rocca, who is also promoter of the event, is far western amateur heavyweight champ. Ray Crivello holds the title of far western light heavyweight king. Both lads are contestants for the National amateur championships to be held this year.

Gate Gain Shown

The 1944 gate (American League) pulled a huge gain over the 1943. Here's how the figures stack up:

Clubs—	Attendance 1944	1943
Detroit	923,176	606,287
New York	789,995	618,330
Chicago	563,539	508,962
Washington	525,235	574,698
St. Louis	508,644	214,392
Boston	506,975	358,275
Philadelphia	505,322	376,735
Cleveland	475,272	438,894

The American League drew a total paid attendance of 4,798,158 for the baseball season, an increase of 1,101,589 over the 3,698,569 gate mark of last year.

Ice Hockey League

The newly organized Pacific Coast Ice Hockey league, which will have teams from ten cities this season, opens its Southern division play Saturday evening, November 18, at the Pan Pacific Auditorium, Los Angeles.

The new loop, divided into southern, central and northern sections, is composed of the following clubs: Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena, San Diego, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Vanport and Vancouver. Last year's champs were the Hollywood Wolves, and methinks, again this year, they will outpoint the other clubs.

Dobbin Seeks Missing Horse Shoes

Piedmont Parlor No. 120 and Fruitvale Parlor No. 252 NSGW, finished their series of ten games of horseshoes at Piedmont Parlor September 21. The first five games were played at Fruitvale on September 15. Fruitvale won the series. A whale of fun and goodfellowship prevailed.

Past Presidents' Terms To Be Recalled

President Warren Langtry of Claremont Parlor No. 240 NSGW, Emeryville, has appointed DDGP Albert Vinther chairman of the evening honoring the Past Presidents of the Parlor November 28. Chairman of the Good of the Order committee, Frank Poggio, is preparing a collation in keeping with the evening.

The accomplishments, such as membership gains, and the high lights of the terms of each past president, and humorous incidents befalling the parlor when it was young, will all be revealed. Past Presidents Alfred De Benedetti and Emil Thienger have been assigned to represent Carl Pastrina and T. Burke Woodward, who are overseas in the armed forces.

Thirty-third Anniversary

Nearly seventy-five members attended the thirty-third anniversary dinner and the official visit of State President Frances E. Maloney to Past President's Association No. 2 NDGW in Oakland October 9. The tables were decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. A gift was presented to Mrs. Maloney by Isabel Snedigar, chairlady of the evening.

Honored guests of the evening were Beda Pacheco, charter past president; Irene Rose, charter president; Ethyl Young, president; Isabel Snedigar, state director, and Emily Lawson, junior state past president. All were presented with corsages.

At the meeting held later in the evening three candidates were initiated and the following program was presented: Humorous monologue by Ana Barney; accordion solo by Fritzi Jordan; vocal solo by Nancy Stern and community singing lead by Lucille Stern.

Constitution Day Theme

"Constitution Day" was the theme of the musical and historical program presented by Juliet Bliss, music chairman of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW, when the parlor met in regular session September 20.

In commemoration of Mare Island's ninetieth birthday, Chairman Bliss presented a history of its founding, paying tribute to those responsible for making the island one of the Nation's foremost Navy yards.

With impressive ceremonies, eleven candidates were initiated. Distinguished guests and visitors included DGP Edith Cavagnaro of Calistoga Parlor No. 140 NDGW, Katie Butler, secretary of Calistoga, and Lois Juaney, President of Eschol Parlor No. 16.

Funny Dresses

Funny dresses were the feature of Vista del Mar Parlor No. 155 NDGW Hallowe'en party October 16. President Marion Miramontes presided with twenty-one members in attendance.

After the meeting all joined in an hour of fun, then gathered in the banquet hall where a committee served pumpkin and apple pies and coffee.

Reception Honors Grand officers

A reception honoring Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio was held by El Carmelo Parlor No. 181 NDGW September 20 in the Blue Room of Masonic Hall in Daly City. In the receiving line with the guest of honor were Chairman Margaret Steele, President Adele Wood, Pauline Quirvio, who organized El Carmelo Parlor; and Katie Night and Hattie Kelly, charter officers of the parlor.

Chairman Steele, introduced the guest of honor whose splendid address, "The Aims and Purposes of the Native Daughters of the Golden West" was an inspiration. Grand President Emily E. Ryan, also present, spoke briefly, paying high compliment to Grand Inside Sentinel Donofrio.

Among the guests present were Grand President Ryan, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney, PGP Evelyn I. Carlson, SDDGP Stella Zanetti of San Mateo County and Thelma Locatelli, Margaret Locatelli and Evelyn Bemis, San Mateo County deputies.

A short program of vocal and piano numbers was presented. Refreshments were served buffet style in the banquet room.

Greetings and gifts from many friends gave evidence of the esteem and regard held for Mrs. Donofrio.

El Carmelo added three members to their roll at the October 4 meeting. Initiated were Margaret Clevenger, Dorothy Linehan and Ellen Pieri. President Wood announced the formulation of plans for a November public dinner.

Fine Bond Sales

Nell Crowley of Fruitvale Parlor No. 177 NDGW, chairman of the recent bond drive, reported a total of $10,000 in bonds sold by the parlor. Mrs. Ann Turnbull, president, assisted the chairman.

A surprise stork shower was given by the members for Eliza Paul of Piedmont Parlor No. 87, Oakland, who is a past deputy to Fruitvale Parlor. Mrs. Paul was presented with a bathinette from the members and received many other very lovely gifts. Among those present at the shower were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler; Grand Trustee Marion White; and Minnie Souza, of Hayward Parlor No. 122, deputy to Fruitvale. Agnes Grant, May Barthold and Nell Crowley, charter members, also attended.

Jane Lange has been very active in the sewing club, having made to date over 130 aprons to be used as prizes for whist and bridge parties and to be purchased by the members and their friends.

Past Presidents of Napa Parlor No. 62 NSGW performed the ceremonies at the recent initiation of eight members. The hall directors reported paying off three bonds September 30 on the building and that the debt will be paid off in September, 1946.

Past President Presides

With Edna Williams, past president of Sequoia Parlor No. 272 NDGW, acting as initiatory officer, Marie Verdi became a member of the Order Thursday night, October 12, during the meting in the Finnish Brotherhood Hall. All officers wore gay formal costumes.

Emily Ohman was in charge of a Hallowe'en party which was accorded the service men October 26 at the hall. Games appropriate for the occasion, and dancing furnished entertainment. The choral presented two groups of songs under the direction of Organist Tessie Socker. Clara Barton gave a group of Scotch numbers in costume, accompanied by Mrs. Socker. Prior to the party, a roundtable meeting was held.

Thursday, November 2, members of the Order made up a party to attend the West of Sacramento Boys' Club Christmas theater party, given annually for disabled service men. Thursday night, November 9, the parlor will entertain at its annual whist party with several of the officers in charge. Interesting prizes will be given to those holding high score at each table. Mrs. Socker was in charge of the prizes. Jeanette Anderson was elected marshal and will be installed during November. Plans for a Christmas party also were made at this meeting.

Six Parlor Meeting

Fruitvale Parlor No. 252 NSGW is looking forward to the evening of November 10, when members will act as host to a six parlor meeting to be held in the meeting hall, in honor of the official visit of Grand Trustee Charles D. Blaine of Modesto. A committee under the leadership of First Vice President James L. Hubbard is preparing a program of entertainment and refreshment for the occasion. District Deputy Guy Robinson, chairman of the parlor membership committee is actively signing up a class of candidates for that evening.

The recent Victory Garden contest and dinner was a big success. The winners in the contest were many and all received prizes. Winners of first prizes in the different classes were, in Class A, Al H. Koch, who received a set of garden furniture. Class B, Albert H. Linck, twenty-five feet of garden hose. Class C, James L. Ambrosi, who actually tilled a small city farm, was awarded fifty feet of pre-war garden hose.

Southern Area Activities

University Parlor

Saboteurs and their tricks were discussed by Special FBI Agent Alan Kridel of the Los Angeles office, when he appeared as a speaker before University Parlor No. 272 NSGW October 11. Robert S. Groman, program chairman, procured the speaker.

Ladies' Night was held October 25, with wives and friends spending an evening of fun at the Ice Follies of 1945. Cliff Ganow was in charge of arrangements.

The November 8 meeting will be featured by nomination of officers and an official visit from Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar. Refreshments are being planned by Co-chairmen Julian Whittier and Jack Curran.

Alert to Peril

Alert to the peril impending with the return of the Japanese to this coast, Long Beach Parlor No. 278 is making every effort to cooperate with Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar and his Japanese legislation committee.

The parlor is once more meeting in the beautiful lodge room on the second floor of the Veterans' Memorial building, Broadway and Cedar avenue, Long Beach. The meeting room had been turned over to the military authorities when sorely needed and now is being returned.

Los Ranchos Parlor

The dinner meeting of Los Ranchos Parlor No. 283, Pomona, held October 6 was an oustanding success. Twenty-seven members were in attendance and enjoyed the fine steak. Jerome Kavanaugh of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 gave an inspiring talk on the Mormon Trail. Secretary John Irwin, though only a member for two months, continues his fine work. Through his efforts a new monthly Parlor bulletin goes to each member.

Frank Pedley gave a fine report on the possibility of meeting regularly in the Palomares Adobe.

The meeting of October 20 was pot luck night. Members, their families and friends enjoyed this special dinner at President Nelson Van Fleet's home in Upland. Several candidates were present. Members are urged to watch for their next bulletin covering the meeting November 3.

The most thrilling news is always that of the initiation of a large class of candidates and a last minute bulletin informs us that a class of seventy-five will be ushered into the Order of the Native Sons, the evening of November 1 at Cabrillo Parlor No. 114 NSGW, Ventura, with Grand President Raymond Williamson officiating.

To Observe Sixtieth Anniversary Date

Sixty years have elapsed since the institution of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 NSGW, November 12, 1884, and the anniversary will be appropriately celebrated by the membership, wives and friends November 16. A baked ham dinner will be served at the meeting hall, 1832 S. Hope street, at 6:30 in the evening. Reservations may be made with Chairman Willard E. Allen, CLeveland 6-2590.

Master of Ceremonies will be Past President Walter E. Smith and William M. Girard will supervise dinner preparations. Chairman Allen has been a member fifty-six years, twenty of which have been devoted to the duties of secretary. Noteworthy among material gifts he has presented the parlor have been two ebony gavels, with silver engraved bands, a silk service flag, carrying twenty-four stars, one of which is gold, and a hand-painted, illuminated seal of state. Working with him, beside the dinner chairman, to make the anniversary a memorable event, are Frank Frank, G. A. Anderson, Norman H. Algie, Ralph W. Becker, H. Joeirman and Roger Johnson.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 NSGW recently obligated Virgil V. Becker, by the new method for inducting absent servicemen. He writes thanking the parlor for the honor and apprises the members of his promotion to the rank of sergeant. Robert Valenzuela is in Virginia. He has seen many countries during this conflict and thinks California is the best state in the Union and the United States the best country, "so it's worth fighting for—the best country and the best state in the world." He is receiving advanced training before going back to sea.

Seabee Otis T. Page, Jr., is still confined to the U. S. Naval Hospital in Corona, following heavy duties in the South Pacific for two years.

Arrowhead Parlor

Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 NSGW, San Bernardino has a new member whose occupation is listed as fireman 1/c, USN. Members who have joined the services recently are: Maurice Robert Peters and Benjamin Gregory, making a total of 201 members in the service.

Adolph S. "Lefty" Rowe has been honorably discharged from the Navy. He held the rank of Lieutenant, junior grade. Howard E. Waite has been promoted from the rank of captain to that of major and is stationed in Washington, D. C. Sergeant James Greene writes from "down under." Dick Boyden is "deep in the swampland of Florida" and Robert D. Kidd recently attended his first meeting of the parlor since he was inducted into service February 16, 1944.

Lieutenant-Governor

Lieutenant Governor Fred Houser, prominent member of Ramona Parlor No. 109, will be honored at the regular meeting, November 13, in the meeting hall at 1832 S. Hope street, Los Angeles. Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar heads the official reception committee, which includes Justice Thomas P. White, and Judges Thurmond Clarke, Henry M. Willis and Frank G. Tyrrell and Ernest R. Orfila, Wallace Ware, Leo V. Youngworth, George M. Cuthbertson, August Narconi, John D. Home, Leo Carrillo, Edwin H. Meserve, Lon McCoy, Ward E. McConnell and Frank Lorenzi. Charles R. Thomas, official dispenser, will preside over the refreshment table.

November 10 is open night with a review scheduled for families and friends. Charles "Raffles" Riffe is in charge. The monthly birthday dinner for members only is announced for November 17 at 6:30 with Ralph, "Simon the Greek," Walters as chef.

Families and friends of Ramona Parlor No. 109 members were invited to the parlor open meeting Friday, October 13, to see a physical demonstration of electrical phenomena, "Light and Color," by George M. Rankin, director of lighting of the Southern California Edison company. Following the talk on modern electrical miracles, refreshments were served.

Family Gathering

Lake Park recreation hall at Huntington Beach was filled to capacity September 25 when the Native Sons of Paradise Parlor No. 282 and their families gathered for a semi-potluck dinner and evening of entertainment.

Paradise Parlor furnished meat, rolls, coffee, home-made ice cream and cake, while each of the ladies brought a covered dish of their favorite salad or vegetable.

During the dinner the Gonzales stringed orchestra aided digestion by rendering, both instrumentally and vocally, some of the choicest of Latin American, Spanish and Italian music.

When hunger had to some extent been appeased, Professor C. W. Howland entertained the assembly by performing many intersting and puzzling feats of magic. Several of the films released by the Navy, depicting Japanese political and military ambitions, the manner of their conquest of Manchuria and the war on China, were projected.

President Jack Robertson acted as his own Master of Ceremonies and introduced Harold Harper, entertainment chairman, and Vernon Westworth, chairman of refreshments and other active members of their committees.

Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy was in Los Angeles October 19 attending the California Library Association convention.

Friday Luncheon Club

Native Sons Friday Luncheon Club was entertained by the following speakers: Friday, September 29, Gordon Whitnall, Consultant in Planning and Government, "How Los Angeles Is Being Re-made Economically and Esthetically"; October 6, Colonel William H. Evans, Chairman Los Angeles County World's Fair Commission, "The Proposed World's Fair for Los Angeles in 1949-50, celebrating Victory, Peace and Progress"; October 13, Edwin C. Boehler, Attorney, "Christopher Columbus"; October 20, J. Wesley Gebb, Assistant Chief of the State Industrial Accident Prevention Bureau, "War Plant Accident Prevention."

In the principal address at a Columbus Day ceremony in the Los Angeles City Council chamber, Isadore B. Dockweiler, prominent member of Ramona Parlor No. 109, paid tribute to the discoverer. The banner of Spain at the time of the exploration of the Pacific coast was presented to the Council with Dockweiler making the presentation.

Mothers and Daughters Honored by Verdugo

Mothers and daughters of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 were honored when the Parlor held its regular meeting October 10. Carrying out the mother-daughter theme were the quaint mother-daughter dolls dressed in hoop-skirts.

Eleven new members were initiated, including Jean Hirst, daughter of Phyllis Hirst; Barbara Butterworth, daughter of Mary Ella Wolfram; Dorothy Puthuff, daughter of Olive Zimmer; Nellie Anderson, mother of Ethel Dolan; Mesdames Eleanor Blanchard Alden, Shirley Adams Marks, Edith Cuff, Venice Hutchens, Phyllis Radford, Lee Miller and Marjorie Lowe.

Mothers and daughters honored were: Maude Molen and Flora Alice Day, now president of the parlor; Anna Alpi and Mary Miller; Hattie Enright and Alice Hoss; Rose Vejar and Reggie Vejar; Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg and Joan Noerenberg, of Californiana Parlor No. 247; Mary B. McAnay and Phyllis McAnay and Georgia Hart; and Mrs. Rose Hughes and Louise Crawford.

Special guests of the evening were Past Grand Presidents Noerenberg and Hazel B. Hansen, Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, DGP Eleanor Campbell, and State Chairman of Radio Margaret A. Kerr.

Of much interest and favorable comment was the first bulletin of "The Verdugo News," compiled by Gertrude Blakeley and Mrs. Day. The bulletin announced a membership tea for November 19 at the home of Mrs. Hansen.

Hostesses of the evening, who acted as "mothers" to the new members were Gussie Anderson, Martha Hawkinsen, Phyllis Budge and Anna Louise Gregory. General chairman was Mrs. Marguerite Piuma. Margarite Dolan and Beulah Hood arranged for refreshments and Mrs. Hirst provided the favors.

DONORS TREK RECORD DISTANCE

A ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTEEN MILE TRIP TO A BLOOD BANK, is somewhat a record distance to travel for the most worthy purpose of contributing blood. Seventeen members of El Tejon Parlor No. 239, NDGW, Bakersfield, felt it was not too far for them, so they chartered an Orange Belt Stages bus and journeyed to Los Angeles September 20. In the picture, Marie Finn checks in at the Red Cross Blood Bank Center for the group with Mrs. Ewing S. Riley, grey lady. Most of the group are servicemen's wives and the party was headed by Mrs. Fred Allippi, president and Marjory Rouw, one of the newer members of El Tejon who arranged the trip. She hopes to make arrangements for semi-monthly visits to the Los Angeles center.

First Century

Descendants of first century families met for an annual luncheon in the Friday Morning Club house, Los Angeles, October 11. Mary Foy, beloved pioneer leader of the city and member of Californiana Parlor No. 247, has engineered these outstanding social events for a number of years and this year notable among the guests were three tables of Native Daughters.

Heading the list were PGP Grace S. Stoermer and Florence D. Schoneman of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, San Pedro. President Charlotte Carpenter of Californiana Parlor No. 247 hostessed the following: Belle S. Maguire, Isabel Monroe, Estelle Flick, Mary C. Beebe, Harriett Le Vitt, Emma J. Miss Anita Patton, sister of General George Patton, descendants of two first century families related the story of the coming of her parents and voiced the love of her famous brother for the state of his birth. Other guests were asked to speak of their pioneering ancestors and gave vivid descriptions of their experiences of the early days.

Prospective members of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 206 NDGW were entertined at a buffet dinner Wednesday, October 11, with thirty-five members present. Six applications were turned in at the short meeting which followed.

Bus Trip for WACS

Lugonia Parlor No. 241 NDGW, San Bernardino in conjunction with Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, NSGW, recently entertained thirty-eight WACS, who are stationed at the San Bernardino Army Air field. An all-day mountain trip was arranged for by Freda Fox, of Lugonia Parlor, and Dor Cockran, of Arrowhead Parlor. The WACS were taken by bus to Big Bear Lake, where lunch was served and a boat ride on the lake enjoyed. The bus returned to Crestline via the Rim-of-the-World drive, stopping off at Lake Arrowhead and Lake Gregory and ending at the Native Sons clubhouse at Crestline. Ada McInerny, Freda Fox, and Rosslyn Bussey accompanied the WACS on the bus ride in order to explain the many places of interest. Dinner was served at the clubhouse for the WACS, and the families of Native Sons and Daughters.

Lugonia Parlor No. 241, had a Bond Booth located in the Harris Company Department Store September 9. Bertha Heap Civic Chairman, and her committee had charge of the booth and reported over $80 worth of bonds were sold during the day.

California's Post War Problems Outlined

Special emphasis was laid on California's own post war problems by Dr. Elmer Nelson, information specialist with the price administration of the Los Angeles district, when he spoke before Californiana Parlor No. 247 NDGW, Los Angeles, at the luncheon program October 10.

Dr. Nelson, with degrees from Yale and USC, was economic advisor to President Woodrow Wilson and has filled responsible positions in the war trade board. In a textbook he published in 1923, he predicted war in 1941.

Dr. Nelson stated that California will undergo two post war periods; one when the war with Germany ends when eastern military contracts will be cancelled immediately and a great migration will begin to the western coast. Military power will be shifted to the Pacific coast as the war with Japan is stepped up. The eastern states will suffer their post war readjustment at this time. Housing and job demands here will be intensified.

"When the war with Japan is ended, military contracts here will be suspended and thousands of persons will be jobless. It is during this period that California will experience readjustment. Cashing in on equities and a wild purchasing orgy will follow. Railroads will be unable to supply the demands for transportation and thus will begin a second period of post war readjustment.

"If some fair and equitable plan for California is worked out by the government for price control, the post war recovery period will be long and good. California has the third largest light metal industry in the country. This area is destined to become a major freight transportation center. Vast sums of money saved while buying was curtailed will be released. Speculation will run rampant. Property inflation will increase as newcomers buy real estate. It will be a dangerous period and unless price control is continued over everything, including property, a boom period featured by price inflation will result.

"This," the speaker warned, "will be the most dangerous period of all. Californians should be alert to the danger of such an era."

President Charlotte Carpenter introduced the program chairman, Genevieve Cooke who in turn presented the speaker. Deputy Florence Grass of La Reina Parlor No. 267 was an honored guest. It was reported that seventy-two dozen sandwiches were made and dispensed by the War Activities committee at the Main street USO October 7, and fifty-three dozen doughnuts were purchased and served during the afternoon hours, according to Chairman Ernestine Aylward. First Vice President Mabel Wigdal was chairman of the rummage sale planned for October 30.

Mrs. Sinclair V. Carpenter, president of Californiana Parlor announces the following November calendar: Luncheon, November 14, at twelve noon. Mrs. George P. Adams and Mrs. Horace T. Cooke, co-chairmen of programs, will present Mr. Edmonde Greene, who will discuss Juvenile Problems. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Thomas Skinner, GRanite 5265. The business meeting will follow at 2 p.m. For sewing circle plans scheduled for Monday, November 6, members are asked to call the Chairman, Mrs. Amos O. Evans, WEbster 7502. A regular business meeting is scheduled for November 29 at 1:30 in the afternoon to be followed by a Thanksgiving tea with Mrs. Charles Jacobson, hospitality chairman in charge.

Initiation

San Diego Parlor No. 208 NDGW commemorated the founding of the Order by initiating Clara L. Baldwin, a pioneer and widow of the former county superintendent of schools, and her daughter, Blithe Kelleher, and Annetta Bemer, Ruth M. Bence, Esther E. Bradbury, Edith Hahn, Bernice Manning, Louise H. Powell, Ellen R. Smolenski and Bertha M. Starr, September 29. The hall was decorated with plumosa palms and baskets of dahlias by SDDGP Doris Hoffner and refreshments were served by Carrie Chambers and committee. Dorothy Holley read a paper on the founding of the Order.

Past President Edythe Barngrover, chairman for Young Women's Activities, invited a group of young members to meet in her home in Loma Portal to formulate plans for future events.

Members of the officers' club were guests of Stella Case and Carrie McMorrow in the home of the former, October 3, and the Sewing Club met in the homes of Anna Simmonds of North Park and Essie Haubert in National City to complete articles for the bazaar scheduled for November. The Past Presidents' Club met October 9 with Sophia Sharpe presiding.

Why Editors Get Grey

The enterprising correspondent who sent in this issue's news from Mt. Lassen Parlor No. 215 NDGW, sent the editorial staff into a dither over her report of a "Bad taste" party given by Marshal Claire Bolman.

Now, we of the staff, not knowing exactly to what the term "bad taste" applied, have decided to trust to luck and print away. "Maybe it means the luncheon wasn't very good," guessed the editor's stooge. "But no, it says here that 'Bad taste' doesn't refer to the food."

"Do you suppose they meant everything was done in 'Bad taste' for the fun of something new?"

And so, the queries flew until the remark that topped them all burst forth. "Bad taste, bad taste, doesn't that have something to do with the morning after?"

Still pondering the hidden meaning, we pass the notice on to you.

"On September 28, our marshal, Claire Bolman, entertained the members at a 'Bad taste' party. It might have been a bad taste party, but the luncheon she served was anything but—bad taste."

Invite Other Organizations to Join In Jap Fight

By Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar

DURING the past two months the Committee on Japanese Legislation has had two very important meetings. Friday, September 22, its members met in the grand secretary's office and discussed many vital subjects within its special field, including legislation to be presented to the California legislature next January, as well as pending and contemplated federal legislation. Grand Trustee Ben Jones and Past Grand Presidents Seth Millington and Eldred L. Meyer were appointed as members of a sub-committee to draft such legislation and submit it to a future meeting of the committee.

It was also decided that sincere effort should be made to have other organizations unite with the Native Sons upon matters dealing with the Japanese and to that end the chairman was authorized to invite the representatives of various organizations to a meeting to be held at a time most convenient to such groups. Acting upon this authority, the chairman arranged for a meeting in the grand secretary's office to be held October 20, a date subsequent to the writing of this article. It is the sincere hope of the committee that this meeting will create a concerted force which will be felt by those who seem to have forgotten or never have understood what a potential menace the Japanese are on the Pacific Coast.

The Japanese are, not will be, a menace to this Coast. Practically every part of this Coast has its returned Japanese today. They are with us again, not in large numbers as yet, but slowly yet surely they are returning and Dillon S. Myer has stated that all the Japanese in relocation centers, with the exception of those in the Tule Lake center, may leave such centers whenever they desire.

Certain groups more intrested in the publicity they may receive than in the security of the military personnel and materiel which must leave from ports on this coast, have filed several actions in the Federal Court against General Bonesteel, the general who is assigned to protect this coast of the United States, to show cause why this or that Japanese should not be permitted to return. Why can't these "patriots" spend their time and energy in assisting this government in its war efforts rather than make the United States Army justify itself in the courts for actions it has taken to protect those very "patriots" as well as the other public in this country? Why can't these "patriots" be realistic rather than deal in nice sounding theories? Why don't they let the Army tend to its duties and they tend to their own? The Army isn't interested in depriving any individual or group of any of their "rights," but is vitally interested in protecting military personnel and materiel.

Time and time again we have asked Secretary Ickes and Dillon S. Myer, the authorities directly in charge of all Japanese who have been in relocation centers, how they can take a chance and release the Japanese who have spent years in Japa the Kibeis, unknown thousands of who have served their time in the Japane Army or Navy, and we receive no satisfa tory answer. We are told that these pe ple are American citizens and should allowed to roam this very strategic an important coast accordingly as they plea regardless of what they have done where or what they have studied or pr fessed. That goes for alien as well American born Japanese according to M Myer's recent statement.

If the Army is forced to allow the Japanese to return, then Mr. Ickes, M Dillon S. Myer and those in authority wh insist upon this foolhardy and headstron policy must assume the full responsibili for each and every life that will be lo and for every bit of vital war materi ruined by the treachery of any returne Japanese.

The American public will have an oppo tunity to express its sentiments at the pol November 7. It is the duty of every loy Californian, native or adopted, to asce tain the position taken on these vit Japanese matters by the various candidat for each office to be filled and then to vo for the candidate, regardless of party affil ation, who will insist upon the protecti of the people of all America by keepi all Japanese out of this most importa West Coast area until we have finally a completely conquered Japan.

Bears, Pirates, and Silver Lace. By Anne B. Fisher. With a Foreword by Elmarie H. Dyke. Illustrated by Phil Nesbitt. Binfords and Mort, Portland, Oregon, publishers; price $1.50. Reviewed by Anita Abby Church, Junipero Parlor No. 141 NDGW, Monterey.

This historical juvenile of authentic tales of early California by Anne Fisher, author of "Cathedral in the Sun," was written to inspire our youngest generation Californians with a greater interest in studying the history of their state.

The skillful weaving of historical data and local color, with boys and girls as the real protagonists of each story, makes the volume a timeless one which will be enjoyed by generations of children.

In her foreword, Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke, also a Monterey county school supervisor, explains how the book came into being: at the request of Monterey grammar school authorities, Mrs. Fisher attended several classes who were about to begin their study of California history and shared with them her collection of unusual tales of life in early Monterey. The result was amazing. The children drew pictures to illustrate the stories and plunged into their regular course of study with a new enthusiasm. The teachers, deploring the fact there was no book available which would appeal to their pupils as Mrs. Fisher's little stories had, asked that she put them into permanent form and bequeath them to the children of California.

A superb story teller, Mrs. Fisher has given intriguing titles to the tales. "The Bear With the Bandaged Feet" tells of the great grizzly hunter, James Chapin Adams, who used tame grizzly bears to help him hunt down the rancheros' greatest enemy. "The Calves That Earned Gold" is about Monterey-made butter going to the gold mines.

"The Christmas Star of Carmelo," simple tale of love and sacrifice, will sure leave the most worldly child, or adu with a song in his heart and a greater a preciation for the courage his forbears h in preserving the traditions of the Missio

"Bears, Pirates, and Silver Lace" is delightful way to introduce any child, Ca fornia born or not, to the glorious pa eantry of the history of our state.

Five colored and fourteen black and whi illustrations done by the Carmel arti Phil Nesbitt, add to the charm of t volume.

DEMOCRATS! . . . . .

WE MUST be made to realize the DANGER which now threatens the very foundation of America! The ideals and principles of the Democratic Party and of Americanism, have been supplanted by the ideologies of radicals—of the Hillmans, the Browders, and the Bureaucrats. We must realize the truth of this! Our help is needed now . . . not only to save the Democratic Party, but to save the very things our boys are fighting for! BE WARNED! Every attempt will be made to gloss over the seriousness of this situation; many glib tongues will sneer at you. They still think they can control you, tax you, ration you and regiment you. Help throw off an oppressive yoke that would forever still the Spirit of Freedom. This time we urge you to vote for Dewey and Bricker . . . real Americans.

It Is TIME to Think—to Work—to Vote!

NOTICE!
Registered Democrats CAN vote for Dewey on November 7th. All ballots are the same . . . no matter how you are registered. YOUR VOTE IS SECRET!

Surprise Grand Trustee

Grand Trustee Margaret Farnsworth was honoree at a surprise party given by members of Vendome Parlor No. 100 Wednesday, September 27. Irene Allen, president and Mary Amaral, past president, were hostesses at an attractively appointed table where refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Entertainment followed. Vocal selections were given by Shirley Grad. Marie Julian was the accompanist for the evening and played several selections. Autumn flowers were used throughout the clubroom at the San Jose woman's club, where the meetings are held. Past Grand President Mamie-Pierce Carmichael and Deputy Pearl Bishop paid tribute to Grand Trustee Farnsworth who was showered with gifts from the parlor and friends.

At the October 11 meeting a pot luck supper was held and plans for the Victory Club party were given. The Victory Club is the social group of Vendome Parlor, and meets the first and third Wednesday evenings at the home of members.

Sue Mattei, Veteran Welfare chairman, was allowed money to purchase the usual Thanksgiving gifts for the boys at the Palo Alto Hospital. A "Cigarette shower" was held at the meeting, October 25, each member contributing a package of cigarettes as it was impossible to purchase the necessary amount this year because of rationing. Mrs. Sue Engfer, chairman of the Red Cross Chapter, is holding Red Cross sewing circles at her home and the home of members on alternate Fridays and many duffy bags and slippers for the bedridden boys are being made.

Activity has already been started in the Parlor for the Homeless Children dance to be held November 18. Dorothy Salas is secretary to the homeless children committee and additional members on the committee were appointed by Vice-President Stella Hailstone, who presided at the last meeting.

Deplores Hangover from Old English Common Law

By Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer

Chairman Committee on Legislation, NDGW

ALL of the members of the Native Daughters of the Golden West should alert themselves to unequal rights prevailing for women in California and throughout the nation, and should put the force of their combined influence behind all moves toward equalized legislation.

Two years ago an equal rights amendment was placed before the California state legislature, and did not get out of committee. California women should work in organized groups, and as individuals, to revive the amendment, which would enable women to enjoy an equal legal status with men of the state.

Women can talk, write and wire to their state senators and representatives. Only by so doing can law-makers understand that women really appreciate the inequality of the situation. Similar action can be taken with national legislators.

Women will want and insist upon full citizenship and equal legal status to establish them on a parity with men when they realize they still are being ruled by outdated mandates of the old English common law.

In many states married women, with criminals, children and the insane, are limited in their rights to contract. Thus they are ruled legally and financially unresponsible, and are handicapped in transactions pertaining to their own businesses and properties. At the time of adoption of the United States Constitution, English women were classed by law with idiots and children. The Nineteenth amendment removed them from the idiot class, but in all states they are rated as children in the right to contract.

Although the federal amendment be passed by Congress, California women with those of other states, yet would have to band themselves together to see that the state's ratification be voted at the polls; hence, the necessity for women to alert themselves to the forthcoming battle of the ballot box. In California there is much discriminatory legislation that at present seems to be eluding notice, such as:

1. The husband has sole management and control of community property. He has authority to collect his wife's pay check and to spend it as he chooses, except that he cannot give it away.

2. If husband and wife become deceased through a common accident and both are aged between seventeen and sixty, the husband is presumed to have survived. If no will exists, all community property goes to the husband's heirs.

3. Damages collected for personal injuries to a wife become community property and the husband has management and control of such money.

4. Married women cannot own a business free from her husband's management and control unless she goes through a complicated procedure of petitioning to become a "sole trader." To obtain this privilege she must undertake sole liability and support of children of the family.

5. Should a wife predecease her husband, all of the community property is exempt from inheritance tax. If a husband predeceases a wife, half of the community real property in excess of $24,000 is subject to taxation.

Both platforms of the two political parties adopted this summer at Chicago, include equal rights planks, to be submitted for Congressional amendment to the Constitution. When these are passed, women will have their opportunity to work toward elimination of the old English common law.

Various states have freak legislation tending to lower the legal status of women. In Florida, the husband may manage and control his wife's separate property. She may not sue him for that which involves trust, title or management. A single woman may manage her property, but a married woman may not sign a contract or promissory not Married women cannot give deeds or mor gages, make a lease, sue or be sued, witho jointure of her husband.

The Supreme Court has decided that t Federal Suffrage Amendment grantir women the ballot did not bring them oth civil or political liberties within the co stitution.

Thus the legal, political and civil stat of women continues exactly as was pra tised under old England's common law the time of the framing of the Unit States Constitution, except for those righ and privileges specifically granted sin that date by federal and state legislatic

If women are competent to serve in t Armed Forces, to render outstanding wo in war plants, to occupy positions of the husbands when the latter were called war and otherwise to perform as they ha done during the national emergencies World Wars One and Two, these sar women are entitled to equal citizenship.

This ultimate hope of women can be tained only through united action in fo ing legislation to remove stigmas inherit from a medieval past.

Jane Marre

To the Officers and Members of Mariposa Parlor No. 63, NDGW: We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our late Sister, Jane Marre, herewith submit the following:

Whereas, Our Parlor has been visited again by the angel of death, who has taken our beloved Sister to her heavenly home, and her passing has brought sorrow to our members; we shall always recall her kindly disposition and respect for her sister members and her devotion to our Order; and

Whereas, While we pay loving tribute to her memory, we are not unmindful of the sorrow that has come to her loved ones;

Therefore, Be it resolved, That we extend the sincere sympathy of Mariposa Parlor to her bereaved family; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Parlor; a copy sent to her family, and one sent The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
ALICE ELLINGHAM

Elizabeth Brass Delay

To the Officers and Members of Marysville Parlor No. 162, NDGW:—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our departed Sister and Charter President, Sister Elizabeth Brass Delay, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Divine Father has called our dear sister to her Heavenly Home, our Order has lost a worthy member, who guided and inspired us to the true ideals and principles of our organization.

By her interest and willingness to promote and strengthen our fraternal ties, she has left us a memory of respect and reverence, and by living true to this example of our Charter President, we will be better Native Daughters for having known and loved her.

Resolved, That this expression of sympathy be sent to her husband, Mr. Peter J. Delay and family, that it be spread upon the minutes of our Parlor, and a copy be sent to the Grizzly Bear for publication.

Respectfully,
HELEN O'BRIEN

Christine Marie Jensen

To Coalinga Parlor No. 270 NDGW—Your committee on Resolutions sadly reports the loss of our beloved charter member and past president, Christine Marie Jensen, who passed on to the Heavenly Parlor on High, October 3, 1944.

She leaves her husband Charles and twin daughters, Irene Byers and Lorene Howard, and a grandson, Jeffrey Howard.

Sister Christine will be greatly missed. She was always ready to lend a helping hand to everyone and her charm and grace endeared her to all. No one can fill her place in our hearts.

Therefore, be it Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be recorded in the minutes of our Order, one sent to the Grizzly Bear and a copy be mailed her family.

Respectfully submitted.

Anna Frerichs

To the Officers and Members of El Pescadero Parlor No. 82, NDGW:—Your Committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect for our departed sister, Anna Frerichs, who passed from our midst August 19, 1944, submit the following:

Whereas, It has been the will of our Supreme Ruler of Divine Providence to open the Gate to the Eternal City, to welcome our beloved and cherished Sister Anna to her Heavenly Home, and

Whereas, There is another vacant place in our list of Charter Members, we greatly feel the loss of our departed sister, yet the memory of her kindly association will ever remain fresh in our minds and cause her to be cherished in the affectionate memory of our Parlor; Therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved husband, and may "He who doeth all things well" support and strengthen him in this great sorrow. Our sincere sympathy is also extended to the sisters and brother of our late sister.

There is a Golden-Gate beyond,
Through which our loved ones go
To find that perfect love and peace,
Which earth can never know.

And some time, too, the clouds shall lift
For you to watch and wait,
When loved ones meet to part no more
Inside the Golden Gate.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Parlor; a copy be sent to the family; that a copy be published in The Grizzly Bear Magazine, and that the Charter of Our Parlor be draped for a period of thirty days.

Marie Haiber

Grace Parlor No. 242 NDGW was saddened by the death of their organist and charter member, Marie Haiber, who passed away after a short illness October 12. Left to mourn her are her husband, Clarence E. Haiber, a son, two sisters and two brothers.

Alberta May Stevens

A native of Newcastle, Mrs. Alberta May Stevens, passed away September 16 at the age of seventy-two years. She was the daughter of the late Berry Mitchell, a pioneer and was the widow of Fred Stevens whom she married in San Francisco in 1894, and who preceded her in death by four years. They had resided in Auburn for many years. She is survived by two daughters, four sisters and one grandson.

Martha J. Lewis

Santa Cruz Native Sons and Daughters are mourning the death of a pioneer native daughter, Martha Jane Lewis, September 30. Miss Lewis was eighty years old and was born in San Jose, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis. Her mother was the little Patty Reid of the ill-fated Donner party. Miss Lewis, with her mother and other members of her family, were honored when the monument memorializing the Donner party was dedicated at Donner Lake in 1918 by the Native Sons at the site where the party camped during the heavy winter of the 1840's.

Miss Lewis resided in San Jose until the late seventies, when with her mother, her sisters, Margaret, Carrie and Susan, and brothers, Frank and Frazier, she came to Santa Cruz to reside. A number of years were spent in Capitola and in Oakland, but when the family returned to Santa Cruz, it was to make their home in Twin Lakes where true early California hospitality prevailed. All the members of the large family preceded Miss Lewis in death.

Charlotte V. Triplett

Fort Bragg Parlor No. 210 NDGW, mourns the loss of a beloved member, Charlotte V. Triplett, who passed away September 27, 1944. She was born May 27, 1869, at Navarro, Mendocino County, the daughter of the late William and Catherine Moss, pioneer residents of the county.

To commemorate the passing of their sister, Fort Bragg Parlor had a fitting ceremony. The sympathy of the parlor is extended to her three daughters, Henrietta Dockham, Eva Carlson and Esther Gaines.

Josephine Beal

To the Officers and Members of Aloha Parlor No. 106, NDGW:—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of love and respect to the memory of our departed sister, Josephine Beal, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called from our midst Sister Beal, who was a devoted member for many years and;

Whereas, The members of Aloha Parlor mourn the loss of their faithful member;

Therefore, Be it resolved that we pay fond and loving tribute to her memory, and be it further

Resolved, That we extend our expression of love and sympathy to her family, in this their hour of sorrow and be it

Further Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes; and that a copy be sent to the family, and to the Grizzly Bear Magazine.

God

By Roger Johnson

A learned man to me once said,
"There is no God" and to him I replied,
"Have you considered well your thoughts—
The skies above, the trees that nod
And spring up from the common sod?

A scientist of great renown took seeds
And analyzed each portion.
Then carefully new seeds were grown
In laboratory fashion.
In Mother Earth he smothered them,
The seeds he'd made and those that had grown
The last did thrive and come alive
The others stayed where they were sown.

This activity which we call life
Comes from above. We know not where.
Why do we live? Why do we die?
God knows! All things are in His care.

Joseph S. Biven

The membership of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 extends sympathy to the brother and sister of Joseph D. Biven, who passed to the Grand Parlor on High September 18. At the time of his sudden death he was an inspector in the Health Department of Oakland, having served there twenty-seven years. Born in Stockton in 1882, he joined Athens Parlor in 1905.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC.,
Required by the Acts of Congress of August 24, 1912, and March 3, 1933.
Of The Grizzly Bear, published monthly at Los Angeles, California, for October 1, 1944

State of California } ss.
County of Los Angeles }

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared Isabel Fages who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that she is the Managing Editor of the Grizzly Bear Magazine and that the following is, to the best of her knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse side of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:
Publisher, Grizzly Bear Publishing Co. (Inc.), Los Angeles, California
Managing Editor, Isabel Fages, Los Angeles, California

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.) The Grizzly Bear Publishing Co., a Corporation, is the owner. 1260 shares of the 7500 authorized shares of stock have been sold. Names all stockholders, and amount of stock held by each, attached hereto. Owner's address, 206 So. Spring St., Rooms 309-15, Los Angeles.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stocks, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed, through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the 12 months preceding the date shown above is.....(This information is required from daily publications only.)

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 5th day of October, 1943.

Inspiring Address

Members of Mountain Dawn Parlor No. 0, NDGW, Sawyers Bar, and Eschscholtz No. 112, Etna, had the pleasure of welming Grand President Emily E. Ryan on the occasion of her official visit to the o parlors October 7. She was accomnied by SDDGP Mae MacDonald of San ancisco.

At the meeting, following a hot covered h dinner, three candidates were initiated. e Grand President's address was both inesting and inspiring.

During their stay in Etna, the visitors re house guests of Bernice Smith, Presiit of Eschscholtzia Parlor.

YOU FIGHT BY GIVING

December Deadline, November 15!

VOTE YES ☒ ON NO. 3

The legislature now has power to fix the salaries of the Attorney General, the State Judges and Members of the Board of Equalization.

Your "YES VOTE" will enable the legislature to fix the salaries of the State Controller, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Lieutenant Governor. At present these salaries are fixed by the Constitution AS OF 1908.

We believe the law should be made uniform, and recommend that you VOTE YES ON PROPOSITION NO. 3.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC.,
Required by the Acts of Congress of August 24, 1912, and March 3, 1933.
Of The Grizzly Bear, published monthly at Los Angeles, California, for October 1, 1944

State of California }
} ss.
County of Los Angeles }

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared Isabel Fages who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that she is the Managing Editor of the Grizzly Bear Magazine and that the following is, to the best of her knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 547, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse side of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:
Publisher, Grizzly Bear Publishing Co. (Inc.), Los Angeles, California
Managing Editor, Isabel Fages, Los Angeles, California

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.) The Grizzly Bear Publishing Co., a Corporation, is the owner. 1260 shares of the 7500 authorized shares of stock have been sold. Names all stockholders, and amount of stock held by each, attached hereto. Owner's address, 206 So. Spring St., Rooms 309-15, Los Angeles.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stocks, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

Inspiring Address

Members of Mountain Dawn Parlor No. 0, NDGW, Sawyers Bar, and Eschscholtzia No. 112, Etna, had the pleasure of welcoming Grand President Emily E. Ryan on the occasion of her official visit to the two parlors October 7. She was accompanied by SDDGP Mae MacDonald of San Francisco.

At the meeting, following a hot covered dish dinner, three candidates were initiated. The Grand President's address was both interesting and inspiring.

During their stay in Etna, the visitors were house guests of Bernice Smith, President of Eschscholtzia Parlor.

A Present for Jinny

By Isabel Fages

IT WAS WARM and cozy inside the little house, but Jinny looked longingly out the window at a dripping, dreary world. She envied another woman who was struggling down the walk against the driving wind and rain. She was enshrouded in a billowing waterproof cape with a hood reached and it was all she could do to keep it from blowing off, what with many packages she carried.

Jinny was envious because the woman in the rain was a mother. She was going home to three healthy, happy youngsters and the prospects of the merriest kind of Christmas.

Ever since Jinny and George had been married, ten years ago, their arms had ached for a child of their own. They had applied for one two years ago with the Homeless Children, one of two adoption societies in the state from whom they knew they would receive a child adaptable to their home and background.

They knew it would take two years for their application to be fulfilled, and last Christmas as one year of waiting had passed, Jinny had said to George, "Just think, Honey, next Christmas there will be three of us."

George tightened his arms around his slim, pretty little wife, whom he adored with all his manly, honest heart and sighed, "Yes, dear. I'm sure we'll have Jinny or George junior with us next Christmas. Let's see, sweet! What shall we have under the tree for our baby? He'll be too small for an electric train," he mused.

"I am sure she will know how to handle a cute little baby doll," Jinny laughed aloud. But they didn't quarrel over whether they wanted a boy or a girl. They were the kind of people to whom a baby was a baby. They weren't even a little selfish about their yearning. They only wanted to give some precious little mite the love and affection and prospects for a bright future to which every babe was entitled.

So they had dismantled last year's tiny Christmas tree with hopeful hearts. Then another year had passed. Jinny had been sewing, crocheting and decorating a cunning nursery where baby animals danced around the wall in a gay border. A sturdy crib, a spacious wardrobe, a bathinette, a bassinette for the tiny newcomer's first months of almost constant slumber, were all standing in their proper places and Jinny went there to spend a few minutes in thoughtful planning and prayerful yearning each day.

"Well, here it is Christmas eve, and we still have no baby," Jinny whispered. She turned and walked slowly back to the nursery, opened the door and went inside. "Empty!" she said aloud. "Empty!" Then she sat down on the little chair beside the window, rested her curly head against the crib and cried. She wasn't lonely, because if ever a girl had a loving and thoughtful husband, she had. Her folks lived in the same friendly little California town, where everyone knew everyone else and there was always plenty to do. They played bridge and tennis and rode horseback. There were dances to attend and now she was busy most of the time with Red Cross and USO work. She had taken a course in nurses' training, too, and she had made up her mind to volunteer for regular duty in the local hospital after the first of the year, if she didn't have her baby by then. Although George was engaged in a war job, he was expecting to be released soon and would then enlist, rather than wait for the draft. Then she would be lonely. When she realized she was working herself up into a perfectly dreary mood, Jinny arose and went to bathe her tear-swollen eyes and comb her hair.

Back into the kitchen where she went to see how the roast was doing, her thoughts kept dwelling on her disappointment. Why, the two sillies had even bought rattles, blocks and bright new plastic gadgets for the baby's Christmas. They had heaped them all under the tree, hoping against hope. A call to the Homeless Children office just a few weeks before had brought assurance that this Christmas would see the culmination of their dreams.

Jinny turned the roast and went to the sink to peel potatoes and carrots. Her mind was not on her work. Lost in dreams, she scarcely heard the door chimes, whose soft tones seemed only to sooth her. Again the chimes! This time they sounded louder and more insistent. Jinny aroused herself then. She dried her hands on a paper towel and went out to answer the summons. It was nearly five-thirty and twilight. The street lights cast quivering reflections on the wet street. The rain still came down in sheets. Two people were standing at the door. One of them had just lowered the umbrella she had been holding over the second.

"Why, Mrs. James!" Jinny quavered. "Whatever has brought you out in all this rain?"

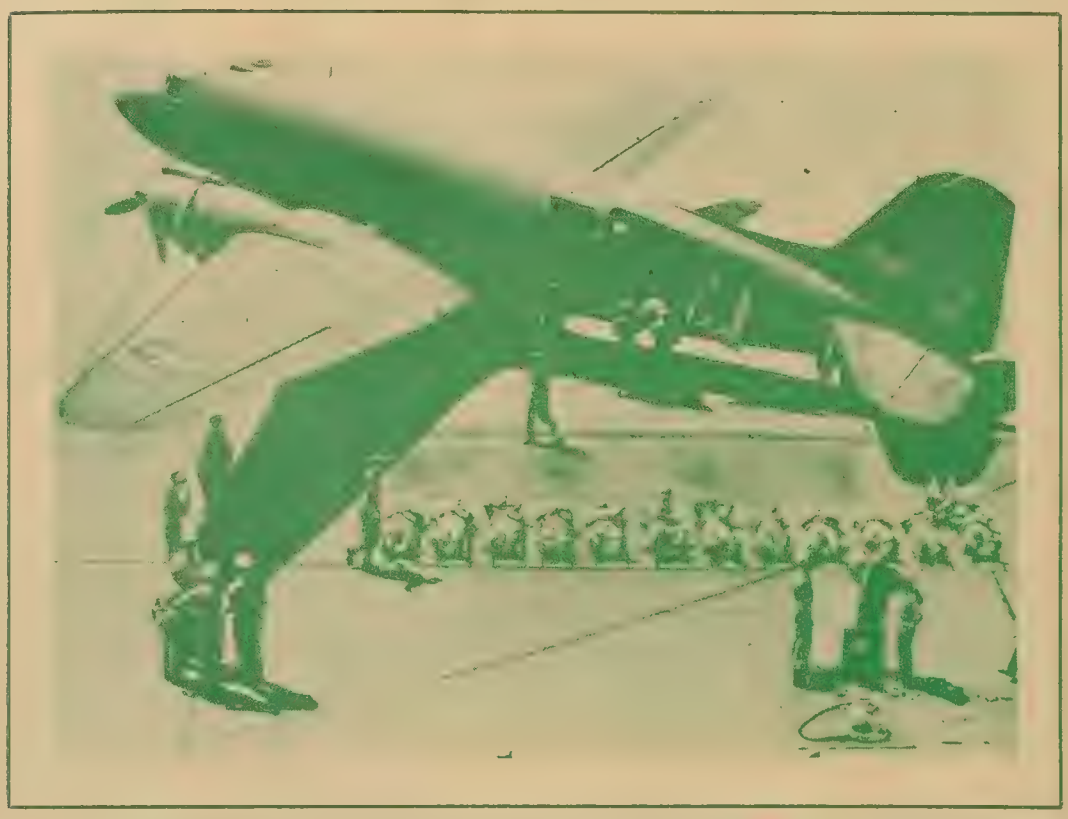
The woman smiled. "Ask us in and you'll soon see," she answered. The door was flung wide for the visitors. Jinny faced them wonderingly. "Take these damp coats off and let me hang them by the furnace," she said hospitably.

"Hold my bundle for me," Mrs. James said and she winked wisely at her companion. "Of course," Jinny answered and reached for the bundle. It was wrapped in a heavy woolen blanket, but as the girl took it in her arms, it moved and instinctively she felt its warm baby flesh. "Why, Mrs. James," she cried, "It's a baby! May I peek?"

"You certainly may!" the kindly woman answered. Jinny removed the blanket and saw a little pink face, with grey eyes like her own blinking up at her.

"Merry Christmas!" Mrs. James said and her voice choked in her throat. If she knew these young people, Christmas had truly come to their home.

Jinny sat down in a big deep chair and cuddled the baby. What had Mrs. James said? Oh, surely she wouldn't have brought a babe here and placed it in her arms unless it were for her and George, still —



"Well, aren't you going to say thank you?"

"Thank you? You mean, I'm to have the baby?" Jinny stammered.

"That's what I mean. And you'd better be good to him. He'll be a real junior, with his mother's eyes and features and his dad's will power," she added softly.

Jinny didn't seem to hear. She opened the wrapping blanket and wonderingly touch the tiny feet. She held the chubby hand and the little fingers gripped hers as though they would never let go. There was a spiritual light in Jinny's eyes, like the glow that shines eternal through the eyes of the mother of Christ on Christmas eve and is mirrored in the eyes of all mothers, through all the centuries.

Ships of Mercy

A C-47 hospital plane loading wounded servicemen for the comfortable, though hazardous journey "back to God's country," where they will be given every possible care. This is an official government photograph.

ALL CALIFORNIANS are invited to participate in the special hospital planes war bond drive of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, according to the announcement of Raymond D. Williamson, Grand President NSGW and Emily E. Ryan, Grand President NDGW.

The campaign will coincide with the nation's sixth War Loan drive, November 20 to December 16.

Spurred by the successful completion of their special September war bond campaign which resulted in the purchase of two B-29's, the two organizations decided to set their present goal in terms of hospital planes.

Their object is to purchase enough war bonds to pay for two Douglas C-47 hospital planes. These ships of mercy cost $125,000 each.

Mr. Charles Rosenthal, chairman of the Northern California War Finance committee's fraternal and service groups division, explained that bonds bought at any bank can be credited to this special hospital plane drive. Mr. Rosenthal quoted the air surgeon of the United States Army, Major-General David Grant's statement.

"On the basis of the Army Air Forces' first full year of exp rience in the air evacuation of war casualties, we can conclu that this is the method of choice for the quick, safe and comfo able transportation of virtually all types of sick and wound patients. Its swift and comfortable delivery of the patient to hospital equipped for definite medical care places air evacuati in a group with sulfa drugs and blood plasma as one of the thr greatest life-saving measures of modern military medicine."

"We urge members of both Orders, Native Sons of t Golden West and Native Daughters of the Golden West, w purchase war bonds during this drive, November 20 to Dece ber 16, 1944, to inform the bank clerk or other official from wh a bond is purchased to credit either the Native Sons of t Golden West or Native Daughters of the Golden West or bo as the case may be. This requested credit will be noted on t application for the bond and at the end of the bond drive, th credits will be totalled and we will be informed of the amount of bonds purchased in the name of the two Order

I Shall Not Want

By Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy

The day before Christmas 1853 was a dreary day for three Mariposa miners who were living in a ravine near Quartzburg. They were on the verge of starvation and a dark day appeared ahead for them. Their food was low and there were no funds to secure more. The miners were Missourians, and had worked for several months in the ravines and gulches of Mariposa. They were only earning a living while anticipating a chance of a strike upon a rich ledge.

The hills of Mariposa are cold and bleak but beautiful during the month of December. However, the day before Christmas of this year not even the beauty of the hills attracted these miners, as they were low in spirit because their mining claim had paid nothing for weeks.

Two of the miners, Mason and Galway, decided to go hunting, hoping to bring home something for a Christmas dinner. While the hunters were out, Travers, the third member of the party, said he would go mining as usual. "Mebbe I'll find enough to pay for a Christmas dinner," he said.

When evening came, the hunters returned with a couple of jackrabbits and several birds. "Here is our dinner," said Galway, without any joking, as they prepared the wild game for the coming day.

Travers returned from the mining claim, dropped his bucket at the entrance of the cabin, and entered, looking downcast and disgusted. "Any luck?" asked one of the men. "Not a color," Travers replied.

They ate a simple meal of warmed-up black coffee and beans and hard bread, which they consumed quickly and in silence. When the meal was finished, Galway did a surprising thing, he pulled out a little battered Bible and read from the Twenty-third Psalm, "The Lord is my Shepherd. I shall not want."

As he finished the beautiful message, Travers went outside, and re-entered with his bucket, saying, "Boys, I reckon the Lord done heard and is providin'. Look herel" With that, he dumped its contents on the table. There were 3 pounds of gold nuggets. He had struck a rich treasure while mining that afternoon and wanted to surprise his companions. This he certainly had done, for shouts of joy followed the disclosure.

During the celebration that ensued, a hard knock was heard at the door. Travers, actuated by some intuitive force, hastily and roughly raked the nuggests into his hat and dumped them into a big pot of beans. This act was completed not a moment too soon. The cabin door flew open, and a masked robber entered with a drawn sixshooter, demanding money or anything else of value.

"Stranger," said one of the men, "you have come to the most unlucky cabin on the creek. We ain't got enough to buy another candle. There is our dinner for tomorrow," he added pointing to the rabbits hanging on the wall.

After looking around at the pitiful plight and glancing at the remnants of the supper on the table, the bandit backed out, cursing as he went.

When they had made sure the desperado had gone they cleaned out the bean pot, buried half of the gold under a chimney stone, and went to Quartzburg where a man named Gus Schlater operated an eating place. They asked Gus about cooking dinner for them the next day. Gus looked them over. He saw three hungry-looking men dressed in ragged clothes. They hadn't had either a shave or haircut for weeks. Gus said, "Well, boys, if you are hungry and have nothing, come in tomorrow and I will fix you some dinner. Tomorrow is Christmas, anyway."

As Gus finished, it was really too much for Travers. He stepped forward and poured ounces and ounces of nuggets on the nearest table.

"We can pay, and we want the best you can get," he said. "Mebbe we'll bring in a dozen others—anybody we can find that's hungry and broke. Get things ready for a dozen by noon tomorrow."

When the restaurant man had recovered from his astonishment, he promised to look the camp over for food and drink for a dozen miners.

The three men visited a barber shop. When they came out they hardly recognized one another. From the tonsorial parlor they went to a clothing store, and outfitted themselves. When they returned to their cabin they carried several bottles of something which was not water.

The next day they noisily rounded up a dozen fellow miners, who were only too glad to be their guests on Christmas day and the party was on. It is said that it did not end until the day after.

The find which produced the gold for the occasion spirited the men on, but unfortunately when they returned to their claim it produced only several hundred dollars and their fortune had faded. But they had had their Christmas celebration and shared their temporary good fortune with others

General Assembly

Governor General Harold B. Farley of Redmont Parlor No. 120, NSGW, presided over the twenty-fourth General Assembly Past President's Association conclave October 21. Sixty delegates representing the coordinate assemblies of the state were present, including Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, First Vice-President Richard McCarthy, Grand Third Vice-president Walter Odemar, Grand Trustee Peter J. Conmy, Grand Historian Emmett C. Joy, former grand trustee, Walter N. Bailey, Grand and Inside Sentinel Raymond T. Burke, Grand Marshal Raymond McGrath, Past Governor Generals James F. Stanley, Virgil Congo, Louis Erb, June Longshore, Frank Kremer, M. O. Peterson, Frank Boyle and Walter Hiskey.

Adoption of a resolution was made commending the Grand Parlor Japanese Legislation committee for their splendid work in presenting the stand of the Native Sons regarding the Japanese to the public.

Irving K. Gibsen of John A. Sutter Assembly No. 10 paid tribute to the memory of Edward A. Reese, one of the outstanding members of the NSGW in Sacramento County during the memorial exercises. Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy of Assembly No. 1 delivered a eulogy in memory of all past presidents who passed away during the year.

Judge Donald E. Van Luven of Arrowhead Assembly No. 14 was elected to the office of governor general. His corps of officers include lieutenant governor general, Guy G. Foulks of Assembly No. 10; director General, James F. Stanley, Assembly No. 1; secretary-treasurer general, John T. Regan, Assembly No. 1; marshal general, George T. Prytz, Assembly No. 3; guard general, Joseph F. Coyle, Assembly No. 14; sentinel general, Les Ashworth, Assembly No. 3; trustee generals, Frank Smerh, Assembly No. 3; Phil Humberh, Assembly No. 6; Albert Schmidt, Assembly No. 1, and organist general, Al C. Weber, Assembly No. 1.

Installing officer was Past Governor General Armand Nishkian. On assuming the office of governor general, Judge Van Luven expressed appreciation for being honored with the office and asked the cooperation of all assemblies in making his term a successful one. Past Governor Nishkian also presented retiring Governor General Farley with the emblem of the General Assembly.

The assembly closed to meet October 25 1945, at Crestline, San Bernardina county, with Arrowhead Assembly No. 14 as host

ONE NATIVE SON

Editorial note: The following story was sent to the Grizzly Bear by Raymond J. Arata of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco, with the following information:

"Enclosed is a copy of an editorial written by Sinclair G. Trimble in his publication, 'The Richmond Banner.' Since the story concerns Stanford Parlor No. 76, I think it would make excellent copy for your publication. Yours very truly, Raymond J. Arata."

By Sinclair G. Trimble

HARRY J. LAWLOR had a good job, a wife and small children. They and his one fraternal affiliation, Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW kept him busy and apparently, happy. In the eventful year of 1941, his parlor made him president.

Some months before Pearl Harbor, a sort of home guard was organized in San Francisco and it was only natural for him to volunteer. The outbreak of war found Harry Lawlor spending a good part of his nights guarding harbor and bridges. That was all the service society would probably have expected from him —even for the duration.

But it was not enough for Harry. Waiving draft deferment because of his family, he enlisted in the regulars with no special "spot" requested. They sent him down to Louisiana for training and he went to officers' candidates school and came out a lieutenant.

They sent him down into the Pacific Theater. Came that awful day when a number of his buddies were killed and he was so badly injured that one doubted if death might not have been more merciful. He was flown back to Hamilton Field and brought to Letterman Hospital. The doctors suggested it might take many months before they would know if he could be restored one hundred per cent to health and efficiency. They gave him no less than twenty-four pints of blood transfusions.

As Letterman is only a receiving hospital now, they were all set to ship him out of town, when Congressman Tom Rolph intervened and pointed out that visits from his wife, who had taken a city job, and his brother members of the Native Sons might aid in bringing about his recovery. So Harry is staying at Letterman.

Recently the members of Stanford Parlor had an inspiratio They decided to restore those twenty-four pints of blood with Harry Lawlor night at the Blood Bank. They more than double the twenty-four pints! There was a brief radio broadcast an some newspaper publicity given to the story and a stirring e ample was set for other organizations.

Harry's doctors report absolute amazement at the sudde and terrific improvement in their patient's condition since th parlor got busy.

It must be more than coincidental!

Of course his name would not be Lawlor if he did not posse a fighting heart; a strong emotional loyalty to religion, patriotis and fraternity and a desire not to let these things down.

They say that anything added to what you already have is th much more. Lieutenant Lawlor cracked up plenty. He neede the prayers said for him at church. He needed his own adde to them. He needed the will to serve to rally his physic strength for further service to his country. But above and beyor all these, he needed the fraternalism of his friends to make h own life rich and desirable enough to conquer his ills.

Something like sixteen per cent of the wounded of the fir World War died and the military has hammered it down around three per cent in this conflict. Why? The answer is- blood plasma; penicillin—aerial ambulances.

You are lucky indeed if organized society allows you to li your full life without spilling your life's blood and offers y instead—the mere privilege of volunteering blood to save live

For State and County

His favorite dinner—fried rabbit with mashed potatoes and gravy was the first request Pvt. John Noerenberg, member of Ramona Parlor No. 109 NSGW and son of Acting Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg made when he arrived home November 3. Five weeks in the B-17 factory school at Lockheed is the current assignment for the young army air corps man. This will be an especially happy period for John since he is allowed to spend at least two nights a week as well as Saturday and Sunday at home.

The battles of Tripoli, Bizerte, Tunis, Palermo, Sicily and on up through the boot of Italy proper were witnessed and participated in by Pfc. Melvin Weaver, youngest brother of Virginia Cook, president of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266 NDGW. After twenty-three months of strenuous service, the Californian surprised his family with a visit before reporting at Camp Beale, near Grass Valley.

BONDS FOR MERCY

Have you any old musical instruments or anything in the way of athletic goods you are not using? If you have and can conveniently do so, send them on to Ann Dippel, state chairman of war activities, who with Agnes Curry, grand treasurer of the Native Daughters, is gathering these articles for the San Francisco League for Service Men. Native Sons and Daughters alike are asked to assist in collecting these greatly needed articles.

Richard Basquerville, son of Walter E. Basquerville, Sr., Ramona Parlor No. 109, Los Angeles, was welcomed at the Friday Luncheon Club November 3, after having been "on hand" for the battle of the Isle of Capri.

Cultivate State Pride

"When the founders of the Native Daughters gathered together to organize they did so with the hope that they might cultivate state pride in native born women. There are many ways in which we can demonstrate our pride and one of them is to do our duty as citizens by voting. If we do not use our right of suffrage, we have lost an opportunity to express ourselves," said Grand President Emily E. Ryan on the occasion of her official visit to Santa Ana Parlor No. 235 and Grace Parlor No. 242, Placentia, when they met jointly in Santa Ana the evening of October 23.

The Peacock room of the Ebell Club was banked with baskets of autumn flowers and shrubs, while festooned from the chandeliers were myriads of shining stars. The dinner tables were festive with autumn leaves, flowers and lighted candles when ninety-one members and guests were seated for a delicious ham dinner efficiently served by the Altar Society of St. Anne's Church. Chairman Marie Schroeder presented Mary Nalle, teacher of music in the Frances Willard Junior High School, who directed the all-girl glee club of sixty-four members in the artistic rendition of several numbers. The group was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Charles Nalle, mother of the chorus director.

Nellie Cline of Placentia, chairman, opened the meeting, while the officers of both parlors gowned in pastel formals entered. President Dessa Wagner of Santa Ana Parlor presided at the opening and closing ceremonies and President Mae Lemke of Grace obligated nine members for her own parlor and six for Santa Ana.

Progressive committee reports were made by both parlors and gift presentations to the Grand President were made by the two presidents, and Mrs. Herbert Witt, wife of the president of Santa Ana Parlor No. 265 NSGW, presented a gift to the honored guest in behalf of the brother parlor. Baskets of seasonal fruits, nuts and candies were presented to Past Grand Presidents Mary B. Noerenberg and Grace S. Stoermer.

Beside the grand officers already mentioned, the following attended: Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, PGP Anne C. Theusen, SDDGP Adlena Marschall and DGP Ada McInerny.

Letter to the President

The following wire was dispatched November 17 to the President of the United States:

Los Angeles, Nov. 17, 1944

TO THE HON. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.—Press dispatches state that former Japanese residents are to be returned to the West Coast. Native Sons of the Golden West have seriously considered this major subject and urgently request before further permission is given that you give it your personal consideration.

Our law enforcement agencies are understaffed and any extra responsibility placed upon them to protect the many miles of war industries can be met only with the greatest of difficulties. Safety of American military personnel and material which must leave this coast should be the paramount consideration for the welfare of our nation. Patriotic individuals and organizations cannot understand the reason for this extra hazard when they think of the safety of our fighting forces. Signed, Walter H. Odemar, Chairman, Committee on Japanese Legislation, Native Sons of the Golden West.

Odemar urges that individuals and parlors immediately send similar communications to the president direct in the hope that this extra hazard will not be forced upon the west coast while we are intensifying our war efforts against Japan.

CADET NURSE JOINS

Cadet Nurse Margaret Carpenter, daughter of President Charlotte Carpenter, was initiated into Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW, October 24, when Grand President Emily E. Ryan paid a surprise visit. She was accompanied by Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and PGP Anne C. Theusen.

At the November 14 luncheon Miss Carpenter was an honored guest. Seated at the speaker's table besides the president and Program Chairman Genevieve Cook, were Deputy Florence Grass, La Reina Parlor No. 267 and Mrs. Glenn L. Shivel, president of The California Women of the Golden West and member of Californiana.

Mr. Edmonde Green of the Sheriff's office, Los Angeles, was the speaker, using for his subject, "Crime, the Citizen and the Juvenile." He spoke of the efforts of native Californians to curb juvenile delinquency as a means toward preserving the traditions of the West. He said that $15,000,000,000 is spent for apprehension, incarceration and execution of crime in the United States yearly. Crime touches one of every twenty-nine individuals. While juvenile delinquency has increased during the war, adult crime has waned, since many potential criminals have been absorbed into the war efforts.

Florence Irish has agreed to provide a musical program for the December 12 luncheon, and Ora Evans, chairman of Homeless Children plans a Christmas tree and gifts for the kiddies for the December 26 meeting.

Presenting the newest parlor in the Order of the Native Daughters of the Golden West with an engraved gavel, Grand President Emily E. Ryan felicitated Toluca Parlor No. 279, Burbank, upon its institution in the American Legion Hall October 21. The infant group began existence with fifty-six members and had nine more applications on the desk.

Impressively examplified was the initiation ceremony with Phyllis Hirst, of Verdugo No. 240, Glendale, deputy to Rudecinda No. 230, San Pedro, acting as president. Assisting were Edith Norton of Compton No. 258 and deputy to Los Angeles No. 124, first vice-president; Vera West, Long Beach No. 154, second vice-president; Olive Hedges, Los Angeles No. 124, third vice-president; Florence Grass, junior past president; Doris Jacobsen, Grace No. 242, inside sentinel; Adlena Marshall, supervising deputy of District No. 38, outside sentinel, and June Miller, Los Angeles No. 124, organist.

Installation followed with PGP Grace S. Stoermer calling the meeting to order and SDDGP Elsie Amidon presiding. Grand officers filling their respective stations were: Grand Vice-President Ethel C. Enos, Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch. Acting grand officers were Louise Crawford, marshal; Adlena Marschall, outside sentinel, and June Miller, organist.

Cleone Steinbach, charter president, is supported by the following staff of officers: Edith Hewitt, charter past president; Katheryn Bunce, Margaret Smith, and Catherine Brotsis, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Virginia Press, marshal; Enid Stickler, recording secretary; Frances Hobson, financial secretary; Marion Johnson, treasurer; Marjorie K. Andreasen, Wanlyn Germain and Ramona May, trustees; Mary Ann Hill and Katherine Markkula, inside and outside sentinels, and Florence Sager, organist.

In her acceptance speech, the new president voiced the intention of Toluca Parlor to work harmoniously with the Order of the Native Daughters and the civic organizations of Burbank. In citing the principles of the Order she stated they were synonymous with those with which she, as a native daughter, had been reared. She paid a high tribute to the parlor's organizer Grand Trustee Schiebusch, to whom the Parlor presented a gift, as material token of their love and gratitude.

Ruth Jackman of Topanga Parlor No. 269, Canoga Park was appointed deputy to the infant and promised to guide it faithfully in its first faltering steps.

Accompanying the Grand President on her journey south to institute the new Parlor were Grand Secretary Thaler and PGP Anne C. Theusen. Grand Outside Sentinel Roy Tarleton congratulated the new Parlor in behalf of the Native Sons.

Victory Parlor No. 286, NSGW, Burbank presented Toluca with a satin altar cloth and financial gifts were received from all the Native Daughter Parlors of Los Angeles, Orange and San Bernardino Counties, many of whom were represented.

The hall was a bower of flowers, potted plants, palms and ferns. Following the ceremonies, refreshments were served and many guests remained for a social hour.

Grand President Emily Ryan was escorted to her seat of honor by the newly installed officers. At the altar, she was presented with a tiny ribbon festooned cradle as Orabelle Schmidt, president of La Reina Parlor and soloist of the evening, sang Brahm's "Lullaby".

Prescribing a formula for the infant parlor, Grand President Ryan advised patriotism and the principles of the Order mixed together as ingredients. "Nourished by this food, the baby should grow rapidly and have a real part in the progress of the Order. Join in the preservation of California's great past. Work for a splendid present and plan for a glorious future," the speaker admonished.

Regalia, flags and banners were loaned by Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, of which Grand Trustee Schiebusch is a member and the Bible, a family heirloom was presented by the new parlor's own inside sentinel, Mary Ann Hill. Los Angeles Parlor presented a silk American flag, for which Miss Schiebusch provided a standard.

Grand President Visits

With Grand President Raymond D. Williamson as honored guest, the district deputies of Los Angeles, staged an initiation October 27, under direction of SDDGP Robert Ziegler, who acted as junior past president.

Presiding was Earle Magee of Ramona Parlor No. 109, assisted by Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy, as first vice president; Robert Castro of Wilmington Parlor No. 280, second vice-president; Robert Pesqueria, Valley Parlor No. 285, third vice-president; Paul Traynor, Long Beach Parlor No. 278, marshal; Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss, inside sentinel; George M. Cuthbertson, Ramona Parlor, senior past president, and Roger Johnson, Los Angeles No. 45, organist.

John Haas, chairman of the good of the order committee and first vice-president of Ramona, was chairman of the evening and Ralph Walters was "chef" for the appetizing dinner preceding the meeting.

Cabrillo Parlor

The official party, led by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson visited Cabrillo Parlor No. 114, Ventura, November 1 and initiated a class of more than twenty.

The ritualistic ceremonies were exemplified by the visiting grand officers, with the Grand President officiating. Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy served as first vice-president; Grand Second Vice-president R. G. Power, second vice-president; Grand Third Vice-president Walter H. Odemar, third vice-president; Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss, inside sentinel; former grand trustee, Walter Richards, Wilmington Parlor No. 280, marshal; Grand Secretary John T. Regan, junior past president; Grand Outside Sentinel Roy W. Tarleton, senior past president, and Nick Hearne of Cabrillo Parlor, organist.

The grand officers greeted the assemblage and Eugene O'Donnell of Dolores Parlor No. 208 provided the humorous side of the entertainment. Dinner was served prior to the meeting.

San Francisco County

Life's Blood

To keep life's blood flowing out to the armed services, the San Francisco County Native Daughters of the Golden West, of which there are thirty-one parlors, initiated a monthly blood donor service Saturday, November 4, at which time a representative member of each parlor went in a group to the Red Cross Procurement center. Beatrice Nishkian of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 and county chairman of war activities supervises this project.

On the first Saturday afternoon of each month, Native Daughters of San Francisco will join other women at war, when they donate blood. The San Francisco Red Cross Procurement center advises that many firms and organizations go in groups to the blood bank, but, the Native Daughters are the first group to sponsor a monthly donor service. Chairman Nishkian joined the group on November 4, making her tenth donation while her husband, Armand Nishkian, of California Parlor No. 1 NSGW, attending with the daughters on that afternoon, gave for the fourteenth time. The group holds the hope that other organizations will follow in this guaranteed service, as well as other Native Daughter parlors throughout the state.

Pearl Harbor Day

The San Francisco NSGW Extension of the Order committee and the San Francisco deputy grand presidents will honor Grand President Raymond D. Williamson with a class initiation Pearl Harbor Day, Thursday, December 7, at the NSGW building. Each San Francisco parlor has promised candidates for this night, as well as Marin County parlors, El Carmelo Parlor No. 256, Daly City, and El Camino Real Parlor No. 289 of Burlingame.

The initiatory ceremony will be conducted by the team of the San Francisco Assembly No. 1, Past Presidents Association. Appointed to arrange for the initiation are SDDGP Louis E. Giegerich, Grand Trustees Peter T. Conmy and Edward J. Wren, Grand Marshal Raymond J. McGrath, and all of the San Francisco deputy grand presidents.

Wearers of the most original costumes were awarded cash prizes when El Vespero Parlor No. 118 NDGW entertained members, October 24, with a Hallowe'en party. A delicious spaghetti supper was served by chairman, Louise Ribotta and her committee. Appropriate games formed a fitting climax for the evening.

Many attractive prizes were donated for the whist party held November 28, in the meeting hall. Katherine Ish was chairman of the event.

BONDS FOR MERCY

Birthday for Bond Booth

The Native Daughters bond booth, in the Medical building, San Francisco, celebrated its first anniversary December 1. This booth, a project of the Native Daughter's Extension of the Order, with Beatrice Nishkian of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 as chairman, has been staffed five days every week, for one year.

The committee has sold $550,000 worth of bonds and stamps. In celebration of the date and with the sixth War Loan Drive in full swing, this committee has pledged an additional sale of $150,000 in bonds and stamps during the drive. With the war increasing in the Pacific, they have chosen to pledge bonds enough to purchase two aircraft rescue boats.

Mrs. William Bayless, chairman of the Women's Department of the War Finance Committee in San Francisco, suggested the purchase of Aircraft Rescue Boats because of California's nearness to the Pacific. These boats are used to rescue flyers who have been shot down on their missions over the waters. B-29 Superfortresses over the Pacific will be followed by Aircraft Rescue Boats pledged by California. The faithful members of the Extension of the Order War Bond Sales committee are Chairman Nishkian, Constance Warshaw, chairman of the Extension of the Order; Birdie Kloss, Loretta Schaertzer, Gladys Knight, Ernestine Ranzulo, Eda Levy, Alice Lane, Helen O'Connell and Loretta Roadman.

POT LUCK

Pot luck supper a la Halloween preceded the October 26 meeting of Bonita Parlor No. 10 NDGW. To climax the supper, there was spirited bidding on cakes up for auction. The fifty-two members present played games like eating doughnuts off strings and threading needles. Margaret Locatelli was chairman, assisted by Jessie Blomquist and Agnes Casaretto.

Nineteen tables of whist were set-up at the parlor card party November 9. Groceries were raffled off after the game, clearing $80 for the group. Lily Locatelli was in charge of arrangements.

Doing their bit for the war effort, the parlor entertained at the USO Hospitality House October 14 and November 11, with about three hundred servicemen attending. Madeline Wallace was in charge of hostesses and the canteen. Refreshments were served and games and dancing enjoyed.

For Book Officers

In the limelight October 13 were the book officers of El Cereso Parlor No. 207 NDGW when a party was held in their honor. Mary Tuttle, recording secretary, who has served the parlor for twenty-seven years in that capacity was presented with a life membership by President Bernice Arbini and Anna Lewis. Caroline Hatherly, treasurer, and Mae Trocha, financial secretary also received gifts. Julia King was chairman of the evening.

Service Reward

Presentation of a certificate of recognition from the directors of Hospitality House was made to Sequoia Parlor No. 272 NDGW, Berkeley, for its service during the last two years.

Six hundred serevicemen were entertained November 4 after attending the Navy-California football game. Mary Galotta is chairman for regular Saturday night parties of this nature for the fiscal year. A reception was accorded hospitality hostesses by the directors, November 9, with Mrs. Galotta and Emily Ohman representing the parlor.

With Dina Benson in charge, a successful whist card party was given November 9. Deputy Ethyl Kern was honored guest. Interesting prizes were given to those holding high scores, and Clara Barton won the door prize, which was a box of groceries.

As the regular meeting night fell on Thanksgiving, a meeting was called by President Marion McGuire for November 30 when plans were formulated for the annual Christmas party. Following the meeting a social hour was held with Mary Galotta in charge. Marie Verdi was recently appointed chairman of the history and landmarks committee.

War Memorial

Promotion of a permanent memorial to war heroes of Vallejo in the form of a park, recreation center, swimming pool or other public service was discussed by Vallejo Parlor No. 195, NDGW, at the November 1 meeting. Juliet Bliss, in introducing the plan to the parlor, suggested that they recommend "to the Vallejo City Council the proposal of a living, permanent war memorial to all our boys in the service, and that Vallejo Parlor have an initial part in the dedication of same." Mrs. Bliss stated she had presented the plan to Mayor George Demmond, who expressed approval.

With forty-six members already initiated and another large class ready to go in, Stanford Parlor No. 76 is hitting hard at their goal of reaching second place in the Order membership. Web Nolan's appeal to support "the biggest ever" membership campaign in the history of the parlor is packing them in.

Anniversary

Sierra Parlor No. 268, NDGW, Alleghany celebrated its sixth anniversary October 1. A pot-luck supper preceded the meeting.

A profusion of autumnal flowers decorated the lodge and banquet rooms. The "mystery box" was prepared by Mrs. Jos McDougall and awarded to Roberta Har Donations were voted to the War Che and the Red Cross station wagon fund.

Upon completion of business, cards we played. Afterward a beautifully decorat cake with six candles and ice cream we served.

AROUND THE BAY

Spirit of Freedom

SPIRIT of Freedom is the title for an imposing monument honoring our forefathers through the highest symbols of the United States, the Liberty Bell and the American Flag which is proposed for the island of Yerba Buena. Fruitvalle Parlor No. 252 NSGW, Oakland has endorsed a resolution approving the project which in part reads:

"Whereas, The ending of the present world war will bring the return to civil life of millions of our men and boys who are now in the armed service of our country and who will seek employment in the many channels of trade which may offer openings for them to again earn a living within peace time activities . . .

"Whereas, Mr. Amos A. Wyckoff, a citizen of this community, has designed a monument which will not only personify the ideals of that 'spirit of freedom' for which our boys have gone to war; but will be a lasting monument and imposing memorial. It will provide work for thousands of men during the coming post war period of unemployment; now, therefore, be it Resolved, that Fruitvale Parlor NSGW commend Mr. Wyckoff for his artistic creation representing 'the spirit of Freedom' and recommends the construction of this proposed monument on a site within the State of California; the site and construction to be selected and handled by a commission, state or national, as may be deemed the proper authority; as a part of our post war construction planning . . ."

Copies of the resolution were sent to the Grand Parlor NSGW; to the committee in charge of the centennial anniversary of the admission of the state to the Union; to each representative of Alameda County in the Congress of the United States and to Mr. Wyckoff, as well as to the Grizzly Bear Magazine.

Towering above the two great bridges, the monument would be discernible from many points about the bay as well as from a great distance at sea, in a position similar to the Statue of Liberty. The base of the proposed structure would be devoted to a concert hall, museum, art gallery and historical collections, embodying the traditions and development of the Pacific Coast and the State of California. The top of the majestic tower would serve as a Naval and weather observation station with a beacon light for the guidance of aircraft. The four American eagles topping the monument will serve as a fitting support for the Banner of Freedom.

A bill presented to the California legislature supporting the project, was passed May 5, 1943, under the title of "Resolution No. 226."

BONDS FOR MERCY

Fruitvale Parlor Host

More than one hundred and fifty members of Native Sons assembled in the meeting room of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, November 10, in what was one of the most successful meetings held in Alameda County in years. Fruitvale Parlor acted as host to a joint meeting called by district deputy grand presidents under the guidance of Supervising Deputy Maury Pessano. Representatives were present from Oakland No. 50, Piedmont No. 120, Claremont No. 240, Estudillo No. 223, Halcyon No. 146 and a large concourse of Fruitvale members. A class of seventeen was initiated by Fruitvale's crack initiatory team.

Grand Trustee Charles D. Blaine, member of Modesto Parlor No. 11, was present on his official visit, and made the principal address of the evening. He stated he was pleased with the fine showing of all the participants.

Many of the gold braid contingent were present, notable among whom were Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, Grand First Vice-President Richard McCarthy, Grand Marshal Ray J. McGrath, Grand Inside Sentinel Ray T. Burke, Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson, Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy and Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy. Past Grand President Edward T. Schnarr, a member of Fruitvale now serving in the army, sent an interesting letter which was read before the meeting along with letters from other members serving in India, Italy and France.

After the meeting an Italian ravioli dinner, with all the tasty additional viands, was served by a committee headed by Chairman James Hubbard, assisted by Chef Dino Giovanetti.

Swell Babe Fund

After a short meeting October 10, Aloha Parlor No. 106 members attended a party under the chairmanship of Leona Suesman. The proceeds from the affair were placed in the parlor's Homeless Children fund.

Halloween was celebrated at the October 24 meeting with the initiation of three new members, Lorraine Threat, Myrna Sherman and Adele Speckmyer. Four more candidates, Elaine Van Buren, Rose Bardin, Mrs. Honore Fitzpatrick and Miss Honore Fitzpatrick were initiated at the first meeting in November.

Aloha has adopted a "Buddy" who is a veteran of World War II confined at Livermore Veteran's hospital. The Veteran's Welfare committee and several other members will visit him when they make their annual trip to decorate the Christmas Tree at the hospital December 17.

Turkey Buffet

Turkey buffet supper and lots of entertainment are on the bill for the annual Christmas High Jinks slated by Piedmont Parlor No. 120, NSGW, for December 21. Co-chairmen Fritz Brause and France Weber and their committee will have charge of preparing the supper while Al Weber and Grand First Vice President Richard McCarthy are responsible for the entertainment. The affair will be dedicated to members of the service. Honored guests will be the fathers and brothers of servicemen and members who have been discharged from the armed forces.

Visits Juniors

Making her first official visit to a Junior unit, Grand President Emily E. Ryan paid her respects to Menlo Park No. 10, Junior Native Daughters, November 10, with eighty members of neighboring parlors present.

Distinguished guests included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Organist Mae E. O'Keefe, Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney, SDDGP May L. MacDonald of San Francisco County, PGP Evelyn I. Carlson who is San Mateo County chairman of juniors and Irma Murray, state chairman of juniors.

The occasion also marked the third birthday anniversary of the juniors. Menlo Parlor No. 211 and Bonita Parlor No. 10 served a large decorated birthday cake and ice cream.

Representations were recorded from Golden Gate No. 158, Dolores No. 169, Darina No. 114, La Estrella No. 89, Mission No. 227, El Vespero No. 18 and Alta No. 3 of San Francisco and Palo Alto No. 229, Aloha No. 106, El Carmelo No. 181, Bonita and Menlo Parlors NDGW. Four juniors were present from San Francisco Junior Unit No. 6.

Constance Conmy, Menlo junior secretary and daughter of Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy of the Native Sons, read the report covering the unit's activity during the three years of its existence. Grand President Ryan left a message of encouragement as well as an expression of delight and appreciation for the girls' service to their community and to the war effort.

Past Grand President Carlson has been working with the girls since their institution. The group is sponsored by Menlo Parlor and has thirty-five members.

Plans for the sending of Christmas gifts to hospitalized service men at Dibble General Hospital and co-operation with a national drive to remember the boys at sea who will not touch any port on Christmas day are being carried out by the girls.

Southern Area

Blood Bank Donors

Thirty-seven blood bank donors traveled from Santa Maria to Ventura to the mobile unit there October 16, and November 10. They were members of Santa Maria Parlor No. 276 NDGW, headed by Secretary Ida Hawkins, also chairman of this phase of war activities.

Twenty-five dollars were also donated toward the War Chest and ten dollars were presented to the Salvation Army for its very worthy work. A committee was appointed to work on the community War Chest. During the October 16 meeting, each member donated fifty cents to the Native Daughters Home in San Francisco, after having earned the sum in many novel ways, according to chairman Nellie Baker. Santa Maria Parlor's Homeless Children quota for the year has been forwarded to the central committee.

Halloween decorations in the hall and on the refreshment tables were planned by Mary, Laura and Lenore Simas and Adeline Brass. The November 7 meeting was eliminated because of election day and many of the members being on the election board. Members were invited to attend a WAC recruiting program at Moose hall, October 20.

Election returns furnished the exciting pastime for members of Central Parlor No. 284, Santa Maria when their regular meeting night fell on November 7. A moving picture played "second fiddle" to the radio. The parlor reports having contributed its quota to the Homeless Children.

Gratifying Total

A gratifying total of $245 was realized for the Homeless Children fund by Copo de Oro Parlor No. 105 NDGW, Hollister, October 18 when the annual card party for the project was held.

Tables were arranged for whist and pedro, with forty-five grocery awards for high scores and eleven special awards. A large basket of groceries and a hand-made quilt, in the "Lone Star" design worked in the Navy colors of blue and white were given away.

Dr. J. M. O'Donnell, master of ceremonies, spoke on the splendid work being done by the organization in placing homeless children in supervised adoptive homes. The group in charge served a bountiful supply of sandwiches and coffee at tables attractive with sprays of autumn foliage interspersed with nuts and seasonal fruits.

A discussion of propositions appearing on the November 7 ballot was ably presented by Past President Erma Pivetti at the November 1 meeting. A Halloween social period followed with Hazel Gardner as head of the committee. Guests were welcomed by Ethel Hostetter in the guise of a broomstick riding witch.

Joint Official Visit

Making a joint official visit, Grand President Emily E. Ryan was guest of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 and Ontario Parlor No. 251 NDGW October 25. Preceding the meeting a chicken dinner was served on tables laden with baskets of fruit and autumn leaves.

The meeting was called to order in the American Legion Hall by Audrey Ball, president of Ontario Parlor. Mildred Meyer, president of Lugonia Parlor, with her corps of officers had the pleasure of initiating eight candidates: Frances Ames, May Bridges, Rosalie Clark, Iona McAdams, Maxine Risberg, Jean Ann Stewart, Elizabeth Trout and Phyllis Webb into Lugonia Parlor.

Past and present grand officers in attendance included PGP Mary Noerenberg, Grand Trustee, Anna T. Schiebusch, PGP Hazel Hansen, PGP Grace S. Stoermer, former Grand Trustees Nellie Cline and Florence Schoneman, who is also mother to Lugonia Parlor, SDDGP Adlena Marschall of Santa Ana Parlor, Rose Ford of Santa Ana Parlor, deputy to Ontario Parlor, and Doris Jacobson of Grace Parlor, deputy to Lugonia.

Grand President Ryan talked on the various activities of Native Daughters and particularly stressed extension of the Order. Gifts were presented the honored guest from both parlors.

Lugonia's annual carnival dinner dance was held October 27. Chairmen of the evening were Fern McGinty and Lizzie Kaltenborn.

Attention to Order

Sixth War Loan participation by officers and members of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 NDGW, Santa Barbara, is attracting favorable attention to the Order. Dr. Anna E. McCaughey and Mrs. Henry Griffiths, past presidents, are co-chairmen of the women's division of the Santa Barbara County War Finance committee. Mrs. George A. Tackaberry, parlor president, is district war bond chairman by appointment of Grand President Emily E. Ryan. The parlor's cooperation in the local campaign is under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. Stanley Clem, with special programs on "pin money bonds" and "bonds for babies."

Appreciation of the Santa Barbara County Chamber of Commerce for Native Daughter activity in historical programs was shown at a recent meeting when Chamber President Roy E. Gammill presented the parlor with a plaque commending interest in civic affairs.

Reina del Mar met the parlor's 163-member per capita for Homeless Children's bureau with proceeds of a card party at the Women's City club. Mrs. John D. Ross, Mrs. Benjamin Hartmen and Anita Sacconaghi as co-chairmen were aided by a group of twenty-four members. Fruits, vegetables and flowers from the farms of country members were used as prizes.

Orange County Hosts

Host to the parlors of Orange County, Santa Ana Parlor No. 265 NSGW had the pleasure of welcoming Grand President Raymond D. Williamson on his official visit October 31. Grand President Williamson complimented the parlors on their year's progress and took part in the initiatory ceremony installing a class of seven for Santa Ana, Mother Colony No. 281 and Paradise No. 282.

Introduced were Richard McCarthy, grand first vice-president; Grover Power, grand second vice-president; Walter Odemar, grand third vice-president; John T. Regan, grand secretary; Roy Tarleton, grand outside sentinel; Bernard Hiss, grand trustee; Eldred Meyer, past grand president; Walter Richards, and Gene O'Donnell, board of control members; SDDGP Walter Hiskey and deputies E. H. Merker, Leonard Schwacofer, Elmer Hoien and Raymond Marsile.

Preceding the meeting, Grand President Williamson, his staff and Santa Ana Parlor President Herbert Witt were entertained for cocktails and a ham dinner at the home of SDDGP Walter Hiskey.

Initiation

Initiation of the nine members who were unable to attend institution ceremonies is scheduled for December 6 by Toluca Parlor No. 279, NDGW, Burbank, in Moose hall 134 E. Glenoaks.

At an open meeting November 15, Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, organizer, explained the principles of the Order to visitors considering membership. A social hour was staged by the officers.

Plan Christmas Class

Six new members were initiated into Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 NSGW during the month of October and another initiation is scheduled for December 1.

"A fine Christmas present for the parlor would be a large class of candidates," opines President Joe Baudette.

Bakersfield Events

Meeting for their last outdoor party of the season, the Young Women's Activity Group of El Tejon Parlor No. 239, Bakersfield, held a Halloween get-to-gether at Jastro Park, October 9. Lucy Supertino headed the committee in charge and was assisted by Mary Sandrini Evelyn Destefani and Alice Ligari. Later the group engaged in a little strenuous exercise, a line of bowling.

This same group, under the chairmanship of Maude Kollenborn and Florence Rea, worked together with the Bakersfield Parlor No. 42 NSGW on their second barn dance, held October 13. The dance was attended by more than five hundred people who acclaimed it such a success that another will be staged soon.

Sunday, October 15, was a big day for all Native Sons and Daughters in Bakersfield. A throng of pioneers from the county and members of both parlors attended the Pioneer tea held at the Woman's club. Twenty members of the Victory Escort Team of El Tejon Parlor attired in printed formals performed military drills. The members of the team, receiving much applause were Geraldine Giggy, Maude Kollenborn, Alice Woods, Irma Jones, Sally Martel, Wilma Smith, Enid Johnson, Alice Davin, Barbara Hale, Dorothy Giggy, Jacquelyn Lorang, Mary Jane Clarkin, Demetra Zaferes, Evelyn Destefani, Mary Sandrini, Elin Turner, Alice Ligari, Lily Philarducci, Winifred Bowen and flag bearers Florence Rea and Lucy Supertino. As this was the eighth annual tea the team members carried old fashioned bouquets of eight California poppies.

John Shortridge, deputy at large for Bakersfield Parlor, acted as master of ceremonies. Those introduced were Cletha Alippi, president of El Tejon Parlor; Janes Pensinger, Jr., President Bakersfield Parlor; DDGP Ralph Hinderliter, NSGW; DDGP Lucille, Kane; Lucy Supertino deputy to El Tejon Parlor; A. T. Borges and Madge Fote, chairmen for the tea. Music was furnished in the afternoon for dancing by George Laffoon and his Barn Owls.

Another undertaking for El Tejon Parlor which is receiving much recognition is the motor tour which the group established travel to Hollywood to donate blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank twice a month. A radio program in connection with the blood donor activity was presented over station KERN by Cletha Alippi and Lucy Supertino with the assistance of Lucille Moses, Woman's page editor of that station. In the interview, an appeal was made for blood donors and contributions to maintain the motor tours, three of which have been made by El Tejon Parlor. Bakersfield Parlor Native Sons visited the blood bank in Los Angeles October 25.

Thirtieth Birthday

Charter members of Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206 NDGW were honored guests at the parlor's thirtieth anniversary dinner Tuesday, October 10. Those introduced were Mrs. H. M. Gunton of San Francisco who was the first president, Madames Henrietta Quevillon, Roscoe Platt, Charles Chase, Tom Weeks, Erma Miller, Douglas Morrill, C. A. Fitzgerald, Thomas H. Stuart, and Henry Cunningham.

As they were escorted about the hall, they were presented with lace paper hats with gifts concealed in the crowns. Each member related items of the early history and founding of the parlor.

Annabell Bauman of Sonora telephoned her congratulations and expressed regret that she could not be present. Letters of congratulation were read from Madames Cora Hartvig, Andrew Del Monte and A. W. Lynde, also charter members.

Appointment of Mrs. Earl Newman to the state committee of the California History Foundation fund was announced. The project is being sponsored by College of the Pacific.

Distinguished guests were PGP Clarice Cook and SDDGP Laura Jane O'Brien. At the conclusion of the evening, Mrs. Gunton cut the birthday cake, lighted with yellow tapers in silver candelabra. Ora Hammer and Mrs. William Beers were co-chairmen for the evening, assisted by Bessie Rowe and Ollie McBrian.

Supper for Service Men

Four hundred thirty-eight hungry service men were served a free supper at the San Diego USO Center at Fifth and Ash streets, Sunday, October 30, by San Diego Parlor No. 208, NDGW, members. Dorothy Holley, chairman of the War Activities committee; Emily Welch, president; Edythe Barngrover, Helen Jensen, Teckla Nelius, Grace Keenan, Anita Garrett, Blithe Kelleher, Carrie Chambers, Helen Baker and Louise Miller formed the working committee. This is the first dinner sponsored by a fraternal organization at this center and served the greatest number so entertained there at one time.

The parlor also made a financial contribution through Fern Cummins and Isabel Young, co-chairmen of the Veteran's Welfare committee, to the Red Cross center for ill and wounded veterans. This committee is also furnishing them with magazines and home made cookies. A card party is being planned this month to raise funds for the project.

Mary Growney of Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, mother of Emily Welch, was a visitor to the parlor October 24 and a guest at a luncheon and meeting of the Officers' club in the home of Katherine Heilbron of Mission Hills. Myrtle Marvin and Helena Biewener assisted the hostess.

The Homeless Children committee commemorated Homeless Children month by a social following the October 10 meeting with Anna Simmonds as chairman.

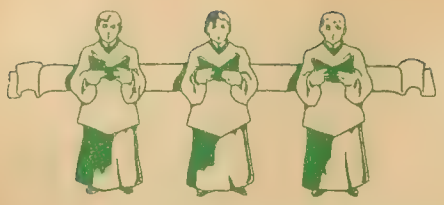
Named for Emily

With the adoption of a baby girl to be named Emily, Placerito Parlor No. 277, NDGW, Van Nuys, climaxed an eventful evening on the occasion of the official visit of Grand President Emily E. Ryan, October 21, in American Legion Hall.

For a toddler of less than a year old Placerito officers and membership conducted a meeting which was exemplary even to parlors well versed in ritualistic ceremonies, when ten new members were initiated. They were Janice Peak, Muriel Mason, Essie L. Michael, Catherine B. Cross, Lois Rockwood, Alberta Misner, Metta Jean Freeburg, Betty Seal, May Escobar and Ethel Powers Dresser.

Eight attractive young girls wearing black formal skirts and white blouses,, lighted candles in tall candelabra beside the white satin draped altar as the lights were extinguished in preparation for the officer's entrance, and also formed an escort for the honored guest. As the Grand President was brought to the altar, the organist played "When Irish Eyes are Smiling."

After hearing the outstanding reports of the parlor, Mrs. Ryan commented that "Placerito Parlor is, indeed, a precocious baby. This is the first time a parlor has adopted a baby and named it for me, and this is the first bound copy of committee reports I have received," continued the Grand President. She exhorted the parlor and all Native Daughters to "stand firmly together for the preservation of the ideals of the pioneers," and said, "Unless the Order bands together in a common effort, other organizations would spring up and be the first in the work we should be doing."



Inspiring messages were also made by Past Grand Presidents Mary B. Noerenberg, Grace S. Stoermer and Hazel B. Hansen; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, SDDGP Elsie Amidon, DGP Elsie Bledsoe, and Lura Pesqueira, organizer of Placerito. Helen Anderson was chairman and called the meeting to order.

Ivy and fern, twined on lattice, framed the doorways and tall baskets of dahlias adorned each station.

Refreshments were served at an attractively appointed table at the close of the meeting. Grand officers were guests of the parlor at a supper prior to the meeting held at Eaton's Rancho Cafe in Studio City.

UNION STATION

Inter-Parlor committee, southern district, Native Sons and Daughters, is serving at the Union Station USO, Los Angeles, on the second Monday of each month. Mary McAnany of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, NDGW, heads the committee in charge, which includes Joseph Coyle of Ramona Parlor No. 109, NSGW, Mrs. Dexter Monroe and her daughter, Ysabel Lawson, of Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW, and Theresa Hoffman and Phyllis McAnany from Los Angeles Parlor. The committee plans a Christmas party December 11, and is asking for sandwiches, cupcakes, candy and, if possible, cigarettes. Assistance from other members will be welcomed.

Yule Message

By Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, NSGW

AS this issue of our Grizzly Bear goes to press we are reminded that only a few weeks away is another Christmas Day with a New Year just beyond.

Since last Christmas much has taken place in the world and today our armed forces are in a better position on every front.

It was our fervent hope and prayer that this Christmas Day, 1944, would find us at peace, at least, on the European front, but the war monster has not been appeased and today we face another Christmas with our country still at war.

We, of course, take renewed hope that the end of that war is almost present and we most fervently hope and pray that 'ere the next twelve months go by, our sons, and daugh'ers, our fathers, our brothers and sisters will be returned to us and our golden land shall bask in sunshine, happiness and peace.

To our brothers and sisters in the armed forces we wish a joyous Christmas. We do so, mindful of the hardships, trials, and tribulations you endure, that we may be here at home on this sacred day.

To our brothers and sisters on the home front we wish you, too, a joyous Christmas. Joyful in the thought that it is our privilege to have our homes and hopeful that even out of this terrible chaos may finally come universal blessings of peace and happiness to all mankind.

As your Grand President and in behalf of the Grand Officers of the Native Sons of the Golden West, I extend to all, our sincere wish for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Proud Title

"Lady of the Royal Order of Isabella" is the title proudly borne by a new member of Junipero Parlor No. 141, NDGW, Monterey, who is none other than the distinguished Lady Maria Antonia Field. October 17 in the San Carlos Parish hall, she, with seven other candidates was inducted into the Order.

Reciting the oath with Lady Field were Mary Rudolph. Aurel Brewer, Sara Russo, Helen Tocher, Laura Gianno and Phyllis Turner.

President Elmarie Dyke, who is also grand trustee introduced Lady Field who related early incidents in the lives of her Spanish forebears, the Munras family. It was the grandfather of the late King Alfonso, Ferdinand the Seventh, who sent Lady Field's grandfather to Monterey as a representative of the crown and granted him extensive holdings in Monterey County.

In 1931 when Lady Field appeared before King Alfonso's court, he gave her the title in recognition of her unceasing efforts in keeping alive the traditions of California and for her work in assisting in the restoration of the missions. The king said that by honoring Maria Antonia, he was also honoring the State of California.

Elmarie Dyke also reported progress being made on the placing of a marker on Mission Soledad. The plaque will be made by Harry Downey who has been in charge of restoration work at Carmel Mission.

Refreshments were served by Gladys Stalter, chairman, Rose and Marian Cutino, Marilyn O'Dea, Clara Scholes, Margaret Castro, Julia Tremayne, Hazel Braunton, Susan Pettas and Anita Church.

Jewell Wallstrom of Goodyear Bar was initiated into Naomi Parlor No. 36, NDGW, Downieville, at a regular meeting October 11.

Edith G. Fish and Vivian Butler served ice cream and homemade cookies.

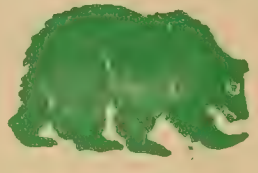
Witch Trailed

Halloween formed the motif of the October meeting of Past President's Association No. 13, NDGW, with "K" Black and Bertha A. Briggs acting as hostesses.

Following the business session, the group enjoyed playing "On the Trail of the Halloween Witch," with awards received by Marguerite Beresini, Mary Prendergast, Josie Winn and Nell Zook. The reading of fortunes and the serving of seasonal refreshments closed the happy evening.



Merry Oldsmobile

"In My Merry Oldsmobile," a gay nineties revue was pantomimed by Madames John Dentoni, Catherine Charboneau, Emile Sanguinetti, Lee Baker, John Boyke and Will C. Miller following the business session of Stockton Parlor No. 256 NDGW, November 2.

Deputy Grand President Ora Hammer of Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206 paid a visit to the parlor and installed Mrs. Leo Johnson as first vice-president. Supervising SDDGP Laura Jane O'Brien of Caliz de Oro was also present.

Members contributed home-made jams and jellies to be sent to the Native Daughter home in San Francisco for Christmas. Christmas boxes to be sent to sons of members who are in the service in this country were packed at the November 16 meeting. Previously, twenty-seven boxes were packed and sent to those serving overseas.

President Virginia Cook and Past President Hortense Hill, of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266 NDGW, held a bingo party at the home of first vice-president Vida Wells, November 2, with twenty-one members in attendance.

"Where Parking Is Effortless"

Official Visit

Nine Native Son grand officers were entertained on an official visit by San Diego Parlor No. 108, NSGW, October 30, when Grand President Raymond D. Williamson fulfilled a previous assurance that he and other officers would exemplify the ritualistic work, by initiating sixteen candidates.

President DeGraff Austin and members were prepared to give the grand officers a ride about the city, pointing out the many military activities, but the plans went awry because of the late arrival of the official party. However, a buffet supper was served at the San Diego Rowing Club prior to the meeting.

Grand President Williamson gave a detailed explanation of the work done by the Order to provide restrictions and curtailment to the invasion of the Japanese to the Pacific Coast and in particular to California. He declared that without these restrictions there could easily have been a million Japanese on the coast instead of the hundred thousand or so that did infiltrate our shores. Other officers addressed the meeting on Order accomplishments and the endeavor to preserve historical landmarks in the state.

Commends Membership

Officers of the Grand Parlor, headed by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson of San Francisco, conducted initiation ceremonies, in which twenty-seven new members entered the order October 28 at the Crestline clubhouse of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, San Bernardino.

The grand officers initiated twenty-four new members for Arrowhead Parlor and three for Los Ranchos Parlor No. 283, Pomona. The ceremonies followed a dinner, at which the grand president attended as guest of honor.

In the address of the evening, Grand President Williamson urged subordinate parlors to continue activities to strengthen the Order's membership. He said the Native Sons of the Golden West inducted more than 700 new members from January 1 until August 1 this year and commended Arrowhead Parlor for maintaining its position of second in membership in the entire Order.

Judge Van Luven presided, assisted by Ben E. Coleman, president of Arrowhead Parlor, who announced the Parlor's final initiation will be held December 20 in the Odd Fellow's temple in San Bernardino. Eugene H. O'Donnell of San Francisco, chairman of the Grand Parlor board of Control, welcomed the new members. Howard C. Kaltenborn was in charge of the dinner.

How little do they see what is—who frame
Their hasty judgment upon that which seems.

—Southey.

Live for something, have a purpose
And that purpose keep in view;
Drifting like a helmless vessel,
Thou cans't ne'er to life be true.

Bear Sports

An interested group of Pacific Parlor No. , NSGW, members and their friends were resented with an exceptionally fine pro- am at the recent "Athletic Night," the rticipants in the various events all being ampions in their fields. The Olympic ub and Al LaRocca, chairman of the Ath- tic committee were responsible for the casion.

Special feature of the evening was an h bition of horizontal bar performances Don Beverford, NAUU, J. Josezif, for- er Czechoslovakian champion and John rdiner, European champion.

The two paper weight wrestlers, Leo La- cca and Ben Northrup, both aged ten, re exceptionally clever.

Dr. M. Northrup, 175 pound NAUU ampion wrestled Sal Sancimino, 165 unds, far western champ. The latter is the navy and is home on a furlough after o years' service in the South Pacific.

The main watch of the evening was ged by Al LaRocca, heavyweight, and y Crivello, light heavyweight. Ed Pence- h, state athletic commissioner, was pres- t in his official capacity, as well as being member of the parlor.

Stunts in Films

What happens to jockeys when they get heavy to straddle the racing nags?

Well, at least one of them—Dublin Tay- , who one year won purses totaling more an $1,000,000—has wound up in the vies.

Taylor, who in 1934 spurred 286 horses victory, is now a film stunt man. He re- tly worked in Columbia's "Blazing the stern Trail."

"All I know is horses," relates Taylor, d that's why I feel right at home work- in western pictures."

WHERE THE DOUGH GOES

Racing fans have the erroneous idea that y thirteen per cent of the money going ough the California race track wickets ys there. While only thirteen per cent is en out of each dollar bet, that thirteen ent is deducted every time a dollar s through the wickets—plus, of course, breakage.

's generally conceded that a dollar is back three or four times during an rnoon, which means the average cus- er comes home with, at the most, only y or seventy percent of what he takes to the track. The rest is split between state and the track. As for this nag er, I always come home on my thumb.

Forced Retirement

Father Flanagan's Boys

Father Flanagan's Boys Town football squad—twenty-three players from fifteen states are preparing to leave Boys Town, Nebraska, for games on the west coast. Games will be played at Spokane, Washington, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Coach Maurice (Skip) Palrang reported his players are in top condition for the forthcoming contests. The schedule calls for games against Gonzaga High School at Spokane, St. Ignatius at San Francisco and Loyola at Los Angeles.

LEAGUE TEMPEST

It's twenty to one at this writing that Jerry Giesler will get out of the American Pro league at the season's end. If Mr. Giesler hadn't been a loyal guy, he'd undoubtedly have tendered his resignation before this. The Pro loop is blowing higher than a champagne cork. One of the club owners came to blows with one of the league officials. Another official is facing a lawsuit from one of the owners.

Discards Spiked Shoes

Galloping Bill Dodds neared the end of the trail today as one of the country's outstanding milers. The holder of the world's indoor mile record revealed that he will hang up his spiked shoes for a career as a missionary when he receives his batchelor of divinity degree from Gordon College of Theology and Missions at Boston in February.

Miler Killed in Action

Lieutenant Louis Zamparini, former USC track star who almost created an international incident by climbing a flag pole in front of Hitler's chancellory and snatching a Nazi flag as a souvenir during the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin, has been officially listed as dead by the Army Air Forces. As a miler at USC, he had an outstanding record of 4:08.3 for the mile, which still stands as a record in the NCAA book. Zamperini created national headlines during the 1936 Olympic games in more ways than one.

Letter Box

Editor: In an item on page seven of the October issue on collections made at the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, you stated Joseph Schmidt, Superintendent of the Civic Auditorium was a member of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214, NSGW. Just to keep the record straight and claim honor where honor is due, Mr. Schmidt has been, and still is, a member of Castro Parlor No. 232 NSGW. Yours truly, James H. Hayes, recording secretary, Castro Parlor No. 232, NSGW.

Marie T. Haiber

To the Officers and members of Grace Parlor No. 242 NDGW:—We the committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence and respect to the memory of our departed sister Marie T. Haiber, submit the following:

Be It Resolved, That the members of Grace Parlor No. 242 NDGW are deeply grieved at the passing of our beloved sister and charter member, Marie T. Haiber, whose presence in our midst always brought sunshine and happiness and whose music brought joy to our meetings. Bowing to the will of Our Heavenly Father, our hearts will always retain a lasting affection for one of such sweet and noble character, a true and loyal friend, dearly loved by all our members and by everyone in the community.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That we extend deepest sympathy to her bereaved family.

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes, a copy sent to the family and a copy sent to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully,

MAE LEMKE,
MATILDA ENFIELD,
NELLIE CLINE,
Committee.

Keep Your Hands Beautiful

Women whose hands are busy with war-time duties and added household tasks use Chamberlain's Lotion. They know this clear, golden lotion helps keep hands soft, lovely, and free from roughness and ugly redness. It dries with such convenient quickness. Try Chamberlain's Lotion and you'll agree. Buy it at all toilet goods counters.

What Lies Ahead

By Grand President Raymond D. Williamson

WHAT lies ahead for you and your family in postwar California? What can you visualize across the war-screened horizon? What can your sons and daughters returning from the harrowing experiences of defending their country's future expect of their native state as they seek to rehabilitate themselves; to reshape their lives; to plan for future security?

What educational advantages can your young children expect from California as they grow to manhood and womanhood? What cultural advantages will they enjoy? What type of associates will they be privileged to choose?

All of these questions can be answered if we lend our aid to the problem.

Californians can determine the future of the Golden State in which they were born by promoting California industry. They can build upon the sound foundation constructed by their forefathers, those honored builders, whose combined, physical, mental and spiritual efforts produced a State, whose actions for the advancement of the welfare of its people have been followed but not excelled by any other State in the Union.

The Native Sons and Native Daughters have pledged their assistance to returning veterans. They will re-employ them and will use their influence to assist them in re-establishing themselves and their families.

Californians can do all of these things if they will place their faith in California and her products. But they must be completely sold on California—sold to the point that they will build their homes, their business buildings, and their highways of California-made materials.

California food products, California-made clothing, California artists, authors and musicians California institutions—all must be patronized and encouraged. We must give Californians an opportunity to make their enterprises successful. Californians must fight for the welfare of their State. They must combine forces to keep California free from degrading influences.

What lies ahead behind the smoke-screened horizon of war?

Peace will come at last, of that we are certain!

Making that peace permanent and holding prosperity firmly within our grasp will be the job of the citizen. Native Sons and Native Daughters can keep this prosperity for California if they will buy, build and sell California

Japanese Stand Defined

By Walter H. Odemar

Chairman, Committee on Japanese Legislation, NSGW

The United States Army has recently revoked its former order evacuating persons of Japanese ancestry and forbidding their return to the West Coast. The new order prevents those whose disloyalty is admitted or is known to exist from returning to their former homes. However, the great bulk of Japanese, alien, as well as American born, may return to this area if they choose.

Since the origin of the order of evacuation was made, the Native Sons of the Golden West have attempted to educate the people to the fact that the return of the evacuees during the war with Japan would be a grave error. We might sincerely hope our logic and reasoning were wrong, for not one of us wants one thing to occur which will in any way harm or delay our war effort. But we can not believe our reasoning was in error.

Being members of a patriotic organization, not one of us will take any action or in any way violate the laws of state or nation. We will accept the decision of the duly constituted authorities even though we can not follow their reasoning.

The Committee on Japanese Legislation will continue to study all phases of this great problem and to sponsor such legislation as it feels is legitimate and will tend to meet the problems presented.

We hope the owners of farm lands will refuse to sell or lease to the Japanese and we will do all in our power to prosecute and enforce the Alien Land Law of the State of California.

If any member of the Order learns of any violation of the Alien Land Law, it is urged that he present that evidence to the district attorney of his country so it may be investigated and appropriate action taken.

Further action to be taken by the Native Sons will be announced as soon as possible after a meeting of the Committee on Japanese Legislation is held. We shall not discontinue the fight we have waged for more than forty years, for now, more than ever in the past, the facts upon which we stand are clear and unimpeachable.

Native Team in Rose Bowl

By Dick Nash

IT was a native son football team which took the field for the University of Southern California New Year's Day Rose Bowl game in Pasadena's famed Arroyo Seco.

No less than ten of the starting players for the Trojan's were natives of this Golden State, and several other members of the squad were local boys, as the Trojans made their eighth New Year's appearance in the rose-scented stadium.

The complete backfield was California-bred. Captain Jim Hardy, all-coast quarterback who is rated as one of the best collegiate T-formation pilots in history, was born in San Pedro. Bob Morris, whose home is now in Monrovia, was born in Long Beach. He is a left halfback. Don Burnside, starting right half, is an Angeleno. His folks now reside in North Sacramento. Duane Whitehead, fullback from La Verne, was born in Pomona.

At right end is Jim Callanan, All-Coast, from Los Angeles. Right tackle is John Pehar, ditto. Right guard is Willard Wall, now of Porterville but originally from Exeter. Russ Antles, center, is also from Porterville but was born in Selma. Louis (Bud) Curtis at left guard, is from Los Angeles but his home is now in Pacoima. Right Tackle John Ferraro, consensus All-American, is a native of Bell. He now lives across the municipal line in adjacent Maywood.

The only "foreigner" on the starting lineup is Don Hardy, Jim's younger brother, who plays left end. Don was born in Idaho, but is a graduate of Fairfax High school, Los Angeles, and wants to be ranked as an adopted native son, if nothing else.

But Don's immediate understudy, Paul Salata, was born in Belvedere Gardens and now lives in the northern district of Los Angeles.

Then there's Arnold Eddy, Trojan actin director of athletics, a native of Templeton. Gaius (Gus) Shaver, Trojan backfield coach and former All-American of 1931, a native of Covina.

Jeff Cravath, Trojan head coach, is the same position as Don Hardy—he was born in Colorado in this case, but having lived in the Golden State practically his life. He was a schoolboy football star at Santa Ana in the early '20's. Yours truly who rides the Trojan bandwagon (director of athletic news service), likewise has lived in California since the age of two but has to acknowledge (darn it) that he was born in the state of Washington.

Just how did this native son football club come out against those invading sons of the ole south? By now, you know the answer as well as we do.

Cravath has moulded a tricky T-formation offense, which takes full advantage of Captain Jim Hardy's passing genius and the break-away speed of his halfbacks. In the Trojans' last five games they have scored better than five touchdowns per game. They are dangerous from any part of the field.

In Tennessee the S. C. team faced a rock-and-sock offensive threat. Coached by John Barnhill, former line coach of the Vols when they last invaded Pasadena January 1, 1940, Tennessee plays for keeps.

Here's a final note about the native Trojans. For two years now they've played a native son schedule, not going outside the borders of California for either the 1943 or 1944 campaigns. Apparently such a schedule pays dividends. Cravath's club has wound up in the Rose Bowl each time.

Symbol of Force

By Isabel Fages

SYMBOLICAL of the combined force and influence of Native Sons and Native Daughters united in a common cause, was the gala reception tendered Grand President Emily E. Ryan, NDGW, and Grand President aymond D. Williamson, NSGW, by the deputies of San Francisco County, ovember 30.

Scottish Rites temple was chosen for the event and was filled to capacity members eager to greet the two leaders and visitors who were given an sight into the projects and principles of both Orders.

Opening the ceremonies with a reverent note, a Native Daughter choral oup under the direction of State Chairman of Music Ruby Bried, sang hymn, and later The Star-Spangled Banner.

Following the entry of deputies of both Orders, Pearl Wredde, Alta Parlor o. 3, escorted SDDGP May MacDonald to a seat of honor on the platform, d Hugh Ryan of Pacific Parlor No. 10 escorted SDDGP Louis Giegerich a similar station.

Grand officers marched into the room followed by the two Grand esidents, both of whom received prolonged ovations.

For the escort of Mrs. Ryan, her deputies formed a circle of friend- p in which she stood, as Florence Johnson, El Vespero Parlor No. 118 ng "I Love You Truly". The Native Sons Deputies then retired and assisted gh Ryan in the escort of Mr. Williamson.

As Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy reviewed the growth of the Native ns, a tableau showing General Wynn seated at a table with a group of thusiastic and bearded young native sons attired in Prince Alberts and iped trousers was enacted. In like manner, the founding of the Native ughters was depicted as PGP Anne C. Theusen outlined its institution d progress. Members of the organization were attired in bustles and quaint speaux.

Beatrice Nishkian, chairman of San Francisco County's Extension of the der committee, framed in a bond booth arch, was praised for her com- ndable achievements in conducting a downtown bond booth, and State airman of War Activities Anne Dippel reported outstanding accomplish- nts in her committee work.

Rene Taube, grand parlor chairman of drill teams and drum corps, was roduced as representatives of several of the groups marched into the m, attired in their uniforms.

Grand President Williamson was the recipient of a wrist watch as a gift from the deputies, with SDDGP Louis Giegerich making the presentation. In his acceptance, Williamson reported 1203 new members for his organization and said California would enjoy a greater future than that recorded in the history of any state.

Following the presentation of a sterling silver link bracelet to Mrs. Ryan, she responded with a wish, "that as we drift into days of peace, the two organizations will become a part of veteran rehabilitation plans. Out of the sixty-five women selected to sit at the peace table, not one is from California," Mrs. Ryan commented. She cited outstanding women in the Native Daughters whose experience and background had fitted them for such an assignment. "Who, better than they, would know the needs of California?" she concluded.

The deputies of San Francisco County, NDGW, were introduced and each took a streamer from a colorful ribbon bouquet from Mae MacDonald standing in the center of the room and formed a wheel. As the introductions were completed, the deputies dropped the ribbons and the supervisor walked out of the room followed by a train of the varied hued streamers. The chorus closed the evening's performance with the singing of "I Love You, California."

Acting as organist for the evening was Frances Simas of Oro Fino Parlor No. 9. Co-chairmen in charge of arrangements for the Native Sons were Louis Giegerich and Mardelle May, Dolores Parlor No. 169, who presided as chairman of the evening.

Banked with mountain firs, the stage formed a holiday background for the gathering. In the center stood a great golden horn of plenty filled with the fruitful products of California.

Remedy Asked

A resolution asking for a remedy for the struction of "California's finest valleys, oductive orchards and fields," which have en turned into piles of rocks by gold dgers was approved November 14 and is ng disseminated by Placerville Parlor . 9 NSGW. The resolution recommends replacement of soil and leveling of rock-strewn land. District Attorney nry Lyon, who also is a past grand sident of the Native Sons, is the author the proposal.

Lieutenant Gordon Van Vleck visited the lor while on leave from Fort Benning, orgia. Plans for the annual Homeless ildren Dance, scheduled for New Year's were being brought to completion as report was received.

Christmas Feast

The Friday Luncheon Club of San Francisco, an organization of the Native Sons that has existed in San Francisco for the past quarter of a century, held its annual Christmas banquet in the hall of National Parlor No. 118, 1160 Eddy Street, with fifty members of the group in attendance. The chairman of the committee on arrangements was Eugene H. O'Donnell, Dolores No. 208, assisted by Theo Schmidt of Stanford No. 76; Reynald J. Bianchi of San Francisco No. 49; Past Grand President Charles A. Koenig and Grand Trustee Edward J. Wren.

Each year for the past twenty-two years a Christmas banquet has been held by this group and this year in addition to the turkey banquet with all the trimmings, a fine entertainment was enjoyed.

Santa Claus Busy

Santa Claus had a busy time making the rounds for Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco, for two parties were staged by them with Christmas as the theme. First on the calendar was the children's party held December 17 in the afternoon at the Grizzly Bear club when over 200 youngsters were entertained. This year's chairman was John L. Purcell, assisted by an enthusiastic committee. Mrs. David McCarthy acted as hostess.

Then there was the Christmas stag! Chairman Charles Roberts, whose reputation for skulduggery is statewide, planned the event which began with a cocktail hour, followed by dinner and entertainment. Waldo Postel assisted.

Following the Grand President

San Francisco Parlors of the Native Sons, through the Extension or the Order committee, held a class initiation in honor of Raymond D. Williamson, grand president, and in observance of the anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor by the Japanese. Fifty-three candidates were initiated.

The ritual team of San Francisco Assembly No. 1, Past Presidents Association performed the initiation ceremonies. Acting were, president, Lloyd J. Doering of South San Francisco No. 157; junior past president, Lewis A. Giegerich, Pacific No. 10 and supervising deputy; senior past president, James W. Brady, South San Francisco No. 157; first vice president, Henry Richliffs, California Parlor No. 1; second vice president, William Keane, Castro No. 232; third vice president, Victor H. de Ganna, Golden Gate No. 29; marshal, William F. Hawley, South San Francisco No. 157; inside sentineel, Raymond Conroy, South San Francisco No. 157; organist, C. George Cuthbertson, grand organist.

The address of the evening was made by the Grand President. Entertainment and refreshments completed the evening.

On December 2 the Grand Officers of the Native Sons initiated a class of ten candidates for Avenal Parlor No. 287 at Avenal. Those who conducted the initiatory work were Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, president; Grand Secretary John T. Regan, junior past president and inside sentinel; Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, first vice president; Past Grand President Charles A. Koenig, second vice-president; Frank M. Buckley of National Parlor No. 118, third vice-president; Grand Trustee Edward J. Wren, marshal.

Prior to the initiation a splendid turkey dinner was served to approximately 100 persons and after the initiation a dance was held. The address of the evening was made by Grand President Williamson.

The chairman of the evening was Walter N. Bailey, former grand trustee and supervising deputy. Grand President Williamson and Grand Second Vice-President Power, who is a visiting grand officer for the Sacramento County parlors, addressed the meeting after which a very fine banquet was served to the large number of members present.

A class of candidates for the Parlors of Sonoma County was initiated December 19 at Petaluma. December 20 candidates for the Parlors of Santa Clara, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Monterey Counties were accepted into the Order at San Jose.

Recall Institution

With two charter members present to recall the institution of Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco, the sixty-third anniversary held November 14 was declared a success. The "old timers" regaled members with stories of the early days.

Life memberships were awarded the following who had spent fifty years in the Order: Frank R. Neville, Joseph Cunningham, Paul McDonald and F. M. Kirsch. Mr. Neville spoke, recalling well known personalities. Past President Norman Elkington's subject was the past, present and future of the Native Sons. Many grand officers attended, headed by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson. Refreshments were prepared and served by several wives of members.

Christmas Hi-Jinks

The annual Christmas Hi Jinks in Sierra Hall, Native Sons building, was celebrated by Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW December 19. J. Henry Bastein was chairman. The Christmas tree party sponsored by the parlor took place December 22 in the Grizzly Bear club library. Splendid entertainment by talented youngsters and Santa Claus delighted the children of members. Cliff Wayman was chairman of the Christmas tree committee.

BATTER UP

Flavorful turkey and pungent reminiscing were dished out at a meeting of the Old Time Baseball Association of Piedmont Parlor No. 120, NSGW, November 21. Serving the turkey were Fritz Brause and Frenchie Weber with Frank Roemer assisting.

Ladeling out the entertainment was Al Weber, who gave the piano a working over. Rehashing past experiences were Harry Greenwood, Paul Weber and Richard M. (Dick) Hamb, calling the plays. Jerry Lawler, president of the parlor, and a member of the "has beens" or are they? swung a mean bat over the home plate.

For GI Joe

In keeping with the holiday spirit San Jose Parlor No. 22 NSGW and Vendome Parlor No. 100 NDGW of San Jose served turkey at the local USO hut on Thanksgiving day, sacrificing the day at home with their families to serve the many lonely GIs who really did justice to the five big birds.

Covering the State

With the Native Daughters by Betty Galey

SEEN FROM TELEGRAPH HILL

Editor's Note—The Grizzly Bear regrets announce, that because of lack of support by the majority of Native Daughter parlors, the space allotted them must be cut down. This month we are trying a new method of preparing the stories of the various districts with abreviated anouncements and accounts. Betty Galey, assistant to the editor, has prepared them in a clever and impartial manner. We hope it will not be long until the parlors who do not subscribe will find it possible to do so and that we then may return to our former policy of publishing extensive, detailed description of events.

MID decorations in keeping with the holiday season, before an audience of approximately 250 members and guests of Twin Peaks and Golden Gate Parlors, twenty-two women were initiated into the Native Daughters on the occasion of Grand President Emily E. Ryan's official visit, December 12. Generous donations were made to the Homeless Children, the station KGO fund and the California History fellowship of the College of the Pacific.

An escort from the drill teams of both parlors formed a guard of honor for the Grand President, while Mrs. Annette Baxter of Golden Gate Parlor sang "Smiles." With Mrs. Beatrice M. Nishkian presiding, Golden Gate Parlor had the privilege of opening the joint meeting, and Carmel Church, president of Twin Peaks Parlor and her corps of officers performed the initiatory.

Co-chairmen for the evening were Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron and Past Grand President Claire Lindsey.

Addressing Homeless Children and War Activities work, Grand President Emily E. Ryan, gave a brief but complete outline of the projects of the Order over station KGO, San Francisco, Sunday, December 3. She featured as guest of honor on the San Francisco broadcast, "Open House," was interviewed over KFRC, December 2. Both programs were arranged by Marie Field, radio chairman for the county.

Versatile from classic to modern music, Della Root, organist of Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, San Francisco, has given three years of service to the USO. Giving generously of her talent, she has played every Friday night since Pearl Harbor at the Terrell Street USO house, and has gone by truck to the nearby camps on week-ends to entertain the boys with their favorite selections.

State Chairman of War Activities Ann Koppel, recently volunteered the suggestion a little sunshine for our boys in the darkest part of the Aleutians." A recent SOS from General Emmons asked for twenty sun lamps to be sent to the hospitals in the Aleutians so that health and strength might be restored to those there interned. Individual parlors are not pledged to buy a lamp but contributions toward purchases are being asked. Already reported as having made donations are Stockton Parlor No. 256 and Copa de Oro No. 105.

• Native Daughters' Home was the scene of the November 24 joint official visit by Grand President Emily Ryan to Darina Parlor No. 114 and Orinda Parlor No. 56. Officers of Orinda escorted the Grand President through an arch made with chrysanthemums to her seat of honor with Darina parlor presenting the opening and closing ceremonies. Co-chairman of the evening, Grand Organist May O'Keefe, planned the entertainment.

Other grand officers present included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio and Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney. Past Grand Presidents in attendance were Mae Wilkins, Dr. Mariana Bertola, Emma Foley, Mae Himes Noonan, Orinda Giannini, Anne Theusen and Evelyn Carlson and SDDGP Mae McDonald and Deputies Margaret Dalstrom and Mardelle May.

Richard Skinner

Richard Skinner, one of the best loved members of Bakersfield Parlor No. 42, NSGW, passed away November 1. Recording Secretary William A. Goodale in writing to the editor, paid this tribute in prose: "He was a blind man with a beautiful tenor voice and sang in churches and for funerals. He would always oblige us with solos whenever requested to do so. And in poetry, another member writes:

"We will miss the touch of his hand for awhile.
We'll miss the sound of his voice.
And oft' we'll glance at the spot by the wall,
Where stands the chair of his choice.
He didn't have eyes like the rest of us,
And he said he couldn't see,
But I often thought he'd a greater sight,
Than the sight given you or me.
He saw rare beauty in common things
Most folks don't understand.
I think he saw more than I ever could,
In a rose he held in his hand.
Yes, we'll miss the sound of his golden voice,
As his work on earth now ends;
But wiser and richer men are we
Whom he loved and called his friends.

—by a Native Son.

Julius V. Ferraiuolo

"Gentleman, warrior and past president of Colusa Parlor No. 69," are the words with which Staff Sergeant Julius V. Ferraiuolo is described. He was recently killed in action in Italy and the parlor has placed their second gold star on the service flag in his honor.

Charles M. Lamberson

Humble tribute is paid to Pvt. Charles M. Lamberson by Avenal Parlor No. 287, NSGW. Private Lamberson made the supreme sacrifice for his country October 21, 1944, on the Island of Leyte where, under the command of General Douglas MacArthur, he was attached to the Weapons Troop, Seventh Cavalry.

The serviceman joined Avenal Parlor while stationed at Fort Riley and was a charter member. He saw action in New Britain, New Guinea, the Admiralty Islands and at Leyte.

To the Officers and Members of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, NDGW—We, your committee herewith submit the following resolutions of respect to the memory of our well loved sister, Grace Mills.

She has been called to the Native Daughter Home on High, and Long Beach Parlor has lost a faithful member.

Resolved, That we extend our sincere sympathy to the husband and family, and

That a copy of this memorial be sent to the family, a copy be spread upon the minutes of Long Beach Parlor, and a copy be sent to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

KATE McFADYEN,
LEOLA TEMBY,
ELLEN MARGARET ROGERS,
Committee.

Long Beach, California, December 7, 1944.

T. F. Miner

T. F. Miner, father of Eugenia Smith and Margaret Burch of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, who was born in Yreka, August 30, 1861, passed away November 30 in Wilmington.

Loved by all who knew him, Mr. Miner had lived in California all of his life with the exception of a few years. He also leaves a brother, George Miner, of Nile, and a third daughter, Mina Smith of Seattle.

Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 NSGW operated with the War Salvage committee in a drive for rags and old clothes November 24 to December 16. Ray Fredricks, as chairman, took charge of picking up and delivering the bundles to the collection depot.

Pellandini Night

Just how he does it, is the mystery surrounding Louis Pellandini's ability to round up new members for Sonoma Parlor No. 111, NSGW, since he has signed up more candidates than "all the rest of us combined."

November 20, was Pellandini Night for three parlors and during the meeting, fourteen new members joined the Order; nine for Sonoma Parlor, three for Napa No. 62 and two for Petaluma No. 27.

Past presidents of Napa Parlor No. 62 exemplified the initiatory ritual and Petaluma under the leadership of Carl Plow was well represented.

Sonoma Parlor's new members are, Erwin J. Thygeson, Allan O. Maffei, Joe J. Lennon, Harry R. Meglen, John G. Gilcrest, Wilfred V. Quartaroli, George L. Cosce, Roy Rogers and Frank Rossetti. Petaluma Parlor inducted Henry Dess and Thomas Griffin and Napa, Ales Votteri and Craig Freil.

Louis Green of Sonoma Parlor was felicitated on the occasion of his eightieth birthday. He has spent nearly fifty-eight years as a member and forty-eight as financial secretary.

With the opening of the Sixth War Loan drive Sonoma Parlor purchased $2000 in bonds.

Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263, NSGW, Wilmington, inducted four new members November 17. Assisting were Grand Third Vice-president Walter Odemar, Grand Trustee Bernard Hiss and DDGP Earle Smith. Letters were read during the course of the evening from various men overseas, among whom were Lawrence Johansen, South Pacific, John Reuter, France, and Capt. Patrick Doran, Alaska.

Winn Rider and Walter Bacich were initiated December 1. Election of officers followed, Louis Molle, treasurer, has brought in ten new members, and devotes much of his time to the success of three Native Sons Bowling teams.

New Natives

Lawrence Walter Lemke, whose birth was announced in a novel manner by his United States Coast Guard family as a "first cutter," was born to Mr. and Mrs. (Bud) Lemke, October 16, in Berkeley hospital. The proud father is a service member and trustee of Mother Colony Parlor No. 281, Anaheim. The family resides at 1445 Mariposa, Richmond Annex, California.

Proud grandparents for the first time are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kern (Ethel) of Berkeley, since daughter Louise and her husband Don Cathcart became the parents of a little son December 7. Grandmama is a member of Aloha Parlor No. 106, Oakland, and deputy to Sequoia Parlor No. 272, Berkeley.

Marie and James G. Dignan are the parents of a new baby girl who shared in the Thanksgiving celebration in the home of her grandfather James J. Dignan, along with her older sister Patricia and her brother, Gerald. She cooed affectionately for her uncle, Sgt. Bernard Dignan, who was home from the wars in the South Pacific.

No Competition

Since there was no competition for offices in Observatory Parlor No. 177, the list of officers recently nominated and elected December 5, as published in the December bulletin is obviously official. They are: Walter S. Penney, president; George D. Leese, senior past president; Clarence H. Leese, Robert L. Drexel, W. Russell Carlson, first, second and third vice presidents respectively; Reynold A. Giese, marshal; Henry C. Jung, trustee; Norton J. Mahon and Louis Doerr, inside and outside sentinels respectively.

The monthly whist tournament followed the business meeting and "goodies from the pantry" were served. Initiation was held November 14 with the following candidates being inducted: Elmer A. Ballou, V. McLeod Taylor, Joe Murphy, Ray D. Barrett, and Alex J. Hart, Jr.

GRIZZLY Bear

February - Month of Patriots

Bear Claws
Editorials

FEBRUARY is a month of patriotic observances. Abraham Lincoln's birthday, the twelfth day, and George Washington's on the twenty-second, are always fittingly celebrated by Native Sons and Native Daughters parlors. This month, the Grizzly Bear cover, designed by Alfonso Fages pictures these two great presidents under the spread of the American Eagle's wings. Our patriotic story for this month is the report of bond sales for C-47 hospital planes. May the month of February be an exemplary period in bond purchases and blood bank donations for in no better way can the two Orders express their love of country or do greater honor to the memories of the father of their country and the great emancipator.

A state senate sub-committee on post-war planning estimates California's population in ten years at 15,000,000. How can Native Sons and Daughters assist in California's post-war handling of housing and employment of this vast population?

It is obvious that an increase in California industry and possibilities of employment is the answer. The Grizzly Bear plans to stress a "Boost California Products" drive, previous to, and during the reconstruction period. Cooperate with civic planners in your communities! Show your interest in California business, by patronizing California business! If a California firm advertises in your official magazine, respond by patronizing it. Thus we may cement a spirit of "California for Californians" which will definitely aid in post-war prosperity.

Recently the advertising rates of the magazine were raised due to an almost triple increase in production costs. If Native Sons and Native Daughters in business support the magazine with advertising and the membership reciprocates by patronizing the advertisers, the book would increase in value and attractiveness for both advertisers and subscribers, as well as help retain California for Californians.

If the Grizzly Bear is to serve the purpose for which it is intended, your plans for future events should be mailed to us as soon as they are formed. As the official publication of both Orders the editorial office should be a central source of information for members seeking it.

An article published in a recent issue of Elks magazine relates the story of the conquest of Korea by the Japanese more than thirty years ago. "Plan for Plunder" is the title and the atrocities committed in 1912 are vividly related by Joseph Wechsberg. According to the writer, Germany watched Nipon's actions avidly. This was long before the "paper hanger's" rise to power and many of the methods employed by the Japs then are being forced on conquered nations by the Axis powers today.

In an article appearing in the December 22 Inyo Independent, the following statement is made: "Numerous requests have been made by California residents to have their domestic Japanese help return to former jobs and the demand is expected to increase considerably." The question arising in our minds is this, "Will these eager employers watch the movements of their "loyal" servants and be responsible to the United States government and her fighting men for any acts of sabotage or espionage that result?" There are bound to be some!

In the same story, the following figures are given, "Manzanar's 5540 residents of which 2,423 are aliens and 3,117 are American citizens is expected to be a slow process. Most of Manzanar's residents are reported content to stay at the Owens Valley center until they see how the problem develops on the West Coast, before making any decision."

Grizzly Bear

THE GRIZZLY BEAR MAGAZINE, the all-California monthly is published the first day of each month by the Grizzly Bear Publishing Company, a corporation, composed of Native Sons o fthe Golden West. The Grizzly Bear is the official organ of posed of Native Sons of the Golden West. and the Native Daughters of the Golden West and has been published continuously since 1907. The publication office is located in the Wilcox building, 206 South Spring street, suite 309-315, Los Angeles 12; Telephone, VA-6234.

Entered as second class matter May 29, 1918, at the Post Office of Los Angeles, California, under the act of August 24, 1912. The magazine is on sale at either office at fifteen cents per copy. For blanket parlor subscription rates and club rates, please write to the Los Angeles office.

Board of Directors

Harry J. Lelande, president; Mary B. Noerenberg, vice-president; Bernard G. Hiss, secretary and treasurer; Raymond D. Williamson, Wayne R. Millington, John T. Regan, Walter H. Odemar, Charles R. Thomas and Ann Schiebusch.

Attention, Contributors

News must be received in this office by the fifteenth of the month excepting when holidays necessitate the setting of an earlier date when all NSGW and NDGW parlors are notified. Please give name, address and parlor of sender; name, number and address of parlor, dates and locations of events, presiding officers, chairmen and committees in charge. Do not refer to raffles or drawings as these are classed as lotteries by the Federal Government and publication of news concerning them is prohibited. Do not send clippings. Please write with plenty of space between lines and make sure names are clearly written and correctly spelled. Study the style of the magazine and try and write your copy to conform with it.

Pictures of important events are desired, if they are large, good and clear glossy prints. Do not send newspaper mats or snapshots. Enclose return nostage if you wish cuts or photographs returned. Be sure persons in the pictures are completely identified with left to right captions.

Isabel Fages, Editor.

San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland bond sales for the allocation of C-47 hospital planes were mailed to this desk in lump sums. Other parlors throughout the state have reported their sales individually. Read parlor activities for these figures.

In Pasadena, a widowed mother, with four sons in the Navy operating in the South Pacific and four children at home, has been served an eviction notice by the Japanese owner of the home she leased for the duration. The notice expires January 26. The mother is Julia Fernandes, whose husband, Henry Fernandes, veteran of World War One died eight years ago. The notice was received the day after Christmas. The owner of the house, Setsuko Uchida, is described as a Japanese business woman. Mrs. Fernandes was born in Arizona and her husband in Texas. This one of the first cases of this nature to come our attention.

Jap owners of a Buddhist Temple in Los Ange are attempting to evict the Providence Bap Association, a negro religious institution, wh lease expired January 5. Do the Japanese int to resume their meetings in religious buildi vacated following Pearl Harbor? We hope practice of Shintoism will not be resumed! Mother Lode Ghost Towns

THE FIRST IN A SERIES OF GHOST TOWN HISTORIES

By Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy

Outstanding among California's wealth of historic and romantic ttractions there is one section possessing a charm all its own. is the Mother Lode region, and particularly the forgotten host towns. One of the most diverting meccas for historians, ey are not only enjoyed by Californians, but by people from all ver the United States.

Ghost towns have gold rush lure. The writer believes he is t alone in the desire for histories of ghost towns of the Mother de and having had the opportunity of meeting many people d discussing this subject I have found they are extremely inter-sted in having them made to live once more.

Abandoned on the hillsides; in meadows and along river bars, ese towns no longer have gold as in the days of the great rush, ut they are blessed with the rich golden glory of the California ppy which covers the hills where the teaming communities od.

Poverty Bar is a typical ghost town located in the northwestern ction of Calaveras County. The town was situated on the Cala-ras side of the Mokelumne River, west of the historic town of ncha Plana, Amador County. It rose to the height of its pros-erity in 1857. Flat boats (Lancha Plana), were used as ferry oats, carrying miners from the north side of the river across to overty Bar. The Bar was exceedingly rich in gravel claims. People shed in from everywhere and miners crowded the busy streets.

According to an early Calaveras newspaper, a new postoffice as about to be established in December, 1857. John Fitzsim-ons was to be the first postmaster. The Bar continued to flour-sh and in September, 1858, many building improvements were ade.

The San Andreas Independent stated "that Mr. Cooper is tting up a building, two stories high. J. C. Dulin of the Hibernia otel is building an addition to his place, two stories high. rauss & Company are building a large storehouse as a depot their stock of goods of which they have a general assortment, d James Treadway is building an addition to his already large ll for theatrical purposes. The town has seven provision stores, bakery, three hotels, three billiard saloons, two barber shops, d two dry goods stores."

"Trott and Cunningham have just finished their large livery stable and are prepared to furnish the public with any kind of a turnout they wish, with a gentle pony or a pair of 'two fortys' before a splendid Concord buggy. Try them."

In 1858, prosperous times existed. H. Gloring & Company took out $600 in three days. O'Neil & Company washed out twenty-three ounces in one pan of dirt, and washed up $2,700 in one day. The claims were paying from $6 to $50 per day. Other companies working were Wilson & Bros., McGonagle & Co., Henry Sidden & Co., Dunnigan & Brown, and Martin & Company. The St. Charles Hotel was opened to the public in March, 1859. This was a large and commodious hotel. An extensive library of books, well selected, was furnished for the patrons. In connection with the hotel, there was an immense hall suitable for theatrical performances and balls. Higginson and O'Connor were the proprietors.

A conflagration struck the town in September, 1859. The San Andreas Independent described the tragedy: "At one o'clock on Monday morning, a fire broke out on Main Street, near the St. Charles Hotel, Poverty Bar, which in a short time destroyed about half the town. The fire originated in a wooden building near the location of the Hook and Ladder Company. The Lancha Plana Company came to the rescue as speedily as possible."

Some of the losses were Kinkaid & Wheeler, $3,500; M. Coleman, Neader & Robert, 2,000; French Restaurant, $800; Alonzo Castro, $1,500.

A new wire suspension bridge was erected in 1859 by Messrs. Cooper & Thompson. The bridge was to take the place of the old ferry boat, which has been dismissed from service. It was located about a mile below the Westmoreland suspension bridge, and had a 180 foot span, 11 feet wide. The anchors were sunk 25 feet into the ground.

The boom city did not last long as the ancient river bed of the Mokelumne River became exhausted of gold and the population left. The one time center of gravel mining was deserted. The buildings fell into ruin and today nothing remains to mark this historic spot. Poverty Bar is emblematic of a mining ghost town in California.

BRODERICK MONUMENT

By Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy

ONE of the greatest men in the early West was David Colbreth Broderick. The place of his birth is somewhat in doubt. Some historians say that he was born in Washington, D.C., while others insist that Kilkenny, Ireland, is the place of his nativity. There is no doubt, however, about 1820 being the year of his advent into this world. Also there is no doubt about the fact that his parents were poor people; that his father worked as a stone mason on the national capital in Washington; that he died during the boy's early youth and that the family then moved to New York. Notwithstanding the poverty of his birth and early life, at the age of thirty-seven, David Broderick emerged as a United States Senator from California. Many and great, indeed, are the lessons of Broderick's life, but perhaps the greatest of all is that his career proved indisputably that America is a land of opportunity.

In 1857, the year in which Broderick began his service in the Senate, an aristocracy controlled the higher politics of the nation. The democratic influence of the Jeffersonian era, and of the Jacksonian period had given way to a more conservative element, and the new emphasis on the common man which was to evolve from the elevation of "Honest Abe" to the Presidency had not yet come. The young California senator was looked down upon, therefore, by many of his legislative colleagues. He spoke expressively of this on the floor of the senate on one occasion. He freely confessed his humble birth, admitted his own apprenticeship to the stone cutter's craft, and then said that if he were of a mind to forget either, the senate chamber where his father's work was extant, was not the place where he could do so.

There are those who may believe that Broderick's fame rises from his tragic death but this is not so. Hundreds of duels were fought on the early western frontier and as many fell. Many are not remembered today. Broderick's life represented the best in American tradition. Broderick was a champion of the rights of the poor, thus making a social contribution. He was opposed to the extension of slavery above the Mason-Dixon line, thus qualifying as a humanitarian, and also was opposed to secession and the dissolution of the Union, thus for all time winning the laurels as a great American.

The people of California mourned the death of David C. Broderick. They mourned him because they had lost a great popular leader, a man who in every sense was one of them. But they also mourned him, because of the advantage taken of him. He had been plotted against. The challenge to fight a duel was only a means to bring about his death without resorting to premeditated murder. Ostensibly it was a fair fight because Broderick had a theoretically even chance. Actually he had no chance at all because he was not a duelist, and even if he had been one, his spirit was broken and he had a premonition of impending death.

When great men die they seem to live again immediately. The Crucifixion was followed by the Resurrection. All will concede that Lincoln began to exercise a greater influence on American thought after his death than while he was living. So it was with Broderick. The man's life and his tragic death, regarded as it was by many then alive, as a martyrdom for the cause of freedom, gave to the character of the dead Broderick a mighty force. They could not bring the dead back to life, but they would perpetuate his memory forever by the erection of a great monument.

Shortly after Broderick's death, therefore there was a mobilization of contributions for a memorial shaft. A committee charged with the collection of funds and the subsequent erection of a monument was selected. Those comprising this committee were as follows: William McKibben, president, J. P. Buckley, secretary, William M. Lent, F. L. Van Bokkelen, F. A. Sawyer, J. W. Brittan, Charles Hosmer, T. J. Poulterer, Charles Watrous, and C. D. Carter.

Collection proceeded on a statewide basis. In September 1861, the committee printed a report in the newspapers throughout the state in which the amount collected to date was stated. The account which was advertised in both San Francisco and Sacramento papers in September 1861 stated that the committee had cash on hand amounting to $6,263.84. Additional funds were asked, and it was stated that a full account would be published on or before October 15. No additional reference is to be found in either the San Francisco or Sacramento papers but under date of October 12, 1861, the Shasta Courier makes the following statement indicating that additional funds had been subscribed.

> "The Broderick Monument committee have concluded to commence the erection of the monument to the dead senator with what funds they have on hand, amounting to over eight thousand dollars. It is intended to have it cost ten thousand."

The accounts in the Sacramento and San Francisco papers printed in 1861 divulge an interesting fact in connection with the monument. So that this may be best understood the article is quoted in full at this point.

> "The committee desire to express their thanks to the proprietors of Lone Mountain Cemetery for the donation of an eligible site for the monument, forty feet square."

This brings up an interesting question. The fight against the removal of the Lone Mountain Cemetery, later called Laurel Hill, was long and bitter. The cemetery association in selling plots had given the purchasers a deed in fee simple. It was contended by these people that if the cemetery were ordered removed they would have title to the land purchased, but the courts held that if the site were abandoned for cemetery purposes the title to the plots, sold in fee simple would revert to the grantor. It would seem, however, that the donation of a piece of land forty feet square for a monument was not a cemetery purpose and that this piece of land should remain the possession of the trust which erected the monument.

The story becomes even more interesting. As the Shasta Courier quoted above stated, the monument was to cost ten thousand dollars. As a matter of fact it cost nearer to fifteen thousand. The eight thousand dollars on hand in 1861 was augmented in 1863 by a gift of $5,000 by the State of California. The preamble to the bill appropriating this sum states that it is to complete the erection of the monument to Broderick in Lone Mountain Cemetery in San Francisco. The bill was passed by both houses and approved by Governor Stanford April 14, 1863. Thus the State of California became the largest single donor to this fund, and in the opinion of the writer the dignity and majesty of the State of California was insulted and decidedly impugned when without authority the monument was dismantled in 1940.

Certain facts must be emphasized. First the monument was not a gravestone. It was a civic monument to one of California's and America's greatest men. Secondly, the Broderick monument might have been placed in many locations, but by gift from the cemetery association it was erected in the pioneer burial ground. Third, the Lone Mountain cemetery was different from any other cemetery in San Francisco. It was non-denominational, and because so many famous people were interred therein was regarded as a civic burial ground. The old Mount Calvary cemetery nearby belonged to the Catholic church and those who made interments therein did so subject to the Canon law and ecclesiastical control. A civic monument would not have been erected in such a burial ground. But Lone Mountain was San Francisco's pioneer memorial park, and as such the Broderick monument should have been secured therein for all time to come. Thirdly, as John P. Young points out in his "History of San Francisco," it was unfortunate that the monument was located in a cemetery where it was forgotten, but notwithstanding, it was the Broderick Monument, built from contributions of men and the state, and should have been preserved.

Finds at Gold Discovery Site

BLACKSMITH'S VISE recently excavated near the site of Marshall's discovery of gold on the north fork of the American River at Coloma by representatives of the California State Park commission. Eight pieces of hewn timber also were unearthed.

Recent discoveries of timbers, a blacksmith's vise and other relics, made by representatives of the State Park commission in excavating near the rock marker which designates the location of John A. Sutter's famous mill, have removed any uncertainties which may have existed concerning the exact location of the site of this famous landmark, according to Chairman Joseph R. Knowland of the Commission, who is a past grand president of the Native Sons. It was [illegible] W. Marshall picked up the [illegible] history-making trek to California.

And [illegible] surrounding the site were acquired by the state two years ago. This property borders on the north fork of the American river near Coloma. It was there, while clearing the river channel and in protecting the bank of the state's property that the find was made close to the rock monument and under five feet of gravel below water level. There were eight pieces of hewn pine timber ranging in length from six to over fifty-three feet and in size from four by six to twelve by fourteen inches. These pieces were tenoned and mortised.

The most significant of the timber find was the piece twelve by twelve and fifty-three feet, six inches in length. At spaces of twelve feet in the entire length of the timber were indications that uprights had been set. There has never been any definite information as to the exact size of Sutter's Mill and this large timber may furnish the desired information, at least as to length. The blacksmith's vise is intact, apparently handmade, and quite well preserved. There was also a logging dog with links and part of a wheel. All these relics have been placed in the caretaker's house at the Marshall monument nearby. It is planned to erect a replica of Sutter's famous mill as near the marker as the menace of high water will permit, and to provide parking spaces and other improvements. The site of Sutter's Mill was first definitely located in 1924 by the Society of California Pioneers. Philip Baldwin Bekeart, then president of the society, and a native of Coloma, headed a group which visited Coloma in September of that year and with the assistance of Henry Lahiff, then El Dorado County surveyor, and still a resident of Placerville, definitely located the site of the mill. An excavation was made nine feet by sixteen and to a depth eight feet below the top of the gravel to bedrock. At that time among the relics uncovered was a ten by ten hewn log, twelve feet, six inches long, and a saw six feet four and a half inches long and nine inches wide. The latter dates back to before the days when circular saws were in general use. A half-sack of sawdust and other relics were also unearthed. The saw and a number of timbers are in the possession of the Society of California Pioneers, and other pieces are now at the Marshall monument. The California State Park commission is preparing to make additional excavations at the site.

Landmarks Committee

Owing to the impossibility of obtaining bronze, the Historic Landmarks committee of the Native Sons has found it impossible to place tablets this term. However, much preliminary work is being accomplished.

Centennials of three great events will be held throughout California within the next five or six years. The hundredth anniversary of Marshall's discovery of gold will be commemorated in 1948 and the gold rush period that followed will be suitably observed. In 1950, California will have been a state 100 years.

The California State Park commission of which PGP Joseph R. Knowland is chairman is asking that all subordinate parlors offer suggestions as to the preservation of historical monuments in their sections.

The state now owns and administers the landmarks at Fort Ross, The Vallejo Home, Sonoma, Sonoma Mission, Solano Monument, Old Shasta buildings, Donner Monument, Marshall monument, Gold discovery site, San Juan Bautista plaza; Old Custom's House, The House of Gold, The Stephenson House, The Serra Landing site, California's First Theater, all at Monerey; La Purisima Mission, Lompoc; Fort Tejon, Kern County; the Lummis home in Los Angeles; the Pio Pico mansion near Whittier and the San Pasqual battlefield near Pasadena.

Plans are being made for the procurement of the Petaluma Vallejo adobe and the erection of a stone building at the Donner monument site to conform with the monument and to be used as a caretaker's residence. The commission also has in mind acquiring the land upon which several of the cabin sites already marked are located.

The gold discovery site at Coloma has been acquired and is being improved. Recent interesting relics were unearthed. It is proposed to erect a replica of Sutter's famous mill on the site property.

Suggestions for the preservation of landmarks to be acquired should outline the historical importance accompanied by supporting facts and their proofs. Plans are also progressing to mark historical mining towns and if possible to preserve the town of Columbia.

Restoring Historic Buildings

By M. R. Harrington, Curator of the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles

WHEN you visit a California Mission or an old landmark of any period which would you prefer to see? The building as it stood at the height of its glory or a pathetic weed-grown ruin? For beauty, for romance, for educational value, which would be the better? And you, Mr. Practical Business Man, answer me this one. Which would draw the more tourists and bring the more money into the community?

A few years ago La Purisima Mission was a mound of fallen adobe walls and toppling pillars out in a field. Now restored by the National Park Service with CCC labor it has risen from its ashes and lives again in all its beauty as a state historic monument, visited by thousands yearly; popular even in these days of gasoline rationing.

Some apparently well-meaning and intelligent persons seem to resent any effort to preserve historic buildings; let alone to repair or restore them. But I think differently. I am in favor of complete restoration if it can be done in such a way as to bring back not only the form but the original character and atmosphere of the structure.

This cannot be accomplished by the use of modern methods or Hollywood shortcuts. I like to tell the story of the studio technicians who were called upon to reproduce the sound of a barrel of water poured on some boards. They experimented for weeks. They poured peas on drum heads and rubbed sandpaper together, without success. Finally one of them had an inspiration. He took a barrel of water and poured it on some boards. The resulting sound was exactly right.

That brings me to my recipe for restoring historic buildings. Use the old materials and the old methods. Follow the old patterns and plans and you can't go wrong. It may take some research to find out what these were, but the results are worth the effort.

Errands of Mercy

CHARLES WAKEFIELD CADMAN

JOSEPHINE DAY BUSHELL

With 122 C-47 hospital planes sailing the blue as a result of a Native Sons and Native Daughters drive, members of the two Orders proudly are awaiting the day when the giant ships will be completed, and set forth on their errands of mercy.

In San Francisco County alone, $145,000 in bonds have been sold and the funds allocated toward C-47s. Alameda County reports the sale of $37,000. Los Angeles County has $15,083,900 credited to the two Orders, $15,000,000 of which was allocated by the county of Los Angeles toward the Native Son and Native Daughter drive for the air ambulances.

San Francisco parlors participated in a bond sale in a downtown store, December 9, and all bonds sold on that day were credited to them. The United States government furnished music during the entire day in front of the booth and as an added attraction, Bruce Nagel, better known as Dr. Watson on the radio and in moving pictures was present and autographed the bonds purchased.

Victory House, Pershing Square, Los Angeles, was the scene of a bond rally and program under the chairmanship of Margaret Kerr, county chairman of War Activities for the Native Daughters.

Composers Albert Hay Mallotte and Charles Wakefield Cadman headlined the program and accompanied the soloists of their choice in their own compositions. Gene Byram sang Mallotte's "The Lord's Prayer", and Josephine Day Bushell, Cadman's "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" and "A Red Bird Sang in a Green, Green Tree".

Mr. and Mrs. Carveth Wells brought their famous Mynah talking bird to the platform. When a bond sale was made, the bird whistled the national anthem. Mr. Wells interviewed a delegation of the Women of Wake headed by Mrs. Frances J. Dyer, whose menfolk are still Japanese prisoners. Chill Will of MGM made his initial appearance since his return from the battle fronts. Solos were rendered by Alphonse Fages of Valley Parlor No. 285; Pat Logan, Ann Irvin and Otto Ploetz and the program was rounded out by the United States Navy band from Port Hueneme.

Grace S. Stoermer, past grand president of the Native Daughters was in charge of bond sales for her organization for the December 14 event and acted as mistress of ceremonies. Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, member of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 presented $76,000 of this amount in bond sales; $1,000 having been purchased by his own office staff and deputies.

ALFRED HAY MALLOTTE

THE BOND BOOTH IN SAN FRANCISCO, December 9, was a popular spot for Native Sons and Daughters and the public. Shown, left to right, in the picture are John T. Regan, Grand Secretary, NSGW; Beatrice Nishkian, Native Daughter chairman of bond sales and contestant for "Queen of the Purple Heart"; Bruce Nagel, better known as Dr. Watson and two women in the service of their country looking on while Dr. Watson autographs a bond.

Miss Kerr was assisted by Juanita Porter of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 and other members of the district War Activities committee. Making forceful bond appeals were Junior Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg, NDGW; Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar; Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss and PGP Eldred L. Meyer of the Native Sons.

Queen Contestant

Native Daughters, through Constance Warshaw, Chairman of the San Francisco Extension of the Order Committee, have filed the names of Beatrice Nishkian as a contestant in the Call-Bulletin's contest for "Queen of the Purple Heart." Mrs. Nishkian is Chairman of War Activities for the Native Daughters of San Francisco County and in this work has accomplished a multifold mission. Herself a ten-time blood donor, she also has established the NDGW monthly donor service. Members representing the thirty-one parlors go to the Blood Procurement Center the first Saturday of every month.

Presiding over the Native Daughter Bond Booth in the Medical building at 450 Sutter street, which celebrated its first anniversary in December, she successfully carried through the sale of $142,775 in the sale of bonds in the Sixth War Loan Bond drive, pledged for the purchase of a hospital rescue plane for use in the Pacific. The "Queen of the Purple Heart" contest vote count began January 15. Every pint of blood counts for a vote. A first prize of a $250 war bond is to be given the Queen, as well as many smaller gifts. Mrs. Nishkian has accepted this nomination with the hope that she may inspire more Native Sons and Daughters of San Francisco County to keep life's blood flowing to the men and women in the theatres of war.

• During the recent business session of Copa de Oro Parlor No. 105, a report was given of the Sixth War Loan Bond Sales made at the booths staffed in the two Hollister Banks over a period of twenty days. The maturity value of bonds sold reached a total of $351,625.50. In addition, more than $7,000 in bonds were sold by members acting as country solicitors. Members made individual purchases of $34,295.00. Highly complimentary letters were received by the group from Dr. J. M. O'Donnell, chairman of the county committee, and from A. L. Brown, manager of the Hollister branch, Bank of America, for the efficient manner in which the sales were made.

• Lugonia Parlor No. 241, NDGW, San Bernardino, purchased and sold a total of $3,800 in war bonds in the Sixth War Loan drive, under the guidance of Freda Fox. At the final meeting of the year, December 27, a baby was adopted. Since Minnie Fish contributed generously toward the adoption she was given the honor of choosing the sex and the name of the infant and selected a girl to be called Mary Etta.

MR. AND MRS. CARVETH WELLS AND RAFFLES, THE MYNAH TALKING BIRD.

The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West sponsor through a central committee, the Homeless Children, a most worthy project. The Homeless Children is one of two authorized adoption agencies in the State of California. The central office is at 998 Eddy street, San Francisco 9. Telephone ORdway 5241. Mary E. Brusie is executive secretary. The Los Angeles office is located at 3924 Sunset boulevard 27. Telephone OLympic 4105. Dorothy Schlingman is in charge of the Los Angeles office.

NAMED FOR A PRESIDENT

By Isabel Fages

"A baby named for me!" exclaimed the president, "Why, I can't think of anything nicer to start my term of office out right," she added.

So the babe to be adopted was named right then and there. The check was made out and mailed to the Central Office for Homeless Children, and board and careful care for one more mite of humanity were provided. In the community where the infant was boarded, representatives from the local Native Daughter parlors transported it periodically to clinics for medical attention and at the end of six weeks, the baby named for a president, was delivered to elated foster parents.

The milk fund, which is the name used for money turned over for parlor adoptions is a very important source of revenue for the Homeless Children committee.

Then there are layettes! Thousands of hours annually are spent by members of Native Daughter parlors, fashioning tiny garments and hemming those scarcer than hen's teeth, diapers. There is a shortage you know. Recently a delegation of fathers appeared before an OPA tribunal and attested to the fact. Even fathers are interested in this scarcity, even though the authorities thought only mothers would testify.

So with milk, flannel, diaper, safety pin, needle and countless other shortages, the work of the central office in San Francisco and the southern district office in Los Angeles is increased. Boarding homes are few and far between and prices have soared. Everyone is out to make all the money he can these days, despite the need of helpless babies, deserted or sacrificed by parents whose problems are too big to surmount.

All the parlors, Native Sons and Native Daughters constantly are sponsoring fund raising drives for the benefit of the Homeless Children. Perhaps you have not subscribed to your local fund this term. If you haven't, there is no time like the present. Native Sons could name some adorable little future members after their respected old-timers who take an active interest in this worthy mutual philanthropy of the two Orders.

And what of the parlors who have named as many as seventeen lovely little ones! Well, we would like to name them, but we might appear partial if we did so. Read all the parlor news in the Grizzly Bear every month and you'll be surprised! Perhaps you'll be ashamed! If the last is true, we know you'll get busy and do something for Homeless Children. If you've never adopted a baby, you'll surely want to follow the example of many other parlors. You've no idea how thrilling it is to be notified that a child has been named for you and to receive his or her picture! Why not give it a try?

New Natives

A third generation native daughter was welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Fischer of Fullerton, when Susan Adele arrived just before the old year had retired, December 31. Wanda Fischer, mother of the arrival, is a member of Santa Ana Parlor No. 235 and is a past organist and at present, marshal. The proud dad is a member of Mother Colony Parlor No. 281, Anaheim. The maternal grandmother of Susan is Adlena Marschall, supervising deputy of Orange and San Bernardino counties and also a member of Santa Ana Parlor.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Erlebach are the proud parents of a baby girl, named Carol Lynn. "Vic" is a member of Sonoma Parlor No. 111.

An eight pound daughter was born to Pvt. Howard Viall and Mrs. Viall in Los Angeles, November 4. Papa is a member of Paradise Parlor No. 282, Huntington Beach, and is stationed in Yuma, Arizona, while Mrs. Viall who is a native of California is planning to affiliate with the Order of the Native Daughters.

First Sgt. USMC Henry L. Schroeder recently at Grosse Ile, Michigan, writes from Vacaville, saying he and Mrs. Schroeder are the proud parents of a three months old daughter. Sergeant Schroeder is on his way overseas once more, having also acquired a Native Sons pin which he had expressed a desire to own. He is a member of Pacific Parlor No. 10, San Francisco.

NATIVE SONS ACTIVITIES

Assume Office

Deputy Edward Boring of Fresno installed the officers of Hanford Parlor No. 37, NSGW, Hanford, January 3 in IOOF Hall. Assuming office were: M. P. Sweeney, president; Lyman D. Griswold, junior past president; Ernest Sargent, Louis Gonzalves and C. F. Bratton, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; M. E. Lewis, recording secretary; M. Wingrove, financial secretary; Douglass Waite, treasurer; Mike Freitas, M. J. Soares and E. E. Carr, trustees; Harold Hotchkiss and J. P. Pinheiro, Jr., inside and outside sentinels.

January 17, a president's night party was held in a Hanford restaurant, with Nestor Lewis as program chairman. A quartet composed by Antone Joseph, Frank Rose, Charles Bratton and Roy Drew harmonized for the members, their wives and sweethearts.

Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss will pay his official visit to Hanford on February 21 and it is planned to initiate a large class in his honor.

Close Membership Drive

National Parlor No. 118, NSGW, San Francisco, ended its 1944 membership drive with twenty-three new members. Membership teams organized to bring in new members wound up their drive with the following results: Arnold Spinetti's team, twelve; Connie Grieder's team, eight; Al Hons' team, two; Walter Rieger's team, one. Cash prizes will be awarded the three leading teams.

At the regular meeting of January 11, President John L. Santiago and his fellow officers initiated three new members: M. S. Savasta, J. R. Kirby and George Campi. Present were Grand Trustee Ed Wren, Frank Buckley and Dr. Boxton. The official visit of Grand Trustee Benjamin Jones of Lower Lake was held January 25.

The fifty-seventh annual banquet will be held at one of the peninsula country clubs. The boys intend to "pour it on." Arnold Spinetti, chairman of the banquet committee, promises an evening filled with pleasant surprises.

Members of the Order are invited to visit the National club rooms any Thursday night at 1160 Eddy street.

Observatory Parlor

January 23 was the date of installation of officers of Observatory Parlor No. 177, San Jose. The staff as listed in the January Grizzly Bear is headed by Walter Penney, president. Following the ceremony, Chef Louie Battlase served up some "coffee and—".

A large class of candidates was initiated December 20, when the Grand President, Raymond D. Williamson, headed an imposing group of state officers in rendering the initiation ritual. Parlors of the Santa Clara Valley were well represented with candidates.

Party for Parlors

Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW and Sonoma Parlor No. 209 NDGW entertained their youngsters with a genuine Christmas party, December 18. Santa Claus also acted as a magician and the daughters put on a skit. The Christmas tree and gifts followed by community singing finished off the evening.

In the banquet hall while refreshments were enjoyed, J. P. Serres acted as toastmaster. Frank Wedekind, Jr., a service member, was a welcomed guest.

Debt Erased

A five year old debt of several hundred dollars contracted by the uniformed drum and bugle corps and marching unit of Claremont Parlor No. 240, Emeryville, who are now all in the military services of their country was wiped out in December through the able direction of Trustee George Storm. Outstanding contributor to the cause was Jack Martin, a Scotchman by birth, who has three sons in the allied services: Lieut. Mach. Tom Martin of the Canadian Flying Corps; Al Martin in the USMC, and Lieut. George Martin, a pilot in the USAAC.

Harvey Forbes, CPO USN, inside sentinel of the parlor, made the largest contribution to the success of the drive among the members. Many letters of appreciation from far off places have been received by George Storm and his committee and they await the day when they can again place the thirty-two piece drum and bugle corps in action.

Claremont Parlor now has forty-seven stars in the service flag. One is a gold star in memory of Arthur Delucchi who was killed in action during November in France.

"The Women Build the Homes"

By Isabel Fages

While "Mary K" Corcoran played the grand piano in the homey lobby. ay Colgrove led the visitor around and around the room in an old-fashioned d decidedly graceful dance. After two or three "request numbers", the ncers tired and sat down on a long sofa to visit. The visitor, this editor, ent an entire afternoon with the "home family" and especially enjoyed a scinating discussion of old and new times with that ever brilliant conversaalist PGP Mae Wilkin.

There were pleasant meals with old and new friends in the dining room, d a comfortable bed, in PGP Mary Noerenberg's room for the wanderer. Other visits followed, and it was discovered that residents of the home e company. They like fun and somehow I am convinced that Native aughters who visit the Home often, are brightening the lives of members o have spent the best years of their lives in the service of the Order.

Even in the month of February, memories of a lovely Christmas party, ven in honor of the Home Family linger on. Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, n Francisco, played Lady Santa Claus to twenty-seven guests, December . in the Home. Chairman of the evening, Leslye Hicks planned an excellent ogram which included Christmas carols sung by a girl's sextette, members Bethel No. 37, Job's Daughters. President Martha Fields incorporated a em entitled "Uncle Sam's 1944 Santy Claus" in her Christmas message. e author, Margaret Barrett of the parlor, paid a tribute to the men in armed forces in the poem.

A one-act play, "It's a Gift", which was a scene on Christmas eve in civic center of San Francisco was given by a cast comprised of Jessie llins, Josephine Sullivan, Mary Growney and Marilyn Field. Community ging concluded the program. Under the big Christmas tree were found ts for all the guests who were heard to declare, "It was the nicest party yet."

'Too little is known of this one thoroughly Native Daughter project," says lye Hicks, San Francisco county chairman of publicity. With her story of Christmas party, she included a brief history of the Home.

'Plans were commenced in 1888 by an original Board of Relief of San ncisco, and turned over to the Grand Parlor as a project in 1892. Later Grand Parlor Board of Relief, a corporation was formed, and is still in stence. In the year 1898, the first Home was opened on O'Farrell street, r Van Ness. Later a home was purchased on Hyde street, and the building s destroyed by fire in 1906. From the $7,000 acquired through the sale of lot, the mortgage was paid off and another lot, the present site on er street, was purchased.

'The present Home was dedicated in 1928 and is valued today at $165,000 is a real home where all Native Daughters may enjoy gracious living in sunset of life. and it is free from debt.

Dr. Mariana Bertola, Past Grand President and permanent chairman of Home board, presides over a committee who efficiently direct the supervon of the Home. Grace Carpender, a member of Orinda Parlor No. 56, manages the Home in a dignified and excellent manner.

"Vision of the Future—From this Home, which stands as a monument of courage to Native Daughters of other days, it is the hope of Dr. Bertola, who has guided the destiny of the Native Daughters' Home down through the years, that the young women of our Order will become interested in this worthy project, and that a similar building be built on the property adjoining at 543 Baker, which we own. With the two buildings, the capacity, including dining room space, meeting halls and so on, will be doubled. Interest in this great project of the Order should not cease with the payment of the yearly assessment. Your visits and gifts to the Home will help brighten the existence of the beloved members who dwell there."

Gifts presented to the Home from June to December, 1944, include: Sara L. Brainard, $5 in memory of Emma Boarman Wright, charter member of Ursula Parlor No. 1, Jackson, Amador county; PGP Anne C. Theusen, flowers every Saturday; Dolores No. 169, lamp shade, $5; Genevieve No. 132, $5 for endowment fund; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, desk pad and blotters; Josephine Hogan, Joaquin No. 5, pillow cover with NDGW emblem.

Bartlett pears; Alyce Munz of Fairfax No. 225, 2 jars of marmalade and 3 boxes of empty jars; San Bruno Parlor No. 246, 2 cartons jelly, jam and pickles.

Past Grand Presidont Mary E. Bell, bag of walnuts; Mrs. Wagner, San Francisco, two books; Ursula No. 1, 2 cartons walnuts and miscellaneous assortment of pickles; fruit, canned goods, and one dish towel; Piedmont No. 84, forty-four glasses of jelly.

Past Presidents Association No. 1 donated ten dollars for the Thanksgiving dinner; Mrs. George Strohmeir, Golden Gate No. 158, renewed subscription for the National Geographic Magazine.

Joaquin No. 5 and El Pescadero No. 82, fifty dish towels; Stockton No. 256, jellies, jams and pickles by many members, too numerous to list; Leonia Sousa and Mrs. Castro, El Pescadero, jams, jellies and pickles; PGP Mattie Stein, jellies, jams and pickles; PGP Mamie C. Peyton, and Laura Mae Roesch, jellies and pickles.

Covering the State

With the Native Daughters by Betty Galey

First Visit of 1945

Making her first official visit of the New Year, Grand President Emily E. Ryan, visited Buena Vista Parlor No. 68 and Arguello Parlor No. 257 NDGW in San Francisco, January 4. A western night, with all of the officers decked out in gay neckerchiefs and carrying lariats and the hall dressed up in boots and saddles, greeted the grand president. While Leslye Hicks of Buena Vista sang "Westward Ho!", Mrs. Ryan was escorted to her station.

As a deputy grand president, the guest of honor had presided as acting president and initiated the members of Arguello on the night of their institution, which she mentioned in her greeting.

January 18, 1945, officers of Buena Vista were installed by DGP Vera Thompson of Keith Parlor No. 137 and her corps of officers. Sophia Pendergast was seated as president as the officers formed a ladder, placing her at the top. A reception to all San Francisco parlors was held following the open installation. Myrtle Ritterbush was chairman of the evening.

• Public installation of officers January 19, was held for San Francisco Junior unit No. 6 NDGW, when Doreen Quinlan assumed the president's station. Aiding her will be Maureen Mahoney, vice-president; June Printer, marshal; Lois Carr, recording secretary; Catherine Bartholomew, secretary-treasurer; Florence Rodriquez, outside sentinel; June Moorhead, organist; La Verne Roberts, trustee; and Bernice Bawart, past president.

This group, with the assistance of their advisors, Constance Warshaw, chairman of the Extension of the Order; Orinda Giannini, past grand president; Jewel McSweeney, grand outside sentinel; Ethel Phelan and Jewel Strei, have outlined an active program for the ensuing term.

• Holding its regular Christmas party December 21, Yerba Buena Parlor No. 273 exchanged small gifts among the members. Entertainment was provided by Grace Dain and Dorothy Skillin with music and songs, and dancing by Lucy Tolle. Lorraine and Diane Luhrs, talented daughters of DPG Mary Luhrs of Castro Parlor No. 178, were also present.

Recently the group adopted two more babies. Funds for one baby were given by Aida Picardi, and the other was adopted with funds provided by the Parlor.

Proudly claiming the names of Katherine Winn and Margaret Gladney on their membership roll, the parlor now has the honor of having the granddaughters of General Winn, who was the founder of the Native Sons of the Golden West as members.

GRAND PRESIDENT'S ITINERARY

Grand President Emily E. Ryan will visit the following parlors in February and early March:

Reina del Mar No. 126	163

• Profits of the day totaled $600 when Encinal Parlor No. 156, NDGW, held its annual bazaar in December. Booths ranged from white elephants to jam, from fancy work to novelties. A hot luncheon was served and an evening whist enjoyed. Sponsors of the bazaar were the sewing club members of the parlor under the leadership of Louise Benedetti.

December 27, Encinal held a Christmas party with an exchange of gifts. Deputy Katheryne Duffy, SDDGP Benedetti, and President Sadie Dunne were guests of honor.

Around the Bay

• With the organist, Tessie Socker, directing, a musical program was presented, January 22, by the choral of Sequoia Parlor No. 272, NDGW, for the Past Presidents Association No. 2 at the installation of officers in Oakland. Two groups of songs were given.

At the first meeting of the year, January 11, plans were made for a membership drive extending to April 26 with Emily Ohman and Evelyn Vogt appointed as team captains.

The parlor adopted a baby girl and have named her Helen Marion in honor of their past president and president. A baby shower for her will be given March 22.

• On December 15, Fruitvale Parlor No. 177, NDGW, and Bear Flag Parlor No. 15[illegible] entertained Grand President Emily Ryan with about ninety-five members in attendance. Mrs. Ryan was presented with an arm bouquet of snapdragons and escorted to the altar by a team of young girls. Bear Flag with Barbara Garcia, president exemplified the initiation of candidates.

Officers of Fruitvale were installed by DGP Minnie Silva of Hayward Parlor No. 122, and her corps of officers, January 12. Mrs. Mildred Bechtel was installed as president. Other officers are Ann Turnbull, past president; Theresa Freund, Edna Billings, and Maxine R. Clements, first, second and third vice-presidents; Agnes Grant, secretary; Anita Buck, financial secretary; Nell Crowley, treasurer; Jane Lange, organist; Blanche Davis, marshal; Alvin Fain, and Mary Hewitt, inside and outside sentinels; Flora Crockett, Jean Mattos and Esther Ragon, trustees.

• Albany Parlor No. 260, NDGW, reports a full month of social events. Member Kay Sharrow joined the Waves which called for a farewell party, and the parlor was proud to hang its first star on its service flag. The sewing club is working on baby clothes for a shower early in the year and on articles for a bazaar to be held the end of May.

CALIFORNIA BUSINESS IS YOUR BUSINESS

ABOUT STATE

• Vera Johnson was escorted to her seat of honor as president of Stockton Parlor No. 256, NDGW, January 4, and installed by DGP Ora Hammer of Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206 and a staff of acting grand officers. The escort team carried American flags and Marine emblems. Mrs. Albert Fairfield sang the "Marine Hymn," and Mrs. Johnson was presented a gift from her son Bill, who is a Marine serving in the South Pacific area.

Assisting Mrs. Johnson for the coming term will be Mesdames C. A. Kinser, past president; Ben Haugen, Albert Fairfield, and Louis Starin, first, second and third vice-presidents; Alfred Dondero, marshal; James Harrington and Frank Goodban, inside and outside sentinels; George A. Sanguinetti, Gregory Schwall, and Walter Charboneau, trustees; Lee Baker, recording secretary; A. M. Wirth, treasurer; William Stocker, financial secretary; and John Boyke, organist.

• The spirit of the holiday season prevailed at the annual Yuletide dinner held by Past Presidents Association No. 13, NDGW, December 18. For successfully solving Christmas games, awards, carrying out the holiday theme, were received by Marguerite Beresini, Gladys Turner and President Bertha Briggs, who also was the surprised recipient of a twenty-five dollar War Bond presented by Mayme Moran in behalf of the membership. Edna Butterfield, chairman of the event, read a group of Christmas stories.

• Sonoma Parlor No. 209, NDGW, has elected the following officers to serve the current term: Florence W. Campbell, past president; Geraldine Graves, president; Lucille Friberg, Ruby Coons and Ethel Williams, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Lois Andrieux, marshal; Clara Smith, Nellie Peterson and Marie Larson, trustees; Dulinda Brusky and Jean Thygeson, inside and outside sentinels. A Christmas party was enjoyed December 27, when gifts were exchanged and refreshments were served.

Sponsored by Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206, NDGW, Morado Troop No. 60 Boy Scouts of America is making its debut in Stockton. A Cub Pack has also been formed to compliment the new troop.

Doing a little more for the war effort, the parlor has adopted a World War Two veteran, who is now convalescing at the Livermore Veterans hospital. Mrs. Roscoe Platt and Mrs. T. L. Weeks are in charge of this activity.

Celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversary, Mt. Lassen Parlor No. 215 recently held a turkey dinner, after which the guests played Pedro. President Rachel Crum presented the charter members with silver pickle forks and olive spoons. Those honored were Marie Walsh, Bertie Bunselmeier, Nettie McKenzie, Frances Summers and Annye Mitchell.

Telescoping the South

• The annual Christmas dinner was held by Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, San Pedro, December 13, with the revealing of secret sisters. The tables were decorated in the motif of the season. Chairman Grace Fields and Juanita Brooks, chairman of decoration, are to be commended. The regular meeting followed the party and election of officers was held.

• Plans for the organization of a parlor in San Fernando are being promulgated by Native Daughters of Los Angeles county. Matty Gara, organizer, has been assisted by Florence Schoneman, past grand trustee, and SDDGP Elsie Amidon. An enthusiastic group of women is nearing the required number of charter members. A meeting is planned for January 19.

• Topanga Parlor No. 269, Canoga Park, purchased a twenty-five dollar war bond recently and on December 21, Clara Tucker, chairman of Veteran's Welfare, and President Jennie Frye, took twenty-five Christmas packages to Ward C of Birmingham Hospital, Van Nuys.

Seven new members were initiated December 22. They are Mildred Lindsay, Doris Reavis, Eleanor Henderson, Georgia West, Beulah Bernard, Josephine Grant and Adeline Rent. The parlor voted to adopt a baby boy and to name him Billy after the president's grandson, Billy Kinney.

• Anita Harp was installed as president of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126, NDGW, Santa Barbara, January 24, in ceremonies held jointly with Santa Barbara Parlor No. 126, NSGW, in the Woman's City club. Civic and governmental leaders attended the public ceremonies.

Reina del Mar's staff is listed as follows: Mesdames Albert Ames, Harry Lamb and Anita Sacconaghi, first, second and third vice-presidents; Taylor McDougall, secretary; Paul Miller, financial secretary; Dr. Anna McCaughey, treasurer; Mesdames Ada May Nicely, Edward Kupelian and Raymond Romero, trustees; Margaret Graham and William Hoefling, inside and outside sentinels. Deputy Dr. Helen France of Santa Maria Parlor No. 276, acted as installing officer. Mrs. William Wegener, supervising deputy also was present.

• San Diego Parlor No. 208, NDGW, concentrated all its efforts during the holidays on the sixth War Loan drive with the result that the War Activities committee sold $25,525 in war bonds and collected $147.64 in their coffee jar which helped materially in the drive with other women's organizations in purchasing 122 bonds for wounded veterans as Christmas gifts. The Building Fund committee also purchased a $100 bond. The Past Presidents' club held its anniversary dinner at the Lion's Club, January 18.

• Grace Parlor No. 242 NDGW, Placentia, have contributed toward the Robert Louis Stephenson memorial fund and the sun lamps for service men in the Aleutians and have purchased a war bond and Tuberculosis seals.

The annual Christmas party for members and families was held in the Placentia Round Table club house, December 21. Starting with a delectable potluck supper, the evening was enhanced by a timely program. Norma Tews of Anaheim gave a reading called, "Peace on Earth" and read a Christmas poem. John Leek of Placentia led in lively community singing and later dressed as Santa Claus, distributed gifts to all and boxes of candy to the children.

MRS. FRANCES J. DYER, president of the Women of Wake, an organization of wives, mothers, sweethearts and relatives of men who were employed on the Island of Wake when it was captured December 21, 1941, is shown in the inset. She has had no direct word from her husband, Frederick E. Dyer since that time, but indirectly has word that he is in a concentration camp in Shanghai. Shown with the president is Marion Pratt and four of her five children. Their father, Archie Pratt, has never been heard from. In the picture are, rear, Terry, twelve; Mrs. Pratt; Eva, fourteen, and, front, Molly, six, and Donny, nine. Bruce, four, was ill the day the picture was taken.

• Toluca Parlor No. 279 NDGW, Burbank, welcomed five new members in December, completing the charter membership with a total of sixty-one.

A Christmas party with an exchange of gifts afforded members another chance to become better acquainted. Meanwhile the ways and means chairman, Ramona May, has arranged for a rummage sale for February 6 and 7. Eileen Lanning, chairman of Homeless Children, with her committee, has been busy taking babies to the clinic and starting layettes.

• Deputy Lottie Miller of Compton Parlor No. 248, NDGW, installed the officers of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, Thursday, January 18, at the new Masonic temple. Vera West assumed the president's station with Bernadette Paulson serving as past president.

The new president's staff, attired in white formals and carrying flowers, presented her with a fan shaped bouquet. A past president's ring was presented to Past President Paulson and refreshments were served after the ceremonies.

• "Eighty veterans of World War Two have returned to the halls of learning at San Jose State College," stated Dean of Men Paul M. Pittman, when he addressed Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW, Los Angeles, January 9, on the subject of "Integrity Plus." The program was arranged by Edith Adams, who also introduced Mary Foy, pioneer librarian and teacher of Los Angeles. The luncheon was donated by Ernestine Aylward and Josephine Gaige of the War Activities committee.

The parlor was one of the first to donate a sun lamp for service men in the Aleutians when Grand Parlor Chairman of War Activities Anne Dippel's plea was sent out. The president, Charlotte Carpenter, was one of twenty-eight women receiving recognition for outstanding war work by Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles recently. A baby to be named Mabel for First Vice President Mabel Wigdal who earned the funds in a recent rummage sale, was adopted.

The January 23 tea following the business meeting was in charge of Flora Jacobson, hospitality chairman. The February 13 luncheon program will be a patriotic one sponsored by Ernestine Aylward, War Activities chairman. Reservations with Evelyn Skinner, GRanite 5265. The Gertrude sewing circle is scheduled to meet February 5 at the home of Edith Adams, 1199 Crenshaw Blvd. The February tea, to be held February 27 following the meeting, will honor prospective members.

• Pleased with the many facilities provided at their new meeting place in Odd Fellows Temple, Washington Boulevard and Oak street, members of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 NDGW are planning numerous gay social events. Ellen Wilson, president, announced the plans for a festive dinner dance in the club dining room for members and their friends in the near future and enthusiastic response greeted Edna Neikirk's suggestion that starting in February, card tables will be set up after each meeting for those who enjoy bridge. Non-card players will enjoy a social hour.

Outside Sentinel Louise Setterberg presided as chairman at the Homeless Children sewing bee and potluck luncheon held Saturday, January 27, at the new club headquarters. Assisting her as hostesses were Inside Sentinel Louis Cash, Rose Hughes, Laura Davis, and Louise Crawford.

First vice-president Evelyn Howell, who is doing an outstanding job as the parlor's USO chairman recently spoke in praise of new members who have generously worked with her at the Main Street USO. Last month she was assisted by Gerry Weidenbaker, Hazel Hudson, Erma Cornelius, Joy Rodgers, Helen Hunter and Second Vice-President Elsie Ruiz.

Mrs. Dabney has just completed serving on the Federal Grand Jury and has a son in the service.

Fifty Years Ago

(Los Angeles Herald, January 16, 1945)

"The fifth annual smoker of Ramona Parlor, No. 19, Native Sons of the Golden West, was held the other night at their rooms, 110 South Main street. All members and guests were seated around a table in the form of a cross at the head of which sat Chief Smoker Max Wassman and Chief of Arrangements Henry E. Carter. Frank M. Kelsey, the president-elect, occupied the foot of the table. Interesting speeches were made by Gen. H. E. Pierce, Frank Sabichi and Edward A. Meserve. William J. Variel rendered a solo, 'Heart Bowed Down,' with great effect, and the recitation 'Brutus Over the Dead Lucretia,' by Frank M. Kelsey was admirably given."

JUDGE EDWARD MOLKENBUHR

New Judge

Five judges in the membership of Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, is somewhat of a record. The number was boosted with the appointment of Edward Molkenbuhr to the bench by Governor Warren. Prominent in the American Legion and the Knights of Columbus, the new judge joined the Native Sons two years ago. Other magistrates on Pacific's roster are, Presiding Superior Court Judge Thomas Foley, Superior Judge Mel Cronin, Municipal Judges Joseph Golden and Twain Michelson.

Broderick

Shortly after the removal of the cemetery was voted in November, 1937, the writer was sent there as the representative of Grand President Eldred L. Meyer and was informed that all measures would be taken to preserve the monument and several others of lesser historical importance. The writer made a written report to the Grand President, and thereafter kept in touch with the cemetery office as his reports as Grand Historian show. In 1939 the Grand Parlor went on record as favoring the acquisition of the cemetery by the State Park commission but this failed. Removal of bodies began in 1940. It was the writer's impression that it was not known just where Broderick's body lay, whether directly under or to what side of the monument, and that the matter would wait until the cemetery was entirely removed, when the Native Sons and other organizations might determine what should be done. This policy was not followed. The monument was quickly dismantled, and now lies on the ground.

The History Board of the Grand Parlor has sought the aid of the City of San Francisco in re-assembling this monument. We have voted that our recommendation be that it be placed on old Portsmouth Square, historic park where Broderick's funeral services were held. The restoration of the Broderick Monument will cost additional money. It is to be hoped the City of San Francisco will not forget its obligations to the people of an earlier generation who placed this monument, nor to the State of California which contributed the largest share of the cost. It was a decree of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco which ordered removal of the cemetery. This ordinance was referred to the voters and they sustained it. They exercised their discretion in ordering removal of the bodies. Their moral obligation to perpetuate this monument in another location still lives. The History Board is leading the way. We shall require the moral support of the entire membership of both Orders of the Native Sons and Native Daughters.

For State and Country

★ Stuart L. Brandel, lieutenant junior grade and member of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267, NSGW has been recommended for the Navy Cross in recognition of valor in action on D-Day in Normandy. Although wounded during the landing, he courageously carried on his duties, saving many men from needless death. His wife, Berta, and their son Stuart, Jr. are now visiting her parents, Bill Delkener and Mrs. Delkener in Santa Monica.

★ At an American air base somewhere in the Pacific, T/S John P. Reckas, presented the California state flag to Lieutenant Colonel A. R. Kingham, commanding officer recently. The flag was hung in the base gymnasium with standards from all the other states, honoring the memory of Californians who give their lives for their country.

★ Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco has welcomed S/Sgt. William Mohrdic home after two years in Greenland. He is the son of Walter Mohrdic and intends to join the parlor soon. Many letters from members have been received. Past President Charles Creighton writes from Holland and reports corresponding with Art DeLuca who is in the South Pacific. Having been feared lost, C. James Lydon, TP 2/c USN, is expected home for the holidays. Robert B. Haynes, USMM, is home after a strenuous campaign in the South Pacific. His ship is nicknamed "The Saipan Express". Frank Ryan, having lost thirty pounds since he went into action in the South Pacific, is now in the welterweight class instead of that of heavyweight of which he boasted before leaving the states.

Fred Murphy, QM2, USN, is in Australia keeping supplies rushing to our forces in the Philippines. Walter L. Brown is in Texas. Past President William Daly's name will appear in State and Country columns no more. He has reverted to "civvies".

★ Margaret Burch, member of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, has received word that her son John Thomas Burch graduated from Columbia University, New York, December 14 and has received his rank as an Ensign. The young officer is a member of Wilmington Parlor No. 280. He was home for Christmas and on December 30 reported to Yorktown, Virginia. He has been assigned to a minesweeper.

★ Lieut. Al Derre and his younger brother Arthur joined Stanford Parlor No. 76, San Francisco on "Pearl Harbor" night. Their Dad, Louis E. Derre is a long-time member.

Lieut. Virgil V. Harvey, USMC, is in the far Pacific. Appearing at a recent meeting, after receiving an honorable discharge from the AAF, was James Edward Mills. While in the service he was editor of the "Winged Star" at the Columbia, S. C. air base and after a visit in Hollywood, will return to San Francisco as a radio announcer.

★ Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 NSGW, San Bernardino has received letters from the following: Pvt. Richard C. Zanone from France; John Scott, Jr., from the South Pacific; Capt. Arthur V. Sorenson, in India, who received and liked his first copy of "The Grizzly Bear" and Leon Gregory still "raising heck with the Japs"; David S. Adams, EM 1/c who also likes the "Bear"; Steve Cook in France, who says the Germans are good soldiers, but the Yanks have what it takes to "shove 'em around".

Joe B. Lamar of the USMC has received his medical discharge, having been stationed in India for several months. John A. Amon visited parlor recently. He is stationed at Camp J. T. Robinson, Arkansas. Private H. Edwin Heil, Jr., and Roy O. Thomas were recent visitors at meetings.

★ Sergeant Henry Schroeder of Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, San Francisco, writes that he was home with his family in San Diego for Christmas. Staff Sergeant Walter Brown, instructor of the Morse Code in the Air Corps, received an unexpected furlough and was home for the holidays from Pecos, Texas. Arthur De Luca is "somewhere" (location blacked out by censor) and says, "We are still pushing dirt around helping build air bases on our way to Tokyo." Lloyd H. Brown, RDM 3/c USS Saginaw Bay V3 is a radar operator aboard an aircraft carrier which recently was in the Leyte Gulf operations, and shot down several Jap planes.

An attractive pen and ink sketch formed a Christmas greeting from Charles Creighton somewhere in Belgium. Bill Baker was home from Alaska during the holidays, and S/Sgt. Alfred Franchi is policing small towns in France as our army advances.

★ Four new members of the service have entered Stanford Parlor No. 76, NSGW, San Francisco, having been admitted by qualifying forms. They are Lieut. Glen Wunderling, army; Lt./jg. Philip James Hanley, USNR; Lieut. Edmund Vincent, army; and Lieut. Ira S. Eintracht, USA Coast Artillery Corps, Fort Baker. An application for membership also has been received from William Leroy Hannan, son of W. Earl Hannan, a member of the parlor. A big initiation is planned for January 30.

The parlor presented a special Christmas gift to Past President Lieut. Harry Lawlor, who will continue his convalescence at a hospital in the San Joaquin Valley. Charles Roberts and Past Presidents George F. Carson and William F. Carroll made the presentation.

★ Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW announced that Jack Allen Jr. is now in the armed forces. Two new members, Aldo Tedeschini and Allen Maffei have answered the call and now are in boot camp. Home for the holidays were Al Flandi, who has been stationed in the Aleutians; Frank Wedekind, Jr. and Robert Andrieux from Colorado; Edward Ferrando, fresh from bombing missions over Europe; Wilfred Quartaroli temporarily stationed at Treasure Island. Anton Kiser will remain in the states for the present.

Jules Norbomm, who joined the Order while aboard a carrier in the South Pacific and since has been stationed in the states, has taken on added responsibilities in the shape of a wife. He married Miss June Hubner of San Francisco in Philadelphia November 25. The couple met in Sonoma Valley during their school days where the Hubners spent their vacations. Congratulations!

Jack Meyer, who was wounded in the South Pacific and has been in Hammond Hospital in Modesto, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Clem Cornelius. He is very much improved.

Grove of Memory

Officers of the Grove of Memory association were installed in Native Sons building, San Francisco, by Grand Secretary John T. Regan, NSGW, assisted by PGP Charles A. Koenig. Mrs. Koenig acted as organist; William F. Hawley and Audrey Cohn, marshals and Raymond Conroy, inside sentinel.

Installed for the term of one year were: Dr. Percy Meyer of Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, president; Louise De Martini, San Francisco No. 261, NDGW, vice president; Lulu Porter of Guadalupe No. 153, NDGW, recording secretary; Anna Johnson, Presidio No. 148, NDGW, financial secretary; Bertha Mauser, Keith No. 137, NDGW, treasurer; Anita Craig, Golden Gate No. 158, Nora Scheflin, Genevieve No. 132, all of Native Daughters; John Lewis, Twin Peaks No. 214, William Keane, Castro No. 232, and Victor de Ganna, Golden Gate No. 29, all of the Native Sons, directors.

Upon assuming the chair, Dr. Meyer addressed the assemblage and called attention to the Grove of Memory in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, which memorializes the thirty-nine Native Sons of San Francisco who gave their lives in the first World War. He stated there have been deaths in the present war, necessitating enlarging the Grove as a memorial.

We Don't Like It Either

The following letter recently was sent by Walter H. Odemar, Chairman of the Committee on Japanese Legislation of the Native Sons of the Golden West, to Mayor Fiorella La Guardia of New York City:

"We read in the California daily press that you have expressed alarm and dissatisfaction over an announcement by the War Relocation Authority that it plans to "dump" 60,000 Japanese evacuees into New York and we in California can certainly understand and appreciate that alarm and dissatisfaction.

"It has been the opinion of the vast majority of the people on the West Coast that the Japanese evacuees should be retained in the War Relocation Centers during our war with Japan. This opinion is based upon military security reasons rather than race as is so often stated by the minority, but very vocal theorists, who advocate the indiscriminate release of the Japanese. It is plain to us on the Pacific that there are military security reasons for not permitting these people to roam indiscriminately along the Atlantic Coast, and especially in and around New York City, as well as they exist on this coast.

"With the above facts always foremost in our minds we urge you to join us in our efforts to discourage the Japanese from settling on any coastal area of the United States during our war with Japan."

Paddle-Wheel Days in California, by Lieut. Jerry MacMullen, USNR. Foreword by Phil Townsend Hanna. Published by Stanford University Press. Price, $3. Reviewed by Isabel Fages.

A memory of a long-ago ride up the Sacramento River on a side-wheeler by moonlight is vividly revived when one reads Paddle-Wheel Days. If boats are one's hobby, or the mere romance of progress are intriguing, this volume will hold the reader's interest from the first word to the last.

The story of the Sitka, the first steamboat to appear in California waters is recalled. This little vessel was brought to San Francisco by the bark Naslednich in the summer of 1847. Her owner, William A. Leidesdorff ran her up and down the bay for awhile and then headed her up the Sacramento. She reached New Helvetia in six days and seven hours. After having been sunk by a "norther," she was raised and repaired, but ended her days ignominiously as a schooner.

Then there was the Shasta, the first steamboat to be built on the West Coast. She had two engines of sixty-horse-power each and was built by Littleton and Company at their Rincon Point yards in 1853.

As river navigation developed, competition became grave. Prices were reduced to free rides and it was in 1854 that the California Steam Navigation Company organized for the purpose of straightening out the feuds which had evolved.

A chapter is devoted to racing disasters. Tragedy stalked in the wake of this fierce river boat sport. Such humorous accounts, the tale of the magic carpet, or mattress which carried a passenger through the air to safety when the ship's boiler blew up, and others are numerous.

The John A. Sutter, the first steamer to reach Stockton; service to that thriving community, Mokolumne River navigation, Civil War developments, the story of Capt. C. M. Weber, founder of the city of Stockton and his flag pole; origin and history of such famous old vessels as the New World, the Yosemite, and their equally famous pilots and commanders provide reader interest.

San Joaquin river and Colorado River navigation are described in a full chapter and the fire in Stockton waters in 1943 is entitled "The Boats Are All On Fire." In the conflagration the last of the steamboats of the Victorian era, the famous old Capt. Weber was burned. ". . . its cold and sodden hulk later was towed away to Rio Vista, there to be converted into an elevator barge." She had been seen by millions in motion pictures, such as "Steamboat Round the Bend," with the immortal Will Rogers. She was the last of the once huge fleet of stern-wheel steamboats to make the winding trip from tidewater up to Sacramento. The last sidewheeler up to Sacramento was the Amador, according to veteran rivermen.

Then the story of the great San Francisco ferries is romantically related. The efficient engine rooms and the starlit decks receive detailed attention. The last of the ferries and a colorful description of the ferry building, built in 1898 and believed by many to be San Francisco's most outstanding landmark, furnish subject matter for the final chapter. An eastern visitor's impression of the two great bridges which made ferry travel unnecessary furnishes the finale:

"God! Why did they let them do that?"

Letter Box

Editor: Seventy years ago I went to school in Comanche, Calaveras county. I went to school with A. C. Miner, president of Ione Parlor No. 33, NSGW. Just think of it! Along about 1884, I joined Ione Parlor and about 1890, the parlor had only seven members and I was the seventh. At one meeting three members wanted to surrender their charter. There was some argument and at last one who did not want to surrender the charter said, "Hold on. There is one member who is not here. His name is H. A. Joses."

So Robert Bagley was appointed to see me and when he told me about the situation, I asked him what side he was on. He said it would not be fair for him to tell me, as the decision rested with me, so I said, "I do not want to surrender the charter." In a few days I received an invitation to come to lodge the next meeting. When that meeting was over, we had, I think, about forty-six new members and the parlor has been going strong ever since.

When I went to school in Comanche with A. C. Miner, there were about seventy children going to the school and I had to walk about two miles and Miner had to walk four miles. This year there are only two children going to school so there will be no more school teaching in Comanche, as the school law says, no less than five children must attend. Yours truly, H. A. Joses.

"Editor: I am sending in my request for my copy of the Grizzly Bear Magazine. I read in the last bulletin from my parlor that I was to send in my request if I wished to have a copy sent to me. I am a member of Colusa Parlor No. 69.

"I think it was a splendid idea to send the issue to every member. I, myself, am really going to enjoy it while I am absent from the parlor. I hope it wont be too long before this war will be over and we can get back to our loved ones and the gangs at the different parlors. Signed, Fraternally yours, Ernest Lee Sherman, Ph.M3/c, USNR, Past President Colusa Parlor No. 69."

(This letter was written from England.)

Albert Simmerman, member of Golden Gate Parlor No. 29, NSGW and prominent business man of Yerington and Smith Valley, Nevada, was called to Houston, Texas, recently to act as sponsor of the J. D. Yeager, a victory ship launched for the Merchant Marines.

Simmerman, representative of the State of Nevada and the State Farm Bureau, was a close friend of J. D. Yeager, who was an early day president of the State Farm Bureau. The ship was christened in the name of Yeager following the selection of his name by the state 4H clubs.

A New Year and a new life together were commenced simultaneously by Pfc. Rosalie (Rosie) Distefano, USA Medical Corps and member of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 NSGW, Oakland and Eileen Roberts. St. Mary's church was the scene of the wedding on New Year's day.

Harry J. Lemos

Harry J. Lemos was called to the Grand Parlor on High on the eve of Thanksgiving. Having become a member of Bay View Parlor in April, 1915, he affiliated with Fruitvale No. 252, Oakland, when the two consolidated in 1925. His fellow members refer to him as "one of those friendly, refreshing persons, always a pleasure to meet" who was a loyal member. He had served as president of Bay View Parlor. The sincere sympathy of Fruitvale Parlor is extended to the wife and family of Mr. Lemos.

Lorne Clair Blasdell

Lorne Clair Blasdell, born in Lancaster, August 14, 1921, died as the result of a serious automobile accident in Lafayette, Louisiana, December 14, 1944. He was a member of Centinela Parlor No. 279, Inglewood. The service man was a member of Liaison Pilots, USAAF, and is survived by his wife, Louise Angel, his mother, father and two brothers, who are members of Centinela Parlor.

Agnes M. McLean

Agnes M. McLean, descendant of one of Berkeley's early pioneer families, died December 15, 1944. She was eighty-four years old. Miss McLean's father, Edward McLean, came with the Shattuck family around the Horn by sailing vessel in the early days and settled first in the San Francisco district and later in Oakland where he was a director of the College of California which later became the University of California. He was instrumental in having the State University choose Berkeley for its location. Deceased is survived by a sister and brother.

Fannie H. Phorer

Mrs. Fannie H. Rhorer, eighty-seven years old, who had lived in Berkeley for sixty-five years, passed away December 15. As a young girl, Mrs. Rhorer, then Fannie Oxley, came to California from Australia on a sailing vessel with her parents who settled in one of the first homes built on Telegraph Hill, San Francisco. She recalled the early days of Berkeley when there was a ferry from West Berkeley to San Francisco, the old horsedrawn cars and the vast green fields on which Berkeley has since been built.

Mrs. Rhorer is survived by four sons and one daughter.

The nations not so blest as thee
Must in their turn to tyrants fall,
Whilst thou shalt flourish great and free,
The dread and envy of them all.

CALIFORNIA

By Roger Johnson

My thoughts take me to a golden land
Where the hills melt into the sea;
Where the wealth of the world's on every hand
And the winds tell of pleasures to be.

Seas of lupine on rolling hills;
Poppies reflecting her gold;
Virgin redwoods her forest fills.
God's fabulous gifts here unfold.

A land with the wealth of miraculous mud,
Black gold, from the depths flowing free;
Skies full of amber, clouds red as blood,
Mirrored against the sea.

The white crested waves, frothily rolling to shore
Here peace and contentment is found.
God gave us this land.
Could we ask for more
Than to live on her saint hallowed ground?

The Heart of California

By Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, NSGW.

The heart of California is, just as it is the heart of all America, the Red Cross!

Within the heart of every Native Son is buried the longing to save suffering and grief for men and women in the service. They know that only through the Red Cross can they do this.

They know too, that small comforts, entertainment, and news from home relieve tension and strain. They lift the spirit of our service men and women.

Even after the last gun has been fired in this war, months will pass before all our fighting men are sent home. Some will be confined in hospitals for long periods of recovery. Traditional Red Cross service for these men who have sacrificed so much must continue unabated. It is a sacred obligation delegated to your Red Cross.

No less sacred is the obligation of Native Sons and Daughters to stand by with all necessary aid while veterans of this war, now being returned to civil life, adjust themselves to new conditions and prepare to take their rightful places in field and factory.

The welfare of the families of our men in uniform, their wives and children and their aging parents must be guarded to see they do not suffer want in these trying times.

The refugees and waifs of war need help—help such as only the Red Cross can give to a war-scarred world.

Though the roar of guns may cease, human needs will remain. The Red Cross can meet these needs only with your continued generous support. President Roosevelt has designated March as Red Cross month, the period in which the 1945 Red Cross War Fund will be raised. The Native Sons of the Golden West, your Grand President feels sure, will support the drive 100 percent. Thus will we know in our hearts that we have furnished our share toward the mighty, humanitarian effort that is Red Cross.

Attention, Contributors

News must be received in this office by the fifteenth of the month excepting when holidays necessitate the setting of an earlier date when all NSGW and NDGW parlors are notified. Please give name, address and parlor of sender; name, number and address of parlor, dates and locations of events, presiding officers, chairmen and committees in charge. Do not refer to raffles or drawings as these are classed as lotteries by the Federal Government and publication of news concerning them is prohibited. Do not send clippings. Please write with plenty of space between lines and make sure names are clearly written and correctly spelled. Study the style of the magazine and try and write your copy to conform with it.

Pictures of important events are desired, if they are large, good and clear glossy prints. Do not send newspaper mats or snapshots. Enclose return postage if you wish cuts or photographs returned. Be sure persons in the pictures are completely identified with left to right captions.

The Business Man And International Relations

Dr. Henry F. Grady, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, former assistant of the Secretary of State and chairman of the recent International Business Conference held at Rye, New York, delivered the accompanying address before the Southern California World Trade Institute luncheon in Los Angeles February 2. The Institute, sponsored by the World Trade Department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was held in the chamber building before a large and representative group of business men and women.

Dr. Grady is a native of San Francisco and his wife, the former Lucretia Del Valle, is a member of the prominent early day family of that name from Los Angeles. They are a notable example of the merging of the north and south in a mutual spirit of loyalty and progressive spirit for the advancement of state and country.

As a girl, Mrs. Grady portrayed the leading feminine role in The Mission Play by John Steven McGroarty in San Gabriel and in later years became an influential woman leader in civic and political affairs of California. Her distinguished husband has held many important positions, some of the most spectacular of which were those of special expert for the Bureau of Planning and Statistics, U. S. Shipping Board; United States Trade Commissioner to London and Continental Europe, also acting commercial attache in London and Holland.

By Dr. Henry F. Grady

ONE of the problems which confronts our western economy is its great need for a vastly expanding world trade to supplement our growing but inadequate domestic market. This should, therefore, prompt all who are living in the western states to keep themselves informed on world conditions and particularly on conditions in the countries of the Pacific area. Our interest must be active and sustained because we live in a rapidly changing world and policies based on conditions before the war do not fit those of today. Today's will not fit those of tomorrow.

For example, we face in the Pacific, in many instances, completely new sets of circumstances, such as the absence of extraterritoriality in China, the independence of the Philippines, the growing might of Siberia, a new phase of the formerly dominant low cost industry of Japan, the future new status of India, a desire for closer business relations with America in Australia, the developing of that vast new empire and the thousands of islands in the South Pacific. In the Latin countries, including those on the Pacific rim, the war has brought new horizons of production and trade.

The long-term possibilities of Pacific area trade are great, but realization is contingent on peace, development of political stability, the organization by the countries themselves of programs of reconstruction and reestablishment of their production and exports, both raw materials and manufactures, on an effective basis, so that they will be able to purchase, either for cash or for credit, the equipment and supplies necessary to expand their economy.

The postwar job, if it is to be done effectively, must be based on private enterprise. There must be discretion used in releasing war controls but they must be released as soon as practicable or else the world will move toward statism rather than toward democracy.

This was clearly understood at the International Business Conference, held at Rye, New York, last November. It is significant that this first international conference of businessmen to be held since the war began, put the stress it did in its various recommendations on free enterprise. There were countries represented in which free enterprise, especially under war conditions, has scarcely continued to exist. But all were impressed by our extraordinary war production—that would have seemed utterly impossible a few years ago—which was accomplished by free enterprise. Our airplane production was perhaps the most notable, but also amazing was our production of ships, guns and tanks.

The purpose for which the conference was called was to obtain an interchange of information and viewpoint on the part of the representatives from fifty-two countries. This has been accomplished in an atmosphere of harmony and goodwill which holds high promise for the cause of private enterprise and international trade.

Each delegation took back to its own country a better knowledge and understanding of the basis for the development and maintenance of sound, constructive international commercial relationships among the nations of the world. In making these viewpoints known to their people and their governments, I feel that a substantial contribution can be made to the promotion of economic well-being in every land upon the foundation of which a just and lasting peace can most surely be built. The American delegation, for its own part, intends to make known here at home, as occasion offers, the conclusions it has reached in consequence of the discussions held during the ten-day period, and the viewpoints for which it stands today.

Our delegation, which of course was made up entirely of business men, went into the conference fully conscious of the vital importance of America's part in the postwar world. It is convinced now, from the consultations that have taken place among its own members and from the daily contact it has had with the delegations from abroad, that this part can be played in America's own enlightened interest, only if the United States dedicates itself aggressively and wholeheartedly to a world system of economic unity in which there can be fully realized the great opportunities that the age of power, chemistry and tools has brought.

The western United States must assert its world leadership by thinking particularly through the problems of China, of the Philippines, of the Dutch East Indies, of Malaya, and of India. We can help these countries get back on their feet by giving them assistance in connection with their problems of transportation, industrial development, banking and trade.

We have the trading houses to stimulate their exports by helping them in building their markets. We have the banks which can finance their trade; we have the steamship and air lines which can serve their trade and travel needs; we have the engineering organizations which can make contributions to their construction needs. We have, in a word, the opportunity—if we will take it—to give them great help and the leadership they so urgently need in various fields of business activity.

It is an opportunity, yes, but it is even more a responsibility. The days of economic and political isolationism are over. Another war will probably completely destroy us. We must work untiringly for world peace and prosperity, for in both are involved our own peace and prosperity. We cannot afford to pursue any other course.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

By Isabel Fages

AS California approaches a period of centennials, it seems timely that historical anniversaries should be brought to the attention of the Grizzly Bear readers. Each month, preceding the feature, "Fifty Years Ago," the centenniels and sesqui-centenniels will be reviewed. No historically important events occurred in March, 1795, nor in 1845, but fifty years ago, March 27, Governor James H. Budd signed a bill creating a Bureau of Highways for California, thus inaugurating this state's great system of highways.

Fifty years ago China and Japan were at war. The United States and Spain were on the verge of hostilities. Railroads were referred to as "octupuses" by California newspapers whenever they attempted to secure property or franchises. In San Francisco, property owners fought any attempt to place railway tracks on their streets.

The year 1895 was an era of chess, horse racing, library building, museum dedications; planning for the San Francisco ferry building terminal; protest against unstable bridges, poluted water and other outmoded municipal services. Mayor Sutro advised San Franciscans to "cook" all drinking water, according to the San Francisco Chronicle.

March 1, 1895, a resolution introduced by Assemblyman Kenyon of Los Angeles memorializing Congress for the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, already adopted by the California Assembly was refused adoption by a vote of twenty-two to nine.

The March 1 issue of the San Francisco Chronicle noted that a piston broke in several places on the Southern Pacific Ferry Boat Solano, while making a trip to Benicia about three o'clock in the morning. The pieces crashed through the machinery, damaging the engines. The boat continued the trip with one wheel and was laid up for repairs at Port Costa for two or three months.

March 1, a large delegation of property owners on Church street, the scene of a midnight "raid" by the Market Street Railway Company, appeared before the Street Committee of Supervisors to protest against the petition for a franchise "for what they have already jumped."

The Half Million Club was formed, a meeting having been called by Hugh Craig, H. P. Sonntag, L. C. McAfee, Gustave Umbsen and H. E. Highton. Rugh Craig was elected president and Albert E. Castle, secretary. The organization anticipated a population of 500,000 before the close of the century. "San Francisco eventually will be the metropolis of the growing west and one of the chief cities of the world. It is for the practical expedition and promotion of these desirable results that the Half Million Club of San Francisco has been organized."

The Associated Charities of Oakland had to close down its activities after a request for fifty dollars monthly for expenses from the finance committee of the city council had been turned down. The Ladies Cooperative Aid Society had been furnishing meals and lodging for "worthy applicants."

Oakland enjoyed a building boom in 1895. A "dainty" home, described to the minutest detail was being built by Henry K. Belden, San Francisco business man at Oak and Lake streets. A fine residence was in the course of construction for George F. Greenwood at the southwest corner of Durant and Jackson, overlooking Lake Merritt. Sixty-five hundred dollars was the cost of the new home of Mrs. A. Mercier on Franklin above Twentieth and C. Shaefer had ordered a house built at Twenty-fourth and Valdez for $2,000. A modern three story brick and stone hospital for Dr. A. M. Taylor was going up on Telegraph near Thirty-second street.

In Fresno, March 2, a desperado named John Martin defied sheriff's deputies who pursued him to the San Joaquin river where he hid in the brush and swam to the other side. He had been accused of assault with intent to commit murder and stealing grain.

On the same date, the San Jose Directors of the Board of Trade held a meeting to consider the progress made by C. M. Wooster in securing subscriptions for a branch of the valley road to go through the county. The amount already subscribed was $28,000 and $5,000 was presented by William H. Wright after the meeting.

The Equitable Protection League of the United States met in Sacramento and elected the following officers: Senator L. C. Voorhies of Sutter county, president; Senator T. L. Ford of Sierra county, first vice-president; Senator Frank McGowan, Humboldt county, second vice-president; R. I. Thomas of Nevada county, third vice-president; and David Lubin of Sacramento, corresponding secretary.

The City of Everett, first whaleback vessel built on the Pacific Coast, was anchored in San Francisco Bay. It had been launched previously in Puget Sound and Capt. R. D. Buchman was in command.

A remarkable flowing artesian and gas well was struck by well borers on the Boyes Agua Rich ranch near Sonoma, with a sufficient amount of natural gas to supply lighting for a large town. A similar discovery was made on the ranch of Mrs. M. Hurley, seven miles east of Suisun.

T. J. Nolton of Seattle sold the George Simmons placer mines within three miles of Yreka to a syndicate of Washington and Oregon capitalists. Although the mine was enormously rich in placer gold, it could only be worked with water and a plan was underway to bring it from the Shasta river by raising it 400 feet by means of a duplex power pump. This was to be operated by a 200 horsepower wheel, supplying a hydraulic head of 300 inches of water. Previously some ground nearby had been mined by water brought in a ditch over 100 miles long.

Phoebe Couzins, noted woman suffragist, lectured before the San Jose Grange March 3 and made a strong plea for the "enfranchisement of women; denounced the demonetization of silver and claimed that corruption would always exist until women came into the political arena."

The town of Pomona was divided in sentiment between prohibition and "high license" as a policy of government and "this is the sole issue raised at all city elections . . ." March 1, the convention of the "high license" faction met in the Opera House. Cyrus Burdick was chosen chairman and G. A. Balfour, secretary. Judge Finney received unanimous nomination for city recorder. The Prohibition convention met March 2.

Two bad men tried to rob an express car by terrorizing the train hands with a liberal use of firearms near Truckee, March 4. The passengers were made to feel very "uncomfortable," but no booty was secured.

"The income tax will soon be ripe for picking." Collector of Internal Revenue Welburn began to examine the voluntary reports March 1. Chief Deputy L. Loupe said "there had been loud cries and deep about hard times during 1894, but the income reports that have come in do not justify these lamentations."

The California Twenty-five mile road record was broken at San Leandro by Walter F. Fostroj, the Olympic Club wheelman. He made the distance in one hour, twelve minutes and fifty-five and four-fifths seconds.

A market in Florida for California oranges was getting to be a regular thing, because of a "freeze" in the southern state.

"Fresno was blighted with a band of cattle thieves, operating in Cantua canyon for a year past." The gang had been broken up by Hi Rapelji and four Mendota officers. During the year, John Ashurst and three brothers had lost about 100 head of cattle.

Students of the University of California were excited over the impending revival of hazing.

William Bohling, janitor of the Workman Block, was flimflammed out of $500 by a bunco man.

Dr. Fleming of the Native California Committee in Los Angeles, according to the Los Angeles Times, was "hard at work arranging for the cavalcade of caballeros, who with their rich costumes and fine horsemanship, will be a brilliant feature in the forthcoming fiesta."

March 16, the California Legislature passed a bill legalizing the granting of franchises for elevated railways. Before this law was passed, all elevateds such as the cable viaduct in Los Angeles, were illegal.

• Officers of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 NDGW, were re-installed January 24 by DGP Phyllis Hirst with the exception of Ruth Clennell, third vice-president; Agnes Berkovich, inside sentinel, and Carrie Purves, trustee. Flora Alice Day of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 was acting marshal. Chairman of the evening was Florence Schoneman and Dorothy Strudhart of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, acted as organist.

Among the guests was SDDGP Elsie Amidon of district 36 who was escorted and seated beside SDDGP Letitia Sarciaux of district 37.

SONS ACTIVITIES

Untiring Service

If you would like to know how an old timer feels who has devoted many years of untiring service to the Order, ask Richard M. Hamb. He has been an active member of Piedmont Parlor No. 120, Oakland, for forty-seven years and after serving as past president in 1901, assumed the duties of financial secretary and treasurer and has been in office continuously ever since. He has spent twenty-five years or more as a committee member of the following projects—Homeless Children and Alameda County joint committees of all kinds. He has served as vice-president of the Native Sons Hall Association and as Grand Trustee of the Native Sons and has been a member of the Grand Parlor since 1905. A large class of candidates were initiated in the veteran member's honor February 15, when the following past presidents assumed the chairs: Frank Roemer, president; James D. Jenkins, junior past president; Raymond Butler, first vice-president; Frank P. Smith, second vice-president; Richard M. Hamb, third vice-president; Grand First Vice-president Richard J. McCarthy, marshal; James G. Dignan, inside sentinel; and Al C. Weber, organist.

Crack Team

Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW, Oakland, has rounded out an active month of fraternalistic work in offering a helping hand to Eden Parlor, Hayward, January 22, at which time five new members were welcomed by Fruitvale's crack initiation team consisting of: Miller Markey, president; Les Ashworth of Estudillo Parlor No. 223, junior past president; James Ambrosie, Guy Robinson and Kenneth Halnan, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; William Dombrink, marshal; Sam Cerelli, inside sentinel; Bob Nielsen, organist; Dino Giovanetti, senior past president.

Answering an SOS from Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy, the team travelled to Washington Parlor No. 168, Centerville, February 6 and initiated five new members there. Not mentioned in the foregoing team were Dan Billings who acted as second vice-president and James Hubbard, as senior past president.

Brothers All

An unusual record for an initiation was the Argonaut Parlor No. 8 NSGW meeting January 19, when the candidate list included four brothers and their brother-in-law. The brothers, the Baker boys, are Philip, Allen, Robert and Ernest. The brother-in-law is Earnest Evans, husband of the Baker boys' only sister.

The family are pioneers of Butte County and the boys all live on their sixty-two year old homestead at Richvale, which, incidently, is where they were all born.

Dinner Dance

Five hundred members and friends celebrated the fortieth anniversary of Castro Parlor No. 232, NSGW, with a dinner dance in the Gold Room of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, Saturday, January 20, 1945. In addition to Grand President Raymond D. Williamson and Mrs. Williamson, the following grand officers and their wives were in attendance: PGP Harmon Skillin, Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Ed J. Wren, and SDDGP Louis Geigerich. Harry Romick, president of Castro, was in charge, with music furnished by Pete Butti and entertainment by Joseph Tehaney, both members of Castro. The attendance was the largest in many years past.

Honor Grand Presidents

An Alameda County district meeting was held by the Deputy Grand Presidents of the Native Daughters and Native Sons, in honor of Grand President Emily E. Ryan, NDGW, and Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, NSGW, at an installation of four Native Daughter parlors and reception, January 27, at the Madison Street Temple, Oakland.

Louise Benedetti, supervising deputy, was the installing officer and was assisted by deputy grand presidents. Officers of the four Native Daughter parlors installed were from Bear Flag Parlor No. 151, Encinal Parlor No. 156; Argonaut Parlor No. 166, and Fruitvale Parlor No. 177.

The Green Patrol, from Argonaut and Sequoia Parlor No. 272, NDGW, presented the colors. Outstanding feature of the evening was the attendance of past and present grand officers, including PGP Mary B. Noerenberg, Grand Vice-President Ethel C. Enos, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney, Grand Trustees Margaret M. Farnsworth, Henrietta Toothaker, Marian E. White, Elizabeth Read, Elmarie Dyke, Anna T. Schiebusch, Maxine Bundy Kelly, PGP Sue J. Irwin, PGP Orinda G. Giannini, PGP Claire Lindsay, PGP Clarice E. Cook and Past Grand Secretary Alice Dougherty of the Native Daughters.

DEPUTY THANKED

Ramona Parlor No. 109, NSGW, Los Angeles, wishes to express their appreciation for the splendid manner in which DDGP Al Seaman of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 officiated at the recent installation ceremonies when John B. Haas took the reins for the ensuing term. The new leader had his staff thoroughly "primed" for the official visit of Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss, January 26.

LA REINA

In the formal atmosphere of Arlington Masonic Temple, La Reina Parlor No. 277, Los Angeles, installed officers, Sunday, January 21. Frankie Lamberth was elevated to the office of president as Deputy Clara Tucker and a staff of acting grand officers performed the impressive ceremonies. Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg obligated the officers.

The new officers include, beside the president: Orabelle Schmidt, past president; Theresa Edwards, Anna Page and Jean Aitken, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Lucille Huddleston, marshal; Genevieve Anderson, recording secretary; Edith Metz, financial secretary; Eleanor Hoefner, treasurer; Betty Crebs, Ruth Verling and Artemisa Padilla, trustees; Barbara Poe and Kathryn Ibsen, inside and outside sentinels, and Geraldine Jacobsen, organist.

Success of Seals

Robert Pesqueira, chairman of the southern counties Homeless Children committee, reports favorable results in the sale of Christmas seals bearing a Homeless Children appeal.

"The Homeless Children work of the Native Sons and Daughters is one of the main objectives of both Orders," reiterates the chairman. He urges all members of the committee as well as parlor presidents and officers to attend the committee meetings when possible. They are held every fourth Friday of the month at 8 p.m. in the Arlington Masonic Hall, 1853 S. Arlington, near Washington Boulevard in Los Angeles. A dinner will precede the March 23 meeting and all are urged to attend. Members who have not sent in their donations on the Seal project, may still do so.

• Terminating forty-six years of continuous service as recording secretary of San Luisita Parlor No. 108, NDGW, Agnes Lee naminated Lorraine Cobb Wright as her successor for the position at the regular meeting January 15.

Installed at the meeting were Jennie Hillard, president; Minnie Williams, past president; Belle Reis, Mary Hischier and Mette Bagley, first, second and third vice-presidents; Lorraine Wright, secretary; Mae Umbertis, marshal; Ida Epperly and Harriett Zanoli, inside and outside sentinels; Cora Toganzzini, Anita Bergk and Charlotte Miller, trustees. Irma Robasciotti, Fay Reis, Thelma Ormonde and Ludu-vinia Del Castillo were initiated.

• With DGP Evelyn Cabral of Ano Nuevo Parlor No. 180 NDGW as installing officer, Vista del Mar Parlor No. 155 held installation of officers January 15. A team of eight members accompanied DGP Cabral and aided in the ceremonies which seated Mamie Young as president of the parlor. Presentation of a cologne set was made to the deputy. An Italian supper was served following the rites.

FOUR PARLORS

As host parlor, Valley No. 285, NSGW, Van Nuys, welcomed Glendale No. 264, Victory No. 285 and Santa Monica Bay No. 266, when Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss made his official visit January 19. Fifteen new members were initiated into the four parlors.

Covering the State With the Native Daughters

by Betty Galey

In compliance with the request of the United States Office of Defense Transportation, the Native Daughters of the Golden West have cancelled their June convention. The action was taken at a meeting of the Board of Grand Officers, January 28 in San Francisco. In place of the conclave, the Daughters plan to hold a small scale conference June 19 to 21 in the Native Sons building, San Francisco.

The Grand Officers voted to complete the funds for a third station wagon for the transportation of blood donors to be used in the San Joaquin Valley. The proposal for a Bear Flag stamp, commemorating the centennial of the raising of the state emblem sponsored by Sonoma Parlor No. 209 was endorsed.

The board authorized a letter to be sent to the Secretary of State recommending the names of four prominent Native Daughters to be considered for a place at the Peace conference. Those suggested were Past Grand Presidents Grace S. Stormer, Dr. Mariana Bertola and Mrs. Frank Humphrey.

The Board also went on record as being in favor of more funds being allocated to the FBI for the purpose of more thoroughly investigating of the Japanese returning to this coast.

Installations

• Native Daughter's Home in San Francisco was the scene of the public installation ceremonies of Dolores Parlor No. 169, NDGW, as Clare Haughey took her oath of office January 24, as president. DGP Patricia Creighton of Portola Parlor No. 172 seated the officers and PGP Evelyn I. Carlson was chairman of the evening. Officers were gowned in rainbow-colored formals and carried old fashioned bouquets, with the exception of President Haughey who wore black and white and carried gardenias.

Among the guests present were Grand President Emily E. Ryan, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, PGP Mae B. Wilkin and PGP Mae Noonan. Entertainment was provided featuring Bernadette Raisch as vocalist, accompanied by Mary Jane Raisch on the piano.

• Motif of the tropics was used by General Chairman Leona Geyer in the open meeting installation of officers of Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26, NDGW, last month as Dora Presho was installed as president. The lodge room was resplendant with unusual arrangements of aloes, red hot pokers, and beds of pryocanthia berries.

Hilda Vinal was escorted to her seat of honor as president of Orinda Parlor No. 56, NDGW, January 26 and installed by DGP Mardelle May of Dolores Parlor No. 169 and her assistants.

Seated to serve with her were Irmagaard Waleschek, past president; Loretta Winter, Rhoda Carew and Alma Klahn, first, second and third vice-presidents; Mae Shea, recording secretary; Emma Foley, financial secretary; Madeline King, treasurer; Verina Fried, organist; Margaret Thornhill, marshal; Angela de Lucca and Shirley Allison, inside and outside sentinels; Gladys Blanchard, E. Faye Curtis and Dorothy Picou, trustees.

Attending were Grand President Emily E. Ryan, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney and Past Grand Presidents Emma G. Foley, Orinda G. Giannini and Mae Wilkins.

• Presentation of an old fashioned bouquet was made to Grand President Emily E. Ryan on the occasion of her February 1 triple visit to San Francisco Native Daughter parlors, Keith No. 137, Oro Fino No. 9 and Balboa No. 249. While Grand President Ryan was being escorted, Marguerite Dahlstrom sang, "California, Rose of Gold."

In attendance were PGP's Mae Hines Noonan, Mae Bolderman and Ann Theusen, SDDGP Mae L. MacDonald, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney, Grand Marshal Loretta Cameron and eleven visiting deputies.

• Installed for the third time as president of Veritas Parlor No. 75, Marguerite Koverski was seated at the parlor's installation ceremonies in January. All other officers had served before also. Adelaide Nunes, Claire Wildish, Dorothy and Lucille Fote of Eldora Parlor No. 248, Turlock, officiated.

• Cleverly attired in black formal skirts with white blouses, officers of Compton Parlor No. 258, NDGW, presented themselves for installation before Deputy Beatrice Wahrmund of Californiana Parlor No. 247. Gardenias and yellow roses formed their corsages.

Assuming their stations were: Mary Heacock, past president; Faye Young, president; Ruth Wyastoski, Harriette Stallings and Vivianne Hart, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Ilva Porter, marshal; Lottie Miller, organist; June McGowan and Janet Craig, inside and outside sentinels; Dorothy Rice, secretary; Hazel Corbitt, treasurer; Lulu Belle Remington, Nina Cleveland and Laura Cunningham, trustees.

Beside the installing officer, honored guests were SDDGP Letitia Sarciaux and Compton's mayor, Roy W. Tarleton, also grand outside sentinel of the Native Sons, both of whom addressed the meeting.

Huge red satin hearts, ruffled in white and low bowls of flowers graced each station.

Ma Schroeder sang the installation ode.

Pioneer Spirit

ANNA T. SCHIEBUSCH, grand trustee; Major Knox Manning and Virginia Cooke, president, East Los Angeles Parlor, NDGW.

Major Knox Manning was the distinguished speaker at the East Los Angeles breakfast club meeting in Poppy Trail Villa February 2. Co-sponsors of the program were East Los Angeles Parlors, Native Sons and Native Daughters and the purpose was the opening of the WAC recruiting drive for the community.

Among members of the local civilian advisory committee to the Women's Army Corps were the following: Laurence Camy, treasurer of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 277, NSGW; Evelyn White, chairman of Women's Activities, and Gertrude Hill, both of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266, NDGW. Grand Trustee Anna T. Scheibusch, NDGW.

The speaker spoke of the scarcity of nurses, saying that on one hospital train, carrying 300 wounded men, there is often only one nurse. He pointed to the part played by women in the earlier days when they had to serve with the public holding them up to scorn for leaving their homes, yet never flinching. "The spirit of these pioneer women is needed now, if victory is to come," continued the major.

"There are no atheists or bigots in foxholes," quoted the major. Breakfast Club President Jack Manildi presided and presented Laurence Camy as chairman of the program. Other distinguished guests were Capt. Florence Nelson, WAC recruiting officer for the area; Lieut. Adele F. Bolles, WAC recruiting officer from Pasadena. Sgt. Laurence W. Pendleton of the public relations department; Haynie McCorkick, Co. 1, Air Corps, Maywood, and Grace T. Holbrook, field representative of Los Angeles County, Citizens Service Corp.

Exemplifying a true pioneer spirit, Placerita Parlor No. 277, NDGW, completed one year's existence in the Order when formal installation of officers was held January 5.

Deputy Elsie Bledsoe of Verdugo Parlor No. 240, Glendale, with a staff of acting grand officers, installed the following.

Lola Atkinson, past president; Claudia Campia, president; Mary Lou Cooke, Zilpha Archibald, Betty Gaskill, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Mary Post, recording secretary; Peggy Brandenburg, financial secretary; Zelma Redfern, treasurer; Catherine Gross, marshal; Lois Stevens, Patricia Helmer and Mildred Osgald, trustees; Dorothy Dye, organist; Rose Ramsey, inside sentinel, and Marjorie Pitts, outside sentinel.

Sons and Daughters Install

Holding joint installation ceremonies, San Jose Parlor No. 22, NSGW, and San Jose Parlor No. 81, NDGW, met January 17 to seat new Presidents Joseph Lawrence and Lucille Castro. John R. Sullivan, supervising deputy, and DGP Sue Engfer of Vendome Parlor No. 100, NDGW, were installing officers.

Seated with Presidents Lawrence and Castro in their respective parlors were: Julian Castillo and Pearl Bishop, first vice-presidents; Percy Silva and Thelma Marston, second vice-presidents; George Gordon and Clarisse Gordon, third vice-presidents; Gerald Origlia and Myrtle Bevins, financial secretaries; Charles Baldasini and Ruth Semichy, treasurers; Harold Semichy and Amelia Hartman, recording secretaries; Al Berryessa and Helen Trengrove, marshals; Dr. M. S. Kneass and Robert Semichy, Gertrude Gatler and Bertie Munson, inside and outside sentinels; Nathan Morgin and Mary Champion, past presidents; Dan Higuera, Vincente Badalamente, John Nelson, Sr., and Lola Younger, Mildred Nelson and Thelma Rogers, trustees; Sue Gilman, organist.

• Taking her oath of office at candlelight ceremonies, Mrs. Henry Jacobs was installed as president of Woodland Parlor No. 90, NDGW, January 23. Mavis Brown, deputy grand president, and her corps of officers from Sacramento installed the officers.

As Mrs. Jacobs was escorted to her station, Myrtis Orr of Rio Rito Parlor No. 253 sang "All For You." Upon her arrival at her station she heard her favorite song, "Story of a Starry Night," sung by her daughter, Joanne.

• Over 300 members and guests attended the joint installation of officers of El Tejon Parlor No. 239, NDGW, and Bakersfield Parlor No. 42, NSGW, January 19 at the Bakersfield Woman's Club, when Mrs. A. W. "Roxie" Brooks and R. C. Gleason were seated as presidents.

Ona Moffett as chairman opened the meeting. Acting grand officers were Lucy Supertino and A. E. Giggy, deputy grand presidents; Mrs. Russell Bowen and William Stine, marshals; Mrs. Ralph Sanders and Charles Shomate, past presidents, and Martha La Brier, organist.

Native Daughters obligated were Mrs. Brooks, president; Mrs. Fred Alippi, past president; Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. John Clarkin and Mrs. Amerigo Candrini, first, second and third vice-presidents; Mrs. A. E. Giggy, marshal; Mrs. Rex Fischer, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Stauffer, organist; Mrs. Russell Bowen, Millie Phelan, and Kate Kincer, trustees; Mrs. Bud Ward and Mrs. Belmond Turner, inside and outside sentinels.

• Anita Abby Church, descendant of the Boronda family that played such an important part in the founding of Monterey, was installed as president of Junipero Parlor No. 141, Monterey, January 16, at San Carlos Hall. Deputy Grand President Marie Brayton and her corps of acting grand officers from Aleli Parlor No. 202, Salinas, officiated.

Previous to the installation Junipero Parlor initiated twelve candidates: Azalea Bennett, Grace Mary Brune, Beryl and Sheila Cochran, Dolores Delmaestro, Loretta George, Mary Hart, Margaret Hartigan, Laura Mattos, Marian Mineo, Jean Smith, and Gladys Younkin.

On behalf of the officers Clara Brown presented Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke with a handsome crystal and silver console dish and expressed the appreciation of the Parlor to Mrs. Dyke for her untiring efforts in stimulating the growth of Junipero Parlor.

Other honored members were PGP Bertha Briggs, SDDGP Edna Butterfield from Hollister and DGP Ethel Hyde of Junipero parlor.

Vigilance Continued

The Committee on Japanese Legislation of the Native Sons met February 9 in the office of the Grand Secretary to consider pending national and state legislation with Chairman Walter H. Odemar, grand third vice-president, presiding.

Active efforts will be continued to perpetuate the fundamental principles for the protection of State and Nation for which the Native Sons have so long striven to see enacted.

Among the laws of greatest importance discussed were the bills pending in Congress for the deportation of Japanese who are United States nationals, but who have "given aid or comfort to any enemy of the United States; have been or are advocating, or teaching the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence; have knowingly and intentionally expressed by deed, or by word, either orally or in writing, loyalty to any foreign state or have neglected or failed to renounce or foreswear their Japanese citizenship."

Among the many bills now pending before the state legislature discussed and for which the committee voted to exercise everything in its power to have enacted were those requiring all fishing craft leaving a California port to be entirely American owned and manned; those directed towards making the Alien Land Act more effective; and those effecting the escheat and forfeiture provisions of that act and those which will prohibit the use of the Japanese language in the California schools.

The committee also recommended an amendment to the Alien Land Act which will provide for the payment of a reward to any person who procures and presents sufficient information to cause the escheat of land to the state under that act.

The committee was informed that there are persons and organizations who are actively urging evacuees at Tule Lake who have heretofore refused to pledge allegiance to the United States to change their minds and state they will be loyal to this country in order to obtain their release and go anywhere they choose. The committee feels, as must every loyal American, that persons of Japanese ancestry either foreign or native born, who did not see fit to pledge allegiance to this country when we were loosing and Japan was seemingly winning, should not be given an opportunity to assert allegiance when the tide has turned. Such assertions could never be trusted.

COST OF EMPIRE

PHILHARMONIC AUDITORIUM

LOS ANGELES

American Music Drama

Composer and Musical Director

Dr. Mary Carr Moore

"THE COST OF EMPIRE" is a musical drama dealing with the heroism of Christian missions in our Northwest, centering in the efts of the Whitmans and Spaldings among the dians and of their martyrdom. It will thrill its eners with a new pride and resolve in this hero- of Christianity and the great part it has played American history.

Story by

Sarah Pratt Carr

MARY Carr Moore's opera "COST OF EMPIRE" proves two important facts. One is that, contrary to a general misconception the matter, the American composer can pro- e music for the stage that is vibrant, meaning- and dramatically effective. The other is that history of our country furnishes subject ma- al suitable for operatic treatment.
n this work one will find not only musical stry, brilliance and beauty, but also a great t of that soul of America and the romance of spiritual birth, in a portion of the country—a ory which somehow has been largely overlooked both writers and composers.

Historical Opera

FLORENCE IRISH, prominent in Los Angeles music circles.

THE Cost of Empire or Narcissa, an American Historical music drama by Dr. Mary Carr Moore, will be presented March 16 and 17 in the Philharmonic Auditorium, Los Angeles. The first performance will be an evening showing and the second, a matinee.

The story, Narcissa, written by Dr. Moore's mother, Sarah Pratt Carr in 1912, was published by M. Witmark and Co. in the same year, and music and orchestral scores were composed by Dr. Moore. A sponsor's preview was presented in Seattle April 21, 1912 and four performances followed in the Moore Theatre with Edwin P. Temple, of New York, producer.

San Franciscans were privileged to view the opera September 7 to 13 in 1925 in the Wilkes Theater with George Kegg producing.

Dr. Mary Carr Moore is recognized as one of the great women composers of the present era and has chosen to express her artistry in a stirring theme depicting one of the most romantic and spiritually courageous phases of American history, namely that of the beginning of the conquest of the Northwest by the forces of Christianity.

The opera has been compared to the Passion Play of Oberammergau. Prominent in the planning and committee on arrangements is Florence Irish, member of Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW, Los Angeles, who explains that Sarah Pratt Carr and her gifted daughter took the moving story of Marcus Whitman, Dr. John McLoughlin, Vancouver Fort, the Indians and other characters, foremost in the history of the great northwest and built the opera about their lives, producing a marvelous blending of the religious and patriotic emotions. The vanished northwest lives in imperishable song. Dr. Moore conducts the orchestra.

The success of the opera, Cost of Empire proves that American history offers material just as fine as the histories of the Old World. Louis Woodson Curtis, director of music of the Los Angeles City schools has this to say about the opera:

". . . Contrary to a general misconception in the matter, the American composer can produce music for the stage that is vibrant, meaningful and dramatically effective and the history of our country furnishes subject material suitable for operatic treatment . . . Always sincere and direct in her writing, Dr. Moore has achieved an operatic work abounding both in lyric beauty and dramatic intensity . . ."

● War Activities Chairman Ernestine Aylward, Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW, Los Angeles, introduced Mrs. Harold Mahan as speaker at the patriotic luncheon, February 13 in the Women's University Club.

Myra Nelson, who is in charge of the Los Angeles Child Care Center project, will be speaker on the March 13 luncheon program. Reservations with Evelyn Skinner, GRanite 5265.

Keep Your Hands Beautiful

WOMEN whose hands are busy with war-time duties and added house-hold tasks use Chamberlain's Lotion. They know this clear, golden lotion helps keep hands soft, lovely, and free from roughness and ugly redness. It dries with such convenient quickness. Try Chamberlain's Lotion and you'll agree. Buy it at all toilet goods counters.

This is a Call to CALIFORNIA'S HEART!

Today your Red Cross makes a more urgent appeal for help than ever before. It must not only serve millions of overseas fighting men—lonely men—homesick men—wounded men. It must lend a helping hand to the thousands of returning service men who desperately need the guidance of a friend.

Their Red Cross is YOU. Without your contributions, the Red Cross would stop. There are no special funds to keep it going. Ask your heart if you can stop now!

Give Today . . . and Give More

Suppose there were no blood plasma!

Suppose there were no food packages sent to prisoners of war!

Suppose there were no one to cheer your lonely lad overseas; no one to help him make emergency contact with home. Your Red Cross is your link with your boy—helping solve personal problems both of you may have. Give today . . . give more . . . to the Red Cross.

Reach Down In Your Heart!

Yes, he knows where your money goes when he walks into a tent, hut, or building marked with the Red Cross.

There he finds men and women you've sent—real American voices, laughter. There he can see an American girl smile; he may ask if he can just touch her hand. There they will sew buttons on his shirts; send an emergency message home; supply good American food and soap, yes, real soap; movies, emergency kits.

Such small things lift hearts; win wars. And each small thing costs money. Every service the Red Cross performs depends on your gifts. For the Red Cross has no private funds. Give, that your boy far away may be comforted. Reach down in your heart . . . and give, give more.

Give Now! Give More!

Mission's Namesake . . . . By Isabel Fages

CHARTER OFFICERS—Left to right in the picture are, Camille Farnsworth and Mary Roy, inside and outside sentinels; Maybelle Schaffner, financial secretary; Ramona Asher, marshal; Unavine Nicholson, recording secretary; Alice Rice, first vice president; Sophie Sackman, treasurer; Nina Bearce, trustee; Audrey Purdy, third vice-president; Matty Gara, organizer and deputy; Elizabeth Curtis, president; Emily E. Ryan, grand president; Anita Alvarado, trustee; Vera Gale, charter past president; Margaret Peters, second vice-president; Geraldine Schermer, Mary Streva, trustees; Elsie Amidon, supervising deputy.

THE venerable mission of San Fernando el Rey de España has even greater chances for complete restoration with the birth of the new Native Daughter Parlor which assumed the name of the landmark and was instituted March 17 in American Legion Hall house, San Fernando.

Grand President Emily E. Ryan opened the special session of Grand Parlor which brought San Fernando Mission Parlor No. 280 into existence, assisted by the following members of her official family:

Initiation of the forty-eight enthusiastic new members of the Order was conducted by a team of well chosen officers representing Los Angeles and Orange County parlors. They were: Cleone Steinbach, Toluca Parlor No. 279, Burbank, president; Lottie Miller, Compton No. 258, first vice-president; Olive Hedges, Los Angeles No. 124, second vice-president; Iva Richardson, Santa Ana No. 235, third vice-president; Isabel Fages, Californiana No. 247, marshal; Phyllis First, Verdugo No. 240, Glendale, past president; Juliette De Nubila, Los Angeles No. 124, junior past president; Lola Atkinson, Placerita Parlor No. 277, Van Nuys, financial secretary; Florence Grass, La Reina No. 267, treasurer; Iva Richardson, Santa Ana No. 235, inside sentinel; SDDGP Adlena Marschall, Santa Ana, outside sentinel; Christine Cassidy, Los Angeles, organist; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch and former grand trustee, Florence Dodson Schoneman, trustees. The Grand Secretary remained at her customary station for the ceremony.

The gardens of members had yielded cherry blossoms and other colorful blooms to brighten the spacious hall for the many guests who gathered for the open installation. Chairman Matty Gara, organizer of the new parlor, was escorted to her station by acting grand marshal, Isabel Fages. Supervising Deputy Elsie Amidon, presided over the ceremonies, assisted by Grand Vice-President Enos; Past Grand President Noerenberg, and Grand Trustee Schiebusch, and Grand Secretary Thaler filling official stations; Past Grand President Hazel Hansen, grand marshal; Florence Schoneman, grand trustee; Grace Norton, Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, grand trustee; PGP Hansen, grand marshal; Christine Cassidy, organist; Adlena Marschall and Iva Richardson, sentinels. Installation and initiation odes were sung by Orabelle Schmidt, past president of La Reina Parlor No. 267.

Officers of the new parlor were gowned in white and wore jonquil corsages, as also did the officers for both ceremonies and honored guests. The two dainty little daughters of Mary Roy, Carol and Mary, presented an arm bouquet of talisman roses to the Grand President before the ceremonies of institution began and assisted their mother in presenting a Bear Flag in the memory of their grandmother, Jennie Nelson, a pioneer of the city of San Fernando.

Charter officers for the infant parlor are: Elizabeth Curtis, president; Alice Rice, Margaret Peters and Audrey Purdy, first, second and third vice-presidents respectively; Vera Gale, charter past president; Ramona Asher, marshal; Unavine Nicholson, recording secretary; Sophie Sackman, treasurer; Maybelle Schaffner, financial secretary; Nina Bearce, Anita Alvarado and Geraldine Schirmer, trustees; Mary Streva, organist.

Mrs. Curtis carried an arm bouquet of American beauty roses, the gift of her husband, Louis L. Curtis, and her son, Louis L. Curtis, Jr., a student at the

Welcome Native Daughters to San Fernando

ABOUT the century old structure we know as Mission San Fernando are woven the most fascinating legends, based on truth and fiction. Founded September 8, 1797 by Father President Fermín de Lasuén and Padre Francisco Dumetz, the first pastor, the establishment thrived until 1834, when the priests left their Indian charges at the request of the Mexican government.

Many events of historical importance have occurred in the shadow of the mission. After the battle of Cahuenga instigated by a revolt against Governor Manuel Micheltorena, a peace treaty was signed there February 22, 1845 and the governor's abdication ensued.

October 28, 1845, the property was leased by Governor Pio Pico to his own brother, General Andres Pico and Juan Manso. In 1846, Eulogio de Celis purchased the ex-mission rancho.

In January, 1847, John C. Fremont entered the valley through a pass later named for him and camped at the mission while his emissary, Don Jesus Pico rode to the Verdugo rancho to plead with his cousins, Don Pio Pico and General Andres Pico to sign a treaty with Fremont. His mission was successful and on January 13, the Treaty of Cahuenga was signed at Campo Cahuenga, another important valley landmark, between the last Mexican governor and the first military provisional governor under American rule.

In 1852, General Andres Pico purchased a half interest in the mission lands and sold to his brother, the former governor in 1862, who made the landmark his country home.

Fleet footed Indians had sped across the valley for centuries before the Spanish settlers came to their habitat. The padres walked from one mission to another in their travels and the soldados and civilians used horses, mules and ox-carts to traverse the great unsettled expanse of the valley.

The Pony Express, Butterfield stage coaches, and the famous Remi Nadeau's twenty mule teams picturesquely carried on the history of transportation and Pio Pico, former governor, state senator, editor and vigilante, drove Secretary of State W. H. Seward across the valley from Los Angeles to San Francisco to board a boat bound for Alaska. Behind his fine team, in a comfortable carriage the two diplomats, one who loyally had stood by a banished regime, but who had sincerely adopted the new, and the other high up in the government of the United States, enjoyed together, the unspoiled beauty of their surroundings.

Romulo Pico, General Andres Pico's nephew lived continuously at the mission rancho, making the Pico adobe his home and supervised the care of the great herds of cattle, horses and sheep.

In the spacious adobe house, located where the San Fernando reservoir is now, Don Geronimo Lopez and his wife lived with their family. The home was known as Lopez station, since the stages and the Nadeau outfits stopped there to refresh their teams as well as to enjoy the hospitality of the owners. In 1869, the first postoffice was established in the Lopez adobe, and Roland Wilson, grandson of Don Geronimo is the postmaster of the progressive and modern city of San Fernando today.

The first public American school in the valley was started in the adobe and Charles L. Batcheller was employed as school master.

The generous and kindly master and mistress of the casa, lived to celebrate their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary in their adobe home before it was removed to make way for the reservoir.

The days of the dons in San Fernando valley figuratively came to an end in 1869 when a group of San Francisco capitalists organized the San Fernando Farm Homestead Association and purchased an undivided half interest in the entire valley. De Celis and the Picos remained in possession of the northern half, but soon sold their section to another group of American pioneers, led by Senator Charles Maclay and this farsighted pioneer "laid the foundation for one of the most thriving and prosperous communities on the Pacific Coast." The founder of the mission town had come to California in a windjammer in 1851 after having crossed the Isthmus of Panama astride a mule. He came as a Methodist missionary from Pennsylvania.

Maclay interested his friends George K. Porter and B. F. Porter in his enterprise. They had traveled around Cape Horn from Massachusets in a sailing vessel in 1849. All were Argonauts in the true sense of the word.

In 1874, the city of San Fernando was laid out and subdivided by Senator Maclay and lots were offered for ten and twenty-five dollars each. Farm lands were sold at from five dollars to forty dollars an acre.

The $2,000,000 San Fernando tunnel was completed September 5, 1876. It took 1500 laborers two years to build it and the northern and southern links of the Southern Pacific's transcontinental line were joined when a golden spike was driven near Lang station, with Governor Leland Stanford doing the honors.

The history of the San Fernando valley would fill a good sized book.

Great excitement was caused when Francisco Lopez discovered gold in nearby Placerita Canyon, March 9, 1842. The padres found oil springs in the Newhall hills and took petroleum in rawhide bags to the mission for refining. In 1875, the first oil well in Los Angeles county, known as Pico Well No. 1 was drilled and is still producing.

Descendants of the pioneers of San Fernando have affiliated themselves with the Native Daughters of the Golden West and have pledged themselves to revive and preserve the traditions of the past and assist in the promotion of civic development. Their first act, after electing officers, prior to institution was to serve a Spanish dinner for the Friends of the San Fernando Mission and to place the profits in a fund for the restoration of the bell tower of the old mission church. Perhaps the organization of a Native Daughter Parlor in San Fernando augers great things for the revival of traditional social customs which will add color and romance to life for residents of their community.

Naval ROTC, University of Southern California, who will graduate in June as a full fledged ensign. As she received the gavel from Supervising Deputy Amidon, she expressed her hopes for a prosperous and useful career for her parlor.

Maybelle Schaffner sang "Prayer Perfect," accompanied by Organist Cassidy and A. B. Fages rendered "Song of Songs," accompanied by Marjorie Mabie.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 presented an American Flag and Elsie Amidon completed the gift with the standard. Florence Dodson Schoneman, who has worked with the organizer toward the culmination of their dream of a parlor in San Fernando, and who has been named "madrina," or godmother, presented a Bible, inscribed in memory of her mother, Rudecinda Sepulveda Dodson who, when she lived in San Fernando Mission, restored eight rooms of the dormitory. Many financial gifts were received from both Native Sons and Daughters parlors.

When called upon to address the many guests, the Grand President outlined the war activities of the Order and presented an engraved gavel to President Curtis. She then introduced Organizer Matty Gara as the first deputy of the parlor in recognition of her splendid accomplishments.

Roland Wilson, postmaster of San Fernando and member of Valley Parlor No. 285 NSGW, Van Nuys, spoke in behalf of his organization and welcomed the Native Daughters to the city of San Fernando as did also D. J. Calderon, president of the local American Legion Post.

At the completion of the ceremonies, a decorated cake was cut in honor of the occasion and served with coffee and tea.

SONS ACTIVITIES

Conference at Hobergs

Realizing that cancellation of Grand Parlor for 1945 was the only course to take, the Board of Grand Officers took action February 10 and appointed a committee of seven to govern a war conference limited to fifty. Only the following will be allowed mileage to Hobergs in Lake County where the meeting is scheduled for May 18 and 19:

All grand officers, past grand presidents; Grand Parlor finance committee; chairman of the transportation and mileage committee; supervising deputies, each of whom must be elected a delegate, or an alternate to be selected by the supervising deputy. The alternate must have been legally elected as a delegate in his district, or a member of the Grand Parlor from said district.

Only resolutions submitted by Grand Parlor committees shall be considered.

Nomination and election of grand officers will be conducted in the following form:

A candidate for office must be qualified as provided in Article B of the Constitution of the Grand Parlor. Declaration of candidacy must be filed with the grand secretary on or before April 20, 1945 and must be signed by the candidate and one or more delegates from three or more parlors, including his own. Declaration of candidacy forms are available from the Grand Secretary upon request. Nominations will close April 23.

Ballots will be mailed to those entitled to vote and must be in an envelope which must be placed in a second envelope addressed to the Grand Parlor Election Committee, San Francisco. The inside envelope must be signed by the delegate and the secretary of his parlor and the ballots must be received by the committee on or before May 15. All undetermined contests will be settled by the conference.

Advance reports are to be limited to those of the Grand President, Grand Parlor Finance Committee, Grand Treasurer, State of the Order and a brief statistical report by the Grand Secretary.

The conference is authorized to perform any action necessary to carry on the regular business of the Order, including the fixing and levying of the per capita tax.

The committee in charge of preparing the foregoing plan for the conference are, Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, Junior Past Grand President Wayne R. Millington, Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, Grand First Vice-President Richard F. McCarthy, Grand Trustee Benjamin C. Jones, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Henry S. Spaulding, chairman of the finance committee.

CORNED BEEF

"Gee, but it's great, to meet a friend from your home state" was the theme song of those attending the Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 NSGW special Irish Corn Beef and Cabbage dinner, sponsored by Frankie Dolan, March 15.

Plan for Vets

The Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare committee met February 24 in the Board of Grand Officers meeting room, 414 Mason street, San Francisco. Each parlor in the Order will be requested to appoint a veteran's welfare committee, whose function will be to contact veterans in their vicinity. They, in turn, would direct the veteran to a member of the Grand Parlor committee.

Several San Francisco veterans have been aided in obtaining their rights under law. Native Sons have made the welfare of returning service men their duty and through the committee will make every effort to see that they understand the rights afforded them through Federal and state laws.

Headed by Thomas C. Ryan, of San Francisco, the committee includes, John Phelan, San Francisco; Guy Foulks, Sacramento; William Burke, San Jose; Edward Hearne, Ventura, and Paul Otten, San Diego.

CLOSED INSTALLATION

Departing from the traditional joint installations with the Native Daughters, Charles Naumann was installed President of Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, San Francisco, for the ensuing term, at a closed installation held in Sierra Hall, Native Sons building, January 16. District Deputy Joseph Fogarty of Stanford Parlor No. 76 was the installing officer. Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy was present at the ceremony.

Serving with President Naumann will be the following: Victor C. Faure, Jr., past president; Cliff Wayman, Richard Efford and William Young, first, second and third vice-presidents; J. Henry Bastein, recording secretary; Bert Paolinelli, financial secretary; Thomas G. Wyatt, treasurer; Robert Peters, marshal; William F. Rohrs, inside sentinel; Charles Swett, outside sentinel; Edw. McGough, Walter Bammann, and Harry Alexander, trustees.

SUCCESSFUL HOST

Hydraulic Parlor No. 56, NSGW, Nevada City was a very successful host for the parlors of Marysville No. 6, Oroville No. 8, Quartz No. 58, Downieville No. 92 and Golden Nugget No. 94, February 20, on the occasion of the official visit of Grand Second Vice-president R. G. Power.

Beside the parlors listed, Rocklin No. 233, Roseville and Sutter No. 261, Sutter were well represented. Three candidates were initiated for Sutter, and one each for Hydraulic and Colusa No. 69. Comprising the initiatory team were members of the Fred H. Greeley Past Presidents Assembly, under the leadership of Gov. Tony Casci of Grass Valley acting as president. A fine turkey dinner followed the meeting and Sutter was selected as the meeting place for the next Past Presidents Assembly, April 23.

Grand President's Itinerary

Grand President Raymond D. Williamson announces the following schedule for April:

April 7, Napa initiation; class of 100; Sixtieth Anniversary.

April 12, Leave for Southern California.

April 13, Friday Luncheon Club, Los Angeles. Orange County Parlors class initiation; Paradise Parlor No. 282, at Huntington Beach.

April 14, Initiation for Arrowhead No. 110 at Crestline.

April 15, Los Angeles County Parlors Initiation at Los Angeles Sunday afternoon.

April 16, Return to San Francisco.

April 19, Initiation for Santa Barbara No. 116, Cabrillo No. 114 and Central No. 284, at Santa Barbara. Class of fifty.

April 20, Return to San Francisco.

April 27, San Francisco Parlors, joint initiation and reception to Grand President; Extension of the Order Committee.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

The spirit of good fellowship prevailed at the annual president's banquet of Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, San Francisco, February 1 when outgoing president Victor Faure and the new leader, Charles Naumann were honored. Laurels were shared with Judge Edward Molkenbuhr in recognition of his recent appointment to the bench.

Chairman of the Good of the Order committee, Clifford Wayman, was assisted by Bert Paolinelli, program and entertainment. Past President Hugh E. Ryan acted as toastmaster. The invocation was delivered by Father Giegerich, chaplain of the United States Army and a Pennsylvanian by birth. He is staff chaplain of the Fourth Air Corps with headquarters in San Francisco.

Supervising Deputy Lewis A. Giegerich presented a gift to Senior Past President John Phelan. Superior Judge Melvyn Cronin, a member of Pacific and Judge Molkenbuhr, addressed the members.

Activities of members in the service were related by Past President Emmet Chapman, chairman of the service men's contact committee. A moment's silent tribute was paid to the memory of Gold Star Member Bill Robinson, formerly affiliated with Pacific's Blue and White Legion Drum Corps.

Grand officers present were Grand President Raymond D. Williamson; Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy and Grand Secretary John T. Regan. McCarthy offered his two famous solos, "The Tail O Me Coat" and "Paddy McGinty's Goat."

DANCE ANNOUNCED

The Inter Parlor committee of Southern District, NSGW and NDGW, having given two socially successful dances, invite all natives and friends to attend another dance on Saturday, April 28, 8:30 p.m. at Merchants Plumber Hall, 1832 So. Hope street Los Angeles.

The Parlor having the greatest number in attendance will be rewarded. Contact your Parlor representative for tickets or call President Joe Murphy, AX-11097.

Hall Association

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the NSGW Hall Association was held March 31 at Native Sons Hall in San Francisco.

An annual report showing a profit of $6,000 for the past year was read by Adolph Eberhart, secretary. Three of the large meeting rooms in the building have been redecorated.

The finance committee recommended that, after paying of all outstanding bills and expenses, a dividend of ten cents per share be paid the stockholders on or before May 1. The election of a board of directors was elected for the ensuing year.

Following adjournment of the stockholders' meeting the new board of directors was called to order by Chairman Keenan and elected officers as follows: Joseph B. Keenan, president; Frank M. Buckley, vice-president; Adolph Eberhart, secretary and Edward J. Lynch, attorney.

The board then voted the stock dividend, as recommended by the finance committee which is the twenty-fourth stock dividend paid by the association and makes an aggregate of $4.96 in dividends to stockholders on each share of their stock. It was decided to redecorate other meeting rooms and make miscellaneous improvements in the building during the year.

St. Patrick's Banquet

South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 NSGW celebrated St. Patrick's Day with a banquet, March 14. Three hundred Native Sons enjoyed the hospitality of the Parlor as well as two hundred pounds of corned beef together with other good things to eat and drink. The toastmaster of the evening was B. A. Hensel, chairman of the good of the order committee.

The Speaker of the evening was Judge Leo A. Cunningham of Stanford Parlor No. 76. His theme was "The Life of St. Patrick." Addresses were also made by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, Junior, Past Grand President Wayne R. Millington, Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, Grand Trustees Peter T. Conmy and Edward J. Wren, Grand Marshal Raymond J. McGrath, Grand Inside Sentinel Raymond T. Burke, Grand Organist C. George Cuthbertson and Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy.

A fine program was presented by such notables as Charles (Scotty) Butterworth, Fred Rasmussen, and Dick McCarthy, ably supported by Lionel (Babe) Smith at the piano.

The judiciary was out in force and included superior judges George W. Schonfeld, and William F. Traverso; municipal judges, Harry J. Neubarth and Edward Molkenbuhr.

BEAUTIFUL SETTING

Beautiful Lake Merced Golf and Country Club in San Mateo County was the setting for the fifty-seventh anniversary banquet and ball of National Parlor No. 118 NSGW, San Francisco, February 24. Arnold Spinetti, chairman of the evening, spared nothing in making this affair one of the outstanding functions of recent years.

The award of twenty-five pins to National Parlor members by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, was a highlight of the program. Outstanding was his presentation of the 25-year insignia to Grand Trustee Ed Wren.

Among those who attended the gala festivities, besides the Grand President, were Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Past Grand-President Charles Koenig. Gracious wives and sweethearts, and an occasional military uniform gave color and charm to the affair. Enhanced by numerous cocktail parties, the fifty-seventh anniversary will go down in National Parlor history as one of the most outstanding affairs in recent years.

April 12 a whist and bingo game will be held in the parlor's clubrooms, 1160 Eddy Street. Friends and members are cordially invited to attend. Teams are being organized for a new membership drive. The clubrooms are to be redecorated soon.

HONOR McCARTHY

Druids Hall, San Francisco, was crowded to capacity February 14, the occasion being the official visit of Grand First Vice-President Richard F. McCarthy, and the traditional old-timers' night.

District deputies in attendance included Lewis Geigerich, Victor de Ganna, Robert Pyne, Les Ashworth, Walter Carpeneti and Maury Pessano.

A class of candidates were initiated by the ritualistic team of San Francisco Assembly No. 1, Past Presidents Association, under the able tutelage of Past Governor Generals James F. Stanley and Armand Nishkian.

Class Initiations

Grand Officers of the Native Sons initiated a class of candidates for Placerville Parlor No. 9 February 19.

The principal speaker of the evening was Raymond D. Williamson. Before the meeting a very fine turkey banquet was served by Marguerite Parlor No. 12 NDGW, Placerville.

Thirty-two candidates for the parlors of Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties, were initiated by grand officers, NSGW, February 21. San Jose Parlor No. 22 had twenty-one new members; Santa Cruz No. 90, two; Observatory No. 177, seven; Mountain View No. 215, three.

Supervising Deputy Grand President John R. Sullivan addressed the large group of members assembled and paid tribute to those who assisted in making the evening a success. He then introduced Irving Lea, Observatory Parlor No. 177, as master of ceremonies. He paid tribute to the officers and members of San Jose Parlor No. 22 for the large class of candidates. Addresses of the evening were made by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson and Junior Past Grand President Wayne R. Millington.

FAVOR FOR FAVOR

Modesto Parlor No. 11, NSGW, returned favor for favor when an invitation to a Sunday breakfast March 25, was issued to members of Morada Parlor No. 199, NDGW, Modesto. Honored guests were Grand President Emily E. Ryan, who had made her official visit to Morada the preceding evening, and to whose reception and program, the sons had been invited, and Grand Vice President Ethel C. Enos, member of Morada Parlor.

Prepared and served by members of Modesto, the morning repast was supervised by Grand Trustee Charles D. Blaine and Edwin Craig, Carl Lewis, Oren Elmore, Dalton Sharp, Julius Larsen, Fred Haub, Ralph Duffy, Gordon Kelley, Leslie Lollich, Robert Anderson, Stephen Hossli, Jr., Vincent Lollich, Myron Moyle and Roger Hemminger.

A Jiggs supper preceded the meeting of Modesto Parlor March 7 with George H. Ingle, president in charge. He was assisted by Robert Anderson, Oren Elmore, Edwin Craig, Walter Crow and Stephen Hossli, Jr.

WALTER N. BAILEY

Elk Grove Parlor No. 41 again sponsors Walter N. Bailey for the office of grand third vice president and asks delegates of Grand Parlor to consider his long record of fraternal and public service.

Walter Bailey's grandparents came to California in the 1850's and settled in the central section, where they purchased a ranch in 1860. The aspirant still owns and operates the farm where his father was born in 1880.

Bailey received his early education in the local schools and was president of the student body in the Elk Grove High School. He attended the University of California at Davis and was a member of Alpha Sigma Beta fraternity and president of the Alumni association, having graduated in 1931.

Walter Bailey joined Elk Grove Parlor in 1928 and served as president in 1935. He was elected delegate to Santa Cruz Grand Parlor in 1936 and has attended every session since. In 1936-37, he acted as district deputy and in San Jose in 1938, he was elected grand outside sentinel. In 1939 he was advanced to the office of grand inside sentinel, thence to that of grand marshal in 1940.

The candidate led and organized the great Admission Day parade in Sacramento in 1940. In 1941, he was elected as Grand Trustee and served in 1942-43. Following his defeat for the office of grand third vice-president in 1944, Bailey was appointed supervising deputy for his district. He has belonged to the John A. Sutter Assembly of the Past Presidents Association since 1939.

Thomas C. Ryan

At the 1945 mail order Grand Parlor, where all voting will be via the United States Mails, Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, of San Francisco will present past grand trustee, Thomas C. Ryan, as a candidate for the office of grand third vice-president.

Ryan was President of Pacific Parlor No. 10 in 1936, and served as a district deputy grand president for three years. He has been a delegate to every Grand Parlor since 1937 and was grand trustee of the Order during the years 1941-42 and 43. In 1944 he was appointed by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, as a member of the Grand Parlor Board of Appeals and also as chairman of the Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Committee.

Mayor Roger D. Lapham appointed Mr. Ryan on the San Francisco Coordinating Council for Veterans. He is a liaison officer representing the Native Sons on Governor Earl Warren's California Veterans Committee.

Ryan has been an active speaker on many occasions concerning the Native Sons' position regarding the Japanese. Recently he debated at an open forum at Mills College with officials of the War Relocation Authority and the League of Pacific Relations concerning the Japanese problem.

The candidate is a practicing attorney and was formerly chief enforcement attorney for the Office of Price Administration. He is now trial attorney for the City of San Francisco in the capacity of deputy in the office of City Attorney John J. O'Toole, who is a member of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214.

TWO YEARS OLD

The second anniversary of Wilmington Parlor No. 280, NSGW, was celebrated March 7. Approximately 110 guests and members enjoyed a turkey dinner and a lively vaudeville show. Jack Mele and Walter Sunstedt added to the merriment with their interpretation of "Romeo and Juliet".

The birthdate of Walter C. Richards was observed and honored guests were Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss, SDDGP Robert Ziegler and PGP Eldred Meyer. The committee in charge of arrangements were, the president, James A. Drew, F. O'Sullivan, first vice-president and Bob Bagdasar, junior past president. Erle B. Smith, district deputy, acted as master of ceremonies.

Officers Installed

Officers of California Parlor No. 1, NSGW, were installed by DDGP Victor de Ganna assisted by DDGP Jack Lewis and DDGP Lester Ashworth recently. Assuming office were: V. K. Nishkian, president; John P. Ferry, junior past president; I. E. Unger, John J. Slattery and Manuel Rehfeld, first, second and third vice-presidents respectively; Robert S. Miller, marshal; Harry L. Grattapaglia and John H. Westerhouse, inside and outside sentinels and A. L. De Mattei, trustee.

Eight candidates were inducted into Avenal Parlor No. 287 and Hanford No. 37, NSGW, February 21, in Hanford, when Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss made his official visit.

Ed Boring, supervising deputy of Fresno and Arthur Drew, past president of Fresno Parlor No. 25 were present. Drew explained the bill now pending before the legislature relative to the preservation of the Mountain Home tract of Redwoods near Porterville.

Grand Trustee Hiss reviewed the Japanese problem, saying that regardless of public sentiment, "we must accept the situation, while doing everything possible legally to prevent the return of the Japanese." The eight new members were Don S. Esrey, Noel K. Tuttle, William C. Silva, Antonio L. Gill, Albert Serpa, Thomas J. Madruga, Lloyd L. McGinnis and Walter Vigario.

WEBSTER K. NOLAN

Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW again presents Webster K. Nolan for Grand Trustee. Nolan served in 1943-44. A past president of Stanford, he is active in all Native Sons affairs in the San Francisco Bay area and serves the Grand Parlor as chairman of publicity. Nolan is also active on the Grand Parlor Membership Committee and on the California History Board.

While grand trustee, Nolan sponsored the resolution creating the membership committee and has brought 257 new members into his own parlor, which has risen from seventh to third place.

Recently, the candidate was appointed chairman of the 1946 five-day fiesta to celebrate the 170th anniversary of the founding of San Francisco and he is hopeful that all parlors will be represented on that occasion.

Nolan has been a newspaperman, foreign correspondent and editor for more than twenty-five years and represented International News Service at the White House during President Harding's term. His foreign service was in Japan and China.

For the last twelve years Nolan has been Pacific Coast Editor of King Features Syndicate. He also owns an importing-exporting and foreign advertising firm in San Francisco. He has three children, the two boys being resident cadets at St. Joseph's Military Academy, Belmont, Calif.

A Senior Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve before the war, he is now a captain in the California State Guard, scheduled to play a potent part in the security of the port of San Francisco during the forthcoming United Nations Conference.

St. Patrick was honored when members of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW, Oakland celebrated his feast day March 9. Native Daughters were guests. Games were played and the 100 members and their friends present enjoyed refreshments.

★ Members of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267, NSGW, were pleasantly surprised with the appearance of Danny Stimson at a recent meeting. Having just returned from many months of service in the Pacific area, he announced that he was on his way to San Francisco where he planned to marry. The name of his bride remains a secret.

Guy Leonhardt, recently discharged from the Navy has been reinstated in the parlor and is expected to become an active member again.

FORTY NINERS

Promising to be a deluxe affair of 1945, Hollywood Parlor No. 196 NSGW will celebrate its forty-ninth anniversary with a "49er" banquet Thursday April 26, in the Fiesta Room in a cafe at Forty-third street and Crenshaw boulevard, Los Angeles. It is anticipated that the Festive Board will be graced by many politicos and natives prominent in California affairs. Reservations should be made at once with President Eldin L. Smith, DRexel 9236 or Chairman Walter R. Brown, KImball 8541.

SMART BOYS

Smart boys, these Ramonans! Not satisfied with doing the ritual up brown at the stations they now fill, officers of Ramona Parlor No. 109, NSGW, Los Angeles are learning the charges for the chairs to which they will advance, come election time.

In recognition of their work, Hollywood Parlor No. 196 invited the Ramonans to their initiation ceremonies February 22 and asked the erudite staff to officiate. Past president Walter Slosson and DDGP Albert Seaman of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 have offered generous assistance in coaching the officers.

FRIDAY LUNCHEON CLUB

Native Sons Friday Luncheon Club of Los Angeles now meets at the Clark Hotel, 426 South Hill Street, every Friday at 12:15 p.m. All Natives are invited to attend. Guests are welcome. A wide variety of interesting programs has been scheduled.

April 6—Gordon Hendry will show a new picture on "Winning the Battle on Synthetic Rubber"; April 13—Grand President Raymond D. Williamson will make his report on the status of the Order; April 20—Hugh A. Matier will address the club on "China"; April 27—Bryant Essick will speak on "Post War Southern California."

Covering the State With the Native Daughters

• Becoming the third largest Native Daughter Parlor in the state, Marinita Parlor No. 198 initiated thirty-five members on the occasion of the official visit of Grand President Emily E. Ryan March 12. The Grand President complimented the parlor and highly praised Mrs. John Spreckfus, president, for the membership work she has accomplished.

Officers and past presidents of Marinita escorted President Ryan to her seat of honor. Mrs. Charles Munz, supervising district deputy, sang "The Sunshine of Your Smile". Second soloist of the evening was Lena Gastoni, a new member, who has had a brilliant operatic career.

Grand officers present included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, PGP's Emma Foley, Ann Theusen and Ethel Begley and DGP Mrs. Rod Ingram.

Presentation of a complete layette in a baby hope chest was made to Grand President Ryan for the Homeless Children.

• Wilmington Parlor No. 278 NDGW adopted its first three babies at the regular meeting, February 27. The infants were named for Junior Past President Mildred Smith, Past President Ada Fohl and President Bertha Luc. Deputy Margaret Burch of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 was a guest and Eugenia Smith also of Long Beach, was an honored guest at the birthday party which followed the meeting.

• Fruitvale Parlor No. 177 NDGW, Oakland, initiated eight new members March 2. They were Cecelia Dilley, Myrtle Nutting, Evelyn Larson, Rosemary Looms, Emily Souza, Luella Berndt, Mary Berndt, and Alice Butterfield. Following the ceremonies, Nell Crowley and Flora Crockett presented a program which all enjoyed.

Fruitvale Parlor Native Daughters and Fruitdale Parlor No. 252 NSGW held a joint St. Patrick's party with about one hundred attending March 9. A community sing, cards and games were enjoyed and prizes awarded.

Supper was served with Edna Billings, Violet Salter, Lois Bogusch, Beth Bromley, Carl Ragon, William Dombrink, Matt Silva and many others assisting to make the evening such a successful and happy affair.

• Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dexter Monroe, the April 10 luncheon will feature history and landmarks for Californiana Parlor No. 247, NDGW. Reservations are to be made with Evelyn Skinner, GR 5265. Following the business meeting, April 24 at 1:30 p.m., an Easter tea will be served with Flora Jacobson, hospitality chairman in charge.

• In honor of St. Patrick's Day, the meeting hall in the NSGW building in San Francisco was all decked out in green March 13, when Grand President Emily E. Ryan was officially received by Alta Parlor No. 3, Presidio Parlor No. 148 and San Francisco Parlor No. 261. Mae MacDonald of Alta, supervising deputy, extended the welcome of the three parlors and presented the honored guest with a bouquet of white roses.

San Francisco Parlor members formed an archway with green and white staffs for the escort of President Ryan, while "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" was rendered.

Seven candidates were initiated into Presidio Parlor, and one each for Alta and San Francisco. The secretaries of each parlor presented a sketch of the work accomplished in the past year.

• Entertaining their members and prospective members, Lugonia Parlor No. 241 NDGW held a colorful party February 14, with Ivy Harmon and Lillian McGinty in charge. Pansy corsages and name tags made by Bella Ford, Bertha Heap, and Kathaleen Stewart were presented to all. First prize for bingo was awarded Betty Tyler Simpkins, Lugonia's newest bride.

Hours of Smiles

Twelve hours of smiles, eats and hard work is what members of The Native Daughters Volunteer Committee are planning for Easter, when they serve at San Francisco's Hospitality House in the Civic Center. The volunteer committee is a subsidiary of the San Francisco County Extension of the Order committee, and was organized soon after Pearl Harbor by Ruby Bried of El Vespero Parlor No. 118. Serving once a month, with many additional days, when other organizations fail to put in their appearance, the group often answers the call in the morning to serve food throughout the remainder of the day and evening. Officiating on holidays, Easter will find them hostesses, beginning with a late breakfast. They will serve refreshments throughout the day and a final snack at 10:30 p.m. Grand President Emily E. Ryan is a member of the committee.

MEMBERS of NSGW Volunteer Committee at Hospitality House; San Francisco—Left to right, Mrs. Fraser, Gladys Day, Las Lomas Parlor; Gladys Blanchard, Orinda; Theresa Pearce, Sans Souci; Grace Allen, Orinda; Ruby Bried, chairman of the committee, El Vespero; and Constance Warshaw, Mission, chairman of the Extension of the Order committee.

"NO MORE beautiful flowers than these young girls could be presented to me", said Grand President Emily E. Ryan as she accepted a colorful lei of camellias from the new Placerita Junior Parlor, Sunday afternoon, March 8 in Van Nuys.

Wishing to become instituted as soon as possible, Toluca Parlor Juniors, Burbank, joined with the Van Nuys group in the institution ceremonies and together the two junior parlors stood at the altar to repeat the obligation of membership.

In the American Legion Hall in Van Nuys, which was banked with baskets of lilies and flowering acacia, the girls were initiated by Mariana Juniors No. 8 of Californiana Parlor No. 247, Los Angeles. Officiating were, Margaret Connors, president; Shirley Bennett past president; Mary Joan Noerenberg, marshal and Esther Folst, vice president. Ruth Jackman, charter past president of Placerita Parlor was acting marshal and Delia Mackinga was chairman. Officers of the senior parlors formed the installing team with President Claudia Campea, of Placerita presiding. Dorothy Dye, organist of the host parlor, played throughout the afternoon.

Officers of Placerita Parlor Juniors are: Joanne Crevolin, president; Edwina Redona, past president; Bonnie Gillette, vice president; Dolores Mackinga, recording secretary; Jay Jorgenson, financial secretary and treasurer; Marilyn Ohl, sentinel; Barbara Byers, Susie Goodrum and Gail Wright, trustees, and Evelyn Stout, organist.

Toluca Junior officers are: Barbara Bunce, president; Carol Nippell, first vice president; Dolores Dahlquist, marshal; Gloria Welch, financial secretary and treasurer; Barbara Quinn, recording secretary; Joyce Morgan, sentinel; Jean Marcy, Charlotte Rohe and Mary Ellen Denby, trustees; Diane Perrott, organist.

The senior Order was represented by Mrs. Ryan, Junior Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch and PGP's Grace S. Stoermer, Ann Theusen and Hazel Hansen, SDDGP Elsie Amidon and representatives from many southland parlors, who presented financial gifts.

Lura Pesqueira, organizer of Placerita Parlor and the juniors was commended for her outstanding work. President Cleone Steinbach of Toluca who was responsible for her own parlor's having acquired a junior group, received a like recognition and advisor, Mary Post of Placerita was introduced.

• Sebastopol Parlor No. 265, NDGW; Petaluma No. 222 and Santa Rosa No. 217 held a joint meeting in honor of Grand President Emily E. Ryan, March 9. A delicious turkey dinner was served by Georgia Triggs and her committee before the meeting. The tables were decorated in the St. Patrick theme with a cheery bouquet of daffodils and spring blossoms centering the grand officers' table. Spring blossoms also adorned the hall.

The Grand President was ascorted through an arch made by the escort team, while the girls sang, "Sweet Emily", with words by Alazuma Singmaster. The honored guest was presented with a bouquet of pink carnations by Gay Browder, granddaughter of Gladys Simoni. Six candidates were initiated and the Grand President spoke inspiringly. She was accompanied by PGP Ann Theusen. Deputies present were, Josie Andrieux, Irene Nahmens, Fay Kurlander and SDDGP Zoura Tompkins. Parlors represented were Sebastopol, Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Sonoma, Marinita, Piedmont, Alta and Las Lomas.

JEWEL McSWEENEY

El Vespero Parlor No. 118 NDGW, San Francisco, was organized in June of 1900 and has grown through years of service to a parlor of large and active membership. For years members have talked of the day when they could present one of their members to serve in Grand Parlor.

This dream was realized at Grand Parlor in San Jose when their esteemed member, Jewel McSweeney, was elected grand outside sentinel.

Born and reared in San Francisco in the community of El Vespero Parlor's birth and growth, the charter members and those who followed, watched Jewel grow into young womanhood—womanhood typical of the high ideals we as Native Daughters of this golden state uphold, and so it was with great pride they initiated her into their ranks in the year of 1936.

Standing as a symbol of service to her parlor, her county, and the Order, no task is too great to ask of Jewel McSweeney for the benefit of our State and Order. Her accomplishments are many in her county, her ability unquestioned, and her leadership tried and true.

It is with pardonable pride that El Vespero Parlor presents Jewel McSweeney, grand outside sentinel, for the office of grand inside sentinel, an outstanding young woman to serve our outstanding Order.

ELMARIE H. DYKE

Grand Trustee Elmarie H. Dyke, Junipero Parlor No. 151 NDGW, Monterey, is being enthusiastically sponsored by her parlor for re-election. In addition to being known throughout the state as grand trustee, Mrs. Dyke is remembered by hundreds who have attended Grand Parlor sessions as a capable and vivacious song leader.

Elmarie Dyke was a faithful officer of Amapola Parlor No. 80, Sutter Creek, for many years, transferring to Junipero Parlor after she moved to Pacific Grove. Her enthusiasm so stimulated Junipero Parlor that eighty members were initiated while she was president. She has served as deputy grand president in Amador, Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz counties and has worked on many grand parlor committees during the twenty-five years she has been a member of the Order. Last year she was state chairman of publicity.

Mrs. Dyke is Monterey County general school supervisor and curriculum coordinator. She has held state offices in a number of educational organizations and is now a state chairman for Delta Kappa Gamma, women's national educational honor society. She received her B. A. degree with highest honors from San Jose State College and taught there for seven summers.

Elmarie Dyke participates in many war activities and nearly 900 pints of plasma has been donated by volunteers she has obtained for the Red Cross. Her two sons, Nelson and Robert Hyler, have served their country during the past three years in naval aviation.

• Installed for the second time as President of Joaquin Parlor No. 5 NDGW, Laura Mae Roesch was seated by installing officer DGP Lulu Mae Gregg of Ivy Parlor No. 88 and her staff, February 27 at Native Sons Hall, Stockton.

Miss Roesch will be assisted by Genevieve Snyder, past president; Mesdames Arthur Morotti, Albert Cheney and W. B. Augustine, first, second and third vice-presidents; and Rose Dentoni, Lillian B. Condy, Wilma Way, Lottie Boyd, Lulu Schnieder, Edna Williamson, Mesdames Ed Peyton, Floyd Booth, Ernest Richer and George Ohm.

Guests included SDDGP Laura Jane O'Brien of Caliz de Oro; SDDGP Doris Treat of Calaveras County, and PGP Mayme Peyton of Joaquin Parlor.

Ninety Years Young

Elizabeth Kirkland, who will be ninety-two years old May 16, was initiated into the parlor at her home in San Francisco last month.

Because of Mrs. Kirkland's advanced age a group journeyed to San Francisco from Monterey and conducted the ceremony. The obligation was administered by Grand Trustee Elmarie H. Dyke, whose sons, Nelson and Robert Hyler are Mrs. Kirkland's great-great nephews on their paternal side.

Mrs. Kirkland claims the distinction of being the first child of Anglo Saxon parentage born in Amador City. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Gorton, came across the Isthmus of Panama at the beginning of the 50's with their two small children, Lucinda and Gilman. Lucinda married William Turner and became the great grandmother of the Hylers.

Mrs. Kirkland was a charter member of Juanita Parlor in Amador City before she left to make her home in the Hawaiian Islands and has expressed a desire to attend and participate in Native Daughter activities. She is an unusually young lady for her years.

Following the initiation ceremony the members of Junipero Parlor escorted their honored member to Lucca's Italian Restaurant for dinner. Accompanying Mrs. Dyke on her pilgrimage were Marjorie Banta, first vice-president; Shirley Watson, third vice-president; Alva Banta, assistant marshal, and Willah Sauter.

• A double celebration was in the offing for members of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW, February 21 when they received DGP Edith Cavagnaro of Calistoga No. 145 on her official visit; commemorated their own thirty-third anniversary and observed the birth date of the honored guest. The actual founding occurred February 21, 1912.

Other honored guests included SDDGP Marien Brien of Eschol Parlor No. 16, NDGW, Napa, and Gertrude Briggs, deputy grand president to Eschol.

In honor of the visitors, a class of three was initiated. President Matilda Pappas presided at the business session following the ceremony.

• Ontario Parlor No. 251, NDGW, had a ravioli dinner at Serena Patne's home in Cucamonga March 9. The committee in charge of the dinner was Lillian Graves, Serena Patne, Isabel Graves, and Vada Austin. Guests of the evening included SDDGP Adlena Marshall, DGP Rose Ford and Genevieve Hiskey of Santa Ana.

Moving pictures of a trip through the United States and Canada were shown. The views had been taken by Maude Van Fleet and her family on various trips.

BETTY READ

Ursula Parlor No. 1, NDGW of Jackson, Amador county, presents Betty Read for re-election to the office of grand trustee. She became a member of the Order eighteen years ago and has served the mother parlor as an officer for fourteen years and has acted as chairman of the Board of Trustees during the past four years. She has served as deputy grand president to the following parlors: Amapola No. 80, Sutter Creek; Forrest No. 86, Plymouth; Chispa No. 40, Ione; and Princess No. 84, Angels Camp and as supervising district deputy of Amador county.

The candidate is the granddaughter of pioneer residents of California. She received her education in Sacramento public and private schools, and prior to making her home in Jackson, was the secretary in a Sacramento law firm. She has been a resident of Jackson for eighteen years and during that time has been associate editor of the Amador Dispatch, a newspaper established in September, 1858.

Grand Trustee Read has served the Order of Native Daughters with ability and distinction and her parlor feels that she can be looked to for guidance and counsel with confidence. Members of the Order throughout the state who have had the privilege of meeting Betty Read during her incumbency as a grand trustee have come to learn that she possesses the necessary qualifications for a grand officer.

Ursula Parlor is sponsoring Betty Read for the office of Grand Trustee and asks your thoughtful consideration of her candidacy for re-election to that office.

• On the night of February 28, Ano Nuevo Parlor No. 180, NDGW of Pescadero, celebrated its thirty-fifth birthday with a dinner in a local cafe. Among those present were six charter members including, Margaret Goularte, Elsie Rose, Margaret Dias, Lillian Woodharms, Elizabeth Fry and the parlor's mother and first president, Ida Mesquite. In addition to the special guests, three candidates also were honored.

Presided over by President Angie Del Cielo, the after dinner speeches gave a graphic history of the parlor, which was instituted by PGP Emma Lou Humphrey. Tables were decorated with huge bowls of daffodils and the charter members and the president were the recipients of corsages of camellias. Solos were sung by Elsie Rose and Bruna Rossi. A community sing wound up the evening's festivities.

No day is endless; time swings past,
And hours long awaited come at last.
Though seas divided, all your stay,
I could not feel you far away,
For memory burns with deathless flame,
And love is love, no boundaries claim
The heart's desire and thought's abode;
Yet I, who watched on Absence Road,
The days found long, and waiting drear;
But now that you again are near,
I only know that God is kind!

Respectfully submitted,
ALICE MATTEI,
ELSIE MATTEI,
EVELYN CABRAL,
Committee.

A Smile To Remember

PIONEER DANCE

Central Parlor No. 284 NSGW, Santa Maria, reports a gain in membership and announces several interesting events. A dance in conjunction with the Native Daughters was held April 28 in Moose hall. On May 5 the two groups will sponsor the annual pioneer dance which is given each year in honor of the old-timers of the community.

SPRING DANCE

Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 NSGW, will hold a spring dance Saturday night, May 26, at lodge headquarters, 1334½ Fifth Street, Santa Monica. Bob Mann's orchestra will furnish the music. Invitation to attend the dance is extended to all Native Sons and Native Daughters. Tickets may be ordered at the Fifth street address.

ENTERPRISING

Typical of enterprising Native Sons is Dr. Walter R. Heal, member of Victory Parlor No. 286, Burbank, who for many years was a fireman. But he wanted to be a chiropractor and put in long hours at school learning the profession. He now has passed the State Board examination for a Doctor of Chiropractics and his fellow Native Sons are extending their congratulations.

DINNER IS SERVED

Arrowhead Assembly No. 14, Past Presidents Association NSGW, met Sunday March 25 at Merchants Plumbers Hall, Los Angeles, when dinner was served at 1:30 p.m. by Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz' famous chef, Ralph Walters, and his crew, Le Cornell, Roy Bowen and Frank Vega. New members welcomed into the Association were Joseph Baudette, Milton A. Eisenhart William K. Gilison, Fred T. Leonetti, Gar B. Moody and Dr. John A. Schwalm.

Record of Accomplishment

By Raymond D. Williamson,

Grand President, NSGW

AS THE May issue of our Grizzly Bear goes to press, and as we record the events of the last twelve months, we are mindful of the task you placed upon our shoulders as Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

At the outset we set a goal we hoped to achieve and though we did not reach complete fulfillment, we are definitely satisfied in our accomplishment. Last year our worthy predecessor showed a very substantial increase in members and we can report, as this term draws to a close, that we have matched his record. Since the first of the year 1945, we have been endeavoring to match the increase he gave us when we took over so our successor, Richard F. McCarthy of Piedmont Parlor No. 120, Oakland will have a fair start.

It has been a very happy year. We know we have eliminated a lot of bickering in various quarters that only served to bring unwarranted disrepute upon some of our members and upon our Order.

During the year we have stressed many activities. The Homeless Children Work of our Order has seen its cost of operation practically doubled, which means that we of the Native Sons, together with our sister Order, the Native Daughters, must redouble our efforts if we are to continue to succeed in this particular work. The experience we have gleaned from others has proven conclusively that it is ill-advised for our Order to adopt a policy of levying a one dollar assessment per year for the Homeless Children work and let it go at that.

By virtue of such a procedure, the interest of many of those who heretofore gave untiringly of their efforts to this particular work ceased. Having contributed, they felt there was no more need for them to go all out as they had done in the past. Much valuable public relation work and publicity was completely lost by virtue of the fact that we did not have the full cooperation of the Native Daughters that we had had previously in the carrying on of the various functions.

The work of our Japanese Legislation Committee has been outstanding and much good has been accomplished for our Order and particularly for the Great State of California. We are definitely satisfied that by virtue of the Oriental Exclusion Act, the Japanese population in California was limited to a minimum of 125,000 and that if it had not been for the persistent efforts of our Order and other organizations, there would have been between two or three million Japanese in California on Pearl Harbor Day. If there had been more here, the Pearl Harbor incident might have occurred on the mainland and the attack aimed at one of our fine harbors, rather than on one of our possessions in the Pacific. We feel satisfied that the people of our great State and of our Nation were saved the necessity of fighting on our western shores by virtue of the foresight and common sense exercised by those, who many years ago took the necessary steps to prevent wholesale immigration of Japanese.

The Veterans Welfare Committee carried on an excel lent program as did also that of the Children's Welfare Most of our other committees performed admirably an particular reference is made to the outstanding work o the chairman of our Landmarks Committee, The Hon Joseph R. Knowland, past grand president, who as th chairman of the State Parks Commission, has coordinate that group's work with that of the Native Sons. Durin our term, Mission Sonoma was restored and we partici pated in a ceremony celebrating the completion of th project. Many other worthwhile projects are in progress

We have visited many sections of the State and hav conducted initiations in which the grand officers took th stations of their particular office. We know the work pe formed was outstanding, as the grand officers organize an initiatory team that has exemplified the ritual in most impressive and educational manner. In this work, w have had the full cooperation not only of the chair off cers, but of the grand secretary, the grand trustees, pas grand presidents and all the grand officers. Over on thousand new members have been received into the Orde during this term.

Far greater accomplishments are beckoning us on. Wit the assurance that the war in Europe should be ove during the next year, we can go to work with renewe vigor and give the incoming president added assistanc so he may go forward to greater heights.

California continues to need "Men to Match Her Mour tains" and it is our duty to answer that call and suppl the need by preparing leaders with the traditional back ground of the pioneers. In this way the ideals of Cal fornia will always be preserved.

Candidates Announced

WITH plans having been completed for the war conference to be held in Hoberg's, the popular Lake County mountain resort, located 100 miles from San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento, members of the 1945 Grand Parlor are anticipating a lively but limited session of two days, May 18 and 19.

With nominations and balloting engulfed in an atmosphere of secrecy and being completed by mail prior to the opening of the conference, elections carry with them a suspense exceeding that of former years, with the exception, of course, of the posts for which there is no opposition. These are:

Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, Piedmont No. 120, Oakland for the office of grand president; Grand Second Vice-president R. Grover Power, Colusa No. 69, for grand first vice-president; Grand Third Vice-president Walter H. Odemar, for the office of grand second vice-president.

Grand Secretary John T. Regan, South San Francisco No. 157 and Grand Treasurer John A. Corrotto, San Jose No. 22 seek re-election and are uncontested. Grand Inside Sentinel Raymond P. Burke, Claremont No. 240, has announced his candidacy for the office of grand marshal.

Erle Smith, Wilmington Parlor No. 280, seeks the office of grand outside sentinel and is a newcomer to the Grand Parlor political arena. Roy Tarleton, present grand outside sentinel, has moved to Dallas, Texas, and is not in the running this year.

Listed among the candidates for the office of grand trustee are the following: Peter T. Conmy, Presidio No. 194, San Francisco; Ellsworth A. Williard, Placerville No. 9; Bernard G. Hiss, University No. 272, Los Angeles; Edward J. Wren, National No. 118, San Francisco; Webster K. Nolan, Stanford No. 76, San Francisco; Milton G. Moenning, Observatory No. 177, San Jose, and Raymond J. McGrath, Mission No. 38, present Grand Marshal.

Remembering the race for the grand third vice-presidency are Thomas C. Ryan of Pacific Parlor No. 10, San Francisco, and Walter N. Bailey, Elk Grove Parlor No. 41, in Sacramento County.

Ten miles southwest of beautiful Clear Lake, Hoberg's is an ideal spot for such gatherings as Native Sons are accustomed to holding annually. It is situated at an altitude of 3,500 feet among the mountain pines. Beside all the modern recreational features available in the city, ample hotel and dining room facilities are provided.

The guest who arranges to remain after the conference may enjoy the mountain trails, cool springs and trout streams as well as seeing neighboring resorts, farms and other unexpected points of interest to adventuring explorers on a hike.

Pacific Greyhound busses boarded in San Francisco will convey passengers direct to Hobergs, tickets to be purchased at the Fifth and Mission street offices. George Hoberg is the genial host who has greeted several Native Sons conventions in the past in the delightful environment of his mountain retreat. Guests of Hobergs also enjoy the use of Seigler's Mineral Springs.

Those planning to drive should take the Golden Gate Bridge, then follow the highway through Napa and Calistoga to Hoberg's. Another route is that via Carquinez bridge through Vallejo, via Calistoga and Middletown, turning left there. From Sacramento, take the route through Woodland and Williams.

Status of Parlors

In a report from the Grand Secretary's office received just prior to press time, the status of the Native Sons parlors is listed as follows:

Parlors with membership of 450 and over and their assets— South San Francisco Parlor No. 157, 858 members, $53,-203.90; Arrowhead No. 110, 765 members, $25,322.03; Stanford No. 76, 689 members, $39,672.11; Cabrillo No. 114, 680 members, $1,217.45; Ramona No. 109, 565 members, $7,481.45; Castro No. 232, 532 members $4,287.72; Stockton No. 7, 502 members, $32,110.60.

Parlors with assets of $20,000 or more— San Jose No. 22, 261 members, $81,621.19; Amador No. 17, 136 members, $38,829.22; Sacramento No. 3, 309 members, $37,490.48; Piedmont No. 120, 392 members, $35,959.13; Redwood No. 66, 256 members, $35,097.56; Napa No. 62, 234 members, $31,218.49; Quartz No. 58, 187 members, $28,896.31; Pacific No. 10, 309 members, $27,525.60.

NATIVE SONS ACTIVITIES

Sixty Years

When Napa Parlor No. 62 NSGW started preparations for the observance of its sixtieth anniversary, April 10, the suggestion was offered by a jovial member that a class of sixty candidates be initiated to fittingly commemorate the occasion. There were plenty of scoffers who pointed out that this was a large project for any subordinate parlor during this war era.

However, General Chairman Phillip Malloy and his committee started to work seriously in an effort to acquaint one and all with the many advantages of membership in the Native Sons of the Golden West.

When that great night in the history of Napa Parlor arrived, which was held on April 7, there were 102 applications on the desk. Of that group, 84 were initiated by grand officers. A member each was added to the rolls of Colusa No. 69 and Berkeley No. 210, and two candidates were initiated for Lower Lake Parlor.

Another initiation is being planned early in May, at which time it is expected the balance of the class plus many new applicants will be inducted. Represented by large delegations were Colusa, Berkeley, Lower Lake, General Winn, Vallejo, Castro, Sonoma, St. Helena and Calistoga Parlors. Honored guests included Past President Charles Dodge of General Winn No. 32, Thomas C. Ryan of Pacific Parlor No. 10; Walter N. Bailey of Elk Grove No. 41, Grand Historian Emmet Joy, DGP Marion Coronado and SDDGP Frank Holdner, both of Vallejo No. 77 and Past Grand Trustee Louis Bosch of Sonoma No. 111.

The class was named in honor of Henry J. Hoernle, one of the most faithful workers on behalf of the Order in the entire state. Lacking only two years of being a charter member, Hoernle has served as secretary of the Parlor for thirty-seven years. His attendance record is outstanding. He has been a guiding spirit in the Hall Association under the direction of which, one of the finest homes and most valuable pieces of real property boasted by any parlor has been built and practically paid for.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES (Albert Adamo) at left; Henry J. Hoernle, honored guest and Julius F. Baracco, president of Napa Parlor and Peter A. Gasser, speaker for class of candidates.

The one remaining charter member, venerable Benjamin F. Behrens, was unable to be present because of illness. The compliments of a large group of Grand Officers, headed by Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, were extended to Napa Parlor.

Parlor President Julius Baracco opened the meeting and turned the gavel over to Grand President Williamson, who conducted the impressive initiation. Other Grand Officers present included: Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, Grand Second Vice-president R. G. Power, Junior Past Grand President Wayne R. Millington, Grand Trustees Peter Conmy, Edward Wren, Grand Organist George Cuthbertson and Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

Grand President Williamson spoke on "Why I Am a Native Son"; Past President Nathan F. Coombs related the history of Napa Parlor and Peter A. Gasser, president of the Napa Chamber of Commerce, responded for the candidates.

Marian Brien, Native Daughter supervisor, presented a birthday cake in behalf of Eschol Parlor No. 16 of NDGW. A banquet and program of entertainment rounded out the memorable evening.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Taking the proverbial "bull by the horns," Irving Lee, chairman of the Extension of the Order Committee, has stirred up quite a noted increase of membership for Observatory Parlor No. 177 NSGW. This committee, seemingly dormant for the past few years, has suddenly come to life and is now functioning smoothly and with marked degree of success. Forty-six new members have been inducted and ten more will enter before Grand Parlor.

Lee has promised everyone bringing in a member, a champagne dinner for his unselfish efforts. The Committee has set a dead line, in the month of May, just before the Grand Parlor. At this time, the membership roll should read well over the two hundred mark.

Observatory Parlor was instituted over fifty years ago, and numbers in its membership, many of the prominent citizens of San Jose. Its social activities rank very high in the eyes of the community and its charitable activities are numerous. Walter Penney, president, has outlined many projects for the term. To date, Observatory Parlor has given twenty-four of its members to Uncle Sam's armed forces. As a salute to these brothers, the parlor will take an active part in forthcoming Seventh War Loan drive.

HONOR MEMBER

Golden Gate Parlor No. 29, NSGW, honored Recording Secretary Adolph Eberhart with a dinner and life membership recently. Mr. Eberhart has been a member of the Order since 1886 and Secretary of Golden Gate Parlor for twenty-nine years. For the past fifty-three years he has been secretary of the Native Sons Hall Association.

Home Parlor

Castro Parlor No. 232, NSGW was host to several hundred members, visitors and Grand Officers on the night of April 10 when a reception was tendered to its own member, Grand President Raymond D. Williamson, now reaching a close of a most successful year as Grand President.

Besides the Grand President, present were PGP Skillin, Grand First Vice-president Richard McCarthy, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Peter T. Conmy and Edward J. Wren, Grand Marshal Raymond McGrath, Grand Organist C. G. Cuthbertson, and former Grand Trustees Thomas Ryan and Webster Nolan. Past Grand Skillin acted as master of ceremonies, and speakers paid glowing tribute to the work and effort of the Grand President in building up the Order. Entertainment was presented followed by refreshments, and all present agreed it was a most successful evening.

Fruitvale Plans

Fruitvale Parlor No. 151, is making arrangements towards the success of the dinner reception and class initiation to be tendered to Grand President Willamson at the Athens Athletic Club, May 2, and has lined up a number of candidates for the occasion. Ritual Chairman Miller C. Markey is brushing up his team.

NEW STAFF

Mission Parlor No. 38, NSGW, installed the following officers for the present term April 11: President, William Hamburg; Henry Nickel, Al Berryessa and Al Hufnagel, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Raymond Belli, marshal; Sam Lubliner and William Gantner, inside and outside sentinels; John Jehl, Henry Meyer and A. Bilay, trustees; Ray McGrath, treasurer; William A. Wilkie, recording secretary; Louis Schmitt, financial secretary.

The Hills of Amador

By Grand Historian
Emmett P. Joy
Illustration by the Author

Amador county is prominent in the history of the state of California. The abundance of wealth locked in the arms of the earth lured miners to its rivers and creeks as early as the year 1848. Jose Maria Amador, who had been major-domo of Mission San Jose and for whom the county is named, mined in this vicinity in 1848. Captain John A. Sutter of New Helvetia, for whom Sutter Creek is named, also mined in this locality during the same year.

The stately, picturesque hills of Amador harbor many tales of yesterday's towns as they were a significant part of the great Eldorado. The sturdy pioneers, both men and women who settled them travelled by either boat or covered wagon to seek their fortunes in the promised land. The world will never forget the valor of these pioneers nor the story of their hazardous trek.

Among the ghost towns of Amador is Quincy which is situated in the western section of the county. The site of Quincy, to my knowledge, has gone into oblivion. It is known to have been somewhere near Muletown and if it were not for the town newspaper the "Prospector" the very existence of Quincy would probably remain unknown. However, it is said that it rivaled Muletown in its best days. The paper had advertisements of business houses in Quincy, Ione City, Muletown and Augusta Flat. It was published by Clark and Bablam with I. W. Wallace as printer. Their office was located at Number 5 Broadway, Quincy. Broadway, being the main street of the town, had a number of stores and hotels. The rates of the largest hotel in 1855 and known as the City Hotel, were ten dollars a week for board; single room, seventy-five cents; lodging, fifty cents.

The locale of Muletown was about two miles north of Ione, and was very active in the early fifties. According to Thompson and West's history of Amador county it was a thriving community. It was situated in a dry area which made it difficult for the miners to excavate so in the year 1854 the Johnson brothers brought in water with ditches. Hydraulic mining was the principal method used, the first hydraulic mine being worked by William Fox and Company.

The settlers' entertainment consisted principally of horseback riding, singing and dancing. A town hall was established by a man named Cunningham and tickets for admission to dances and various affairs were as high as six dollars. The first store was operated by Charles Simmons.

In 1860 many disputes arose over mining claims. The male population agreed that when any two men quarreled as to their rights, they would have to fight it out between themselves.

Toward the early sixties the claims of the old gravel beds failed to give up any more gold and the population, mostly Irish, commenced to abandon the town. Soon afterward the buildings of the deserted village fell into ruin and fire added to its destruction. Today the site of what was once Muletown is only a grassy and wooded hillside.

Butte City is situated about two and one half miles south of Jackson and derived its name from Butte Mountain as it stands nearby like a sentinel and is visible for many miles. This town was extremely rich in placer diggings as many very old river channels were found. Upon discovery of gold in Butte City a rush followed and the miners came in large numbers, the ravines and gulches yielded thousands of dollars in gold, and it soon grew from a tent city to a settlement of stone and wooden buildings when in the fifties it sought to rival Jackson.

The business section of the town consisted of buildings constructed on both sides of the street. A large canal was built to convey the water so that the miners could wash out the rich auriferous deposits which covered the area.

In the early fifties a brother of Governor Pio Pico came with a crew of men to mine. In 1854, Xavier Benoist conducted a store and in the years that followed the same store was operated by E. Ginocchio, an Amador pioneer who later became a prominent merchant of Jackson. The Butte store was a popular place in the Butte Basin vicinity and miners came in from the neighboring villages to buy their provisions. The stone building is still standing.

According to the Amador County History published by the Amador County Federation of Women's Clubs, 1927, John Murray came to Mokelumne Hill in the year 1852 and in 1854 resided in Butte City. The Longs, relatives of the Murphys already had their homes in Butte. Jeremiah Murphy, brother, and the two McCarthy families also established their homes there. This group lived on a knoll which was called "Irish Hill."

Such well known men as Knight, Kirkwood, Brinn, Brown and Conlon were working in the gulches. The Hagermans came in the year 1853. The Mello and Stewart families were early settlers. Peter Ferrari was one of the pioneer teamsters hauling supplies to the mining camps from the cities below.

Old ditches, canals and reservoirs are still noticeable in the Butte Basin area and in places there are conspicuous scars on the surface of the meadows left by the miners in their pursuit for gold. The writer, when a youngster had relatives living in Butte and recalls playing in the rough, washed out surfaces mined by the forty-niners when visiting them.

On a lonely hill is the old Butte cemetery of forgotten graves of the pioneers and the two story stone, roofless building is all that remains to mark what was at one time Butte City.

Mecca for Peace Makers

CALIFORNIA GREETING, SDDGP Robert Ziegler, Los Angeles, welcomes Grand President Raymond D. Williamson and Grand First Vice-President Richard F. McCarthy.

"California's importance in world affairs has been recognized and increased by the choice of one of its cities as the 'mecca for peace makers' ", said Grand President Raymond D. Williamson when he addressed the Los Angeles County district meeting of the Native Sons, Sunday, April 15 at Merchant Plumbers Hall.

The Grand President also reviewed membership gains and activities of the Order for his term and cited instances where Native Sons in politics had taken the lead in municipal and state government, bringing prestige and glory to the Order and furthering its influence in promoting the welfare of the state.

The Grand President acted in his official capacity, as did also R. G. Power, Richard J. McCarthy and Walter H. Odemar, grand first, second and third vice presidents respectively; and Wayne R. Millington, junior past grand president. Grand Secretary John T. Regan acted as marshal; Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss as inside sentinel and Grand Trustee Milton G. Moenning, assistant marshal; PGP Eldred Meyer, senior past president; former grand organist, Roger Johnson, organist.

Robert Ziegler, supervising deputy, opened the meeting and acted as master of ceremonies. Odes were sung by Robert Pereira and vocal solos were rendered by J. B. Fages, both members of Valley Parlor No. 285, Van Nuys. Ziegler also was in charge of refreshments.

EDWARD J. WREN

Members know Ed Wren's interest, not only in his parlor, where he has served continuously for twenty-five years, but also his enthusiastic work for the Order.

Ed Wren was Past President of National Parlor in 1923 and treasurer for ten years. He has served on every committee in the parlor, the San Francisco Extension of the Order Committee, San Francisco Joint Homeless Children Committee for two terms, district deputy grand president for two terms, and many Grand Parlor committees.

Grand Trustee Wren has been a member of the Central Committee for Homeless Children since 1933 and has given outstanding service and the benefit of his practical knowledge in the field. He has appeared before the state legislature on many occasions to help maintain and strengthen the outstanding adoption laws of our State.

During his first term as grand trustee he has not only visited the parlors assigned to him but accompanied the Grand President and other grand officers to many parlors where he has assisted with the initiatory ceremonies. He has always been ready and willing to give of his time and energy for the advancement of our great Order.

Claremont Parlor assures the membership of the Order that Ed Wren will justify any confidence the delegates may place in him and solicits their support of his candidacy for a second term as grand trustee.

TRIBUTE TO LOYAL

Paying tribute to their loyal membership and outstanding work in parlor activities through the years, members of California Parlor No. 1, NSGW, San Francisco, presented fifty-year and twenty-five-year pins, respectively, to Jacob Harris and PGP Jesse H. Miller.

The honor of presenting the emblem to Harris for his half-century of devotion to the Order went to Miller, who, a few minutes later, received his memento from Fred Ehlers, Jr.

Other members of California Parlor eligible now for fifty-year pins are Pierre A. Bergert, Romberg Jensen and Charles M. Krieger. Arthur Samish is scheduled to receive his twenty-five-year pin. Deputy Jack Lewis was present at the ceremonies as official representative of the Grand Parlor.

MILTON MOENNING

Twenty-five years as a member of Observatory Parlor No. 177, places Milton Moenning in a position deserving of recognition as a grand officer. The candidate for re-election as Grand Trustee has advanced through the chairs of his home parlor twice and since he first held an office, has attended Grand Parlor nearly every year as a delegate.

Twenty-five years with one company as an engineer establishes the candidate as a capable and reliable business man. He has lived in San Jose since 1907 and has been in business for himself there, but is now engaged as an engineer by the Josua Hendy Iron Works on a special war time assignment. This position requires his presence in various sections of the state, where the popular Grand Officer has visited many parlors, especially in the southern area.

Grand Trustee Moenning recalls the year, when as a boy, he with Mission Parlor's drum corps, attended his first Grand Parlor in Santa Rosa. He has a picture of himself as a proud youth in a proud uniform.

Observatory Parlor is proud to ask your support for their esteemed member, who boasts a pioneer background. His father came as an infant to California with his parents in 1860 and remained in San Francisco for the remainder of his life. His mother was born there in 1863 of parents who had journeyed around the Horn to California in 1852 from Hanover, Germany. They went to Fresno where they established the Harms Vineyard Company and later moved to San Francisco. Mr. Moenning's mother passed away recently in the northern city.

BASEBALL SEASON

The opening of the 1945 baseball season in San Francisco was auspicously opened by Mayor Latham, and other civic leaders. Chief of the fire department Albert Sullivan, who took an active part in the ceremonies, is a member of South San Francisco Parlor No. 157.

In the name of South San Francisco Parlor, Past President Daniel J. Collins presented Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, a member of the same parlor, with a floral horseshoe with appropriate wishes for a successful season outlined. The symbol seemingly brought luck for the San Francisco baseball team defeated Portland.

Previous to the game a parade marched around the baseball park, led by a band and five members of South San Francisco Parlor in uniform as shown in the accompanying picture.

The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West sponsor, through a central committee, the Homeless Children, a most worthy project. The Homeless Children is one of two authorized adoption agencies in the State of California. The central office is at 998 Eddy Street, San Francisco 9. Telephone ORdway 5241. Mary E. Brusie is executive secretary. The Los Angeles office is located at 3924 Sunset Boulevard 27. Telephone OLympic 4105. Dorothy Schlingman is in charge of the Los Angeles office.

WALTER N. BAILEY Should be elected to the office of GRAND THIRD VICE PRESIDENT

Because—

1—He is qualified!
2—He has the endorsement of Northern and Central California parlors!
3—Sacramento County has not had a grand president since 1889!
4—Since 1889, San Francisco has had 19 grand presidents!
5—He has served faithfully and well for 6 years as an elective grand officer.
6—Faithful service should be rewarded.
7—He has travelled over 10,000 miles visiting parlors in his districts.
8—It is for the best interest of the Order to pass the grand presidency around.
9—Under his leadership, his district showed a 15% gain in membership this year; his parlor, 35%.

CALIFORNIA BORN

WELCOMES NEW MEMBER — Ellen Wilson, president of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 greets Margaret Tolosano, chief stewardess of United Air Lines, whose membership in the parlor is being sponsored by Alice Tanner Gairdner, member of the Native Daughter group and president of the Women's Division, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

CALIFORNIA born profession has yielded to the first patriotic women's ganization in the state, a member, in the son of Margaret Tolosano, chief stewess of United Airlines who joined Los geles Parlor No. 124 NDGW on the occion of the official visit of Grand Presiit Emily E. Ryan to the parlors of Los geles county, April 26.

The airline stewardess service, now an portant feature of air transportation oughout the world, was originated in n Francisco by the company and was ugurated between that city and Chicago y 15, 1930. On the fifteenth anniversary the colorful profession, it is fitting that outstanding member of the pioneer group uld affiliate with The Native Daughters the Golden West.

Like the pioneer women who rode side dle over rocky mountain trails from Old xico to California in 1775 and those rageous souls who accompanied husds, fathers and sons across the vast ns of the continent in the days of the l rush, stewardesses have pioneered in ther era of transportation and have ught comfort to the travelers who make United Air Lines their mode of travel his modern era of speed and efficiency.

one are the hide and wooden water kets of the early days! Vanished are the alo which yielded flesh meat for the rishment of the cavalcade! Forever siled are the howls of the wolves and the otes and the savage war cry of Indian es. In their place, we hear the rhythmic of an engine as it lifts its passengers the firmament. We hear the friendly e of a young woman, who seems to an unending supply of helpful suggesns. You rest, eat, sleep and converse. then is the ultimate chapter in the y of "Ox-cart to Airplane" in Californe stewardess service was conceived by Ellen Church, then a nurse in a San Francisco hospital, who is now serving with an air evacuation squadron overseas. She was one of the original eight stewardesses who flew the Chicago-California section May 15, 1930. Up until that time passengers had had to shift pretty much for themselves with occasional aid of the plane's co-pilot. Stewardesses formerly were required to be registered graduate nurses as a means of setting a standard of uniformity in training.

After the beginning of World War II this requirement was waived due to the need for nurses in overseas duty and many trained in this line of work offered their services to their country.

As contrasted with the eight stewardesses originally employed, the company now has approximately 225 young women traveling as regular flight crew members aboard its coast-to-coast and Pacific Coast Mainliners. A United Air Lines stewardess must be a citizen of the United States and unmarried. Each applicant is required to pass a rigid physical examination.

FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY of the stewardess service will be celebrated May fifteenth. Shown above is the original group of eight stewardesses and below a picture

Early in 1942, for the first time, United began employing so-called "co-ed" stewardesses—girls who had had two or more years of college or university training and who could meet the company's other requirements. The response from campuses throughout the country was immediate and impressively large. Girls who long had dreamed of becoming air stewardesses but who knew they could not qualify because of the lack of a nurse's certificate, hastened to get in their applications.

Covering the State With the Native Daughters

Miracles Can Happen

PENICILLIN will be purchased with bonds credited to Native Daughters in the Seventh War Loan, according to plans made by, left to right, Beatrice Nishkian, Brig.-Gen. Charles C. Hillman and Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

Native Daughters of the Golden West are sponsoring a campaign in the Seventh War Loan Drive to provide a half million treatments of penicillin by the sale of war bonds and stamps during the Seventh War Loan from April 15 to June 15, under the direction of Grand President Emily E. Ryan and State Chairman of War Activities Ann Dippel of Mission Parlor.

Penicillin is the laboratory miracle, which is doing such magnificent work in cutting down war deaths caused by infected wounds, thus saving the lives of our fighting men. Inspired by stories of its achievement such as related by Brigadier General C. C. Hillman, commanding general of Letterman Hospital, Presidio of San Francisco, and patriotically desirous of continuing an active support of the war bond program, Grand President Ryan calls upon the Parlors throughout the State to sponsor the purchase of war bonds in order to provide penicillin for service men and women wounded in battles of the Pacific area. Through the typically American methods of mass production, penicillin is now available in large amounts, warranting a campaign of such magnitude that will provide half a million treatments of the wonder drug. In paying tribute to the patriotism of the Order, Mrs. William Bayless, of the Treasury Department, says this campaign makes the Native Daughters of the Golden West the first State Order, and California the first State, to pioneer the sponsoring of penicillin in the terms of war bonds.

"Let 'Pay for Penicillin' be your slogan as your War Activities chairmen set their shoulders to the wheel in the Seventh War Loan Drive," says Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

● Grand President Emily E. Ryan, SDGP May L. MacDonald and Deputy Grand President Vera Thompson of Keith Parlor, were the honored guests at dinner given by the officers of Buena Vista Parlor No. 68, NDGW, in the Persian Room of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, April 8, 1945. Preceding the dinner, Leslye Hicks was hostess at a canape party at her home.

The dinner table placed in the main dining room was the center of much comment, as it was beautifully decorated in the colors of the Order and silk American and Bear Flag in silver standards.

During the evening the group participated in a weekly broadcast, "Who's Dancing Tonight?" which goes over the air through Station KFRC from the Persian Room on Sunday evenings. Grand President Ryan was informally interviewed by Bill Baldwin, master of ceremonies, stressing the pioneer history upon which the Order was founded, so vital to California today and mentioning a special course in California History now being established at the College of the Pacific in Stockton.

The Grand President "took home the bacon," as she was the lucky winner of a grocery basket presented during the "Country Store Floor Show." Kathryn Schmidt, treasurer of Buena Vista, also drew a prize of five dollars. Community singing included a special musical toast to the Native Daughters, "California, Here We Come!" Eighteen officers and the three guests attended. Martha Field was chairman of the evening.

Number One Mother

As the month of May is the one in which special tribute is paid to the Mothers of America, it seems fitting that Native Daughters pay special recognition to the first lady of our Order, Emily E. Ryan, who has contributed so much to us as an outstanding mother.

Her children are Staff Sergeant Francis Ryan of the Ground Air Force, USA, serving in the Netherlands East Indies; Hugh Ryan and Cornelius J. Ryan, all members of Pacific Parlor No. 10, NSGW, and Emily Ryan Green, Mary and Betty Ryan, all members of Las Lomas Parlor No. 72, NDGW.

In addition to her own children all being members of the Order, Hugh's wife, Minerva Ryan is a member of Utopia Parlor No. 252, and Jack's wife, Aileen, is a member of Las Lomas, completing a circle with the exception of Emily Ryan Green's husband who is not eligible. Potential Native Sons and Native Daughters are four grandchildren of the Grand President, who are Barbara Lee and Sandra of the Jack Ryan family; Hugh, Jr., better known as "Rusty" and little Mary Elizabeth Green. Of true faith and courage is our number one Mother, Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

● Yerba Buena Parlor No. 273, NDGW was hostess, March 3, to many grand officers, deputies and visitors on the occasion of the official visit of Grand President Emily E. Ryan. The escort team attired in pastel colored gowns formed an archway with daffodil covered staffs through which the Grand President was escorted to the altar by Marshal Hertha Kemp. There the honored guest was greeted by Dorothy Skillin singing "There's Not a Thing in the World We Wouldn't Do For You."

Recording Secretary Sophie Durst read an interesting resume of activities; Treasurer Anna Hughes presented a report on Red Cross work. Five candidates were initiated. A well stocked baby hope chest was presented to the Grand President for the Homeless Children by Hertha Kemp assisted by Diane and Lorraine, small daughters of Deputy Mary Luhrs. Yerba Buena Parlor is the recipient of a beautiful altar cloth presented by Past President Sara Buckley and Trustee Mae Peters in memory of their mother, Sarah Matheson. The cloth was made by Member Marian Stoll. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

● Katherine Black and Bertha A. Briggs entertained members of Past Presidents' Association No. 13 NDGW, at their home in Hollister, carrying out an Easter motif March 26. During a brief business session two candidates were elected to membership. The social period was devoted to the playing of "bunny whist" with awards being won by Mayme Moran, Edna Wiese and Julia Moran. Seasonal refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

MEMBERSHIP STANDING

Following is the membership standing of the fifteen largest NDGW subordinate parlors as of April 14, 1945, according to information supplied by Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler:

1	Manzanita No. 29	230
2	Los Angeles No. 124	225
3	Marinita No. 198	220
4	Twin Peaks No. 185	206
5	Annie K. Bidwell No. 168	205
6	La Bandera No. 110	205
7	Joaquin No. 5	201
8	El Tejon No. 239	189
9	Stockton No. 208	187
10	Laurel No. 6	185
11	Castro No. 178	183
12	Marguerite No. 12	174
13	Vallejo No. 195	172
14	El Vespero No. 118	172
15	Coloma No. 212	163

• Copa de Oro Parlor No. 105 and San Juan Bautista No. 179, NDGW, San Benito County, jointly entertained Grand President Emily E. Ryan at Hollister March 21, transplanting a "wee bit of the Emerald Isle" into San Benito County by carrying out the theme "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Officers of San Juan Bautista Parlor wore white formals with hair ornaments of green carnations. Copa de Oro's officers, in gold-colored formals, wore green carnations in their hair and carried Irish flags. An escort group, in white formals, carried small harps.

Five candidates were initiated into Copa de Oro in impressive candle-light ceremonies. Gratifying reports of the activities of the two units were given. In addition to the Grand President, honored guests were Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke, SDDGP Edna Butterfield and Deputy Loretta McAleer. Presentation of gifts was made in a clever sketch participated in by two Irish hod-carriers.

Refreshment tables were attractive with runners, tapers and nut cups of emerald hue. A central arrangement of golden daffodils at the guest table was flanked by a dainty colleen and her sweetheart. Irish songs and stories added to the homey atmosphere of the event, which was well-attended. Contributions to the Red Cross and veteran relief were made by both parlors.

• Vendome Parlor No. 100 enjoyed a historical program at the meeting, March 28, when Clyde Arbuckle, known as Santa Clara County's historian gave an interesting talk on "Famous Residences and their Occupants." Included were those of the first Constitutional American Governor of California, Peter Burnett.

A "Gay Nineties" celebration was held April 11 when the members of the Past President's club of Vendome Parlor No. 100 took over the evening's entertainment. A class of candidates were initiated. Tillie Brohaska and PGP Mamie Carmichael, founders, were honored.

• Castro Parlor No. 178 and Portola Parlor No. 172, NDGW, received Grand President Emily E. Ryan together April 3 in Native Sons Hall, 414 Mason street, San Francisco. The hall was decorated with calla lilies and greens and easter colors of orchid and yellow carried out the bouquets carried by the officers.

The two parlors, each gave the Grand President a box of baby garments for the Homeless Children and five candidates for each parlor were initiated. Distinguished visitors included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney and Past Grand Presidents Ann Theusen, Evelyn I. Carlson, Orinda G. Giannini, and Mae Noonan. Refreshments were served after the meeting. Mae Noonan for Portola Parlor and Alice Mae Lane for Castro, were co-chairmen of the evening's plans.

• The historic E. B. Crocker Art Gallery will be the setting for a reception and tea which the Deputy Grand Presidents of Sacramento County Parlors, Woodland Parlor No. 90 and Mary E. Bell Parlor No. 224 are planning in honor of Grand President Emily E. Ryan and Grand Trustees Henrietta Toothaker and Maxine Kelly for Sunday afternoon, May 27.

Invitations to the affair have been extended to Grand Officers of the Native Sons and Native Daughters, as well as State, City and County officials. Governor Earl C. Warren will be the guest speaker. The ROTC of the Sacramento Senior High School will present the colors followed by the singing of the National Anthem by Eleta Cortopassi of Victory Parlor No. 216, Courtland. Musical numbers will be rendered by the Sacramento Senior High School trio. Stanley Plummer, well known violinist, will be the soloist.

The receiving line will consist of Grand President Emily Ryan, Grand Trustees Henrietta Toothaker and Maxine Kelley, Past Grand Presidents Mary E. Bell and Edna B. Briggs, SDDGP Genevieve Didion.

Guests attending the tea will enjoy the spacious gallery, located at Third and O streets in the old section of the city, which was part of the original home of the E. B. Crockers, and was constructed to house and display an extensive collection of drawings and paintings acquired in Europe by Judge Crocker.

In conjunction with the tea and preceding the reception, the third annual public speaking contest for Junior College students will take place.

• Manzanita Parlor celebrated its fifty-seventh anniversary, March 20, with a delicious hot turkey dinner. Over 100 members attended. Sadie Clauson who now resides in Berkeley and Theresa Provis, of Watsonville, journeyed to their parlor to receive their fifty year pins on this occasion. An Easter parade of 1850-1870 with thirty members in the cast followed as the featured program.

Manzanita Parlor gave sixty-five of its members twenty-five year pins April 3. There were thirty-one members present to receive the emblems, while the rest were mailed.

A Red Cross fund benefit card party was given April 5 and was a huge success. Goldie Tresize was general chairman. The red and gold attendance teams have been running very close for the past three months. The golds treated the winners April 17 with a hot chicken pie dinner. Mabel Cryer, Kay Gallino and Ruth Short were co-chairmen for the event.

• Grand President Emily E. Ryan officially visited Morada Parlor No. 199, March 24, in IOOF Hall. While Emma Clovis sang "Always," Mrs. Ryan was escorted to a seat of honor by acting marshal, Ella Halford and Grand Vice-president Ethel Enos and an escort team each of whom carried an arm bouquet which was presented to the Grand President. Grand Vice-president Enos and Grand Trustee Charles Blaine were introduced and George Ingles, president of Modesto Parlor No. 11 NSGW, presented a bouquet to Mrs. Ryan.

About 150 members were in attendance from various parlors including, beside the grand president and grand vice-president, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Outside Sentinel Jewell McSweeney, Grand Trustees Elizabeth Read, Maxine Kelly, Henrietta Toothaker, Past Grand Presidents Mamie Peyton, Evelyn I. Carlson, Orinda Giannini, Hazel B. Hansen, Clarice Cook; SDDGP Laurette Stockton, who acted as Marshal and DGP Mary Panetto.

Formal initiatory ceremonies were conducted by candlelight for Alice B. Covert, Mary Ann Dias and Bessie Gray with Alice Lopez presiding. A silver offering was presented to the Grand President for the station wagon fund and the parlor gift enclosed in a large Easter egg was presented by Mrs. Enos. The annual report on parlor activities was read by Ann Sargent.

The Easter season was the theme of the evening. President Alice Lopez was general chairman for the occasion and Mary Clay, chairman for decorations. A musical program arranged by Mary Martin and announced by Pearl Gordon, preceded the meeting. Refreshments were served by the March social committee in the banquet room.

A public whist party sponsored jointly by Modesto Parlor No. 11 NSGW and Morada Parlor No. 199 was held in IOOF Hall, April 18. Dancing, with music by Edith Lilley's orchestra, and refreshments will complete the evening's program. Gerry Sciarini is general chairman and Marguerite Johnson is in charge of refreshments.

Parlor business for February, March and April included donations to the March of Dimes, American Red Cross, the Grand Parlor Station Wagon Fund and the Annie L. Adair Scholarship Fund.

The members voted April 11 to go on record as in favor of the Dillinger Bill relative to gold dredging in California. Letters were recommended to be written to Assemblyman Ralph Brown, Senator Hugh Donnelly and to the Grand Parlor Legislative Committee regarding this action by Morada Parlor.

• With forty-two members eligible for twenty-five year pins, Castro Parlor No. 178, NDGW, San Francisco, recently bestowed the emblems of service on them when the parlor celebrated its thirty-fifth anniversary with a banquet. Mary Luhr was chairman for the dinner and Muriel Hayes, twenty-five year pin chairman.

Pals night was held April 18, with Nelda Ehrhorn as chairman. Eva Kearse is chairman of Secret Pals, who were revealed on this occasion.

DOROTHY DONOFRIO

El Carmelo Parlor No. 181 NDGW, Daly City, San Mateo County, takes pleasure in presenting Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio for the office of Grand Trustee.

While fulfilling her duties as a Grand Officer the candidate has continued to be an outstanding member and officer of her own Parlor, participating in war bond drives and hostessing at the Daly Service Men's Club. This year she is serving as county chairman on War Activities.

Of the third generation born in California, her parents, husband and sister are members of their respective Orders. She also is a member of the Past Presidents Association.

Through her experience as an executive secretary, she has a thorough knowledge of business transactions and the parlor feels she possesses qualifications requisite for the office of Grand Trustee.

Grand Inside Sentinel Dorothy Donofrio is desirious of further serving our Order and any consideration you may give her will be greatly appreciated by El Carmelo Parlor and accepted as an encouragement to its member.

• Initiation ceremonies of what is hoped will be the largest class in the history of the parlor, will highlight the fifty-eighth anniversary ceremonies of Eshcol Parlor No. 16 NDGW, Napa, June 25.

Ella Ingram, recording secretary, stated that a determined drive for new members to be initiated at the June event is currently taking place.

• With Marion McGuire, president, presiding, a practice initiation was held during the regular meeting of Sequoia Parlor 272 NDGW. Thursday evening, April 12. Special guests were SDDGP Louise Benedetti and Charlotte Chiselli of Encinal Parlor, and Emma Haggerty of Fruitvale Parlor.

A successful shower was given for the boys in the hospitals during the meeting of April 12 with Edna Williams in charge. She reported that over 5,000 cross word puzzles have been mounted and sent to the hospitals.

During the early part of May, the sixth birthday anniversary of the parlor will be observed with a dinner and entertainment. Martha Gohl is in charge. A delightful social hour was enjoyed following the meeting on April 26. Marie Verdi was in charge.

• Annual dinner for husbands and escorts of members of Woodland Parlor No. 90 NDGW, was held April 5 at the Elks Club. One hundred guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner. A program of songs, dances and skits followed. Mrs. Clair Lundorff was chairman of the very enjoyable affair.

Edna Richter, Homeless Children chairman, assisted by Helena Stitt and Carol Stephenson held a baby shower for the project. Storks, baby dolls, rattles and clotheslines hung with baby clothes were the clever decorations for the worthy affair. Many gifts were contributed.

• Fruitvale Parlor No. 177 NDGW has been very active in helping to promote Homeless Children activities. Eleanor Gentry, Alvina Fain and Jane Lange attended all the Alameda County meetings and assisted at the public meeting which was held April 13 at the Native Sons Hall in Oakland. PGP Charles Koenig of San Francisco NSGW, was the guest speaker and outlined the various projects and activities of the central committee on the care of the Homeless Child. A short movie also was shown depicting the life of the child until its adoption.

The Sewing Club of Fruitvale Parlor held a benefit spaghetti dinner April 11 at the home of Helen Adamo. Twenty-five members attended. Following the dinner bridge-whist was enjoyed.

• Marking the 38th anniversary of Joaquin Parlor No. 5 NDGW, Stockton, a dinner party was held April 10 in Native Sons Hall, attended by members and their guests.

At a recent meeting of the parlor, Mrs. Ben Pattison reported many gifts and donations have been received by the Homeless Children committee. Three dollars was voted by members to be paid to the Board of Relief of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, and a contribution was made toward the stationwagon fund.

Mrs. Ernest Ricker entertained members with a story on the origination of the Native Daughters home in San Francisco, which was erected in 1929.

• Grace Parlor No. 242 NDGW, Placentia, recently voted to adopt three more babies, bringing the total of youngsters cared for by this parlor to twenty-five. Names for the little ones will be James Neal, Willis Alonzo and Lester Casey.

Fifty-four dollars was donated to the American Red Cross War Fund drive by Grace Parlor members. The money was raised at the March 15 business meeting, presided over by Mae Lemke, president. A social hour followed, with refreshments served by Mary Williams, Rebecca Hason and Christine McFarland.

Betty Ann Haiber and Elsie Campbell were honored guests at a delightful baby shower and luncheon given by Erna Watts and Alice Martindale. Thirty guests, all members of the parlor's sewing club, attended.

Anna T. Schiebusch

Anna T. Schiebusch, of Los Angeles, now completing her second term as grand trustee of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, is presented for election for a third term by Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Members of the parlor sponsor Miss Schiebusch for re-election, confident of her efficiency; mindful of her sterling worth and proud of her executive ability and the leadership she has manifested in the performance of her duties.

In addition to the grand trusteeship, Miss Schiebusch currently is vice-chairman of the Homeless Children project, Southern California section, and is state chairman of the Order's Veterans Welfare Division.

This year she organized Toluca Parlor No. 279, Burbank, and San Gabriel Valley Parlor. She assisted in the organization of Placerita Parlor No. 277, Van Nuys last year and at present is assisting in forming a parlor in Inglewood, which probably will be completed this month.

In the business world, Miss Schiebusch is assistant Superintendent of Mails in Los Angeles. She is the only woman in the Western part of the country occupying such a post. Prior to entering this position she had the precedent-setting distinction of being the first woman foreman in Los Angeles' postal service.

Miss Schiebusch is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Los Angeles, and is former treasurer of that city's Soroptimist Club. She is very active in the National Organization of Postal Supervisors.

• A tribute to Evelyn White, a Native Daughter who not only was responsible for organizing a parlor, but who has brought distinction to her community, was the fourteenth anniversary dinner of the cultural and civic center known as Poppy Trail Villa, East Los Angeles, March 24.

East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266, with President Virginia Cook acting as hostess to an excellent representation from her parlor introduced Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch. On the rostrum at the speaker's table were many distinguished friends and admirers of Evelyn White, including Judge Georgia Bullock, Judge Thomas P. White, and Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, all of whom paid tribute to the honored guest.

William Fairchild Hoffman played his own composition, "There's No Place Like California," which was sung by Clara Edna Geoghan. The National Anthem was rendered by the community band of boys and girls.

• Military personnel at the Long Beach Service Men's Recreation Club enjoyed a delicious hot dog and coffee repast, March 19, with members of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 NDGW, as hostesses. Dorothy Strubhart and a capable committee served the meals. Ellen Rogers donated mixed nuts as a special treat, greatly enjoyed by the servicemen.

Two babies have been adopted by the parlor this year. Honoring the parlor president, Vera West, one of the youngsters, was named for her, while the other was called Anzo, in compliment to the president's mother, Mrs. Varney.

PLAN INSTITUTION

We are informed that May 29 is the tentative date decided upon for the institution of a Native Daughter Parlor in Inglewood. Organizer Lura Pesqueira, advisor, PGP Grace S. Stoermer and Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch will be happy to receive names of prospective members who live in that area.

Be A Padrino!

The Southern Counties Homeless Children Committee will hold a benefit fiesta in the patio of La Casa de Adobe of the Southwest Museum, 4605 North Figueroa street, Los Angeles, Sunday, May 27 at 2 o'clock. Isabel Fages, general chairman of the Casa is in charge. A donation of one dollar or more accompanied by your return address mailed to the Grizzly Bear Office, Rm. 315, 206 S. Spring street, Los Angeles 12, is required in order to obtain a ticket of admission.

If you wish to be listed among the "padrinos" or godparents by donating $37.50 to the milk fund, please let us know in time to include your name in the publicity to be sent to the newspapers. A parlor acting as padrinos will receive thirty-seven tickets of admission.

• Grand President Emily Ryan visited Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26 NDGW, officially March 1, 1945. A dinner at Beach Hill Inn, preceded the regular meeting and decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Guests were Senior Past Grand President Mae B. Wilkin, PGP Bertha Briggs, PGP Stella Finkeldey, Charter Member Annie G. Lorenz, SDDGP Edna Butterfield, and Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke.

The meeting was held in the Native Sons Hall, which had been attractively decorated by past presidents, Ruby Bowen and Marjorie Dellamonica. Three candidates, initiated into the Order were Maybelle Fulmer, Mary Day, and Ola McLellan.

The Grand President was presented with a redwood tray by Hazel Kunde and Genevieve Davis, dressed in Irish costumes. The presentation was planned by Past President Lela Swasey. Soloists for the evening were Arista Mellor, Melba McKenna and Josephine Brazill.

After the meeting, refreshments were served buffet style, from a table decorated in white, with white tapers. Dorothy Barber, Bessie Gomes, Mamie Cavanagh and Member Genevieve Davis were in charge of refreshments. Co-chairmen of the evening were Past Presidents Dorothy Barber and Leona Geyer.

MARION E. WHITE

Piedmont Parlor No. 87 NDGW, Oakland, presents its member, Marion E. White, for election to the office of grand marshal. Marion White has served the Order for twenty-seven years as a member of a number of committees, as a deputy, as supervising deputy and for five terms as grand trustee. In each of these offices she has shown skill and initiative, decided qualities of leadership, sound judgment, and a willingness and faithfulness to serve far above the average.

The granddaughter of pioneers of the Mother Lode section of California, the candidate has resided in Oakland most of her life and it was here she received her education. She holds a responsible position as secretary in a branch of the county government.

Those who have known and been associated with her know she is deserving of recognition by the members of the Order and the support of your Parlor is earnestly requested. A favorable endorsement from your Parlor for Marion E. White for the office of grand marshal will be gratefully appreciated by the members of Piedmont Parlor.

• San Joaquin Valley Parlor, NDGW, assembled in Stockton's Native Sons Hall, April 5, to welcome Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

Three Stockton parlors acted as joint hosts of the affair. They were Joaquin Parlor No. 5, Caliz de Oro Parlor No. 206 and Stockton Parlor No. 256. With the Grand President that evening came a number of grand officers, including Grand Vice President Ethel C. Enos, Modesto, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Oakland, and Grand Trustee, Betty Read, Jackson. A specially honored guest was Flora Ferreira, Jackson, of the original thirteen women who started the Order in 1886.

A "spring garden" motif transformed the hall into a beautiful setting for the ritualistic ceremonies. Decorations were pink flowering peach trees and softly burning pink and yellow candles.

Joaquin Parlor, with Laura Mae Roesch, president, presiding, opened the meeting. Caliz de Oro Parlor, led by Mrs. C. A. Laiblin, president, took charge of initiation and closing ceremonies conducted by Stockton Parlor, with Mrs. Leo Johnson, president, in the chair. Thirteen members joined Stockton Parlor; six entered Joaquin Parlor and two became members of Caliz de Oro Parlor.

Laura Jane O'Brien presented a silver gift to the Grand President on behalf of the three parlors. Gifts also were presented to each of the grand officers and to the candidates.

Speaking to the assemblage, Mrs. Ryan outlined the projects of the Order to the new candidates, reported there were now 15,000 Native Daughters in the state.

SALLIE R. THALER

Sallie Rutherford Thaler was born in Oakland, Alameda County, of pioneer parents. Her mother, Sara Rutherford, also a member of Aloha Parlor, is a proud wearer of the twenty-five year pin of the Order and is still active in Parlor affairs although past eighty years of age. Sallie Thaler has been a member of Aloha Parlor since 1912; is a past president and also held the office of recording secretary for a number of years. She truly has devoted these thirty-three years to Native Daughterism.

In 1920 Mrs. Thaler received her first official appointment as deputy to Richmond Parlor No. 147, Contra Costa County, followed by several grand parlor appointments, and in 1925 in Placerville, she was a successful candidate for the office of grand trustee to which office she was re-elected in Sacramento in 1926. The year 1927 saw the election of Sallie Thaler to the office of grand secretary, a position to which she has been returned eighteen successive times. She has the honor of being chairman of the Alameda County Grand Parlor session on two occasions, and has been appointed state chairman of many Grand Parlor committees.

Through personal contacts with all parlors in the Order, she has endeared herself to many hundreds of members throughout our beloved state. For the past twenty-five years Mrs. Thaler has been a member of many committees formed by various civic minded officials and other members of the large and progressive community in which she lives. Mrs. Thaler is a member of the Mayor's Oakland Hospitality House committee and his Juvenile Delinquency committee, and is a member of the Alameda County Veterans' Christmas committee.

• Becoming the seventh largest Native Daughter Parlor in the Order, El Tejon Parlor No. 239, Bakersfield, initiated twenty-three members on the occasion of Grand President Emily E. Ryan's official visit March 16. The Grand President complimented the Parlor and praised Mrs. A. W. Brooks, president, for the increase of over 100 per cent in membership during the past year.

The Grand President also complimented the Escort Team for the drills they performed during the evening. Before escorting the Grand President to her station, "Emily" was spelled out and a large "V" formed after each member presented the Grand President with a stalk of pink or blue flowers, forming a large arm bouquet.

Grand officers present included Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustee Ann Schiebusch, PGP Ann Theusen, SDDGP Lucille Kane and DGP Lucy Supertino. A gift was presented the Grand President for her favorite project.

Preceding the meeting in the auditorium of the Woman's Club, a banquet in honor of Grand President Ryan was held in the Spanish Room of Hotel El Tejon. Thelma Anton, a member of El Tejon Parlor, sang "One Rose" and "Always," accompanied by Martha La Brier, a past president of El Tejon Parlor.

• As a prelude to the marking of the Dominguez adobe, April 25, Californiana Parlor No. 247 NDGW, held a History and Landmarks luncheon, April 10, in the Women's University Club, Los Angeles. Ysabel Monroe, chairman of the committee with President Charlotte Carpenter and Program Chairman Edith Adams were hostesses.

County Surveyor Alfred Jones, head of Los Angeles County's Historical Landmarks committee, was the speaker of the day. He related the manner in which his group act in an advisory capacity for the organizations who wish to mark sites and landmarks. The speaker was accompanied by his assistant, R. F. Flickwir.

At a recent meeting of the Gertrude Sewing Circle in the home of Mrs. Earl R. Osborn, $70.35 realized from the luncheon and contribution toward the Homeless Children by Elmer Weber for twenty-five dollars and one by Isabella Granz for $10 were made.

When Margaret Kerr voiced a request for the furnishing of more rooms at Birmingham Hospital in Van Nuys, which is to be converted into an embarcation hospital, Edith Adams contributed the $70 necessary for the furnishing of the room in behalf of the parlor. As publicity chairman, Miss Kerr contributed the thirty dollars due her for expenses toward the Red Cross flood bank station wagon fund which is nearing completion.

Proceeds of the luncheon were divided between the Annie L. Adair scholarship fund and the Homeless Children, and an amount was added from the general fund to make the scholarship contribution an even fifteen dollars.

• East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266 NDGW, and East Los Angeles Art Club sponsored the auction of a landscape by Paul Lauritz at a meeting, April 4, in Poppy Trail Villa, 4558½ Whittier Blvd. One hundred dollars was raised, with the art club and the American Red Cross sharing the money.

Virginia Cook, president, headed the reception committee at the affair. She was assisted by Hortense Hill, Gertrude Hill, Pauline Pappas, Alma Pappas Woolman, Philomena Wooster and Carmen Klugh.

Representing the Red Cross was R. L. Sanford. His announcement that East Los Angeles had gone "over the top" in the recent Red Cross War Fund drive brought a rousing burst of applause from the crowd present.

• "Love of Country" will be the program theme when Santa Barbara's Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 NDGW, receives an official visit jointly with Santa Maria No. 276 from Grand President Emily Ryan, May 2, in the City Woman's club. A formal meeting, to which civic leaders of the community have been invited, will be preceded by a buffet supper at the social hall of Trinity Episcopal church, situated near the clubhouse.

Reina del Mar Parlor is entering its forty-fifth year. Within the last month it sponsored a California luncheon for the Anna L. Adair scholarship fund in line with grand parlor committee recommendations that this fund be accented in the month of April. The business training scholarships offered young men and young women were demonstrated as of great value in postwar adjustments.

• Celebrating the forty-fourth anniversary of the founding of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, NDGW, members gathered at a gala birthday party April 18 in Odd Fellows Hall, 1828 South Oak street.

Ellen Wilson, president, graciously presided as hostess during the festive evening, assisted by Olive Hedges, third vice president, and Georgia Hart, trustee. Highlights of the party were a talk descriptive of the juvenile delinquency problem by Rosalind Bates, attorney, and the appearance of a large birthday cake with candles, which was cut and served by the president and her assistants.

Preceding the party was the regular meeting, at which time delegates to vote on Grand Parlor officers were nominated. Georgia Hart was congratulated for the successful rummage sale held recently, which she superintended. Over $100 were raised through sale of clothes donated by members and will go to the parlor's philanthropy fund.

Members were invited to attend the dessert lunch and "sewing bee" April 28 in the tea room of Odd Fellows Hall, where garments for the Order's Homeless Children will be prepared.

President Emily Welch, SDDGP Doris Hoffner and DGP Lena Baines received the guests. Refreshments were served by a group of members attired in old fashioned gowns. Ann Owen, accompanied by Ruth Disney, sang several songs. Table and door prizes were awarded, one of them being a beautiful spring hat.

Dorothy Holley, first vice-president, was chairman of the charming affair, assisted by Frances Crawford, Sally Engstrom, Katherine Heilbron, Louise Miller, Carrie Chambers, Edith Cupp and Stephana Stothart.

HENRIETTA TOOTHAKER

With a great deal of pride, Woodland Parlor No. 90 presents Miss Henrietta Toothaker for the office of Grand Marshal, feeling that her past record is proof of her integrity and her ability in furthering the interests of our beloved Order.

In her own community, Miss Toothaker is outstanding for her work in her church, in civic activities, and with children in and out of school where she has taught for twenty-five years. In her parlor she served as president two terms; was a deputy grand president twice; was supervising district deputy grand president, and chairman of the Committee on Education for one year.

In 1942 the candidate was elected to the office of grand trustee which she has held for the past three years. During this time the welfare of our organization has been uppermost in her mind. She has attended all called and regular meetings of the grand trustees and grand officers and has proved her abilities as a grand officer by her clear thinking, her fairness, and good business judgment.

Henrietta Toothaker is a member of a pioneer family. Her grandparents came here around the Horn and by ox team in the years 1852 and 1857. Because of these qualifications, Woodland Parlor feels their candidate is worthy of favorable consideration for the office of grand marshal.

The Last Roll Call

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

In memory of our late beloved President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, Oakland, passed the following resolution:

"Be It Resolved, Fruitvale Parlor No. 252 NSGW, at its regular meeting, April 13, 1945; sincerely regrets the untimely slipping away of our Beloved President and greatest statesman of our time, Franklin Delano Roosevelt; and

"Resolved, That we pray that his two great aims: first—that of winning this war by unconditional surrender of the enemy powers; and second—the forming of a world peace organization to keep the peace, so that war can never happen again, will soon be realized.

"He is gone, but his memory will live on forever.

"Resolved, That the Charter of this Parlor be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and that we do adjourn in respect to the memory of our beloved President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Dies In Action

We are in receipt of a letter from Ray H. Overacker in which he informs us of the death of his son, Clifford, a member of Paradise Parlor No. 282, Huntington Beach. The letter reads, "My son was in the service of his country, and died as the result of wounds received in action December 13, 1944. He was in action in the Aachen area in Germany with the armored engineers of the Fifth division, U.S. First Army when he received his fatal wounds."

Covered Wagon Pioneer

Sophia Ford, ninety-nine years of age and mother of Fletcher Ford, member of Ramona Parlor No. 109, Los Angeles, passed away March 8. Mrs. Ford crossed the plains with her parents in a covered wagon train, arriving at Downieville, California, in 1852.

Her father, A. J. McKinsey, was prominent in public affairs in Downieville and for many years, served as postmaster and county recorder. Mrs. Ford was intimately acquainted with Mrs John Mackay, wife of the Comstock millionaire and with other prominent personages in the days of gold. She spent a number of years in San Francisco in the 60's. In 1872 she married James A. Ford in Downieville, then owner of the Downieville Mountain Messenger, and later a newspaper owner and public school teacher in Visalia and San Luis Obispo, coming to Los Angeles in 1898, where he passed on in 1932.

Mrs. Ford was the mother of five children and brought up one child she adopted at birth. Besides her son, Fletcher Ford, she is survived by a daughter Mrs. Mignon Hantke, both of Los Angeles, and a daughter, Mrs. Irene Peterson, of Santa Paula, also by six grandchildren, fifteen great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren.

Dr. Russel Presho, husband of Dora Presho, President of Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26 NDGW, passed away very suddenly March 25, 1945.

Eulogy

By ETTA HOOK
Member of Coloma Parlor No. 212, NDGW, Sacramento

Dr. Eva Rasmussen served as Grand resident of the Native Daughters of the olden West from June, 1906 to June, 1907. ime rolls its ceaseless course. We have ssembled to pay our last tribute to our loved friend.

In meditating upon the privilege we have joyed in knowing and serving with her, e are alive to the obligations and re- onsibilities of the Native Daughters of e Golden West, as practised by our be- ved member.

She served the Order during difficult nes, and, as she wrote in her report to and Parlor, "The best energies of my icial life have been spent in the endeavor perpetuate the principles and ideals of r Order."

Forgetful of self, she legislated at all nes for the harmony and progress of the tive Daughters of the Golden West. e was a former member of La Esperanza rlor in Los Angeles, (now Los Angeles rlor No. 124) but joined Coloma Parlor 1924. She was active in the parlor and ved as our president from July, 1926, January, 1927. She was ever thoughtful our Homeless Children project.

But they all are passing away, these gonauts of a later day." We must bow the inevitable, even though our hearts heavy. Memory will ever bind the life Eva R. Rasmussen to the Native Daugh- of the Golden West.

hese lines were taken from Past Grand sident Eva R. Rasmussen's report, "In noriam," for her term: "Every year the er calleth some loved one to endless , and our hearts, though filled with an- h, can but cry, 'He knows best.' There's ing terrible in death. It's but to cast robes away and sleep at night, without eath to break repose 'til dawn of day."

Louise Reilly

To the Officers and Members of Manzanita Parlor No. 29, NDGW Whereas, we are deeply grieved at the loss of one of our loved and respected members, Louise Reilly, who passed away in San Francisco. A native of Nevada County, Sister Reilly was deeply interested in the work of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, as her long membership testifies. She gave both time and energy in furthering the high principles of the organization, and

Resolved, That her kindness of heart and her faith in the principles of the Golden Rule were an inspiration to all and her memory will be cherished for her excellent qualities.

To her son, Joseph Reilly, we extend our sympathy and ask that a message of our regard be sent to him, and the minutes of our meeting record the same.

Gertrude M. Connor

To the Officers and Members of Encinal Parlor No. 156, NDGW—We your, committee, appointed to draft a memorial of love and respect to the memory of our departed Sister, Past President Gertrude M. Connor, submit the following:

"We saw not the lift of the curtain
Nor heard the invisible door
As she passed where life problems, uncertain,
Will follow and vex her no more.

"We lingered and wept at the threshold
The threshold each mortal must cross
Then lay a new wreath down upon it
To mark a new sorrow and loss."

Whereas, Our Eternal Father has again sent his silent messenger, Death, into our Parlor and taken from our midst, our beloved past president, Sister Gertrude M. Connor. Our hearts are saddened at her passing, but we bow in humble submission to the will of God. As we pause for thought, we offer a silent prayer for our loved one who has been called to her Heavenly Home.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That we pay loving tribute to her memory. Gertrude Connor was a woman with great nobility of character. Sincerity and loyalty were her outstanding virtues. She was a true friend, a loyal Native Daughter. She was loyal to her family, her friends and to her Parlor. By her death, we have lost a wonderful member, one whose place it will be hard to fill, a Sister whose kind and loving disposition endeared her to all.

Resolved, That a page of our records be dedicated to her memory; a copy of these resolutions spread upon the minutes of our Parlor; a copy sent to her bereaved family and a copy sent to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

"Let us not mourn her going.
Let us rejoice to know.
That earthly labors are finished.
She was prepared to go.
Let us emulate her virtues,
That all of us may say
The world is better, brighter
Because she passed this way."

Respectfully submitted,
LAURA FISHER,
RETA ROBERTS,
HAZEL TEARLE,
Committee.

of the

NATIVE SONS of the GOLDEN WEST

The Grand Parlor War Conference, with its limited membership, will convene at Hoberg's, Lake County, on May 18 and 19, 1945.

May I express here my whole hearted appreciation to my Brothers of our Great Order who made it possible to exceed even last year's great gain. Every district showed a gain. Every section of the State shows improvement. Practically every Parlor, young and old, is in better condition than a year ago.

The Native Sons of the Golden West are matching the strides of our great State of California. The future of both demand comprehensive plans and a program for not only Post War development but for that greater future that holds so much for all of us.

Native Sons at Hobergs

THE Native Sons of the Golden West at its War Conference at Hobergs reaffirmed its former stand against changing the terms of the Oriental Exclusion provisions of the Immigration law of the United States. Resolutions asking the army to revoke its permission for the return of the Japanese to the west coast until our boys return from military service were passed. This is intended to prevent the purchasing and leasing of the best farm lands formerly farmed by our men now in the service. Unconditional surrender of Japan and commendation of peace officers of the State of California in minimizing violence because of the return of Japanese, also were recommended.

State officers elected for the ensuing year are Richard F. McCarthy of Oakland, grand president; R. G. Power of Colusa, grand first vice president; Walter H. Odemar of Los Angeles, grand second vice president; Walter N. Bailey of Elk Grove, grand third vice president; John T. Regan of San Francisco, grand secretary; John A. Corotto of San Jose, grand treasurer; Raymond P. Burke of Oakland, grand marshal; John Benson of Benicia, grand inside sentinel; Erle B. Smith of Wilmington, grand outside sentinel; Bernard G. Hiss of Los Angeles, Charles D. Blaine of Modesto, Peter T. Conmy of San Francisco, Milton G. Moenning of San Jose, Ellsworth Williard of Placerville, Edward J. Wren of San Francisco, Webster K. Nolan of San Francisco, grand trustees.

The two day session, presided over by Grand President Raymond Williamson was limited to non-controversial business, with no amendments to the constitution being submitted. Several lively debates, however, punctuated an otherwise quiet gathering. Members of Grand Parlor were banqueted Saturday night and Friday evening guests wandered back and forth between two dances and numerous "open house" invitations. What was lacking in public debate on the floor of the meetings was made up in riotous repartee.

The finance committee presented a report showing estimated expenses for the ensuing year at $23,314.70 and the per capita tax to be $1.85 the same as last term. The total membership of the Order was 18,547 December 31, 1944. Members of the finance committee are Henry S. Spaulding, chariman, Eugene F. Cerqui, and Harry Romick.

The State of the Order committee report included the announcement that plans are progressing to institute parlors in San Luis Obispo, Vacaville, and Mojave. Several parlors had not paid their per capita tax for some time. Quincy Parlor No. 131 had returned its regalia. The committee recommended that the charter of this parlor be revoked. The same procedure was recommended for Big Valley Parlor No. 211.

Total convertible assets of the Order were reported as amounting to $1,138,134.79, a financial gain of approximately $10,000. The sum of $68,926.50 was paid to members as benefits. The State of the Order committee was comprised of Richard F. McCarthy, chairman; R. G. Power, Walter H. Odemar, Bernard G. Hiss and Ellsworth Williard.

On the Lower Lake Parlor committee of arrangements working with George, Frank and Paul Hoberg, were Grand Trustee Judge Benjamin C. Jones, general chairman; SDDGP John Pearce; Albert Kugleman, chairman, and George Lee, entertainment; Bud Pine; Ernest Olsen, Sieglers Springs, president of Lower Lake Parlor; Thomas Garner, secretary of Lake county Chamber of Commerce; Wesley Carey, Liaison committee; John Cremer and Pop Simons of Guadalupe Parlor, San Francisco, refreshments. Joseph Barry, San Francisco was chairman of transportation.

Friday afternoon a recess was declared to receive Grand Vice President Ethel C. Enos of Modesto, representing Grand President Emily E. Ryan of the Native Daughters and Grand Trustee Maxine Kelly of Sacramento who extended the good wishes of the sister Order. Mrs. Enos suggested a membership contest between the two organizations for the coming year.

Los Angeles' mayor, Fletcher Bowron, member of Ramona Parlor No. 109, issued an invitation to the Grand Parlor to meet in his city in 1946. The decision will be made at a future meeting of the Board of Grand Officers and will be influenced by the progress of the war.

The Hour of Eulogies was also conducted Friday afternoon at an open session. PGP J. R. Knowland paid tribute to PGP Fletcher Cutler; PGP Harmon Skillin spoke words of sorrow and praise for PGP Joseph J. McShane; Eugene O'Donnell, Dolores Parlor eulogized a grand parlor member, Thomas J. Curtin who was a grand officer from 1911-1912.

Henry Lyon, past grand president paid tribute to the memory of all past members of grand parlor; Grand Trustee Benjamin C. Jones paid tribute to the memory of the 311 members of the entire Order who had passed to the Grand Parlor on High during the current year. Grand President Williamson closed the ceremony by calling for a moment's silent prayer.

Installation ceremonies were conducted Saturday afternoon by Junior Past Grand President Wayne Millington, with acting grand officers as follows: PGP. Charles Koenig, marshal; Harry Romick, Castro Parlor, secretary and PGP Lloyd Cosgrove, past president, and George Cuthbertson, organist.

"Citizens are becoming more aware of their own rights and Native Sons should let the world know how they stand on matters concerning state and nation," said the newly installed Grand President, Richard F. McCarthy of Piedmont Parlor No. 120, Oakland. "Native Sons should become an influential factor. Members should learn more about their own Order and how to tell non members about it." The Grand President urged that parlors large and small participate in civic and history and landmarks activities in their communities. Frank P. Smith of Piedmont Parlor presented their esteemed member with a gavel from the parlor and Junior Past President Raymond Williamson pinned the grand president's emblem on his successor. PGP Skillin made the presentation of a past grand president's pin to Williamson.

The Grand President introduced his wife and thanked her for eight years cooperation. He then introduced the members of his own parlor who were present, including Richard Hamb, to whom he accredited much of his success. He reappointed Emmett Joy, grand historian and Al Weber of Piedmont Parlor as grand organist.

Saturday evening a banquet was held in the dining room and at the speakers' table grand officers and many past grand presidents were seated. Judge Benjamin Jones, general chairman of the conference, presented Eugene O'Donnell of Dolores Parlor, San Francisco, who acted as master of ceremonies and with every introduction interpolated a note of humor. In again addressing the assemblage the grand president as the only speaker for the evening, said he hoped the Order was commencing on another fruitful year. "We should not think of just one year when we plan for this term," he stated. "Our plans should include all the years ahead. We should devote our time and energies toward assisting the smaller parlors. We should not refer to any of them as 'weak' but should bend our efforts toward making them strong. It is our aim to have 25,000 members at the end of this year and with the estimates for increase in population for the state, we should, in the not too distant future have 100,000 members."

In attendance during the sessions were Past Grand Presidents Eldred Meyer, Hartley Russell, Joseph R Knowland, Lloyd Cosgrove; Edward Lynch; Charles Koenig; Harmon Skillin, William Caubu and William M. Conley.

A trio of musicians furnished instrumental music for the evening and the Grand President stepped down from his seat of honor to render "Paddy McGinty's Goat." Katherine Wren and Bud Fages presented vocal solos.

THE historically rich San Gabriel Valley now has a Native Daughter Parlor named for it, with institution having been held the evening of April 23 in the dignified atmosphere of the South Pasadena Masonic Temple.

Grand President Emily E. Ryan officiated at the special session of Grand Parlor which brought the organization to fruition and following the initiation ceremonies, Louise Cash, the member whose dream of five years had been realized, was installed as charter president. She was chosen by her fellow members in recognition of her efforts to bring them together as a Native Daughter family. Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch organized the group and acted as chairman for the impressive installation.

Sixty-five charter members were initiated by the following team:

Ellen Wilson, Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, president; Florence Grass, La Reina No. 267, past president; Isabel Fages, Californiana No. 247, junior past president; Claudia Campia, Placerita No. 277, first vice president; Flora Alice Day, Verdugo No. 240, second vice president; Charlotte Carpenter, Californiana, third vice president; Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, secretary; Lorraine Selby, East Los Angeles No. 266, financial secretary; Vera West, Long Beach No. 154, treasurer; Mary Miller, Verdugo, organist; Elizabeth Curtis, Audrey Purdy and Unavine Nicholson, all of San Fernando Mission, No. 280, trustees; Vida Wells, East Los Angeles, inside sentinel; Camille Farnsworth, San Fernando Mission, outside sentinel; Genevieve McGinley, Los Angeles, marshal; Frankie Lambreth, La Reina, Ramona Asher, San Fernando, and Peggy Turner, Toluca, assistant marshals.

Installing officer for the evening was SDDGP Elsie Amidon of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124; PGP Ann Theusen acted as grand vice president; JPGP Mary B. Noerenberg, past grand president; PGP Hazel B. Hansen, grand marshal; Juanita Porter, Los Angeles, acting grand marshal; Grand Secretary Thaler in her official capacity; Phyllis Hirst, Verdugo, grand treasurer; Doris Jacobsen, Grace No. 242, grand outside sentinel, and SDDGP Adlena Marschall, Orange and San Bernardino counties, grand inside sentinel; Florence Schoneman, Rudecinda No. 230, Marvel Tempest, and Grand Trustee Schiebusch, Los Angeles, grand trustees.

Seated as charter officers with Mrs. Cash were the following: Mabel Bach, past president; Esther Winsor, first vice president; Shirley Bassford, and Esther Carlson, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Elsa Peterson, marshal; Onez Burnett, recording secretary; Helen Young, financial secretary; Vesta Reeves, treasurer; Milda La Barge, and Shirley Diedericksen, inside and outside sentinels; Frances Newton, Ethyle Smith and Josephine Lynn, trustees.

Entering the beautifully decorated formal hall which was bedecked with graceful baskets of calla lilies and iris and sweet peas, officers elect, as self confident as veteran members, formed their semi-circle about the satin draped altar. President Cash carried an arm bouquet of pink rose buds and fern, and Past President Bach carried a similar one of roses in full bloom in a deeper shade. Other members of the staff wore delicately fashioned corsages of gardenias, pink carnations and orchid sweet peas.

The Grand President was presented with a shower bouquet of giant pale pink gladiolus, blue delphinium and white sweet peas; participating past grand presidents, Dutch iris, tied with gay pink bows; Installing Officer Amidon, pink carnations and orchid sweet peas and Organizer Schiebusch, Dutch iris with pink sweet peas. Since Miss Schiebusch was appointed deputy for the new parlor, she received duplicate corsages.

In her acceptance speech, the new president spoke of her dream of a parlor, whose membership should be gleaned from the entire San Gabriel Valley, and expressed her gratitude to her husband, Chester D. Cash, USN, for his understanding and assistance, and to him and Chester Junior for her bouquet. She introduced her son, her mother, Anna Buer, and other members of her family, as well as members of the Rebecca Lodge of which she is a noble grand.

The Grand President, in welcoming the new parlor to the fold, paid a tribute to Organizer Schiebusch and President Cash; urged the sixty-five new members to support the Homeless Children; to bend every effort toward keeping alive the traditions and history of California and to continue to support the war effort. She stressed the drive of "Bonds for Penicillin" now being sponsored by the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 made the presentation of the Stars and Stripes. The eagle and standard were the gift of Ellen Wilson, president. Isabel Fages dedicated a bear flag to the memory of her great, great grand parents, Claudio and Luisa Cota de López, who are buried under the holy water font in old San Gabriel Mission church. Claudio was the second majordomo of the mission and Bancroft calls him the greatest magistrate of all the mission period. He was also mayor of Los Angeles in 1826 and first owner of Santa Anita Rancho.

Jennie Raymond, past president of Los Angeles Parlor, presented a family Bible which was purchased by Thomas Linder, a German born American in 1873. Shortly after his arrival in the New World, he sailed Around the Horn to California. Since San Gabriel Mission was the site of the first religious and cultural center of Los Angeles County, Mrs. Raymond felt this fine old tome should be a symbol of spiritual inspiration for the new parlor. Many financial gifts were received from sister parlors of the Order.

San Gabriel Valley Parlor No. 281 presented gifts to the Grand President, PGP Ann Theusen, state chairman of Extension of the Order, who has not missed an institution in twenty years, and to Deputy Anna Schiebusch. Grand Third Vice President Walter H. Odemar of the Native Sons was introduced and congratulated the parlor upon its reception into the Order.

Soloist of the evening for the ritualistic ceremonies was Orabelle Schmidt, past president of La Reina Parlor. President Cash introduced her sister-in-law, Iona Noble, who sang "Spanish Serenade," by Manuela Budrow, a resident composer and singer of San Gabriel, and the song "Louise," which she dedicated to the presiding officer. Mrs. Noble was accompanied on the piano by Lydia Mann.

San Gabriel Valley PARLOR

VAST, historical and beautiful, the San Gabriel Valley, for which a new parlor f the Native Daughters has been named, ontains many thriving communities from hich have come the membership for the nfant group. Scattered over this territory re many fine old landmarks, the most imortant of which is Mission San Gabriel rcangel.

Founded September 8, 1771, by Fathers ngel Somera and Pedro Benito Cambon, he first site was located on the banks of he Rio Hondo, but was later moved to the resent location. Nearby is the old adobe ouse, known as the Rancho Las Tunas dobe, a portion of which the padres erectd before they built the permanent mission hurch. Both the mission and the house ave been marked by Californiana Parlor o. 247.

Many events of importance occurred ithin the walls and near the mission esblishment in the days of California's early ettlement. Captain Juan Bautista de Anza eached there March 22, 1774 on his famed xploratory journey from Sonora in Old lexico, the first white man to come to alifornia by land from that distant pueblo. Padre Francisco Garces arrived at San abriel mission March 24, 1775. After his isit at San Gabriel he crossed the Techaipi mountains, went through the San oaquin Valley and north to Tulare Lake. he missionary carried a banner depicting ie benefits derived from leading a Chrisan life and on the other the horrors of ie hereafter for one who had embraced eathen-like tenets.

Juan Bautista de Anza recruited colonts for the founding of San Francisco fter he had made his journey of explorain and bringing them over the same reacherous trails, arrived at San Gabriel anuary 4, 1776.

Captain Rivera y Moncado brought colnists overland to San Gabriel for the colnization of Los Angeles and it was from ie old mission, now well organized, that ie caravan set out in September, 1781, found the pueblo. This they did on the urth day of the month. Governor Felipe Neve was the founder and to him alifornian Parlor has erected a bronze atue which stands in the center of the d plaza, Los Angeles. Thus the mission known as the "Mother of Los Angeles."

In 1812, the year of earthquakes, the San Gabriel church was badly cracked and the main altar toppled.

The first white man to travel overland from the eastern states reached San Gabriel November 27, 1826. He was Jedidiah Strong Smith and he came via the southwesterly route and over the Arrowhead Trail.

With the decree of secularization passed by the Congress of Mexico August 17, 1833, the decline of the missions began and in 1834, the thriving Mission of San Gabriel passed from the hands and loving care of the Franciscans. Governor Jose Figueroa issued the orders in California August 9, 1834 demanding that mission establishments be converted into pueblos, that the priests be deposed and that each Indian family be given a small plot of land and provided with livestock and other necessities.

John Rowland and William Workman brought a party of American pioneers to San Gabriel in 1841, arriving November 10. The leaders were grantees of Rancho La Puente the same year.

The battle of San Gabriel which took place at Paso de Bartolo on the San Gabriel River near the town of Whittier was fought by California forces led by Com. Jose Maria Flores and American troops under the leadership of Com. Robert F. Stockton and Gen. Stephen W. Kearney. After two hours of fighting, the Americans were victorious. Two men died as a result of the affray and eight were wounded on both sides.

Needless to say, development of the valley is of intense interest but it is impossible to include all of its history here.

However, Native Sons and Daughters are always interested in landmarks and here are some of those still standing. The Las Tunas Adobe has been mentioned. La Casa Vieja de Lopez, once a part of the mission establishment on Ramona street is a beautifully preserved adobe owned by Maria Lowther de Lopez. It is believed to have been built when the present mission church was constructed in 1796. Across the street is the Old Grapevine Inn built by Hipolito Cervantes. The grapevine was planted in 1861 from a slip provided the owner by Mr. L. J. Rose.

A small adobe milk house, which once belonged to Governor George S. Stoneman still stands back of the home of Roy Richardson, 1828 El Molino avenue. in Pasadena. Stoneman was governor from 1883 to 1887.

Hugo Reid, prefect of the district of Los Angeles at one time received a grant for the Santa Anita Rancho in 1841. The land, however, had been allotted Don Claudio Lopez, mayordomo of San Gabriel Mission for his private use without benefit of title and all the family could do to prove their rights was to no avail when the Scotchman made his claim. He built an adobe house on the site in 1847 but while it was under construction sold the land with the exception of his house to Henry Dalton. The landmark still stands near a limpid lake in Arcadia on the Baldwin estate, recently acquired by the late Harry Chandler.

Casa Adobe Flores was built by Jose Perez about 1840. After his death, the wife forfeited the land by leaving it and going to live with her father. Manuel Garfias made a claim and received the grant. On the eve of Stockton's entry into Los Angeles August 13, 1846, General Jose Maria Flores and Garfias conferred there, believing the Americans planned an attack in that locality the following day. The house, still in good repair, stands back of the site of the old Raymond Hotel in South Pasadena.

During the period of industrial progress of the mission, Father Jose Maria Salvidea was in charge of the spiritual welfare of the Indians and Don Claudio Lopez was the manager. One of his feats was to plan and direct the construction of a grist mill. The mason who built the picturesque and still sturdy El Molino in about 1802 was Antonio Jose Rocha. El Molino is now a private residence located back of the Huntington Hotel on Old Mill Road, San Marino.

On the north side of Huntington drive, San Marino stands the old Michael White adobe. The builder obtained a grant for his land in 1845, but historians claim he built the house before he obtained a permanent deed, which was customary for the times.

The Titus Ranch house, situated on the west side of Santa Anita street, south of Pasqual avenue, also in San Marino was built about 1877 by L. M. Titus who acquired a portion of Michael White's Rancho Muscupiabe.

Rancho San Pasqual on which the town of South Pasadena is built was named for Easter day. Six years before the signing of the declaration of Independence, Father Juan Crespi said the first mass in the San Gabriel Valley beneath the great Cathedral Oak on whose trunk a cross has been carved. This was the first religious service celebrated in the San Gabriel Valley.

Dona Eulalia Perez who, at the age of sixty-five became a devoted and untiring worker for the mission, received the grant of San Pasqual in 1827. Fourteen thousand acres were included in the deed. The history of the rancho and the fame of the levout Eulalia are of tremendous interest, ut to Judge and Mrs. Benjamin S. Eaton re given the title of father and mother f South Pasadena and Pasadena. They vere the first Americans to build a house n Rancho San Pasqual. The Indiana Colony urchased the property in 1874 and behind he patent stands the signature of Abra- am Lincoln placed there in 1863. The olony set out fruit trees and vineyards.

Some of the first settlers of South Pasa- lena were A. O. Porter, P. M. Green, W. .. Barcus and Calvin Fletcher and David f. Raab, who had preceded the others by even years. His son Carl was the first merican child born in the vicinity.

In 1885, the San Gabriel Valley railroad upplanted the stage line which ran out rom Los Angeles. After the Santa Fe ook over, the boom of the '80s began and asted nine years.

South Pasadena wished to become a city in her own right and refused to incorporate with Pasadena in 1886. After Pasadena assumed cityhood, her saloons moved to South Pasadena and that conventional community incorporated also in self defense in 1888. The saloons were driven out. Schools and churches and many other developments have marked the progress of South Pasadena since that time.

Seven miles east of Los Angeles, the town of Alhambra, one of the most thriving and highly developed municipalities in the San Gabriel Valley region was founded in 1885 and was named for the Alhambra in Spain. It is located on portions of the two historical ranchos, Santa Anita and San Pasqual. So close is the modern town to the old Spanish mission town of San Gabriel that driving through, one scarcely notices where one begins and the other leaves off. Consequently their histories are interwoven. We have found no date for the incorporation of San Gabriel, but feel that it is not necessary to give it as the growth of the community began over 150 years ago. Modern schools, churches and lovely homes have been built in newly subdivided sections, but the charm of the old days hover about the section of which the old mission is the center of interest.

Southeast of San Gabriel is the community of Wilmar and to the northeast the town of Temple City, which are notable examples of the rapid development of the newly developed communities of the present era.

From all of these sections have come the membership of San Gabriel Valley Parlor and as time goes on they will enter the Order from other San Gabriel Valley towns, such as Arcadia, Monrovia, Duarte, Pasadena and San Marino.

NATIVE SONS ACTIVITIES

For Grand President

Grand President Richard F. McCarthy will be honored by his own parlor, Piedmont Parlor No. 120, NDGW, Oakland, at a reception and dinner Saturday, June 30, in the Spanish Room of the Claremont Hotel.

The reception will start at the cocktail hour, followed by dinner and dancing. Admittance will be by invitation only. Frank P. Smith has been appointed general chairman of the affair, with Stephen E. Graham as honorary chairman. Others on the committee are George Prytz, Henry Uebner, Andy Rasmussen, Mr. Benson, George Phillips, Ray Symon, Dick Hamb, Henry Schellhaas, Charles Morando, Connie Moreno, George Cash, F. X. Weber, Jim Jenkins, Otto Jund, J. L. Thomas, Fritz Brause, Bud Brause, Joe Kramm, Jr., Frank Roemer, J. J. Dignan, J. G. Dignan, Hugo Jouvenal, Al C. Weber and Ciro De Stefano.

SEVENTEEN JOIN

Seventeen candidates joined Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, NSGW, Oakland, at class initiation ceremonies, May 2, in Native Sons Hall, with Grand President Raymond D. Williamson witnessing the event. Earlier in the evening the Grand President had been honored guest at a dinner and reception given by Fruitvale parlor and two other Oakland parlors.

New members are Jack E. Pelletier, Otto W. Nittler, George E. Robison, Andrew G. Nunemann, Alex L. Clarke, Carl C. Alves, Kenneth M. Silva, David N. Edwards, Allan A. Killian, Howard M. Eggert, Frank Pichotto, Raymond L. Nunes, Francis V. McCormick, James H. Muller, John W. Carlisle, William E. Coates and Al F. Combatalade.

Fruitvale parlor members held a "Neopolitan Night" dinner, May 25, in its lodge rooms, with Dino Giovanetti as chef. Noted for his culinary art, Giovanetti served "fried carciofo" as the piece de resistance of the dinner.

Wee Willie Dombrink is in charge of the parlor's anniversary banquet, soon to take place.

United Nations

Judge George B. Harris, president of Stanford Parlor No. 76, NSGW, San Francisco, appointed the following committee to arrange a series of "international receptions" to honor delegates to the United Nations Conference: Webster K. Nolan, chairman; A. W. Boyken, Homer F. Potter, Daniel C. Murphy, Jr., Noble Andre, Jerome Politzer, Joseph D. Sullivan, J. Layton Riley, Cyril Magnin, Albert W. Grosskopf, Charles A. Roberts, C. T. Honor Williamson

Grand President Raymond D. Williamson was honored guest at a dinner, reception and class initiation May 2, tendered him by Oakland's three NSGW parlors, Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, Oakland Parlor No. 50 and Piedmont Parlor No. 120.

Dinner was served at the Athens Athletic Club. Later the large assemblage proceeded to Native Sons Hall, a block up the street, where the Grand President witnessed initiation of nineteen candidates.

Williamson made an inspiring talk, welcoming the new members and complimenting the initiatory team on their splendid work. Team was composed of Miller Markey, Fruitvale parlor, president; Les Ashworth, Estudillo Parlor No. 223, San Leandro, junior past president; Frank Roemer, Piedmont parlor, senior past president; Ray Butler, Piedmont parlor, first vice president; Kenneth Halnan, Fruitvale parlor, second vice president; Frank Smith, Piedmont parlor, third vice president; Grand Inside Sentinel Ray Burke, Claremont Parlor No. 240, Emeryville, marshal.

Grand President Williamson was accompanied to the highly successful event by Grand First Vice President Richard McCarthy and Grand Trustee Ed Wren, both of whom addressed the members.

Making the Rounds

The genial and hospitable hosts at Ho berg's invited Native Sons and their fam ilies to Siegler's Mineral Hot Springs Sat urday afternoon, May 19, to a cocktail par ty. Two clever accordianists furnishe music for the afternoon and guests forme a snaky serpentine ending in impromptu dancing. Choice of cocktails, tasty sand wiches and hors d'oeuvres tickled the pal ates of all.

Speaking of sights seen about the tw resorts—some of the guests hiked over t the steam baths to witness the spectacl of John Regan "steaming." Dancers sa Ed (rubber legs) Wren tripping the ligh fantastic (and I do mean tripping).

HONORABLY DISCHARGED

Eight members of San Jose Parlor No. 22 have received honorable discharges from military service after faithfully serving their country. They are Julian Castillo, Walter Laranjo, Leon Garnaud, Gerald Birke, Ralph Bravo, Albert J. Bernal, John Toler and Harold Goepel. Twenty-four members are now in various branches of the armed forces.

For Homeless

Financial profits from two highly successful dinners given by members of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, NSGW, were turned over to the order's Homeless Children Fund, according to Ralph Becker, publicity chairman. Frankie Dolan supervised both the dinners.

Willie Richie, former world champion boxer, was guest speaker at the first dinner. Motion pictures of one of his champion fights was greatly enjoyed by the large assemblage present. Richie also made application for membership in Los Angeles parlor that night.

Judge Thomas P. White was guest speaker at the May 17 dinner.

THEATER PARTY

Members of University Parlor No. 272, NSGW, Los Angeles, with their wives and friends are planning a gay theater party one evening this month at Ken Murray's "Blackouts of 1945," in Hollywood. Eighty-five tickets to the show already have been sold.

An excellent turn-out of members at the regular May meeting was reported by Elaine Driscoll, recording secretary.

Announce Speakers

Outstanding speakers on a variety of vital subjects have been signed up by Elwood Bowles, program director of the Native Sons' Friday Luncheon Club for its June session meetings in the banquet room of the Clark hotel, 426 South Hill Street.

Grand President Emily E. Ryan, NDGW, will be guest speaker at the club's gathering June 1. On June 8th, Kemp McPhail, will talk about hunting and fishing in the High Sierras. He will show moving pictures of scenic spots.

C. G. Pierce will address the club June 15 on the subject, "Marvels of Magnetic Wire Recorders." He will demonstrate recordings made under battle conditions. On June 22, Harsdon H. Kimball, assistant County Farm Advisor and County Agricultural Agent for the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, will enlighten members on "World Food Problems and the American Citizen."

Tickets to the luncheon club are $1.25 and Native Sons and Daughters are urged to attend any Friday of each month.

ANNIVERSARY SET

Ramona Parlor No. 109, NSGW, Los Angeles, celebrates its fifty-eighth anniversary, Friday, June 8, with a dinner and dance at the Switzerland Restaurant, 4057 South Figueroa Street. The affair will be given in the open-air garden. Tickets, $1.50.

Bear Flag on Iwo Jima

Honoring Marine Cpl. Thomas P. Weir, 23, of Berkeley, who raised the California Bear Flag on Iwo Jima, the California State Guard recently presented a new Bear Flag to the proud young Californian through his family, with the suggestion that he run it up on Chichi Jima, the next stop.

Corporal Weir, although he carried a six by twelve inch Bear Flag all the way to Japanese soil, is not a "native son." However, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Weir, and his brother, Lieut. Benjamin Weir, 21, now in Europe, were born in California. The Corporal was born in Utah but became a student of California history at the University of California. His father, the late Thomas Weir, was a well known California mining engineer.

Presentation of the new Bear Flag, a five by three foot ensign, was made by Lieut. Harold Tobin, SCG, acting for Capt. Robert M. Lee, chief of the San Francisco unit of the California State Guard. Mrs. Lynette LeBaron, of 1721 Ulloa street, San Francisco, a cousin of the flag carrying corporal, accepted the gift for forwarding.

Lieutenant Tobin, formerly of the Air Force, is now a law student at the University of San Francisco, and last year was one of the winners of the John Paul Jones oratorical contest conducted by the Hearst newspapers. Upon receiving a medical discharge from the Army, Lieut. Tobin, who also is a member of Stanford Parlor No. 76, Native Sons of the Golden West, joined the California State Guard with the comment, "We who have seen fighting know how critically important it is to stiffen security on the home front. The post war fate of California is closely bound up with the State Guard."

BARBECUE DATE

Definitely set for June 10 is the barbecue dinner at Joe Denni's home to be given by members of Wilmington Parlor No. 280, NSGW, for their wives and friends. A record attendance is expected at the affair. Denni, Erle Smith and trustees of the parlor are in charge of the festivities.

The Showdown

By Dr. John R. Lechner

When a bureau of the Federal Government remains adamant in its determination to override the wishes of the citizens of a state, then there must be a showdown in the matter of ultimate authority. In this instance a showdown is imminent on the entire internal Japanese question, what with the War Relocation Authority insisting, over the protest of Californians, that 80,000 Japanese aliens and Nisei, loyal and disloyal, be returned to this area before the end of the current year.

When all of the facts regarding the WRA policy of consummating its program have been released to the public, it will be interesting to learn how much common sense and moral fiber remains in the makeup of Californians.

We could have told our people, as we did before many audiences, that the WRA would not confine its program of returning Japanese to California to honorably discharged Nisei veterans, but that these veterans would be used as an entering wedge for a mass movement of Japanese to their former homes and to their former occupations. The political pressure behind the WRA is now being directed in full force at the military branch of the Western Defense Command, which up until now has been able to judge individual Japanese applying for re-entry into this state to determine their desirability. It is likely that this political pressure will remove the only remaining control which our people have, effective enough to exclude disloyal Japanese aliens and Nisei, at least for the duration.

Briefly, here is the real program behind the whitewashing of the Japanese issue as revealed in two secret meetings of Japanese and Caucasian leaders in Salt Lake City within the last three months. Altogether, there were twenty-seven major objectives, many of them heartily endorsed by WRA leaders and promulgated by some of our outstanding religious figures. Chief among these objectives are the following:

1. To restore rights of Japanese suspended because of evacuation. This means not only rights of loyal Nisei, but rights of aliens and perhaps thousands of questionable Nisei.

This means also completely unrestricted freedom of Japanese in the vital defense areas, despite the continuing war with Japan.

2. Restoration of losses sustained by Japanese through evacuation and internment. This actually means paying back to Japanese losses of earning power for three years. No money can ever repay the loss of earning power, the loss of body and mind and lives of 14,000,000 fighting American boys.

3. Establish a huge federal fund to finance Japanese (Yes, aliens and disloyal ones too) in business and agriculture on long-term loans without security.

4. Granting to Japanese aliens coming back to California by federal intervention, power-of-attorney to handle business and properties for their American-born children in circumvention of the California Alien Land Act.

5. To highpressure Congress for amendments to the Immigration Act granting American citizenship to Japanese aliens.

6. To eliminate all immigration quotas for Japanese after the war.

One very prominent church leader in Southern California at a recent Conference on Racial Discrimination, sponsored by thirty-five major radical and church organizations, stated that "not thousands but hundreds of thousands of orientals (meaning mostly Japanese) will flood the shores of the Pacific Coast after the war and we must amend our laws so that we can extend the hand of fellowship and take them into our homes."

Recently at an important conference in Fresno, the Pacific Coast Committee on American Principles and Fair Play announced its program to conduct an intensive campaign to sell the Japanese back to the people on this coast, and that church groups, radical organizations and other pro-Japanese elements be requested to stampede newspapers on this Coast with letters in defense of the Japanese in America. Especial emphasis was placed on the importance of getting our boys in uniform to write letters in order to make the appeal more dramatic.

Here is a direct challenge to every member of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West to show our newspapers and to show our Congress that sincere, alert Americans are on the job. What are you going to do about it? The answer is in your hands.

Fight Attempt to Amend

Immigration and Naturalization Laws!

Opponents of the Oriental Exclusion Act are seeking to have it repealed and to pass legislation granting naturalization privileges to all, including the Japanese.

SEEK TO PERMIT JAP NATURALIZATION

"An attempt is being made by the Immigration and Naturalization committee of the House of Representatives to amend the law in favor of the natives of India when even Great Britain does not allow them citizenship," states Walter H. Odemar, chairman of Japanese Legislation NSGW. This is the second of a series of attempts to modify the restrictive laws the first being that of extending the privilege of citizenship to the Chinese in December of 1943.

It is the purpose of persons sponsoring this series of amendments to permit unrestricted immigration and naturalization of the Japanese. To such persons might be laid the blame for the tragic march of Bataan and other crimes committed in the Pacific theater of war during the past three and one half years.

Covering the State

Grand Presidents Message

By Emily Ryan

FLAG Day, June 14, 1944, Native Daughters of the Golden West bestowed upon me the highest honor in the gift of the Order—the office of Grand President. We had great plans for the furtherance of the work of the organization in mind. With our assistance many of these have been accomplished, while due to the existing war emergency, some have not developed.

The program of officially visiting the parlors accompanied by grand officers and members of my own and other parlors was curtailed due to gas rationing and the ban on civilian travel, much to the disappointment of the parlors and to me. However, "it is an ill wind that blows no good" and our records show our membership is increasing in a most satisfactory manner. Several parlors have been added to our chain and others will be instituted very soon.

In each parlor throughout the state, we find the members supporting our Homeless Children work, veterans welfare, scholarships, California History, radio programs, Native Daughters Home, education, public speaking, Junior Native Daughters, and our splendid war activities program.

I extend to each of you my thanks and sincere appreciation for your service to the outstanding women's organization in our state, in fact of any state. We are on the threshold of a great future and it is our duty to be ever mindful of the high ideals and principles left to us as a heritage from the pioneers, whose faith in our Order, state and country has given us the courage to face a postwar world, surmounting any and all problems besetting us. Of course you know we will not have our convention in June, but we will be better women for the sacrifice as it may be the means of bringing our boys in the service home sooner to those who love them. As I retire from the office in which you have placed me, I wish for my successor, Ethel Enos, the same cooperation and support you have given to your Grand President of 1944-45 and I am certain the coming year and every year will be successful and progressive ones for our beloved Order.

War Conference

NATIVE Daughters will meet for their limited war conference, June 19, 20 and 21 in the Century Club, San Francisco, and all business will be handled through the members of the Grand Parlor. Voting is being handled by mail and the following candidates for office have been announced:

Grand President Emily E. Ryan will automatically step into the chair of junior past grand president, while Mary B. Noerenberg will be initiated into the ranks of the senior past grands. Grand Vice President Ethel C. Enos of La Morada Parlor, Modesto will be advanced to the office of grand president without opposition in the traditional manner.

The office of grand vice president will be occupied by Lorretta Cameron, present grand marshal, and three candidates for the office she vacates have entered the race. They are Grand Trustees Henrietta Toothaker and Marion E. White, and former grand trustee, Doris Treat.

Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Treasurer Agnes M. Curry are unopposed for their respective offices. Grand Outside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney is a candidate for the office of inside sentinel. The office she leaves has no aspirants. We have had no word of a candidate for grand organist. For the board of trustees only six have been announced. There must be seven on the board. Elmarie H. Dyke, Anna T. Schiebusch, Margaret Farnsworth and Betty Read, incumbents, have voiced their intention to run. Dorothy Donofrio, grand inside sentinel, also has placed her hat in the ring and Zoura Tompkins enters the race again this year.

Grand President Ryan goes out of office with the good wishes and affection of the entire Order and it is to be regretted that she must be deprived of the pleasure of conducting the usually spectacular Grand Parlor to which Native Daughters are accustomed, but it was her wish, in a spirit of patriotism, that the fanfare be dispensed with in the face of the emergency. So few parlors sent in the names of delegates that publication was unwarranted.

Sunshine Brought to Aleutians

State Chairman of War Activities Ann S. Hippel has received a letter from Lieut.-Gen. Delos E. Emmons thanking the Native Daughters for the twenty sun lamps the Order provided funds to purchase for ensted men stationed in Alaska. Expressing her gratitude to the parlors for their contributions, the chairman says, "The hearts of Native Daughters should vibrate with pride when they realize their contributions have brought sunshine into the lives of our dear boys in the darkened Aleutians." She extends her gratitude to the following parlors and members for their donations:

Crowned Queen

WHEN Grand President Emily E. Ryan made her round of official visits for the past month, she was delightfully entertained with novel opening marches, flattering escort work and splendid reports, all of which she meticulously set down in her "diary" for publishing later in Grand Parlor procedure.

Nine parlors of Los Angeles County, districts 36 and 37 joined in a display of ritualistic perfection in the Elks Temple, Sunday afternoon, April 26. The meeting was opened by PGP Grace S. Stoermer, chairman, who announced the parlors as their officers entered and presented themselves at the altar. They appeared in this order: La Reina, Topanga, Long Beach, Californiana, Rudecinda, Compton, East Los Angeles, Verdugo and Los Angeles. The latter, with President Ellen Wilson conducted the opening ceremonies.

Carrying their parlor's own American flags, the marshals presented the colors for the pledge of allegiance. La Reina Parlor No. 267 performed the escort work with President Frankie Lambreth presiding. Under an archway of floral staffs the officers conducted the Grand President to the altar where she was crowned "Queen of the May" with a chaplet of sweet peas, while Orabelle Schmidt sang "Come Out My Dearest Dear."

Escorted also were Junior Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg; Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch; Past Grand Presidents Ann Theusen, Grace S. Stoermer and Hazel B. Hansen; SDDGP Letitia Sarciaux of District 36 and SDDGP Elsie Amidon, District 37; Deputies were introduced in a body. Miniature lily corsages were presented the grand officers.

Balloting was conducted by Topanga Parlor with President Jennie Frye officiating. Vera West headed the staff for Long Beach, who, with Californiana shared the privilege of presenting the initiatory work. The latter parlor, headed by President Charlotte Carpenter, delivering the charges. Forty-three candidates were inducted.

Rudecinda parlor introduced visitors, with President Mary Hudson doing the honors; Compton Parlor, with Fay Young, president conducted Good of the Order and East Los Angeles, President Virginia Cook, and Verdugo, headed by Flora Alice Day, the closing ceremonies.

The presidents of the parlors assembled at the altar under Good of the Order and presented the Grand President with gifts and committee reports. District Chairman of War Activities, Margaret Ann Kerr, presented a fine report, with all the war activities chairmen bearing small American flags, flanking the room. Maybelle Shaffner of San Fernando Mission Parlor sang "God Bless America."

Standing at attention by the Midway flag were Cpl. Gladys Gale, U.S.M.C., and charter member of San Fernando Valley Parlor No. 280, and Violet Agagnanian, Red Cross Motor Corps nurse.

Grand President Ryan, in her remarks, stated, "I feel humble, indeed in the presence of this glorious flag which has seen battle on the Island of Midway." She referred to the tattered banner which the Elks have displayed in the lodge room and which they have vowed never to let touch the ground.

Following the meeting, members and friends gathered in the banquet hall for refreshments, served at tables decorated by members of the parlors.

● Burlingame Parlor No. 274, NDGW, honored their former deputy, Alice Oldham, at a dinner at the Riviera Restaurant in San Francisco April 20. Alice's mother, Rena Mathias, was also a guest of the parlor. A beautiful gown was presented to Alice Oldham on behalf of the officers.

On April 30 the officers and members were guests at the home of Alice Oldham where the evening was spent playing games and a midnight supper was served.

● Honoring Grand President Emily E. Ryan, San Francisco, Sequoia Parlor No. 272, NDGW, Berkeley, and Aloha Parlor No. 106, NDGW, Oakland, were joint hosts at a reception and musical evening, May 22.

The affair marked the official visit of the Grand President to these parlors.

Sequoia Parlor's talented choral group, under the direction of Tessie Socker, entertained with several beautiful musical numbers. One of them, "Californa, My Homeland," was sung as Mrs. Ryan was escorted to her station. Officers of both parlors performed the initiatory ceremony during the evening.

Members of Sequoia Parlor attended the memorial services held by the Grand Officers of NSGW and NDGW in the Woman's City Club, Oakland, May 27. Grand President Richard McCarthy, of the Native Sons, was in charge of the services.

● Grand President Emily E. Ryan, accompanied by Past Grand President Mary B Noerenberg, Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch and Past Grand President Grace S Stoermer, visited San Diego Parlor officially at a special meeting and dinner held in the Gold Room of the U. S. Grant Hote the afternoon of April 28. Nineteen visitors including DGP Juliet De Nublia from Los Angeles, Las Lomas, Californiana, Placentia, Buena Vista, San Gabriel, Verdugo, Topango, Long Beach, and Veritas parlors attended.

President Emily Welch and her staff of officers initiated Orva E. Johnson, Gwendolyn P. Hanlan, Nellie R. Lott, Phila B. MacGillivray, Eleanor E. McDaniel, Rosamond M. Phipps, Flora B. Selwyn, Eleanor T. Tardiville, Esther L. Verdusco, Elvera L. Wittenberg, Lena M. Campbell, Elizabeth C Crable, Arcadia B. Brennan and Madge Bradley.

Grand President Ryan paid a tribute to Past Grand President Louise C. Heilbron who had carried to a successful conclusion the Loyalty Pledge and paying of the indebtedness of the Native Daughter Home Checks were presented for the Station Wagon fund and Homeless Children by the parlor and for the California History Course Endowment fund from the Officer's Club The charter members present, Alice Heilbron Damarus, Irma A. Heilbron and Sophia Sharpe were introduced.

A reception in the home of President Emily Welch with SDDGP Deputy Doris Hoffner and DGP Lena Raines receiving concluded the festivities.

● Tacos and fried beans was the tasty repast served members of La Reina Parlor No. 267, NDGW, Los Angeles, on May 10 Cecelia Valenzuela prepared the food and received compliments galore from the diners In fact, so successful was this dinner, members have decided to hold one each month preceding the regular meeting.

● In the presence of a large assemblage of members of Aleli Parlor No. 102, NDGW as well as visitors from Hollister, Monterey and San Jose, Grand President Emily Ryan made her official visit to the group, March 22. With President Jessie Fisher presiding formal initiatory ceremonies were held for twelve new candidates.

Creating a lovely effect, pastel butterflies were carried by the officers and escort team as the visiting official was ushered to her seat of honor. Other grand officers present were PGP Bertha Briggs of Hollister, Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke, and DGP Marie Brayton of Junipero Parlor. The escort team and officers participated in the presentation of the gift to the grand president carrying out an Easter theme as they formed a cross, with the only illumination in the darkened room being flashlights carried by them. Preceding the meeting, the visiting officers and candidates were honored guests at a dinner held at the Santa Lucia Inn. In March Aleli Parlor voted a contribution to the American Red Cross. A food sale was held recently with Anna Murray and Marie Brayton as co-chairman.

● The Life of Father Serra and the movement for his canonization was the subject of an informative and instructive talk delivered by Vice Postulator Father Eric O'Brien, OFM, at a dinner preceding the visit of Grand President Emily E. Ryan to Reina del Mar Parlor NDGW No. 126, Santa Barbara, the evening of May 2. Efforts to elevate Father Serra to Saintlood were commenced in 1934 and since hat time 5000 pages of documents in photostat testifying to the great priest's ligibility have been gathered in a search or historical records by Father Maynard Geiger.

The meeting was opened with an impressive entry march of the officers in formal hite, carrying nosegays in the colors of he Order. Members of Santa Maria Parlor resented the colors in a flag drill, with Ida Hawkins bearing the large flag.

Officers of Reina del Mar Parlor retired nd entered for the escort of the honored uest. As they marched in they twirled ay parasols and at the altar presented Mrs. Ryan with a corsage of pink camellias. Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch also was resented, and at the dinner program spoke n the Homeless Children project. Four andidates were initiated into the Order.

The most exciting news was that revealed or the first time publicly—that a charter ad been granted for a new parlor in Lomoc, when the Grand President spoke to he appreciative audience. "The line of dense on the home front needs our support," dvised the speaker. Another question was aised as the Order's leader queried, "Who writing the history of today—one of the reatest eras of civilization? Fifty years rom now, historians will need these annals nd who will be able to supply them?" resident Anita Harp presented the Grand resident with a gift from the Parlor.

Our most important duty is to maintain he type of government and support the gh standard of education and culture we ish our children to enjoy." Grand Presient Emily E. Ryan, NDGW, expressed this ought as she spoke at Wilmington Parr No. 278 on the occasion of her official sit, April 24.

Accompanying the Grand President were Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Junior Past Grand President Mary B. Noerenberg, Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch and PGPs Grace S. Stoermer, Ann Theusen and Hazel B. Hansen.

Two candidates were initiated in the gracious and springlike atmosphere of Wilmington Women's Club, where baskets of pink, blue and yellow calla lilies adorned the stations. Refreshments were served from tables decorated in the same manner. The honored guest was the recipient of a miniature carretta or oxcart filled with coins.

1945 Grand Parlor

● El Pajaro Parlor No. 35, NDGW, Watsonville, and Junipero Parlor No. 141, NDGW, Monterey, were joint hosts March 20 in Monterey for the official visit of Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

Sixteen members of Junipero parlor, carrying lavender crosses, escorted the Grand President to her seat of honor. Other distinguished guests present were Grand Trustees Margaret Farnsworth and Elmarie Dyke, Past Grand Presidents Mamie Carmichael and Bertha Briggs, Deputies Marie Brayton and Ethel Hyde and District Deputy Edna Butterfield.

Anita Church, president of Junipero parlor, conducted the opening and initiation ceremonies. Twenty candidates for Junipero parlor and two for El Pajaro parlor were initiated into the order.

Junipero parlor reported it had adopted a baby, to be named Emily Anita. A check for that parlor's quota on the third blood donor station wagon was presented.

Hattie Grimes and Grand Trustee Elmarie H. Dyke were presented with the coveted 25-year pins in recognition of their splendid service to the order. An evening bag was given to Past President Clara Brown.

Grand President Ryan was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, a gift from Lady Maria Antonia Field, who was unable to attend the function. Mary Farrell danced a delightful Irish jig and presented Mrs. Ryan with a basket of cascarones, in which was hidden Junipero parlor's gift to her.

El Pajaro parlor's gift was also presented to the Grand President.

The parlor's apron clubs presented Mrs. Ryan with an apron. Emily Lee Lippman, of Junipero, and Viola Clough, of El Pajaro, made the presentation.

Alva Banta and Viola Clough, representing Junipero and El Pajaro parlors, respectively, reported on activities of their organizations, and Amelie Kneass told the history of Mission Inn, home of Jose Estrada, great grandfather of Deputy Ethel Hyde.

Good of the Order and closing ceremonies were conducted by Sara Arbanes, president of El Pajaro parlor. An effective finish was the candle service, exemplifying principles of the order.

One hundred and twenty-five were present for the ceremonies and refreshments which followed. A dinner at Casa Munras preceded the meeting.

CORRECTION

This picture of a roofless stone building in the town of Butte should have accompanied the story "Hills of Amador" by Grand Historian Emmet Joy in the May issue, instead of the street scene which was intended for an earlier article.

● With President Laura May Roesch attired in a white gown of handsome lace which she wore at Grand Lodge in 1910, Joaquin Parlor No. 5, NDGW, Stockton, celebrated its fifty-eighth anniversary April 10. Materials for the dress were brought from Paris by Mrs. Wahl-Brown, the modiste of the day.

Dinner was served preceding the meeting at tables decorated with bridal wreath and calla lilies. Entertainment was a combination of old time costuming down through the years, the retelling of experiences and skits taking the audience back to the periods of the prim little black silk frock, the bustle days and the frills and furbelows of the early 1900's with its sweeping skirts and huge hats. Mayme C. Peyton wore a pale green silk and the large black hat she wore when she was installed Grand President, thirty-five years ago.

Other Past Grand presidents present were Clarice Cook and Pearl Lamb. Also present were DGP Lulu Mae Gregg of Lodi and SDDGP Laura Jane O'Brien, a member of the celebrating parlor.

● Ynez Sharpe, a member of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126, Santa Barbara NDGW and a descendant of the Arrellanes, Sanchez and Cota families of early California, has joined the WAC division of the Air Corps and was inducted May 14. She has gone to Fort Des Moines, Iowa, for boot training.

● With parlor members and professional mannequins acting as models, an elaborate "style show," featuring the latest eastern and California fashions will highlight the June 6 meeting of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, NDGW.

Fay Hammond, fashion editor of the Los Angeles Times, will preside as commentator.

Edith Norton, Compton Parlor No. 258, NDGW, deputy to Los Angeles Parlor, and members of her own parlor, will be honored June 20 at a party in Odd Fellows hall, 1828 Oak Street.

June Miller, organist, opened her lovely home May 6 to members of Los Angeles Parlor, who honored their mothers with a delightful "Mother's Day" tea. Ellen Wilson, president, presided.

Doris Treat

San Andreas Parlor No. 113, NDGW, presents Doris Treat for the office of grand marshal.

Their candidate is well known throughout the state and is held in the highest respect by the members of the Order. For six years Doris Treat served as a grand officer as follows: Grand outside sentinel, grand inside sentinel, and four years on the board of grand trustees, the last year acting as its chairman.

She also served as a deputy grand president and on numerous Grand Parlor committees. She is now filling the office of supervising deputy for Calavaras County.

Doris Treat was a court reporter and has served since 1940 with selective service in San Andreas and for the past year with the Appeal Board in Stockton. Prior to this service for the Government, Doris served as chief deputy county clerk and auditor of Calavaras County for twelve years. The experience gained in these important positions as a business woman makes her well qualified to serve the Order of the Native Daughters of the Golden West as a grand officer. Her work in California historical research has also won recognition.

Last year Doris Treat was a candidate for grand marshal, but was not elected, and this year, according to custom the parlor places her name before the grand officers, past grand presidents, permanent members and delegates for consideration and support for election to the office of grand marshal.

● Supervising District Deputy Grand President Letitia Sarciaux, Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, NDGW, San Pedro, was presented with a 25-year pin by members of her parlor at a colorful ceremony April 11. In addition, the honored guest was surprised that evening with a beautiful handkerchief shower given by members in sincere appreciation of her many years of outstanding service to the order.

Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe was guest of honor at a dinner May 9 given by Deputy Marguerite Dahlstrom and past deputies Mazie Roderic, Margaretha McGowen and Ruby Bried, all of Darina Parlor No. 114, NDGW, San Francisco.

7th War Loan

● Marinita Parlor No. 198, San Rafael, staged a membership drive which culminated with a large class initiation and a dinner at which the losers were hostesses. Mrs. Frank Kelly was captain of one team, and Miss Mary Boracchia, the other. The candidates registered by them were initiated May 28.

Plans for the drive were made at the April 8 meeting, at which time Dorothy Vossbrink was honored. She was escorted to the altar by ten new members and was presented with a bouquet of California Poppies.

Mrs. John Streckfus, the president, named the committee for the annual San Rafael Day fiesta, which is sponsored by the parlor each year. Mrs. Max Brice was named general chairman and the following are on her committee: Beverly Paini, Ann Martignoli, Lena Tyrell, Antoinette Fowler, Catherine Kelly, Marguerite Streckfus, Henrietta Faber, Gresty Mazza, Alice Ogburn, Mae Zappetini, Gertrude Crary, Fredna Shields, Callie Shaffer, Gertrude Haisler, Mary Mello, Gresty Mazza, Ruth Andrade and Elidia Hecht.

At the April 23 meeting PGP Emma Foley, "Mother" of Marinita Parlor was honored. Mrs. Foley was escorted by Mrs. Robert Brusatori and presented with a large bouquet of red roses by the president, Mrs. John Streckfus. Lillian Mello, who was accompanied by Pat Streckfus, sang "As Time Goes By." The words were changed from the original to honor Mrs. Foley.

Dominguez Rancho Adobe

CALIFORNIANA Parlor No. 247, NDGW, in cooperation with the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, marked the famous San Pedro Rancho, April 25, at 3127 South Alameda Street, Compton.

The San Pedro Rancho, containing ten square leagues, was granted provisionally by Governor Pedro Fages (California's third Spanish Governor) to Juan Jose Dominguez in 1784. In 1822, the property was re-granted to Sergeant Cristobal Dominguez, nephew of Juan Jose Dominguez, by Governor Sola. Three years later, his son Manuel Dominguez took over the management of the Rancho and in 1826 built the original adobe house.

In 1855, the Dominguez Rancho was divided among Manuel Dominguez, his brother Pedro, his nephew Jose Antonio Aguirre, and Jacinto Rocha. Don Manuel Dominguez' portion contained 25,000 acres and he resided thereon for forty-five years, with his devoted wife and family, Senora Maria Encracia Cota de Dominguez, and their eight daughters and two sons.

The adobe house and seventeen acres of land was presented to the Claretian missionaries, as a home for the educational training of young men for the priesthood, by Senoras Maria de los Reyes de Francis, Susana Dominguez Del Amo and Dolores Dominguez De Watson. The adobe has been largely restored. The new Dominguez Memorial Seminary was built by Susana Dominguez Del Amo.

The "Battle of Dominguez Ranch" was fought on the site October 8 and 9, 1846. Native Californians led by Jose Antonio Carrillo repelled the United States forces under Captain Mervine and Lieutenant Gillespie in an attempt to recapture the Pueblo de Los Angeles.

Participating in the unveiling ceremonies were Grand President Emily E. Ryan who made an inspiring presentation speech; Los Angeles County Supervisor Raymond Darby delivered the address of welcome; Dr. Owen C. Coy related a brief history of the Rancho; and Rev. Father S. D. Amaldia accepted the marker. Other commentators were Alfred Jones, county surveyor and chairman of history and landmarks for the County of Los Angeles; Mrs. Sinclair E. Carpenter, president, and Mrs. Dexter Monroe, chairman of history and landmarks of Californiana Parlor No. 247.

The seminary chorus sang "God Bless America" in a hymn-like manner and provided other inspirational numbers. Jose Arias and his troubadors played before and after the ceremony.

Special guests included: Mdmes. Dolores Dominguez de Watson and Susana Lacayo, both of whom are Charter Members of Californiana 247, NDGW, Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman of Rudecinda Parlor No. 230, San Pedro; Mrs. Lillian C. Nelson, a member of Californiana 247, all of whom are descendants of the original grantees. Accompanying Grand President Emily E. Ryan from San Francisco were Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Past Grand President Ann Theusen. Grand Officers of the Native Sons Walter H. Odemar, Eldred L. Meyer, Bernard G. Hiss and Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz were present.

● Grace Parlor No. 242, NDGW, Placentia, enjoyed a visit from DGP Eva Sachs April 19. Also present were a number of members from Ontario Parlor No. 251. The deputy addressed the Parlor and commended them on their work, especially the Homeless Children project. The sum of five dollars was voted for The Annie L. Adair Scholarship fund.

Helen Anderson entertained Grace Parlor Sewing club at an all day meeting at her home May 8. During the business session President Mae Lemke asked all to pay tribute to the armed forces. It was voted to buy a bond in the Seventh War Loan drive and all members were urged to participate in the drive toward the treatment of penicillin which is being sponsored by Grand President Emily Ryan. Five dollars was given toward the restoration of Soledad Mission.

● Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, Redwood City, held a public whist party of seventeen tables, April 26. Receipts at the door and from sales of refreshments of cake and coffee following the game netted ninety-three dollars for the general fund. President Margaret Jory was chairman, assisted by Agnes Casaretto in charge of tickets. Isabel MacPherson as chairman of the social committee was in charge of refreshments assisted by Alleen Maguire, Jessie Blomquist, Gertrude MacPherson, Dorothy Bank, Mary Sears and Bertha Brown.

During the past month members of Bonita Parlor No. 10 have been bringing their discarded silk and rayon stockings to meetings. Gertrude MacPherson is in charge of turning them over to Dibble Hospital at Menlo Park to be used by the boys in making rugs as a means of regaining strength and use of their hands. Members had been collecting articles for a rummage sale, but when the National Clothing Drive was started all clothing was turned over to the committee headed by Madeline Wallace, together with many more articles.

Bonita Parlor's drill team celebrated its fifth anniversary with a dinner at Club Scamus April 19. Fourteen members were present. Arrangements were made by Madeline Wallace. A candle lighted cake bearing congratulations to the team was cut and served by Captain Isabel MacPherson.

● Seventy-six members of Lugonia Parlor No. 241, NDGW, San Bernardino, and their guests celebrated the parlor's eighteenth anniversary and "Mother's Day" at a banquet in the California Hotel.

Mildred Meyer, president of Lugonia parlor, presided at the charming function. She introduced Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman, "mother" of the parlor, and Mrs. Meyer's daughter, Miss Frances, who read a poem, "Mother," by Kathleen Norris.

Mrs. Lois Knuckey, past president, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. F. E. Clough, who spoke most entertainingly on the subject, "Mothers."

Lugonia Parlor hosted members of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, NSGW, San Bernardino, at a covered dish supper April 25 in the American Legion Clubhouse. Mrs. Meyer presented David Stuart, president of Arrowhead parlor, who extended greetings to one hundred and thirty-five members and guests at the supper.

● The month of May was an active one for members of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, NDGW. On May 5, the parlor staged a very successful food and thimble club sale at the public market. In charge of the sale was Josephine Reichman, Dorothy Strubhart, Bernadette Paulson and Mildred Jordan.

Honoring their mothers, a delightful "Mother's Day Breakfast" was held by the members May 6 in the Hilton Hotel. Sweet-pea corsages, prepared by Ocea Smith, were presented each mother. Madeline Smith presented talented members of the parlor in a musical program. They were Myrtle Stewart, who played the xylophone; Frances Galvin's daughter, Janet, who offered several accordion numbers, and Dorothy Strubhart, who played the piano.

Grace Poole entertained the Thimble Club at her home, May 9. Twenty-five members and prospective members attended the charmingly appointed luncheon. Cards were played during the afternoon.

Dorothy Strubhart and her committee served coffee and cake at the Service Men's Club, May 14. This is a monthly project of Long Beach parlor.

Members recently voted to pay fifty cents each as a donation toward the purchase of a Red Cross station wagon, a gift from the Native Daughters order.

Lucinda B. O'Rourke

To the Officers and Members of Las Plumas Parlor No. 254, NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our beloved Life Member, Sister Lucinda Burr O'Rourke, herewith submit the following:

Whereas, the precious ties of love, friendship and fraternity once again have been severed, and we hereby pay fond and loving tribute to her memory, and be it

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved ones, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Parlor, a copy be sent her family and a copy be mailed to the Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

"Not dead to those who loved her,
Not lost, but gone before;
She lives with us in memory,
And will forever more."

Respectfully submitted,
EDITH GROTHER,
IVY V. RABLEN,
IMELDA WINN,
Committee.

Portola, California, April 10, 1945.

Jennie L. Jordan

To the Officers and Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 87, NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our departed Sister Jennie L. Jordan, herewith submit the following:

Whereas, in the passing to the Great Beyond of our beloved and esteemed Sister Jordan another tie binding Piedmont Parlor members together in the bonds of fraternity has been severed, and in her passing she has left a path of loving memories, a willingness to aid in the promoting of the best interests of our Order and a friendship of loyalty to our membership; therefore,

Be it resolved, That expressions of sympathy be extended to her family; that a copy of this memorial be sent them; that a copy be written into the minutes of this meeting, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
GRETTA MURDEN,
CORA G. WELCH,
ERNA JENKINS,
Committee.

Oakland, California, April 19, 1945.

Lee Gerran

Lee Gerran, member of Observatory Parlor No. 177, San Jose, was killed in action somewhere in the Pacific, according to a report received by members recently. Gerran was making his first mission over Jap-held territory, it was said. Commemorating his memory, a gold star—the parlor's first—will rest upon the service flag in the lodge room.

NATIVE SONS ACTIVITIES

DEPUTIES ASSEMBLE

Grand President Richard F. McCarthy called the following meetings of District Deputies during the past month. Deputy Grand Presidents of District No. 14, San Francisco, and Marin counties met Thursday evening, June 14 in San Francisco. Lewis A. Giegerich of Pacific Parlor, supervising deputy for district 14, presided.

Grand officers in attendance were Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Historian Emmett P. Joy and Grand Trustees Peter T. Conmy, Edward J. Wren and Webster K. Nolan.

The Grand President, accompanied by Grand Secretary Regan, visited Los Angeles for the purpose of organizing the Deputies of District No. 2. Dr. John A. Schwamm of Ramona Parlor No. 109, supervising deputy, presided.

Grand officers in attendance were Grand Second Vice-president Walter H. Odemar, Grand Trustee Bernard G. Hiss, Grand Outside Sentinel Erle Smith and Past Grand President Eldred L. Meyer.

Deputies of Santa Clara, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties met June 27 in San Jose. H. Irving Lee of Observatory Parlor No. 177, supervising deputy, presided. Meetings in other districts are being scheduled and statewide plans are being laid for another successful and progressive Native Son Year.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memorial services were held in City Hotel, Oakland, Sunday, May 27, for members of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, who have passed away during the past year.

Ethel C. Enos, grand vice-president, NDGW, delivered the eulogy for the Native Daughters and Grand President Richard F. McCarthy, NSGW, for the Native Sons. Paul Weber rendered musical selections.

The Color Guard was composed of members of Sequoia and Argonaut Parlors NDGW Green Patrol Drill Team.

The Native Sons Committee in charge was Frank Roemer, chairman, Al Vinther, J. Freese, Les Ashworth, James G. Dignan, George Hofmeister, Oscar Ohman, William Dombrink and M. Mathieson. Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Trustee Marion E. White, headed the committee for the Native Daughters.

TRIBUTE TO SECRETARY

After serving twenty-eight years as recording secretary of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 NSGW, Oakland, Charles D. Morando resigned that position last month. Press of private business required his full attention, Morando stated.

Officers of Piedmont Parlor paid tribute to Morando's outstanding work as record-keeping secretary for so many years.

MEMBERS IN SERVICE

Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 NSGW, Oakland, now serving in the Armed Forces overseas, write their "pals" back home regularly, to apprise them of their latest whereabouts.

Capt. Robert (Dr.) Peers, stationed in the Philippines, wrote parlor members recently that he is now Dispensary Surgeon, attached to the HQ Co. of the 8th Area Army Command.

Corporal Les Mills wrote from Belgium two days before the big "crash," telling of a trip through Luxembourg, and of crossing the Rhine into Germany. Corporal Bill Vestal, in a letter dated May 5, wrote that he is still stationed in Italy. Art Robin informs us he has been transferred from Belgium to England. Sergeant John Castagnola, writing from Germany, told of his visit to the famous University of Bonn. Captain Kenny Dignan, in the Philippines, sent word he is back at the front again after a session in the hospital with a broken ankle.

Private Bernard Curran, writing from somewhere in the Pacific April 24, said that "although the going is a little rough at times, there is no doubt as to our winning."

Colonel Henry J. Hampton's regiment, the 86th Infantry, has been ordered to the United States for deployment to the Pacific. Word also was received that Walter Butler is still in the Pacific with the First Airway Marines, but hopes to be home in August. Howard Carter is with the Sixth Marine Division in Okinawa. Hospitalized recently, he has returned to duty.

OPPOSE JAPANESE

A Marin County Town Hall meeting for the purpose of discussing the subject, "Shall We Actively Oppose the Return of the Japanese to the Pacific Coast?" was held in San Rafael, June 18. The Native Sons were represented by Thomas C. Ryan of Pacific Parlor No. 10, former grand trustee; and Grand Trustee Peter T. Conmy of Presidio Parlor No. 194.

SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

To commemorate the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the Native Sons and its parent parlor, California No. 1, the ceremony of installation of officers will be held at Native Sons Hall, 414 Mason St., San Francisco, Thursday evening, July 12.

The officers who will be installed at this meeting are: V. K. Nishkian, junior past president; I. E. Unger, president; John Slattery, Manuel Rehfeld, and Robert Miller, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; L. F. Elower, recording secretary; Fred Ehlers, Jr., financial secretary; Al Franzen, treasurer; John Westerhouse, marshal; Jack Silva and Don Brown, inside and outside sentinels and William James, trustee.

Many grand officers will be present and an invitation is extended to the members of all parlors to be present. The committee in charge will provide refreshments.

SPEAKS OF SERRA

Father Eric O'Brien, member of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 and vice posulator for the canonization of Father Junipero Serra was the speaker before an open meeting of Stanford, Pacific and Castro Parlors, San Francisco, June 12 in the Grizzly Bear club rooms. Rev. Father O'Brien was introduced by Grand President Richard F. McCarthy and spoke on the subject of the canonization of California's first pioneer.

Judge George B. Harris, president of Stanford Parlor introduced Arthur Poheim of Stanford, chairman of the evening. Entertainment was furnished by the Columbia Park Boys' club of San Francisco.

IN MILITARY SERVICE

Fruitvale Parlor No. 252 NSGW, Oakland, recently received letters from a number of members now in military service here or overseas. Among them were Charlie Eiferle, aboard the USS Salamonie, Herbert White, Joe Souza, back in this country again and now in Port Director's office, San Francisco; Harry Grady; Belden Young in Oregon; Dave Norris; Buzz Anderson in the South Pacific; Commander H. G. Stevens, who reports he is to take command of a new ship.

Also Noah Olsen in Belgium; Charles Delsescaux; Jack Lagrave at Eniwotok Atoll, who says he's promoted to Radio Man 1/c; Cyril Field; Russell Wolff in India; Erwin Lamley in Pacific Area; Bill Boenner; and Corporal Wilbur McDonough in Germany.

APOLOGY

Apologies to Past Grand Presidents C. L. Dodge, Jesse H. Miller and Henry S. Lyon for the ommission of their names as being present at the war conference. They were very much in evidence, especially our good friend Henry S. Lyon and his very pleasant wife with whom we had the pleasure of "breaking bread."

STATE GUARDSMEN

BRIGADIER GENERAL VICTOR R. HANSEN, Adjutant General of California, is pictured at his desk in State Building No. 1, Sacramento, from which he directs activities of the California State Guard, which is currently conducting a campaign to bring the State Guard up to the maximum force allowed by law, approximately 12,000 men. Training is confined to two hours one night a week, supplemented by occasional Sunday field training and one-week summer courses in all military departments. State Guardsmen cannot be called to active duty without their consent beyond the border of their own county. General Hansen recently divided the State into two areas, naming Colonel John C. French, USA ret., as Commanding Officer of the Southern California Area and Lieutenant Colonel Ralph A. W. Pearson, USA ret., as Commanding Officer of the Northern California Area. Each area is divided into Tactical Groups. (International.)

THREE-FOLD PURPOSE

Members of Sacramento Parlor No. 3 NSGW, had a three-fold purpose for assembling at a dinner and entertainment June 7 in Native Sons' hall in that city. They were: to welcome back members who have returned from active duty in the Armed Forces; to honor those men who still are in military service, and to present gold pins to five members who have belonged to the parlor for fifty years.

Governor Earl Warren, member of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, Oakland, senators, assemblymen and members of Northern California parlors were invited to the affair.

Receiving gold pins for half a century of loyal service to the order and to their parlor were John C. Ing, Andrew M. Henderson, Charles Schoenbachler, George J. Scully and Warren Floberg.

Sacramento Parlor No. 3, and Sunset Parlor No. 26 NSGW, both of Sacramento, held joint installation ceremonies at Sunset Parlor June 18. Sacramento Parlor held semi-annual election of officers June 21, according to Andrew C. McNeill, president.

Two members of San Jose Parlor No. 22 NSGW, became proud papas last month. Harold Goepel proudly announced arrival of a son and Anthony Schirle beamed with joy over his brand-new daughter.

MEMBERS MOURNED

Deaths in May of two well-known members of San Jose Parlor No. 22 NSGW, Bernard J. Kell and John J. Berrano, were announced recently by parlor officers. Both were sixty-nine years of age.

Kell, born in San Jose, joined the parlor in 1902. He was at one time Coroner of Santa Clara County, but in late years was a rancher, residing at Almaden.

Berrano, born in Petaluma, became a member of San Jose Parlor in 1924. He was a painter.

Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW, reported it has a total of two hundred and thirty-four members, an all-time high for the parlor, and eighty-one members in the Armed Forces.

Future Native Sons of the Golden West —and of course they'll be members of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252, Oakland, where their dads belong—are Michael Joseph Ambrosi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ambrosi, and Raymond George Silva, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Silva. The happy events occurred in March.

Excerpts from Grand President's Address

By Ethel C. Enos

ADVANCEMENT to the high office of Grand President in the Order of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, brings to my consciousness a humbleness of heart for the honor conferred upon me, and it shall be my aim to serve in every way possible, to bring credit to our Order.

The Golden Heritage of California is a legend that has increased as the years have sped by since the first discovery of gold in this Empire of the West. The fame and fortune which developed following those first hectic years after the cry of "Gold, Gold, Gold in California," reverberated from ocean to ocean, brought to our shores a galaxy of people of every type and description. The feverish intensity accompanying the arrival of these Argonauts enveloped scores of men and women, who came to gather wealth unto themselves with the idea that soon they would return to distant homes. However, they discovered the gold they sought to possess did not make for peace and happiness.

Prior to the discovery of gold, groups of men and women had trekked by land and sea to the West and with a fixed purpose of building a new foundation for themselves and security for their children. These sturdy pioneers found love and pride in this land and no desire to return to the homes they had left long before. The Padres who had "broken trail" many years before gave them a groundwork on which they could achieve the purposes for coming to California and the accomplishment of their mission.

With the settling of villages, towns and cities, industry and farming came into being, and from a humble beginning there stands before us today an educational system, an industrial world and farming operations which find no equal elsewhere.

Our organization, having as humble a beginning as our State, came into being in the then teeming and thriving gold center of Jackson, Amador County. In September 1886, the records tell us, a handful of women met for the purpose of banding together those interested in social and cultural development. Because of their sincerity of purpose and the ideals portrayed by our principles of "Love of Home, Devotion to our Flag, Veneration of the Pioneers, and an Abiding Faith in God," we are proud of our growth and the extension of the Native Daughters of the Golden West to a membership now numbering approximately 15,000 California-born women. For three and one-half years we have been vitally concerned with the progress of a war which enveloped all mankind, and the Native Daughters have not been lax in their acceptance of this added burden. The committees involved have been active and still are carrying on, bending every effort at their command to accomplish the "almost impossible task," as long as those who are near and dear to us are in the armed forces of the United States. It is our ardent prayer that the holocaust enveloping us in the far Pacific will soon be climaxed and our loved ones returned to their homes.

Every committee sponsored by the Native Daughters is a potent factor in the future of the State. But in order to gain our aims we must stand united in our efforts, and every Parlor whether it be large or small, located in the large cities, small communities, or in the valleys hemmed in by the mountains, has a duty in furthering every project set forth. There is no North or South in this beloved State of ours. We are a whole, and as members of the Order, are all working together for the advancement of the Native Daughters of the Golden West and of our State.

AMED for Helen Hunt Jackson's romantic fictional character of early California, the newest parlor of the Native Daughters the Golden West, Ramona No. 283, came into being June 7 Hanford during a special session presided over by Grand sident Emily E. Ryan. Accompanying her and assisting with ceremonies were Grand Vice-president Ethel C. Enos and and Secretary Sallie R. Thaler.

Organizer of the group was SDDGP Ella Greene of Fresno . 187, who was appointed deputy for the parlor. In the in-tution ceremony, the Grand President presided and the session declared open by Ethel Enos, who also acted as past grand sident. Sallie Thaler acted in her official capacity.

nitiation followed, with Rex Wogran of Fresno presiding. llis Denton, Las Flores Parlor No. 262, Avenal, was junior past sident; Alice McKean, Las Flores, past president; Alice Picchi, sno, Elizabeth Barton, Madera No. 24, and Avis Burke, Fresno, t, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Sallie Thaler, etary; Maude Crosby, Fresno, financial secretary; Edna Fitz-mons, Fresno, treasurer; Lydia Rinehardt, Fresno, marshal; ie Randrup, Wawona No. 271, and Bernice Kinchlloe; Wa-a No. 271, inside and outside sentinels respectively; Gladys ght, Hattie Dunn and Rachel Dozier, Coalinga, trustees.

stalling officer was Ella Greene, supported by Millie Barton, linga, past president; Anne Scharer, first vice president; n Bentwell, second vice president and Dean Lewis, Coalinga, , second and third vice presidents respectively; Sallie Thaler, rding secretary; May McGuire, financial secretary; Emma bele, treasurer; Lydia Rinehart, marshal; Viola Smith and Willis, inside and outside sentinels; Mollie Rice, Daisy Ag-and Frances Frusitta, trustees. Harriett Boust acted as rman.

Formerly a member of Pleasanton Parlor No. 237, in the town of that name, Alameda County, the charter president of the new parlor is Hazel Leal. Having been so steeped in Native Daughterism, that it had been difficult for her to relinquish her activities in the projects of the Order, Mrs. Leal exerted a great deal of effort in organizing the new parlor in Hanford. Installed with Mrs. Leal are the following: Julia Veneira, Valdeen Bynum and Lucille Bettencourt, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Leta Page, charter past president; Nadene Deen, marshal; Ardath Caeton, recording secretary; Lema Rich, treasurer; Esther Hotchkiss, organist; Kathryn Gillis and Olivia Baca, inside and outside sentinels; Iola Sargent, Beulah Bratton and Clarice Fike, trustees.

Las Flores Parlor No. 262, Avenal, loaned regalia for the evening's ceremonies. A profusion of flowers graced the American Legion Hall and the officers and visiting guests of honor wore a variety of colorful corsages, Although only thirty members were present to be inducted into the Order, the Grand President agreed to leave the charter open for thirty days for the quota of fifty to be filled. An erroneous newspaper announcement was blamed for the absence of many candidates.

Following the ceremonies, homemade cakes and coffee were served, with Native Sons of Hanford Parlor No. 37 serving.

President Leal, upon assuming her chair, thanked all who had been instrumental in organizing the parlor and introduced the Grand President, who welcomed the new fraternal child and wished for the Parlor a long and progressive future. She said it was the duty of Native Daughters to keep the home fires burning more brightly than ever, now that our boys will be coming home. She presented the new parlor with a shiny gavel and advised the charter president to use it wisely. The parlor voted to meet the second and fourth Fridays in Knights of Pythias hall.

HANFORD WELCOMES RAMONA PARLOR

HEROES were plentiful in the section of early California now known as Kings County of which the thriving town of Hanford is the County seat. Named for El Rio de los Santos Reyes (river of the holy kings) the county was formed March 22, 1893, from a portion of Tulare County.

Halfway between San Francisco and Los Angeles and directly on the airline between the two metropolitan centers, Hanford lies snug in the heart of the great San Joaquin Valley. Although boasting only 1475 square miles the "Little Kingdom of the Kings" ranks among the first six counties of the state in wealth and third in per capita buying power.

Although the history of Hanford itself is comparatively new, it is tinged with drama. The Southern Pacific brought the area its greatest blessing and laid the scene for one of its tragedies. The blessing has been perpetuated in modern transportation; the tragedy has been dimmed by the passing years. Coincidental with the rise of Hanford came the fall of Grangeville, pioneer settlement and center of commerce for the Mussel Slough country and a portion of the Tulare Valley. Hopes of the Grangeville citizens were dashed when the rails bent further and further southward as they spanned the Cross Creek country leaving Grangeville off the railroad map. Thanks to the acumen and foresight of a little group of Hanford business men, the main line of the Santa Fe subsequently was laid through the town.

Not only is Hanford the center of Kings County governmental affairs, but it is also the hub of industry and commerce as well for the rich area. The building of the United States Army training center near the adjacent community of Lemoore brought an all-county boom.

Captain Pedro Fages, Father Juan Crespi and a company of soldiers made an exploratory journey from Monterey in 1772 and were the first white men to view the great San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys. The martyred Father Francisco Garces passed through the San Joaquin Valley in 1775 as far north as Tulare Lake. Father Jose Maria Zalvidea and Lieut. Francisco Ruiz made a similar journey in 1806. Lieut. Jose Joaquin de Moraga, founder of the presidio of San Francisco and his son, Alferez Gabriel Moraga with Padre Pedro Munoz made exploratory journeys through the valley. The American Jedidiah Smith and Capt. John Charles Fremont all presumably camped on the banks of the Kings river. Although historians say the river was named Rio de los Santos Reyes, or river of the holy kings in 1805, there is an uncertainty as to who designated it thus.

Visiting Hanford for the institution of Ramona Parlor No. 283, NDGW, we were delighted to meet a real pioneer, Don Juan Fernando Michel who came to Kingston, the ghost town nearby on the banks of the Kings, at the age of five in 1868. His parents, Pasqual and Petra Murillo de Michel were from Culiacan in Old Mexico.

As a boy, Fernando learned to ride the range with his elders and rapidly became acquainted with all the river fords and natural landmarks. In 1890 he married Sarah Smalley who had come from Pennsylvania with her parents to California in 1881. They had no children but reared two nieces, one of whom, Mrs. Arthur Homan, resides in Hanford and took us on a tour of historic spots in the vicinity of the city.

Don Michel attended the first Grand Parlor of the Native Sons in 1877. He had assisted in the organization of Hanford Parlor No. 37 and the railroad was brought through Hanford in 1877, making it po sible for a special train to pick up the Ha ford delegates. The town was named f the cashier of the Southern Pacific railwa John Hanford. It was customary in t period of transportation development name railroad towns after executives in t company.

The first religious institution to come Hanford was the Christian in 1878, f lowed by the Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopalian within two years. In 1882, a Catholic church was established. Numerous other denominations have since been founded.

Early devastating fires necessitated the organization of a volunteer fire department which continues to operate. The old fire house, built in the 1880's still stands. Its picturesque stone front and bell tower offer a reminder of the days when the ringing of the bell, now painted white and adorning the gardens of the new home of the fire department, brought citizens running to witness the fascinating though ominous spectacle of fire.

Sixteen years ago the city instituted a pioneer day, or home coming celebration which served to reawaken traditions of the old days. The event has been dispensed with during the war, but inhabitants talk of the revival of the celebration.

Six miles south of Hanford is the Adobe de los Robles, located on the old Rancho, Laguna de Tache, a grant which once extended from the community of Kingsburg on the north bank of the Kings river to a point six miles north of Lemoore. The first owner was Daniel Rhoades, who came to California in 1846. He remained at Fort Sutter the first winter and joined the first Donner Party relief expedition.

Rhoades came to the area of the Lower Kings river in 1856 and according to Don Fernando Michel, took the resident Tache Indians under his protective wing. He engaged them to make the bricks for his adobe house. The 122 foot structure was first comprised of one large room, intended for a carriage room, and a supply room in which the family lived until the permanent living quarters were constructed. Three of these rooms boast fire-places and within the venerable walls, which have been continuously inhabited, Mrs. Carroll Buckner, who with her husband are the present owners and who are responsible for the building's restoration, have held many interesting meetings with historically interested persons.

The Native Sons of the Golden West gave a banquet in honor of Daniel Rhoades in the 1880's and presented him with an oil painting of himself and a gold headed cane. The heirs of the pioneer presented the relics to the Buckners and the picture is hung on the wall of one of the rooms.

Following Rhoades' death in 1895, the adobe remained in the family for years. A mausoleum in which the bodies of "Uncle Dan" and "Aunt Mandy" Rhoades are entombed stands a short distance from the old homestead as a perpetual monument to the pioneer family. The Buckners live in a modern house facing the highway and are careful to preserve every feature of the old house possible.

No more picturesque setting than the huge, spreading oaks, the tall gum trees, oleander which still bloom in "Aunt Mandy's" garden and the winding stream, branching off from the river of the holy days ever embellished a relic of early architecture in California.

A few piers of a toll bridge and a rotted cap of what once was a Butterfield Stage depot remain today of the historic community of Kingston. Most of the early day settlers of the 1850's, 60's and 70's stopped here for supplies and refreshments. It was the gateway to the Mussel Slough country and to the settlers this was the land of promise. Kingston was the mailing, trading, schooling and amusement center. In 1874, the desperado, Tiburcio Vasques held up the community. A half mile to the east of the site, stands the Phillips home, built by Perry Phillips and still occupied by the family of his son, Robert. It is a two storied frame house, containing nine rooms and has overhanging verandas at both front and rear. From these balconies, spectators watched the Vasques hold-up.

There are many other details of history which we would like to mention. In future issues, detailed descriptions of the Rhoades adobe, the Phillips house and the story of Kingston will be published.

Representative Women

FIFTY-FOUR representative women formed the charter membership of La Tijera Parlor No. 282, May 29, in Inglewood when institution ceremonies were held. In the absence of Grand President Emily E. Ryan because of serious illness in her family, Grand Vice-president Ethel C. Enos presided over the special session, which brought the new group into existence. Assisting were PGP Grace S. Stoermer, past grand president; SDDGP Elsie Amidon, District 36, acting grand marshal; Ruby Paine, Rudecinda No. 230, Eleanor Killen, assisting marshals; Frankie Lambreth, La Reina No. 267, first vice president; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, Florence Dodson Schoneman, Rudecinda, and Evelyn Howell, Los Angeles No. 124, trustees. Dorothy Strubhart, organist of Long Beach Parlor No. 154, played throughout the evening.

A selected team performed the initiation ritual. They were Ada Fohl, Wilmington Parlor No. 278, past president; Vera West, Long Beach No. 154, president; Lottie Miller, Compton No. 258, Dessie Buyo, Rudecinda, Florence Grass, La Reina, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Elsie Amidon, Los Angeles, marshal; Mary Hudson, Rudecinda, financial secretary; Mercy Jane Powers, Rudecinda, treasurer; Juliette De Nubila, Los Angeles, junior past president; Genevieve Hiskey and Adlena Marshall, Santa Ana No. 265, inside and outside sentinels.

Presiding over the installation ceremonies was District Deputy Letitia Sarciaux of district 36, assisted by the following staff: Ruby Paine, first vice president; PGP Mary B. Noerenberg, acting officially. Elsie Amidon, grand marshal; the grand secretary acting officially; Mary Judson, financial secretary; Mercy Jane Powers, treasurer; Anna T. Schiebusch, Evelyn Howell and Carrie Purvis, Rudecinda, trustees. Lura Pesqueira acted as chairman.

Installed with President Helen Brandt were the following; Lila Stephenson, past president; Wynifred Tonkin, Maxine Porter, and Gladys Dulmage, first, second and third vice presidents, respectfully; Ruth Payne, recording secretary; Leyla De Brunner, financial secretary; Angela Latasa, treasurer; Ruth Duley marshal; Hattie Clark, Jennie Baum and Katherine Manson trustees; Elsie Lou Brandt and Geraldine Frobisher, inside and outside sentinels, and Vera Warnell, organist.

The charter president addressed the large gathering, expressing her gratitude for those who had given the new parlo the benefit of their experience in lending aid in the organizatio work. These were PGP Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustee Ann T. Schiebusch, SDDGP Letitia Sarciaux and Lura Pesqueira.

Grand Vice President Enos expressed the regrets of Gran President Ryan and reviewed the projects of the Order. Gran officers present responded to introductions. Miss Enos presente Lura Pesqueira and appointed her deputy to the new group a requested by the Grand President, paying tribute to her as sistance in forming the parlor.

Native Sons were represented by Grand Second Vice-presi dent Walter Odemar and Mrs. Odemar and PGP Eldred Meye and Mrs. Meyer as well as Walter Brandt, husband of the newl installed president and member of Santa Monica Bay Parlor N 267, and many other members.

A standing ovation was accorded young Buster De Brunne survivor of the USS Franklin and wearer of the Purple Hear the seventeen year old son of Leyla De Brunner, financial secre tary of La Tijera.

Louise Cash, president of San Gabriel Valley Parlor No. 28 presented the latest addition to the Native Daughter family wit a cradle which the month old infant had received from the Gran President the night of institution. The donor had requested tha the gift be passed on to the newest child to possess as long a it remained the youngest in the chain.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 presented the American flag an Ellen Wilson, president and PGP Stoermer and Grand Truste Schiebusch the standard, staff and eagle. Substantial financia gifts were received from neighboring Native Son and Daughte parlors.

Inglewood Greets La Tijera Parlor

By Lillian Stratton

LUSH grass waived its tasselled heads over the black productive soil where nglewood now stands. The Sentinel Springs, Aguaje de la Centinela," poured forth an nceasing flow. Here were the essentials or pasturage, forage and water, and those arly settlers of the Los Angeles Pueblo, ver with a keen outlook for grazing land, ook note. Shortly after the Pueblo was ettled in 1781, the pobladores drove their erds to this rich pasture.

In the shade of the willows which grew round the springs, days and nights passed viftly for those who watched the beeves. uitars were strummed and romances were hearsed.

But as with all golden ages, there must e an end. The year 1822 wrought many hanges in California history. Spanish rule ave way to Mexican. And Antonio Ygnacio vila, possibly alerted by the change in overnment, took steps to make certain at his stock would continue to have grass d water.

Captain Noriega, military commandante, d announced promptly that those who ould erect a corral might be insured of rmanency where Inglewood now stands. vila, whose father Cornelio was one of e pueblo's first settlers, at once built his rral near the willows by the spring, and us established the first claim to the land. While land still was valued at but a few nts for the acre, Avila further established s claim to the springs and grazing land erecting an adobe ranch house for his mily in the area which now is Centinela rk.

For eleven years, Avila's great estate was disputed, but in 1833 arose a disturbing ctor. Don Ygnacio Machado, who knew od land when he saw it, moved into the nada fed by the springs as they flowed stward toward the sea.

Machado had the instincts of a farmer. cultivated the land, erected two adobes human occupancy and planted a vine-rd. He irrigated his fields with water stored behind a small dam, and he constructed a corral for the slaughtering of stray horses. which fell into his grasp.

Such activitv conflicted with the indulgent leisurely ways of Avila and his growing family. The latter could not tolerate the breaking up of pasture land without uttering a protest. At last the divergent interests were referred for settlement to the pueblo council. In a historic decision, the council gave Don Machado a provisional title to his rancho, but it withheld for the cattle men the right to water their stock at the springs and water holes of the vicinity.

It is interesting to note in this later age that these same springs continue to supply water for the City of Inglewood which has grown upon the once disputed ranchos.

Avila, who had four influential brothers residing in the pueblo, doubtless fussed and fumed over the decision of the council. For four more years, he occupied land to which his title was founded only by the law of possession. But in 1837, he saw to it that Governor Alvarado granted him the Rancho Sausal Redondo, which means "Ranch of the Round Clump of Willows," where he had first established himself by the spring.

Machado, it appears, moved slowly, but seven years later he further proved upon his land by obtaining title to the Rancho Aguaje de la Centinela from Governor Micheltorena. Today this same acreage extends from Centinela Avenue on the north to Buckthorn Street on the south.

But by the time another year had elapsed, Machado had tired of the life of a ruralist. Desiring the delights of the pueblo, he traded his vast rancho, with two barrels of his California brandy to even the deal, for a small tract of town land, having upon it a three-roomed adobe, a corral and a vineyard.

Previous to the broadcast, Grand President Richard F. McCarthy of the Native Sons, accompanied by PGP Edward T. Schnarr, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Grand Trustees Peter T. Conmy and Edward J. Wren, made his official visit. The Grand President addressed the Grand Parlor.

Chairman of the public speaking contest, PGP Edna Briggs introduced Marie Luschsinger of Sacramento Junior College, sole contestant. Her topic was "Aviation in the Post War World." Grand President Ryan presented the award of twenty-five dollars.

Captain Campbell outlined the work of the special services department in the port of embarkation.

Scrapbook awards were made as follows: for parlors located in towns of the following populations: to 10,000—Santa Maria No. 276, first place; Junipero No. 141, honorable mention; 21,000 to 50,000—Annie K. Bidwell No. 168, Chico, first place; Marysville No. 162, honorable mention; 250,000 up—Californiana No. 247, first place and Los Angeles No. 124, honorable mention.

During memorial services, eulogies were given for PGP Eva R. Rasmussen by PGP Edna Briggs and for PGP Emma G. Foley by PGP Orinda Giannini. Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe played "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Initiation of forty-two candidates was held Wednesday evening by the San Francisco County deputies under the leadership of SDDGP May MacDonald. Sara Ellen Bennett opened the meeting and the following deputies filled designated stations: Sara Buckley, president; Kay Jensen, past president; Gladys Blanchard, junior past president; Dorothy Knight, Gertrude McDonough and Mary Luhr, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Vera Thompson, recording secretary, Bertha Steffens, financial secretary; Pearl Wedde, treasurer; Lorraine Lewis, marshal; Lucille Kimbark, Ellen Kinsley and Ada Levy, trustees; Anita Craig and Robina Shepard, inside and outside sentinels. Assistant marshals: Evelyn Butler, Marguerite Dahlstrom, Louise DeMartini, Mildred Ehlert, Evelyn Kilkenny, Hilda Mathis, Merle Sandell and Eleanor Walsh.

During the escort of the Grand President in whose honor the initiation was planned, Mardelle May of Orinda No. 56, sang "Maytime," while deputies formed a V for victory through which the honored guest was escorted. All of the grand officers and past grand presidents in attendance at the conference were escorted, as was SDDGP MacDonald. The Grand President was the only speaker. Following the ceremonies, refreshments were served.

Equal to attendance at any previous Grand Parlor was that witnessing the installation of Officers in Scottish Rites Temple on Van Ness Avenue, Thursday night, June 21. The hall was banked with graceful baskets of red and white gladioluses. Chairman of the evening was former grand trustee, Henrietta Toothaker of Woodland Parlor No. 90 and supreme grand officers were, PGP Claire Lindsey, president, and Marion White, marshal. Deputies of San Francisco County, carrying varicolored leis formed a semicircle in front of the altar for the escort of PGP Emily E. Ryan.

Grand President Ethel Enos was escorted by a large group of members of La Morada, her home parlor and representative parlors from Stanislaus and Merced counties wearing white formals and carrying unique nosegays formed of red satin ribbon and white frills. They formed a heart in front of the altar and while the Grand President stood in the center, holding an arm bouquet of red roses, Mardelle May sang, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Following her address of acceptance, excerpts of which are published in this issue, Miss Enos presented members of her family and PGP Clarice E. Cooke, her staunch friend for many years. All of the Grand officers introduced their families. Former grand organist, Mae O'Keefe played for the ceremonies and impressive piano solos were presented by Helen Heineman.

Mrs. Ryan received a symbolic ring from the Grand Parlor, presentation being made by PGP Mae Himes Noonan and SDDGP MacDonald made the presentation of a gift from statewide deputies and supervisors.

Banded Together

● The novelty of one senior parlor sponsoring two junior units is the case of Toluca Parlor No. 279, Burbank, which on May 3(ushered into the world, Aowa Kuja Unit No. 18. The Indian name chosen for the group means "banded together for a purpose."

Public institution and installation were conducted by Grand Vice President Ethel C. Enos of Modesto in the absence of Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted by Junior Unit No. 17 with Barbara Bunce president, presiding. Her junior officers were Margaret Bluemm, junior past president; Caroll Nippell, vice president; Dolores Dahlquist, marshal; Barbara Quinn recording secretary; Jean Marcy, Mary Ellen Denby and Charlotte Rohe, trustees Gloria Welch, secretary and treasurer and Diane Parrot, organist.

A colorful escort was provided for the installing grand officer and Cleone Steinbach president of the mother parlor and the following grand officers and honored guests were presented: DGP Mary B. Noerenberg Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, DGP Grace S. Stoermer and State Chairman of Juniors Irma Murray of Aloha Parlor No. 106, Oakland.

Katherine Markkula was appointed advisor to the group.

Officers of the new unit include Joan Peterson, president; Barbara Fairnie, past president; Nancy Meeks, vice president Annette Shaw, marshal; Jean Benjamin secretary; Joan Hained, financial secretary Barbara Hanes, Betty Bossuat and Jo Ann Sapp, trustees; Virginia Ferrare, sentinel and Mary Jane Smallwood, organist. Other members are Virginia Romp, Patty Palmer Donna Newton, Joanne Peterson and Joanne Fitz.

The other party to the trade was Bruno Avila, one of the rancher Avila's four brothers. In this way, two members of the Avila family came to own all of the present site of Inglewood.

Peace predominated around the willow spring—until in 1852, the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo prompted the Avilas to file petitions with the United States in proof of their titles.

Bruno was given title in 1854 to the Aguaje de la Centinela, nearly 2300 acres, and Antonio received his in 1855 for the Sausal Redondo, nearly 23,000 acres.

Once the title was his, Bruno who was pressed for money, mortgaged his home and rancho at the excessive interest rate of six per cent a month, which totalled 72 per cent a year.

One year later Hilliard P. Dorsey, one of the lenders, at auction bid in the Centinela rancho for $2000. Shortly afterward he was slain in a gun battle at El Monte. Dorsey's widow had no preference for ranch life. She sold the rancho as a means of escape. It went through several successive changes of ownership, at one time transferring for $3000.

Sir Robert Burnett, Scott nobleman, at last came into possession of both properties, a total of 25,000 acres by paying $3000 for the Centinela and $30,000 for the Rancho Sausal Redondo. Sir Robert lived for a time in the Bruno Avila adobe which still stands west of the springs, overlooking the canada But after a span of twelve years, the Scotsman returned to his native heath, leasing his property to Daniel Freeman, who later exercised an option to buy for a sum in the neighborhood of $140,000.

In 1887, the Centinela-Inglewood Land Company was formed to purchase a large acreage where the Inglewood town site at once was surveyed.

"Hold up. Hold up. Have you seen Inglewood?" clarioned the advertisements. A city of considerably more than 30,000 souls from that advertising has developed around the springs.

Adopted Child

You are the child I, somehow, was not meant to bear,
And so I picked you out from all the rest. Your hair
Curls just the way I always dreamed it would. Today
You learned to clutch your little rattle tight and play.
I held you in my arms a time ago, you nestled snug and warm and near,
And smiled at me. We belong together don't we, dear?
You look to me—I'm all you have and give you care and love you much,
And I to you because you are my crumpled dream at last come true to touch.
Someday you, too, will understand how deep and strong our bonds can be.
I love you so, you little tyke, whom through the strength of someone else,
The good Lord sent for me.

● The Hospital Workshop committee of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 NDGW will meet August 10 at Kate William's home for an evening of sewing and preparing scrapbooks, according to Evelyn Howell, president.

Georgia Hart, capable chairman of the parlor's Homeless Children committee, reported that a large crowd attended the all-day picnic, July 28 at Fern Dell in Griffith Park. During the afternoon baby garments were prepared by the sewing group. "Grandmothers' Night" will be held Sept. 19, with Mary McAnany in charge.

● Mrs. Marguerite Dahlstrom, newly-elected president of Keith Parlor No. 137 NDGW, San Francisco, and her corps of officers were installed July 12 by Deputy Dorothy Knight, Castro Parlor No. 178 NDGW, San Francisco.

Twenty-Sixth Babe

Their twenty-sixth baby was adopted by members of Grace Parlor No. 242, NDGW, Placentia last month. The child was named Jerry Don, in honor of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Oswald, who are in the armed forces overseas.

Grace Parlor recently celebrated its eighteenth birthday with a "family dinner" attended by seventy-five members and guests, including PGP Mary Noerenberg. Colored films of Mexico were shown by John Tuffree.

● Election of officers for the new year highlighted the meeting June 6 of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW.

Mrs. Layol German is the new president and her officers are: Alma Holzworth, Freda Alexander, and Emily MacFarland, first, second and third vice-presidents; Mildred Prakshot, marshal; Rita Bolt, and Eleanor Prawl, inside and outside sentinels; Jacqueline Sousa, organist; Nettie Lukes, Nellie Bohland and Ethel Smith, trustees; Kathryn Fitzgerald, recording secretary; Anna Johnson, financial secretary, and Tessie O'Neill, treasurer.

Bob Finnerty, member of Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW, was married recently to Miss Louise Taylor of that city. Bob Andrieux was best man.

Valley of The Bears

By Isabel Fages

"OLE, soldado!" the corporal whispered hoarsely to his companion, who had turned his back momentarily to search for a lost cartridge. "Mira los osos!" And sure enough, there in a nearby clearing which had so far evaded them was a group of grizzly bears. A mother groomed her cub; a shaggy male clawed at the foot of a great tree and another crunched the bones of an inanimate small animal. A tiny spring fed a limpid pool nearby where several of the great hairy creatures noisily satisfied their thirst.

"I can shoot that fellow climbing the tree!" boastfully exclaimed Juan, the soldier who had retrieved the lost cartridge and placed it in his gun. Before the corporal could answer, the boast had been accomplished. The big bear fell snarling to the ground. His companions did not stop to attend his last agony, but fled in fear from their peaceful watering ground. Soldiers stalked the woods for several days seeking their prey and in Gaspar de Portola's camp, the cook turned many juicy bear steaks over the sizzling camp fire at meal time. The canyon in which the expedition rested became known as La Canyada de los Osos Flacos (lean bears).

Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo had discovered and named San Luis Obispo Bay in the summer of 1542, designating it the bay of Los Todos Santos (holy saints). He also sited Los Esteros, El Moro (Morro rock) Piedras Blancas and the Bay of Sardines (San Simeon).

But it was not until September 7, 1769 that Don Gaspar de Portola and his party passed through the canyon inhabited by many bears. Fray Juan Crespi, spiritual leader and diarist named it Canyada de la Natividad de Nuestra Senora (canyon of the birth of our lady) since the feast of her nativity occurred on the following day. The soldiers who enjoyed the hunting foray called it the canyon and valley of the lean bears and this name has persisted to the present day.

Padre Junipero Serra, father president of the missions, realized the distance between San Diego and Monterey was too great for the missionaries and their parties to travel without replenishing supplies and he chose the fertile valley of the bears for a mission site. September 1, 1772, he with Father Jose Caballer founded the Mission San Luis Obispo de Tulosa, saying the first mass under a brush arbor. The permanent mission buildings were not commenced until a year later.

In 1775 the mission was attacked by a large band of Indians from Tulare County, who shot lighted arrows into the thatched roofs. To avoid a recurrence of the destructive raids, kilns were built for the making of tiles and the entire mission structure was roofed with this more durable substance. San Luis Obispo thus became the first mission to make roofing tile.

After secularization in 1834, the mission was allowed to decay and in 1847, when Capt. John Wilson claimed the mission site through purchase under Governor Micheltorena during Mexican rule, the entire establishment became public property, with Padre Gomez being given possession of the chapel.

In 1847 a contract for repairing the mission was let and a number of interesting municipal laws were adopted. It became obligatory for ranchos to hold two rodeos a year, the time for each round-up being designated in the law. Road repair was provided with all inhabitants being required to assist. Gabriel Salazar was appointed Juez de Campo and Thomas Herrera, superintendent of water. Water rights were defined. Inhabitants were ordered to clean the walks and streets in front of their homes and a constable was appointed and allowed a salary of twenty dollars monthly. A town or rancheria for Indians was provided.

San Luis Obispo de Tolusa Mission

The mission settlement and surrounding ranches were referred to as a pueblo in 845, in a deed dated November 20 by oaquin Estrada, juez primero (first judge) who certified to a sale of land by Don icente Feliz to Don Santiago Maguinle James McKinley).

The American seizure of San Luis Obispo s typical of the bloodless trail of the conuest. The night of December 14, 1846, ohn C. Fremont and his battalion camped utside the town. It was so dark, that hen the bugle was sounded to fall in, ieutenant McLane, leader of the artillery nd his men could not find their places. t last 300 horsemen assembled and at the ommand galloped furiously down the ain street. The pobladores were asleep. uddenly awakened by the sound of the undering hoofs, they arose to find the own conquered.

The mission was used as barracks for ie American soldiers and since there was ot enough room in the dormitory, a numer were quartered in the church. A guard etail protected the altar and other sacred roperties from desecration.

Don Jose Jesus Pico was the cousin of ie last Mexican governor of California, on Pio Pico and General Andres Pico, exican general. Don Jesus was the owner Rancho Piedra Blanca. Captured by Freont's men, the ranchero was accused of ing a spy and had been tried and conmned to die. Shortly before the sentence as to be executed, the pueblo was aroused the appearance of a procession of weepg women, who stormed the headquarters Fremont and begged for Don Jesus' rease. All were veiled except Dona Ramona ilson, the most beautiful, who led the oup. At first the Captain appeared adamt, but finally succumbed to their pleadg and allowed the prisoner to accompany m on his march south. Don Jesus later ted as an emissary to General Andres co, asking that a treaty be signed with ne other than Captain Fremont. As a sult, articles of capitulation were signed nuary 13, 1847 at Campo de Cahuenga, ar Los Angeles.

December 17, 1846, the battalion marched ay from San Luis Obispo after releasing e imprisoned populace.

On the site of Fremont's camp, a bronze rker has been paced in a monument of ne. The wording reads, "Gen. John C. emont and his command of 430 men of e Navy Battalion of the mounted Rifle-n, encamped near this site, December 1-15, 1846 on their march, which ended e Mexican regime in California—Erected 30 by the San Luis Obispo School Childn, Native Daughters and the History and ndmarks Section of the Monday Club."

Prior to the constitutional convention ich assembled September 1, 1849, in nterey, an election was held in San Luis ispo and Henry A. Tefft and Jose M. varrubias were elected as delegates.

In 1850 the first school was opened in the mission with Guillermo Searles, a native of Chili born of English parents, as teacher. An Irishman named Miguel Merchant who migrated to California from Mexico was the next maestro, and following his engagement came the period of development inaugurated by D. F. Newson. Coming to San Luis Obispo County in 1853, he was first county clerk, then superintendent of schools. In 1854, Newson himself became the teacher. There were only forty children in the county who could speak English. In 1861 two districts were formed, one known as San Louis Obispo District No. 1 and the other as San Simeon District No. 2.

Mr. E. A. Clark was teacher of the first and Miss S. M. Clark taught the young hopefuls in No. 2. In 1883 the population had so increased that 2,000 pupils were "attending in large, comfortable school buildings erected for the purpose." (Thompson and West)

The Academy of the Immaculate Heart was established in 1876. The one story frame buildings stood at the corner of Broad and Palm streets until a few years ago, when a fire partially destroyed them. George Freitas moved them to the opposite southwest corner. Mission School now occupies the original site. The seventy-five year old academy buildings remain neglected and unnoticed. In 1876, a Methodist Episcopal School was established by a Mrs. Womble and conducted in a room across from the mission where the old mission school had been held.

At the county's first election the following officers were chosen in 1851: J. Mariano Bonilla, judge; Henry J. Dally, sheriff; Charles J. Freeman, county clerk; Joaquin Estrada, recorder; John Wilson, treasurer and collector; Joseph Warren and Jesus Luna, justices of the peace. Parker H. French was the first district attorney, employed at a salary of $500 per year.

In 1852 the county treasurer reported the treasury empty and the existence of an indebtedness of $1,279.54. A tax of fifty cents on every $100 was levied. One fifth of this fund was set aside to pay the bills. A tax was levied in 1855 for the building of a jail. One per cent of the value of all assessible property was collected.

The Court of Sessions ceased to be the financial and business agent of the county in 1852 and this responsibility was placed on the shoulders of the Board of Supervisors, newly authorized by the State Legislature, May 3. The personnel of the first board included John Wilson, Francisco Branch, Joaquin Estrada, William G. Dana and S. A. Pollard who was elected chairman. William L. Beebe replaced Dana.

The first Protestant minister in San Luis Obispo was the Rev. A. B. Spooner. St. Stephens Episcopal church held its first meeting in Old Fellow's Hall, August 21, 1867. The Rev. H. Chetwood was the pastor and in 1873, an edifice located on the northeast corner of Nipomo and Pismo streets was dedicated. The Methodist Episcopal congregation was founded December, 1869, with the Rev. A. P. Hendon as pastor. Other pioneer religious groups followed in rapid succession.

Rome G. Vickers established The Pioneer, the first newspaper in San Luis Obispo in 1868. He advocated the agricultural development of the county.

The Eagle Hotel must have been the first hostelry in the town, for it is mentioned as the only one existing at the time the first newspaper was issued. The proprietor was S. H. Parsons. Also the stage house, the landmark was located opposite the present Midway hotel at the corner of Osos and Higuera streets.

The first real post office was established at San Luis Obispo in 1855 with Alexander Murray as postmaster. For years, steamers and sailing vessels had touched at the port and carried express and mail which was then brought into town by stages or on horse back. When the post office was established, Walter Murray was given the mail contract and with a two horse wagon made the trip to Monterey once a week, carrying mail and passengers. A hired courier made a weekly trip to Santa Barbara on horse back. Passengers going north stayed all night at San Miguel and the next lap was to Jolon. On the third day, Monterey was reached and those destined for points farther north remained at Hills ferry on the Salinas until a stage from Monterey bound for San Juan Bautista and San Francisco arrived the following day. Both stages were ferried over the Salinas at that point.

In 1861 a tri-weekly stage and mail service was established between Los Angeles and San Francisco and in 1862, a daily, four horse stage service was commenced.

The years of 1862 to 1864 were dry ones. Usually covered with an abundance of high, rich grass, the hills were scorched. Cattle were driven across the mountains to the swamps of Tulare and the lives of some were saved. But the owners of many a starving herd could not stand the moaning of their animals and drove them over the bluffs to drown in the sea below. With their cattle gone, few had finances to re-stock and turned their attention to other means of making a livelihood. Agricultural development was the result. Thus the long-horned, rangy Spanish cattle of the pastoral days passed out of the picture.

In 1874 a portion of land south of San Luis Obispo creek was laid out in town lots. The mission had been returned to the church and title confirmed to Bishop J. S. Alemany. Since that time it has been continuously maintained for religious purposes.

The centennial of the mission was celebrated August 19, 1872, this being the anniversary of the day Serra arrived on the site. The celebration was attended by many visitors from Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Francisco. About 1880 the building underwent a change—a frame covering, mistakenly called by some, an improvement—was placed about the ancient mission walls removing all semblance of mission architecture.

The San Francisco and San Jose Railroad, now the Southern Pacific, was completed to San Jose in March, 1869. This shortened the distance of travel between San Luis Obispo and San Francisco by eighty miles. In 1870 this route was sold to the Central Pacific who changed the name to Southern Pacific and in 1873 ex-

WELCOMES NATIVE SONS

Institution

SHADES of Los Osos! A new parlor of Native Sons has been instituted in San Luis Obispo, its predecessor, Los Osos Padres No. 61, having given up the ghost in 1922. But the ghost never deserted its earthly habitat. It wandered around seeking renewed life and at last has found it, but in its reincarnation has acquired a new name and number and San Luis Obispo Parlor No. 290, Native Sons of the Golden West has begun life with a charter membership of 115.

May 11, 1945, the then grand president, Raymond D. Williamson and his corps of officers visited San Luis Obispo and instituted the new group. A number of former members of Los Osos rejoined and many newcomers and members of a later generation have affiliated with the parlor. Appropriately, the first meeting took place in the old Mission hall. Williamson presided assisted by Grand First Vice-president Richard F. McCarthy, Grand Second Vice-President R. G. Power. Grand Third Vice-President Walter H. Odemar, and assistant and secretary, Harold Regan. Don Evans Cambria No. 152 was appointed deputy.

June 21, Grand President Richard F. McCarthy and Grand Secretary John T. Regan were present for the first class initiation, swelling the total of membership. On this occasion, 125 persons attended and enjoyed a gala evening, with San Luisita Parlor NDGW serving refreshments. It is to the sister parlor that the new Native Sons group owes the inspiration for institution. A letter to the Grand Secretary from San Luisita brought prompt action and cooperation from Cambria Parlor No. 152 Native Sons.

Officers of the new parlor installed the night of institution are: Lloyd Tiernan, president; Forest Ouesnal, Bernard J. Eppely and O. W. Birra, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Peter Sacramento, marshal; Jack Madison, secretary; Michael R. Tonini, treasurer; Joe B. Machado and William W. Condon, sentinels; Alfred Zanoli, Attilio Brovelli and Mathew Mar, trustees; Henry V. Joyaux and Marco Carlon, junior and senior past presidents.

Grand President's Message

BY THIS TIME installations should have been about completed and each Parlor should be getting under way through its new officers in the programs for the current year. We are all looking toward continued progress this year and hope to raise our membership to at least 25,000 and to increase the activities of the Order in all localities.

In the past two or three years despite the many handicaps of war, with its regulations and limitations, we have succeeded in not only improving our Order numerically but in establishing better plans for long term projects. Under the present momentum our membership can easily reach 25,000 this year and in building up our numbers we must also protect against common losses by lapsation. For this purpose each parlor is requested to utilize all of the plans and suggestions emanating from Grand Parlor committees to maintain the interest of the members in the work of the Order.

During the past two months, meetings have beeen held with the Deputy Grand Presidents in practically all of the districts. As a result of these meetings it is planned to equip each Deputy Grand President with a summary of his duties and obligations, as well as suggestions that may be worked out with individual parlors in the programs of the Order. A more business-like operation of the Parlor will be encouraged and a greater participation in the civic and social doings will be stimulated so that each parlor may take its place in the community. Consideration is being given to the institution of new parlors in at least five new cities and it is hoped we may bring the Order to these and other new localities throughout the state.

The work of the individual parlor through its committees will be given added assistance this year through the Grand Parlor committees and as plans or suggestions are released, the parlor committee should take steps to place the programs submitted into operation in the form and manner best fitted to the locality of the parlor. Any ideas originating in the parlors or through the individual members will be very greatly appreciated by the Grand Parlor committees as a means of creating greater strength in the affairs of our Order.

Our trust is greater this year than ever before in forwarding the work of the Native Sons of the Golden West in preparation for the time when we shall welcome back to our homes the men who have spent the past few years in the service for the protection of their country.

Do your part to make our Order a better organization for these men who have done so much for us at home.

McCarthy Present

With Grand President Richard F. McCarthy witnessing the event, newly-elected officers of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 NSGW, Oakland, were installed July 12 in Native Sons Hall by DGP Guy C. Robinson, Fruitvale Parlor No. 12 NSGW, Oakland.

Ray Symon is president and his cabinet of officers are: Henry Schelhaas, junior past president; William Penn Gordon, senior past president; Jeff McCauley, Andy Rasmussen and George Cash, vice-presidents; Ciro De Stephano, marshal; James C. Dignan, recording secretary; Conrad A. Moreno, financial secretary; Richard M. Hams, treasurer; Orrel Benson and George Phillips, sentinels, and George T. Prytz, trustee.

Richard F. McCarthy

During a recent visit to Southern California, Grand President Richard McCarthy, accompanied by other Grand Officers, made a trip to Catalina Island. There he presented a Bear Flag to members of the U.S. Maritime Training Service.

Presentation was made at the island's Wrigley Ball Park, following a dress parade witnessed by the official party. The flag, pleased military officials stated, will be flown at all the service's celebrations. Accompanying the grand officers was Deputy Ruble Caerbert, of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267.

Orator Honored

On Wednesday evening, July 11, El Carmelo Parlor No. 256 NSGW, Colma, honored a younger member, Stanley Parmisano, with a class of twenty candidates as a reward for his winning the national oratorical contest sponsored by the Hearst publications. The initiation was conducted by Grand President Richard F. McCarthy and his corps of Grand Officers. The honored member was presented with books to further his study in literature and oratory. Members from all parlors in the area attended the meeting.

Celebrate Founding

TO celebrate the seventieth anniversar of the founding of the Native Sons o the Golden West and the first parlor in stituted, California Parlor No. 1, San Fran cisco, hundreds of delegates from nearl every parlor in San Francisco county an surrounding communities gathered at Na tive Sons Hall July 12.

Grand President Richard F. McCarth was principal speaker at the meeting, sai to have been one of the largest gathering of members of the Order ever recorded.

Tracing the history of the Order, Mc Carthy quoted, "In 1869, General A. M Winn conceived the idea of founding th Native Sons of the Golden West. Althoug he was a great leader and organizer he di not succeed. He tried again in 1875, an this time was successful.

"General Winn was Grand Marshal fo the Centennial Independence Day parade t be held in San Francisco that year. H placed a notice in the Daily Alta Califor nian which read as follows, 'A good sugges tion for the celebration—California boys There is a strong public desire to see in th line a division of those born in this State.'

"At the first meeting, held July 29, 187 a group of twenty-one met and agreed t form an association to be known as the Na tive Sons of the Golden West. After th Independence Day Parade a meeting wa held Sunday, July 11, 1875, attended by 11 members.

"The constitution was drawn and th name of the organization declared to be th 'Native Sons of the Golden West.'

"A similar group was later formed i Oakland and then one in Sacramento wa instituted.

"The first Grand Parlor was held in 187 three years later, at which time the idea c separate, affiliated parlors came into being.

Grand President McCarthy paid tribut to members now in the service of thei country, saying, "The fact that the origina members of the Native Sons had in min the perpetuation of the romantic and patri tic past of the State of California is re flected in the loyalty and patriotism of ou brothers who are serving our country in it armed forces today.

"Their devotion to our State is pr claimed by their devotion to our Country.

Tribute was paid the founders by Mc Carthy in concluding his stirring talk. H told the assembled crowd, "In humble appr ciation of our heritage, we should agai dedicate ourselves to the noble and patri tic objectives upon which the pione founders of our beloved Order based th need for such an organization as ours."

Other speakers were Grand Secretar John T. Regan, Grand Historian Emmet I Joy and SDDGP Lewis Giegerich.

Concluding the ceremonies, installation c officers of California Parlor took place. I stalling officer was DGP Victor H. de Gann

A treasured moment for the audience o curred when the records of the minutes c the first meeting of the Order was read b L. F. Flower, recording secretary of Cal fornia Parlor. Refreshments were serve at the conclusion of the meeting by Henr Rickleffs, Bob Cassou, Jack Silva and Do Brown, of California Parlor.

Ceremonies

With Grand President Richard F. McCarthy and Grand Marshal Ray Burke witnessing the event, Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167 NDGW, Oakland and Oakland Parlor No 50 NSGW held joint installation ceremonies July 19.

Installing officers were DDGP Edgar Sturgeon, of Claremont Parlor No. 240 NSGW, Emeryville and Deputy Flora Crockett, of Fruitvale Parlor No. 188, NDGW, Oakland.

Bahia Vista officers inducted that evening were: Gertrude Dalton, president; Myrtle Estudillo, past president; Marian Herrington, Virginia Klier and Gwynette Gallagher, vice-presidents; Augusta Huxall, marshal; Lottie Robinson and Jessie Quigley, sentinels; Minnie Raper, recording secretary; Louise McDougall, financial secretary; Mary E. Wright, treasurer; California Davis, Pearl Mathewson and Helen O'Connell.

Oakland Parlor's officers installed were: Edward C. Wright, president; Tom R. Snediger, junior past president; Edward B. Freese, senior past president; William Murden, Charley Skinner and Louis Zimmerman, vice-presidents; Gus Lindquist, marshal; John McKenna and Francis Fentes, sentinels; Frank M. Norris, recording secretary; Maury Pessano, financial secretary and treasurer, and Edward B. Freese, Louie Ler Cara and Henry Bellerive, trustees.

Successful Dance

San Jose Parlor No. 22 NSGW staged a highly successful dance July 21 in the main dining room of IOOF Hall. The gay event followed two days after a joint installation of its own officers and San Jose Parlor No. 81 NDGW, at the Catholic Women's Center.

Installing officers were Sue Engfer, of Vendome Parlor No. 100 NDGW, San Jose; and Harold Semichy, of San Jose Parlor. Assisting as installing marshals and acting past grand presidents, respectively, were Dorothy Salas and Dr. M. S. Kneass and Ida Stockton and Joseph Sabatte.

Officers installed were Lucille Castro and Julian Castillo, presidents; Mary Champion and Joseph Lawrence, past presidents; Thelma Marston, Clarisse Gordon, Lola Younger, Percy Silva, George Gordon and Alfred Berryessa, vice-presidents; Helen Crengrove and John Nelson, marshals; Amelia Hartman and Harold Semichy, recording secretaries; Myrtle Bevins and Gerald Origlia, financial secretaries; Ruth Semichy and Charles Balldasini, treasurers; Gertie Gatter, Helen Cunningham, John Guerra and Fred Cruse, sentinels; Birdie Hunson, Thelma Rogers, June Mazzone, Vincent Badalamante, Dan Higuera and Nathan Morgin, trustees and Sue Gilman, organist.

Swim Meet

Thrilling water stunts, races and exhibition diving highlighted the Fifth Annual swim meet held recently by Colusa Parlor No. 69 NSGW in that city's municipal pool. The event drew an excellent crowd with members bringing prospective members along to "meet the gang," enjoy the fun and partake of the good eats served. Dale Lucchesi, president, was official greeter.

Anniversary

Attended by one hundred and twenty-five members, including twenty charter members, the thirty-fifth annual anniversary dinner of Fruitvale Parlor No. 252 NSGW, Oakland, was held recently in that city.

Toastmaster of the evening was George J. Hans, parlor treasurer, member of the Order for fifty-five years. He introduced several guests who also have belonged to the Native Sons of the Golden West for over fifty years.

Speakers of the evening included Past Grand President Edward T. Schnarr, who made the main address; SDGP Leslie Ashworth and Past President John W. McNiece. The latter speaker has been forty years a member of the Native Sons.

Noted at the gala affair were twenty men wearing the coveted quarter century membership insignia. They were Ernest E. Silva, J. W. McNiece, Arthur Spicer, Joseph E. Mattos, Henry Janssen, Fred Hadley, William Buntain, Joseph O. Levy, Fred R. Bammann, Ed F. Barthold, Thomas F. Murray, Carl Krekeler, Frank McCarthy, George H. Sackett, R. A. Fenelon, Ed T. Fenelon, Michael Parente, Willis H. Edwards, Charles B. Eiferle and A. J. Rossi. Twenty-three new members were initiated during the evening's program.

Signifying great satisfaction with results of the past term's work as accomplished by James E. Hubbard, parlor president, and the corps of officers, the membership unanimously re-elected the same cabinet.

Closing the highly successful event, four members of the parlor now in the armed forces led the assemblage in a pledge to the flag. Members of the military personnel were Sergeant Edward T. Schnarr; Lieut. John B. Powers, Naval Reserve; Sergeant Joseph Copanna and SK Joseph Souza, Jr., U. S. Navy.

Closed installation ceremonies were held on July 27, with DGP Firmin Cavalli directing. Besides Hubbard, Fruitvale Parlor's officers are: William H. Dombrink, Sam Cerelli and Freeman Hicks, vice-presidents; Miller C. Markey, marshal; Fred H. Rettig and Aaron F. Lewis, sentinels; Edward T. Schnarr, recording secretary; Willis H. Edwards, financial secretary; George J. Hans, treasurer; Kenneth Halnan, Ed F. Barthold and Miller C. Markey, trustees, and Robert Nielson, organist.

Hay! Hay!

Hilarity reigned during the two wagon "hay-ride," staged recently by University Parlor No. 272 NSGW and Centinela Parlor No. 279 NSGW, Inglewood, it was reported.

Enthusiastic participants in the highly successful nocturnal excursion stated "the ride was a riot . . . with more running around the wagons, jumping off and on, than riding!"

In fact, a certain Walter Wells (newly-elected prexy of University Parlor) "became so exhausted it was necessary to stop the caravan and send trusted scouts after him. They soon returned, singing lustily, with Walt in tow." Hot dogs and beer "topped" off the evening's fun. Hal Faubion, of University Parlor, helped arrange the event.

Ham and Eggs

Gathering at Lake Park picnic tables recently, 175 persons, comprising members of Paradise Parlor No. 282 NSGW, Huntington Beach, and their guests enjoyed a ham and egg breakfast.

Congratulations were showered on the committee who prepared the delectable dishes. They were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harper, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. William Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith and Messers Don Wardlow, Jack Robertson, Michael Vidal, Bill Jones, Sam Clapp, Horace Hancock and Ed Wilson.

New Officers

Joe Baudette, senior past president of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 NSGW, was honored guest at a dinner July 27, given by fellow members.

Committee appointments for the coming term were made at the July 24 meeting of Santa Monica Parlor, presided over by the newly-installed president, Walter Brandt. Fifty candidates will be initiated August 21.

Two hundred couples, comprising members of the parlor and their guests recently enjoyed a dinner-dance at the Hob-Nob Club in that city. Music was furnished by the Native Sons Spanish Orchestra. Ray Garcia's two talented daughters entertained at intermissions and a floor show was enjoyed. Cabrillo Parlor plans to hold two dinner-dances a year.

Service Pins

Twenty-five year pins were presented to twelve members of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 NSGW, San Bernardino, July 25. Those honored were David Irvin Carter, Robert Franklin Garner, Albert V. Herkelrath, James William Jasper, William Robert Johnson, William Lester Purceil, Harry Martin House, Silas Stonewall Stanley, John Edwin Suverkrup, Albert Robert Taylor, Donald Earl Van Luven and Dale Forest West.

Arrowhead

Joint installation ceremonies of officers of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 NSGW, San Bernardino, and Santa Ana Parlor No. 265 NSGW, were held July 16 in Santa Ana.

Installing officers were SDGP Elmer Hoien, of Arrowhead Parlor and SDGP Walter E. Hiskey of Santa Ana Parlor, assisted by Deputies Emile J. Belloli, of Los Ranchos Parlor No. 283 NSGW, Pomona, and Walter Irving of Coachella Valley Parlor No. 288 NSGW, Indio.

Arrowhead Parlor's new officers are H. Norman Johnson, president; David W. Stuart, junior past president; Roy E. Bushey, Donald M. Cochran and Sherman A. Thomas, vice-presidents; Shirley Myers, marshal; R. W. Brazelton, recording secretary; M. G. Hale, financial secretary; Frederick A. Ward, treasurer; Guy W. Putnam and Carle P. Preston, sentinels; Elmer Hoien, Avery Anderson and Roy B. Finkle, trustees.

Two hundred and thirty-nine members of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 NSGW, San Bernardino, are currently serving in the armed forces. Arrowhead claims it leads all parlors in the number of men in military service. Latest to be called were Warren Hugh Goode and Arthur Floyd Brown.

Arthur Eugene Sharp, fifty-seven, member of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 NSGW, San Bernardino. passed away May 2. Sharp, a railroad engineer, was born in Compton, November 11, 1887. He resided in San Bernardino thirty-eight years, joining Arrowhead Parlor in 1929. His mother and two sisters survive him. Roy B. Finkle and Donald E. Van Luven performed the Native Son's graveside memorial ceremony.

Installation of officers for the fall term highlighted the July 29 luncheon meeting of Arrowhead Assembly No. 14, Past presidents' Association, NSGW.

The meeting, a stag affair, was held at the home of Past Governor-General and Mrs. Walter E. Hiskey, in Santa Ana. Installing of officers was in charge of DDGP Jerome B. Kavanaugh.

Eight new members recently joined Ramona Parlor No. 109 NSGW, Los Angeles. They were John W. Duckworth; Lawrence C. Schaffer; Gus W. Schurr; Lester C. Montgomery; John C. Shannon; Alfred E. LeBrun; Vernon Harlow, merchant seaman, and Donald M. Sangster.

Charles J. Bright, Jr., member of Ramona Parlor No. 109 NSGW, Los Angeles, has been promoted to rank of Sergeant in the city's police force.

Announce Barbecues

When Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 NSGW stages its big barbecue picnic at noon, Sunday, August 26 at the Vermont Avenue entrance to Griffith Park, it promises plenty to eat, a variety of games, prizes and plenty of fun for everyone.

Feature of the afternoon will be a baseball game of two innings between "rival" parlors. On second base, it is reported, there will be a keg of beer. Anyone fortunate enough to reach second will get his share. Frankie Dolan and a committee are anticipating a record crowd.

"There'll be plenty of barbecued beef! Bring the family and enjoy the day!" That's the invitation issued by H. Stanley Smith, recording secretary of Paradise Parlor No. 282 NSGW, Huntington Beach, to all Native Sons and Daughters.

The event he refers to is Paradise Parlor's annual beef barbecue, to be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, August 19 at Lake Park in Huntington Beach. Smith says the committee expects to serve around 1500 people, because the outdoor event occurs on the last of a four-day County Fair in that community.

Native Sons and Daughters of Los Angeles County will assemble with their families at a get-together picnic, August 5 in Griffith Park, Los Feliz Blvd. and Riverside Drive, Los Angeles. The outdoor event is sponsored by the Southern district Interparlor committee.

Los Angeles County Sheriff's Relief Association will stage a Rodeo and Congress of Rough Riders in that city's Coliseum Sunday and Monday, September 2 and 3.

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, member of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 NSGW announced the affair will be an annual event and will feature nationally known rodeo performers.

Officers of East Bay Counties Assembly No. 3 Past Presidents' Association, NSGW and Oakland No. 2 Past Presidents' Association NDGW were jointly installed July 9.

Louise MacDougall, of Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167 NDGW, Oakland, and Edward Freeze were installed as president and governor of their respective units.

Recognize Service

Grand officers of Native Sons were in Santa Barbara Thursday evening, July 19 for a joint dinner given by Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 of the Sons and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 NDGW, in the Pythian Hall banquet room.

Particularly honored were Mayor and Mrs. Herbert E. Weyler and Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, for many years superintendent of the Santa Barbara County Detention home, who has resigned that post effective August 1.

Thomas McDermott was general chairman for the banquet, aided by Raymond Rombero, Lester Buell, Lester Moorman, W. H. Rutherford and Judd Bartlett.

Dr. McCaughey was honored for her activity in Homeless Children which she helped organize for the Central Placement bureau in the Santa Barbara area in 1910. She also was instrumental in establishing the Annie L. Adair scholarship.

Encino Adobe

Preservation of the historic de la Os adobe in Encino was assured June 29 by the California State Board of Park commissioners at a meeting held in Los Angeles Commissioners present were Chairman Joseph R. Knowland, past grand president o the Native Sons; Isadore Dockweiler, Ramona Parlor No. 109, Los Angeles, and Chris Kasch, Ukiah attorney.

A bill was introduced to the State Legislature appropriating $25,000 for the purchase of the land which must be matched by the community. Since the approval o the park commission, Governor Warren has signed the bill.

Matty Gara, past president of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 NDGW, and presiden of the Friends of the San Fernando Mission and her sister Teresa Bouttier, chairman of history and landmarks for San Fernando Mission Parlor No. 280, attended the committee meetings prior to obtaining action. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stewart of Encino and Mrs. Warren Young of the Encino historical committee are leading the community effort to raise the remaining sum.

Service Men Contribute

"Service men are making more consistent contributions toward the Native Sons Committee on Japanese Legislation fund than civilian members," comments Grand Second Vice-president Walter H. Odemar, chairman of the committee. "It was not the intent of the committee to seek contributions from members in the service who are doing more than their share. However, since they are actively engaged in the conflict, perhaps they realize more keenly than the civilian members do, the importance of this project."

At a meeting of the committee June 29 in the Grand Secretary's office, 414 Mason street, San Francisco, it was decided to prepare a new pamphlet, restating the position and reasons for the stand the Native Sons have assumed on the Japanese problem. The memberships of both Native Sons and Daughters and their friends are once more asked to contribute toward the fund. Donations may be sent to the Grand Secretary's office.

Ernie Shurnan, Navy Hospitalman 3/C, member of Colusa Parlor No. 69 NSGW, is back in the States again after six months in the South and Central Pacific. He recently wrote to parlor members, "I at last received my first Grizzly Bear magazine. I got it when I received my first mail when we arrived in Seattle. I also received the literature on the Japanese Legislation and am sending in my donation."

Staff Sergeant Landis Fitch, writing from Europe, where he was attached to the 3rd Army under General Patton, also wrote that he was sending a money order to be cashed and used by the Native Sons Japanese Legislation Committee.

Latest news concerning the whereabouts of several members now in the Armed Forces is relayed by Ramona Parlor No. 109 NSGW, Los Angeles:

Lieut. Mathew Babick, who has been on duty aboard the U.S.S. Intrigue, has returned to this country and is stationed at the U. S. Naval Ammunition Depot, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Lieut. (j.g.) Frank Ruiz, past president, is with the Naval postal service in Oakland. He recently visited the Parlor and renewed friendships. William J. Streeter, U.S. Navy, is stationed in San Diego.

Word was received recently from a couple of members of Colusa Parlor No. 69 NSGW who are now fighting in the South Pacific. They were Burton Smart, stationed on a South Pacific island, and Bill Lanthier, aboard a destroyer.

Smart wrote, "Right now I'm having it pretty easy, but I never know what tomorrow might bring." Lanthier scribbled, "On board this destroyer there are just two other fellows from California, and we have a hard time trying to make the rest of the ship believe that it's the best and only state. I was at Iwo Jima for the whole thing. Where I am now, it's anything but peaceful. We shot down five Jap planes within a minute the other day."

Captain Bob Millington, of the Marine Corps, and member of Colusa Parlor No. 69 NSGW, is home for a visit with his parents in Gridley. Bob says after a couple of weeks listening to Papa Seth and Uncle Wayne spout "Native Sonism," it will be a relief to go back to fighting Japs!

Bob Dutil, member of Sonoma Parlor No. 111 NSGW, was aboard the aircraft carrier USS Franklin when it met with disaster in the South Pacific. Bob received leg burns. He now is doing shore duty in the Pacific.

In 1857 the town was illuminated by gas made from pitch. Gas lamps were set on cedar posts and public buildings were illuminated free. The plant was located near the corner of Broadway and Washington streets, but did not operate long as it had difficulty with distribution.

The Columbia City Hotel was built by George Morgan in 1852 at the cost of $5,000. The building was constructed of brick and was two stories high with a long cast iron second floor balcony. Today seven of the iron doors face Main Street as they did in 1852.

In 1852 Columbia claimed three theatres in which world-famed men and women performed. Among them were Edwin Booth and Elisa Biscaccianti, the most distinguished soprano of her time. It was also visited by Mark Twain and Brete Harte, writers well known in American literature. Mark Twain lived with the Gillis boys on Jackass Hill, a short distance away.

The streets of Columbia are not crowded with miners as they were in the 50's and solitude reigns over the quiet hills which surround the historic town. Ghost-like limestone formations are the familiar scene about Columbia today.

tended to Salinas. The following year, Soledad was the terminus. The Coast Line Stage Company made connections with the trains. The time of travel from San Luis Obispo to San Francisco was thirty-six hours and the fare seventeen dollars. A stop over was made at Salinas for night.

December, 1875, saw the completion of the San Luis Obispo and Santa Maria Valley Railroad extending from the John Harford pier at Avila to Santa Maria. This railroad was later sold to the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company.

At first the new county was handicapped in its growth due to a wave of murders and robberies, but gradually this cancerous condition was overcome. Newcomers had been discouraged to purchase land. They were told all the good land was contained in the old Spanish land grants, some of the largest and richest of which existed in San Luis Obispo County. However, a government survey revealed that much of the acreage was available outside of rancho boundaries and an influx of eager pioneers began. From that time forward, San Luis Obispo County prospered. The county seat is a modern, friendly town, whose rapid growth has not dimmed the interest of the populace in her colorful historical background.

Native Daughters

Pageant

Fifteen thousand persons witnessed a historic pageant, titled "California," presented June 10 in Washington Park by the City of Alameda to celebrate Flag Day.

Native Sons and Daughters of the county participated in the colorful and historical presentation. Leading roles were taken by Jean Wesley, of Encinal Parlor No. 156 NDGW, who portrayed the part of Minerva; Sallie R. Thaler, of Aloha No. 106, Oakland; Marian E. White, of Piedmont No. 87; Genevieve Sheehan, of Argonaut No. 166, Emeryville and a host of other members of the Order.

Particularly impressive, it was stated by those who "caught" the show, was the scene of the raising of the Bear Flag in the old Plaza at Sonoma. During this scene, Grand President Richard F. McCarthy, of the Native Sons of the Golden West, told the story of the State Flag.

The Green Patrol of Alameda County NDGW joined other Alameda civic organizations in the massing of the flags, one of the outstanding features of the pageant.

School children, many of them junior Native Sons and Daughters, presented folk dances, and the Elks organization presented the history of Old Glory. Martial music furnished by the Coast Guard band thrilled the audience, as did the appearance of Marine and WAC troops. Following the civic event, Louise Benedetti served refreshments to Native Sons and Daughters in her home.

● Theresa A. Freund was elevated to the presidency of Fruitvale Parlor No. 177 NDGW, Oakland, at installation ceremonies held July 13. Also installed were Mildred Mechtel, past president; Maxine R. Clements, Blanche Davis and Alvina Fain, vice-presidents; Eleanor Gentry, marshal; Agnes Grant, recording secretary; Anita Buck, financial secretary; Nell Crowley, treasurer; Jane Lange, organist; Beth Bromley and Lois Bogush, sentinels; Jean Mattos, Flora Crockett and Esther Ragon, trustees.

Deputy Grand President Minnie Souza, Hayward Parlor No. 122 NDGW, Hayward, and her corps of officers formed the installing team.

● Eshcol Parlor No. 16 NDGW, Napa celebrated its fifty-eighth anniversary June 11 by initiating ninety-one candidates. Ella Ingraham, recording secretary of the parlor for forty-six years, was honored by having the large class named for her.

Among Grand Parlor officers attending the initiation and dinner, which drew 190 members, were Grand President Emily E. Ryan; Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Trustee Elizabeth Read. Also SDDGP Marian Brien and DGP Gertrude Briggs.

Napa Parlor No. 62 NSGW members acted as waiters and presented a large cake suitably inscribed.

Ninety-five members and friends gathered recently to honor members of Castro Parlor No. 178 NDGW, San Francisco, who acted as deputies for the term just ended. They are Dorothy Knight, deputy to Keith Parlor, and Mary Luhr, deputy to Yerba Buena. Eda Levy, deputy to Castro and member of Golden Gate Parlor also was honored.

● The Grand Parlor office will be closed Saturdays, according to an announcement by Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler.

● With a total membership of 252 California-born women, Marinita Parlor No. 198 NDGW, San Rafael is now largest of the 170 Native Daughter parlors in the state, according to figures released this month by Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler.

Credit for the parlor's highly successful drive for new members goes largely to Mrs. John Streckfus, now past-president, according to Fredna Shields, publicity chairman.

Attending the parlor's initiation of thirty-one candidates last month were PGP Ann Theusen, of San Francisco; PGP Ethel Begley, of Marinita Parlor; Grand Trustee Zoura Tompkins, of Petaluma; SDGP Alice Munz and Deputy Catherine Ingram.

The occasion also marked the thirty-third anniversary of Marinita Parlor, and eight charter members were present. They were Rose Redmond, May Phillippini, Etta Akers, Myra Murphy, Ann Spinney, Ann Andrade, Lillian Hogan and Vida Vollers. Mrs. Sylvio Paini is newly-installed president of Marinita Parlor.

● Vera Jernigan became president of Aloha Parlor No. 106 NDGW, Oakland at public installation last month. Also assuming office were: Evelyn Perry, Jennie Dieden and Elsie Nunes, vice-presidents; Lorraine Theatt, marshal; Kathryn Madden, financial secretary; Grace Nolan, treasurer; Margaret Riley, recording secretary; Sallie R. Thaler, Caroline Neivens and Honora Fitzpatrick, trustees; Martha Decker and Lena Row, sentinels.

Patricia Riordan, Marian White and Greta Murden, of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 NDGW, Oakland were installing officers. Gladys Butzbach was presented with a past-president's pin by Hazel Andrews, past president. Musical entertainment was offered by Dorothy Sheehan, June Barry and Chester Whalden.

● Public installation of officers of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 NDGW, Oakland took place August 2 with DGP Gladys Farley, of Aloha Parlor No. 106 NDGW, Oakland officiating.

Bernice Dignan assumed the presidential post for the ensuing year, and her corps of officers are: Cora Welch, junior past president; Dottie Jund, senior past president; Beatrice Cooks, June Brown and Ida Massola, vice-presidents; Colleen Lane, marshal; Marian White, recording secretary, and Nell Morre, financial secretary.

Also Patricia Reardon, Greta Murden and Kathleen Dombrink, trustees; Helen Klein and Doris Dignan, sentinels; Emily Larson, treasurer, and Carol King, organist.

Nellie Graham became president of Albany Parlor No. 260 NDGW at installation ceremonies last month. Deputy Grace Martin and her corps of acting Grand Officers of Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167 NDGW, Oakland were installing officers. May Ellis Olson was chairman of the evening.

● Another bus-load of blood donors from El Tejon Parlor No. 239 NDGW, Bakersfield, traveled to Los Angeles Blood Bank last month, according to chairman, Mary Dunham. Within the past few months, 400 donors have been transported to the blood bank by Bakersfield Native Daughters.

● War activities were stressed during the month of July by Morada Parlor No. 199 NDGW, Modesto.

A $200 war bond was purchased; the sewing club donated twenty dollars to the American Red Cross, and a contribution was sent to the Telephone fund at the Hammond General Hospital in Modesto. Morada Parlor is also sending a Bear Flag to a local boy now stationed in the South Pacific. His name is Earl W. Marcussen, AM3/C, who stated he will fly it in front of his tent.

● Thirty-one thousand dollars worth of war bonds were purchased during the Seventh War Bond Drive by members of Copa de Oro Parlor No. 105 NDGW, Hollister, according to PGP Bertha A. Briggs. Members also assisted in selling bonds to the townfolk during the drive, she stated, by staffing windows in two downtown banks. The parlor has recessed until September 5.

● Red Cross chairman Mary Sandrini, of El Tejon Parlor No. 239 NDGW, Bakersfield announced that seventy-five kits for military men and forty-five baby garments for Homeless Children were prepared at a meeting last month in her home.

● Georgia Sanders was elected president of the Past-Presidents' Club of El Tejon Parlor No. 239, NDGW, Bakersfield. Her cabinet will include: May Dunham, vice-president; Ona Moffett, secretary, and Ett Bergwardt, treasurer.

● Five new members joined Sonoma Parlor No. 209 NDGW recently. They were Mary Schroeder, Ruth England, Glady Nordman, Evelyn Watson and Mary Core dera. The drill team, under direction o Thelma Pellandini, marched in a parad held in Sonoma several weeks ago.

Sonoma Parlor's new officers are Elear ora Peterson, president; Geraldine Grave past president; Ethel Williams, Thelm Pellandini and Jean Thygeson, vice-pres dents; Lois Andrieux, marshal; Clara Johr son, recording secretary; Gladys Kerne financial secretary; Josephine Andrieu treasurer; Clara Smith, Marie Larson an Nellie Peterson, trustees; Dulinda Bruske and Audrey Pohler, sentinels, and Mar Timmerman, organist.

Final Visit

Making one of her final official visits, Emily E. Ryan was honored at an evening reception May 26 by members of her own parlor, Las Lomas No. 72, NDGW, San Francisco.

Two hundred and thirty members of the Order, including nine Grand Officers and ten Past Grand Presidents attended the affair, held in the Century Club.

Mrs. Ryan was escorted to her seat by twenty-six deputies representing various San Francisco County parlors and fourteen members of her own parlor.

● Pleasanton Parlor No. 237 and Angelita Parlor No. 32, Livermore, were joint hosts May 12 at a meeting of Native Daughters in Pleasanton's IOOF Hall, to welcome Grand President Emily E. Ryan, making an official visit.

Mrs. Ryan gave a most interesting talk concerning affairs of the Order. Sallie R. Thaler, grand secretary, and Alice Doughrty, past grand secretary and member of Angelita Parlor, also spoke to the large audience of Native Daughters present.

The Grand President dedicated an American Flag which was presented by members of Pleasanton Parlor to Angelita Parlor, in honor of the latter's fifty-seventh anniversary.

● Members of Laurel Parlor No. 6, NDGW, met May 16 at Odd Fellows Hall for dinner and a meeting honoring Grand President Emily E. Ryan.

Visiting besides the Grand President were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, PGP Edna Briggs, SDDGP Ann Whiting of Grass Valley, and many guests from Sierra Pines Parlor of Colfax, and Manzanita Parlor of Grass Valley.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted for the following candidates: Theresa O'Brien, Mildred Tobiassen, Barbara Garesio, Catherine Cartoscelli, and Olive Mullis.

Honoring Vida Garrett, retiring president of Ruby Parlor No. 46, NDGW, Murphys, Bertha Grenitta and Mary Truesworthy entertained with a surprise party recently.

Chabolla Parlor No. 71, NDGW, of Galt, honored one of their charter members, Etta Hicks, on the occasion of her ninetieth birthday, May 29, in the Women's City Club in Galt, at which time many of her old friends from the country came to greet her. She is one of six remaining charter members of Chabolla Parlor organized in 1905.

Born Henrietta Louisa Frederick in the city of Sacramento in 1855, Mrs. Hicks is one of the few remaining pioneers of Northern California. She is the daughter of Louis Frederick, prominent early day pilor of Sacramento, who counted among his clients many of the past governors, senators and builders of the West. She was educated in a convent in Sacramento, and as a little girl saw the present Capitol building under construction and experienced two very severe floods.

In 1876 she was married to James Benjamin Hicks, who as a very small boy had come through the Isthmus of Panama in 1851. They made their home on a farm at Hicksville, some twenty miles from Sacramento, for many years and Mrs. Hicks has lived all of her ninety years in the county

● Among the newer parlors of the Native Daughters, La Tijera No. 282, Inglewood, was welcomed into the community by the Veterans of Foreign Wars recently when Post Commander Harvey Tyrell and Harry Pannell presented the new group with a Bear Flag.

● Despite the fact that it was Friday the 13th of July, the Mexican dinner given by Placerita Parlor No. 277 NDGW, Van Nuys, was a highly successful event. Eighty dollars was realized from the dinner which drew 125 members and guests.

Members of the History and Landmarks committee, headed by Grace Williamson, arranged the evening's affair. Musical entertainment was furnished by Lois Whitman and her accordion. The dinner was served in the garden of Mary Post's home.

● Forty-five thousand dollars worth of war bonds were sold during the Seventh War Bond Drive by members of San Diego Parlor No. 208, NDGW, according to Elsie Case, publicity chairman.

The parlor itself purchased a $500 bond and the building fund committee a $150 bond. Dorothy Holley was war bond chairman.

● Installation of officers of San Diego Parlor No. 208, NDGW took place July 24 in the Gold Room of the U. S. Grant Hotel.

Dorothy Holley is president. Her cabinet includes Essie Haubert, Frances Crawford and Margaret Beckett, vice-presidents; Marjory Thorn, marshal; Elsie Case, recording secretary; Myrtle Marvin, financial secretary; Fern Cummins, treasurer; Isabel Young, Evelyn Wurzell and Violet Werner, trustees; Carrie Chambers and Edith Cupp, sentinels, and Martha Presler, organist.

● The names of twenty-six new members were written into the charter of San Gabriel Valley Parlor No. 281, NDGW, June 27, in Odd Fellows Hall, 19 W. Main street, Alhambra, according to Louise Cash, president. Witnessing the ceremony were PGP Mary B. Noerenberg and Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch. Gladys Carlon and her committee were in charge of decorations and refreshments.

● With Grand President Emily E. Ryan witnessing the colorful ceremony, eleven candidates were initiated last month into Wawona Parlor No. 271, Fresno. They were Elinor Gooch, Zelphia Tracey, Gertrude Corey, Louise Gooch, Gladys Van Sant, Frances Cornelius, Miriam Winters, Madelaine Thiesen, Mary Severin, Marie Credell and Marie Davis.

THE Seeing-Eye Dog fund, established last year by San Francisco's Extension of the Order committee of the Native Daughters, with Beatrice Nishkian chairman, will remain a perpetual project of the committee.

This was the statement of Leslye A. Hicks, publicity chairman of San Francisco County. Funds for the worthy undertaking are raised through card parties and donations. Five hundred dollars was raised last year. A handsome, golden-colored Seeing-Eye dog was bought at Christmas time and presented to a California-born woman residing in Oakland who has been blind since childhood.

According to Leslye, the woman is mother of a tiny child and does her own housework while her young husband is at work. The dog escorts the mother and baby across the streets of Oakland, protecting them carefully.

The family visited the Extension of the Order offices recently and expressed tearful gratitude for the gift of the eyes of Goldie, the dog.

When another $500 is raised, Leslye stated, another dog will be bought and presented to a native California man or woman who has lost ability to see.

● Grand President Emily E. Ryan was the honored guest at the district meeting of Santa Cruz, San Benito and Monterey county Native Daughter parlors held June 9 and 10 at Asilomar YWCA Conference Grounds near Monterey. Edna Butterfield, supervising deputy and member of Copa de Oro Parlor of Hollister, presided over the meeting.

A dinner at Scripps Hall honored the Grand President, Grand Trustee Elmarie H. Dyke and Past Grand President Bertha A. Briggs.

● San Fernando Mission Parlor No. 280, instituted in March, has closed its charter with seventy-five members.

The Spanish dinner given recently to raise funds for the parlor's Homeless Children fund was a highly successful event. Camille Farnsworth, member of the Ortega family, was dinner chairman. Hostesses were Matty Gara, member of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, and organizer of San Fernando Mission Parlor, and her sister, Teresa Labory Bouttier.

Sons Install

Assembling at the altar to repeat the oath, officers elect of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 and Hollywood No. 96 were installed July 12 in the meeting hall of the latter, Oxford and Santa Monica boulevards.

Conducting the ceremonies was Jack Burns of Centinela Parlor No. 279, Inglewood with Walter Brandt, Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 acting as marshal and Roger Johnson, Los Angeles Parlor as organist.

Officers for Los Angeles are: Arthur Lasher, junior past president; Charles Castillo, president; Carl Stevens, Frankie Dolan and Ralph W. Becker, first, second and third vice-presidents; Willard Allen, secretary; Frank Frank, financial secretary; P. L. Valenzuela, marshal; William O. Gilkey, trustee; John T. Liggett and Louis T. Valenzuela, sentinels.

For Hollywood, Eldin L. Smith, junior past president; Walter Brown, president; Robert S. Walton, Louis D. Nafziger, Ralph E. Montrose, vice-presidents; James M. Lynch, secretary; William I. Hortenstine, financial secretary; Ellery E. Cuff, treasurer; Clarence E. Fillmore, marshal; John O. Bodkin, trustee; Donald W. Myers, Melvin O. Groshong, sentinels.

Senior Past Presidents Walter Rosenthal of Hollywood and Gilbert Anderson, Los Angeles, were praised for their outstanding work, the latter being presented a past president's emblem from his parlor by Grand Second Vice-president Walter Odemar. Past Grand President Eldred Meyer, DDGP Willard F. Allen and Odemar addressed the meeting. Robert Pesqueira, deputy to Hollywood Parlor, and A. B. Fages, Valley Parlor's duo, sang solos and duets, accompanied by Roger Johnson at the piano.

Preceding the meeting, members and guests enjoyed a genuine corned beef and cabbage dinner, prepared by Frankie Dolan, whose cuisine has become famed among Natives of Los Angeles County.

Made Major

Serving for the past two years as an officer in the United States Army stationed in China, Horace J. Leavitt, former Grand Trustee of the Native Sons of the Golden West and a member of Mt. Bally Parlor No. 87, Weaverville, recently was elevated to the rank of major. News of Major Leavitt's promotion was sent to the Grand Parlor office in San Francisco from U. S. Army press headquarters in China.

Currently, Leavitt is serving as station engineer somewhere in China, playing an important role as a member of a gigantic military mission sent by the United States to aid the Chinese war effort.

Announce Official Visit

Grand President Ethel C. Enos will pay her official visit to Forrest Parlor No. 86, Plymouth, August 28. The parlor will celebrate its anniversary on that date.

Admission Day

An advance notice has been issued announcing the September 9 celebration to be staged by Los Angeles County parlors Native Sons and Native Daughters. A barbecue with a program and athletic features will fill a day's activities. Frankie Dolan, Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 has been drafted as chairman for the event, with Winifred Tonkin, La Tijera Parlor No. 282, Inglewood, secretary, and A. B. Fages, Valley Parlor No. 285, Van Nuys, treasurer.

Radio Canyon in Griffith Park, opposite the Greek Theater has been decided upon for the celebration. The grounds may be reached from Los Feliz Boulevard and must not be confused with either Western Avenue or Riverside drive picnic grounds. The governor has been invited to speak. Further details will be announced in the September issue and letters will be sent to all parlors giving price of tickets which will not be sold on the grounds, and members to whom reservations should be given.

La Reina Parlor No. 267 NDGW will serve a chicken dinner Thursday, August in their meeting place, Arlington Masonic hall, Washington and Arlington, Los Angeles. Reservations may be made with the secretary listed in the official directory. August 9, the parlor will hold installation and initiation ceremonies.

Past Grand President, Emma G. Foley

Euology by Dr. Mariana Bertola

We are gathered here today to say farewell to our beloved friend, Emma Gruber Foley, a past grand president of the Native Daughters of the Golden West and long time member and secretary of the Native Daughter Home committee.

It is hard to speak of an old friend at such a moment as this. Emma Foley was a friendly soul, loving her friends and faithful and true to her duties. Life is a span in which we live our days for good or for evil. We learn much from the lives touching ours. We contemplate nature and learn lessons from her in all her phases. Seeds grow, flower and give out their fragrance to the air. We are made happier thereby. Birds flit about among the trees giving no thought of days to come because they know God will care for the least of them.

Only man worries and slaves; has no faith, yet before him are many examples of a Heavenly Father's love. The restoration of the Redwood tree is a beautiful example of a resurrection and to her who believes in God Almighty, there is a glorious resurrection, because He promised, "In My Father's Home, there are many mansions, and I go to prepare a place for you."

"Though I walk through the Valley of the Shadow of Death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me."

Farewell, dear Emma. We shall miss you. We shall remember your great service with affection and appreciation. We leave you to enter His mansion; to meet the Lord God face to face. May the light of His countenance shine upon you forever. Farewell! Requiscat in pace!

Annette M. Brandt

To the Officers and Members of Orinda Parlor No. 56 NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions in loving memory of our late sister, Annette McCarthy Brandt, do hereby submit the following:

Whereas, our Heavenly Father has removed from our midst, a sister who was a member of our parlor since 1907. Her membership in our Order will ever be the guiding light to inspire us to preserve and keep on building the heritage left by our pioneer Native Daughters; therefore, be it

Resolved, that we extend our sincere sympathy to her sister, Miss Cecelia McCarthy, and a copy of these resolutions be sent to her; a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication, and a copy be spread upon the minutes of our Parlor.

"At home on the beautiful hills of God
By the Valley of Rest, so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done
With joy, we shall meet her there."

GLADYS BLANCHARD,
F. FAYE CURTIS,
DOROTHY ROSE PICOU,
Committee.

San Francisco, California, July 13, 1945.

To the Officers and Members of Orinda Parlor No. 56 NDGW—We, your memorial committee, submit the following resolution in loving tribute to the memory of our departed sister, Emma G. Foley, Charter Member, Past President and Financial Secretary of Orinda Parlor and Past Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Whereas, the precious ties of love, friendship and fraternity have again been severed, we are deeply grieved in our parting with our dearly beloved Sister Emma Gruber Foley, who passed from this life June 15, 1945,

Whereas, Orinda Parlor has lost a devoted and loyal member and a true friend, whose loss shall be keenly felt in our membership as well as over the State of California,

Resolved, that while we bow in humble resignation to the will of Almighty God, we will ever hold her in loving memory as a true Native Daughter whose leadership, courage, counsel and wisdom in her fifty-five years of membership were highly regarded by her sisters, and whose love and devotion to our Order were an inspiration to every member of our Parlor.

"Not dead to those who loved her
Not lost, but gone before;
She lives with us in memory,
And will forever more."

Be it further resolved, that a page of our records be dedicated to her memory; that a copy of these resolutions be sent to her sister-in-law, Note Foley, our member, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Fraternally submitted,

KATE BRITSCHGI, HILDA VINAL,
HANNAH PETERSEN, MAE SHEA,
JOSIE RUSSIC ORINDA G. GIANNINI,
KATE JEWELL, Committee.
Charter Members

San Francisco, California, July 13, 1945.

Clara Martell

To the Officers and Members of Ruby Parlor No. 46, NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft a memorial of love and respect to the memory of our departed Sister Clara Martell, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has seen fit in His infinite wisdom to call from our midst our beloved Sister, we have lost a true and loyal member and a loving friend. Those who knew her long and well realize that the golden link of fraternity and friendship has been severed, and we will miss her.

She has taken her long journey
On that beautiful ship called "Rest"
Away from this world of sorrows,
To a home eternally blest;
We have only your memory, dear sister,
To treasure the whole life through,
But its sweetness will last forever,
As we cherish our memory of you.

Resolved, That our sincere and deep sympathy be extended to her family; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor; a copy sent to her family, and a copy sent to The Grizzly Bear magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE J. LOMBARDI,
ROSE RIEDEL,
DOLLIE E. PEEK,
Committee.

Murphys, California, May 28, 1945.

Alice M. Hallsted

To the Officers and Members of Plumas Parlor No. 219, NDGW—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect and condolence to the memory of our departed member, Sister Alice M. Hallsted, submit the following:

Whereas, The Supreme Ruler of the Universe has called our member to the Home on High, and

Whereas, The members of this Parlor deeply deplore her passing, but bow our heads in deference to the wisdom of Our Heavenly Father, therefore

Be it resolved, That we extend our sympathy to her bereaved family; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Parlor; and that a copy be sent The Grizzly Bear magazine for publication.

Day has ended—Night has come!
She feared it not, for well she knew
In all the long day of her life,
She walked with God by her side.

Respectfully submitted,

VERBENIA M. HALL
HELEN HALL LAWRY,
LENA A. DROEGE,
Committee.

Quincy, California, June 4, 1945.

Thirty-first Congress of the United States of America:

At the First Session.

AN ACT

For the admission of the State of California into the Union

Whereas the people of California have formed a constitution and submitted to Congress by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the State of California shall be admitted into the Union upon the same footing with the original States, the State of California shall be entitled to and admitted into the Union upon the same footing with the original States, in all respects whatever. Section 3. And be it further enacted, That the said State of California shall be entitled to two Representatives in the House of Representatives of the United States, until the next apportionment of Representatives shall be made according to law. Section 4. And be it further enacted, That the said State of California is admitted into the Union upon the express condition that the people of said State, through their legislature or otherwise, shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the public domain of the United States, nor with any regulations which Congress may find necessary for securing the title in said soil to the bona fide purchasers thereof, and that no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States, nor on property belonging to the citizens of the United States residing without the limits of said State, and that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the limits of said State shall never be taxed higher than the lands belonging to the citizens of said State. Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now pertaining to the Indians in said Territory, so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished by treaty between the United States and such Indians, or to include any territory which now forms a part of any Indian reservation until such Indian title shall have been extinguished and all such territory shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the United States; and all the laws now in force in the United States concerning the highways and the primary disposal of the public lands shall have the same force and effect within the said State of California as elsewhere within the United States, except so far as the same may be inconsistent with the boundaries, conditions and provisions of this act; and the right of way is hereby granted to the said State for the construction of railroads and highways over the public lands, not reserved for public uses, bridges and ferries, which shall forever be free for the use of the United States, subject to any regulations hereafter made by Congress; and the said State shall never impose any tax upon persons in the military service of the United States employed within the limits of said State, nor upon their property, so long as they shall be employed in the service aforesaid. Section 5. And be it further enacted, That the said State of California shall pay all the debts lawfully contracted by the existing government, and by the convention which framed the constitution of said State, and shall assume and pay the bonds issued by the said convention, pursuant to the provisions contained in the ordinance thereto annexed.

Approved September 9th 1850.

Millard Fillmore

Howell Cobb
Speaker of the House of Representatives

William R. King
President of the Senate pro tempore

THE PRESIDENT Was a HUMANITARIAN

By Isabel Fages

I REGARD this election as putting an end to all ideas of disunion," commented Millard Fillmore, after he had been chosen by the people of the United States to serve as vice-president. "It rises up a national party, occupying a middle ground, and leaves the fanatics and disunionists, North and South without the hope of destroying the fair fabric of our Constitution."

The Grizzly Bear magazine often has recounted the stirring events preceding California's Admission to the Union and the celebrations that followed. Aside from simply stating that President Fillmore signed the bill which made California a state without having served as a territory, very little has been said of the man.

Millard Fillmore was the thirteenth president of the United States, born January 7, 1800, the eldest son of Nathaniel and Phoebe (Millard) Fillmore. His birthplace was Locke, Cayuga County, New York, whence his parents had migrated from Bennington, Vermont in 1798. The future president's first known ancestor in the United States was John Fillmore, a mariner of Ipswich, Massachusetts who acquired an estate in Beverly, Massachusetts in 1704.

Millard Fillmore's family was not wealthy and the youth worked on his father's farm, and at the clothing trade. He attended school spasmodically until the age of eighteen, when he began to study law in the office of a Cayuga County judge.

Continuing his studies when the family moved to East Aurora, near Buffalo, New York, young Fillmore taught school and in 1823 he was admitted to the bar in Erie County and opened a law office. Later he moved his practise to Buffalo, where he made his home.

Fillmore was elected to the New York state legislature in 1828 and served three terms, and was elected to Congress in 1832. In 1834 he did not run for office but in 1836 was again elected and served three consecutive terms, declining the nomination in 1842. He was chairman of the Ways and Means committee in the House of Representatives in 1840 and took a leading part in framing the tariff of 1842.

Friends of Fillmore placed his name for vice-presidential nomination in 1844 and upon failing to receive it, he was nominated for governor of New York and again was defeated. He resigned as comptroller of the State of New York in 1849, in order to take up his duties as vice-president of the United States.

As president of the Senate, Fillmore presided over heated debates between anti and pro slavery factions and is accredited with having done so with "firmness, fairness and good humor."

The sudden death of President Zachary Taylor, July 9, 1850 applied Fillmore in the presidency. One of his first moves was to urge the "propriety and expediency of indemnifying Texas for the surrender of her claim upon New Mexico" in a message to Congress. The omnibus bills and the fugitive slave law were signed by the new executive, much to the displeasure of the abolitionists.

One of the most important of Fillmore's achievements was the enactment of the compromise measures in September, 1850. These consisted of five statutes authored by Henry Clay. Union men who supported Clay's omnibus bill and compromise measures were Daniel Webster, Lewis Cass, Henry S. Foote and Stephen A. Douglas. President Taylor had approved California's Admission but did not approve action on New Mexico and Utah, until they were ready.

The omnibus bill was signed September 9 by Fillmore. It included the establishment of a territorial government for Utah, with a popular sovereignty clause providing that any or all states formed out of the territory should be admitted with or without slavery according to its own constitution. The conflict between New Mexico and Texas was settled in the New Mexican territorial act signed on the same date. A controversy between the government and Texas over the Santa Fe region was settled by a cession, with compensation to Texas to the newly created New Mexican territory. The fugitive slave act provided for apprehension and punishment of escaped slaves and rewards for their return.

Although the compromise measures highlighted Fillmore's administration, Julius W. Pratt in the Dictionary of American Biography says, "Though his part in them damned him with the Abolitionist clique (and hence with historians for the next half-century) it appears now as the work of a cool-headed conservative, who like Lincoln later, placed the preservation of the Union above any specific settlement of the slavery question.

Fillmore was defeated for the nomination of the presidency by the Whig party in 1852 and was tendered the nomination by the American or "Know Nothing Party" in 1856. He ran a poor third to Buchanan and Fremont. "Always for conciliation rather than coercion, Fillmore opposed the Lincoln administration in the conduct of the Civil War and in the election of 1864, supported McClelland.

Millard Fillmore perhaps was a greater humanitarian than a politician. The president who affixed his signature to California's Admission as a state to the Union was first chancellor of the University of Buffalo; one of the founders of the Buffalo Historical Society and its first president; a founder of the Buffalo General Hospital and an interested worker in various civic, educational and philanthropic enterprises.

When Fillmore was proffered a degree of DCL from Oxford University, in 1855, he declined, saying, "I possess no literary or scientific attainments to justify my accepting it."

Fillmore is described as having had an impressive presence, kindly blue eyes and a gracious manner. He was strictly temperate, industrious, and orderly," writes the historian Rhodes, "and his integrity was above reproach."

Admission Day Fetes

First Theater

Monterey Peninsula parlors will stage a typically California party in observance of Admission Day when they "take over" California's First Theater for a party the night of September 7. They will witness the play, "Streets of New York" by the Gold Coast Troupers. After the play a buffet supper will be served in the lounge with Ethel Hyde, chairman, in charge.

Sunday, September 8, Junipero Parlor No. 141 will conduct a tour of historical buildings with tea to be served in the House of the Four Winds for the benefit of the Homless Children's fund. Amelie Kneass will be in charge.

Old Grey Bonnet

Old Gray Bonnets wanted! If you have one and live in or near Benicia, Violet Molfino, chairman of the Old Timers celebration scheduled for Saturday, September 8, wants you to dig it out and wear it. A display of old fashioned "riggin's" will be modeled, or exhibited.

Old Timers of Benicia have been invited to attend a three day celebration. Leonard J. Precour has had charge of the attractive letters mailed. A flying squadron, headed by John Alves, Jr., is visiting nearby towns in Solano County. September 7, 8 and 9 are the dates set aside by the community for the annual spree and an Old Timers baseball game is planned for the last day.

Various prizes will be offered in the whiskerino contest. Other features are to be parades, an essay on Benicia, and a pet parade. Prizes are offered for the finest horses shown.

Boys and girls of grammar and high school age have been asked to submit essays on the history of old Benicia and families who own old documents or relics are asked to loan them for exhibit at the city library.

To Crown Senorita

An advance announcement of the twelfth four day annual fiesta to be staged in San Rafael has been received. The annual observance commences Thursday Night October 11 with a dance for servicemen and the formal crowning of the senorita who rules during the festivities and the blessing of the fiesta. These rites will take place in the USO and will be open to the public.

Friday night, October 12 will be marked with a Mardi Gras and street dance and Saturday evening the Spanish Market will open it's doors to the crowd and remain open on Sunday when a parade and a horse show are scheduled. Fun for youngsters as well as oldsters will be provided. Watch the October issue for further details.

Curley Bears

"Dancing all afternoon and evening—plus games and prizes for old and young!"

That's just part of the gay celebration program scheduled for Admission Day, Sept. 9 at Elk Grove, Sacramento County.

The "Curley Bears," fun organization of the Native Sons in that district, are staging the hi-jinks, to which members of all parlors and their friends are invited to attend.

It's the "fun-group's" second annual picnic, and a record crowd is expected. Hours are from twelve noon to midnight.

Traditional

With their traditional reception honoring pioneer families of both Spanish and American eras, Santa Barbara Parlors Native Sons and Daughters will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Rockwood Home, Women's City Club, Mission Canyon.

George S. Streeter, president of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 NSGW and Anita Harp, presiding officer of Santa Barbara No. 126, NDGW have appointed Lawrence M. Parma, district attorney as program chairman. His assistants are Owen O'Neill and Byron Abraham.

With Native Daughters in charge of the reception to be held on the terrace at Rockwood, members of the history and landmarks committee are perfecting plans for the event. Mesdames George E. Tackaberry, Mabel Erwin, Henry Griffiths, R. J. Schuld and Dr. Anna McCaughey, newly appointed district chairman of California History and Landmarks will be the hostesses. The time for the reception and program was not announced in the notice sent the Grizzly Bear. It is suggested that interested members contact a member of the committee for this information.

Food For Thought

Succulent pit barbecued beef marinated in olive oil and garlic—just listen to Barbecue King Milton Eisenhardt tell how he does it and you'll be the first in line when serving starts at three thirty in the afternoon, Sunday, September 9, at Los Angeles County's Admission Day celebration. But be sure your reservation is made not later than September 6.

Council Circle in Griffith Park has been picked by the committee for the affair, whose committee is headed by Frankie Dolan of Los Angeles Parlor. An athletic program starts at 12:30, with a baseball game and contests for both men and women with prizes to be awarded.

In the evening, between six and seven-thirty, Los Fiesteros group, will present a program of American pioneer and Spanish and Mexican dances and songs. Comedy and Gay Nineties numbers will be featured and Jose Arias will furnish orchestral music. The entertainment will be staged in the Greek Theater and will be free to the public. Dolores Luckey and Jack Reinhardt direct the group.

Make your reservations with your parlor representative who has tickets for sale or contact Frankie Dolan at 5061 Sunset boulevard, Hollywood, telephone NOrmandie 9484; Secretary Gertrude Allen, 4116 N. Griffin avenue, Los Angeles 31, telephone CApital 4327 or Treasurer A. B. Fages, Rm. 312, Wilcox building, 206 S. Spring street, Los Angeles 12, telephone VAndyke 6234.

California Parlor

Admission Day will be observed at t September 6 meeting of California Par No. 1 NSGW, San Francisco in the follo ing manner: Initiation of new members; speech by some outstanding civic lead entertainment and refreshments. In char of arrangements for the evening are Jes H. Miller, Fred Ehlers, John P. Fer Larry Elower, Henry Rickleffs and me bers of the Good of the Order Committee.

GRAND SECRETARY JOHN T. REGAN also spoke at the observance. He emphasized the pledge of Native Sons, "Fifty thousand members of the Native Sons of the Golden West by 1950, for California's one hundredth year of Statehood.'

Mission Parlor

Newly elected officers of Mission Parlor No. 38 NSGW, San Francisco, are Henry Nickel, president; William Hamburg, past president; Al Berryessa, Ralph McIntosh and Henry Smith, vice-presidents; Dr. Edward McKevitt, marshal; Andrew Camous, trustee; Sam Lubliner and William Gantner, sentinels; William W. Wilkie, recording secretary, and Louis W. Schmitt, financial secretary.

General Assembly

The General Assembly of Past Presidents' Association will be held Saturday, October 20 in the clubhouse of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 at Crestline. This was the announcement of Past Governor General Walter E. Hiskey, in charge of arrangements for the assembly.

Special emphasis is being placed on entertainment for the ladies who plan to accompany delegates to the meet, he stated. So that sufficient housing and transportation is provided, Hiskey urged that those planning to attend write him immediately for reservations. His address is 1501 South McClay Street, Santa Ana, or contact Governor General Donald E. Van Luven.

Splash Happy

A gay swimming party was enjoyed last month by members of Los Banos Parlor No. 206 NSGW, their wives and friends at Santa Rita Park. Committee for the "splash-happy" affair included Joseph A. Enos, James Negra, T. D. Toscano, Ed Nunes, John Areias, Sam Spina, Lawrence Frontella, Francis McDonald and Edmund Enos.

Officers Honored

To honor incoming and outgoing officers of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW and Vallejo Parlor No. 77 NSGW, approximately 100 members and guests assembled recently at a dinner in that city.

Phil Lynch, junior past president of Vallejo Parlor "emceed" the affair, introducing Matilda Pappas, outgoing president. Mrs. Pappas, in turn, introduced officers who served with her this past year.

George Thomson, newly installed president of Vallejo Parlor No. 77, was presented to the dinner guests. He, too, presented his newly elected officers.

Advises Precautions

By Walter H. Odemar

WITH the joys that naturally come to all of us upon the declaration of peace there come also several responsibilities. We must do everything within our power to prevent a repetition of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. Among the many precautions that must be taken are:

1. The strict regulation of foreign language schools. If the Japanese are again permitted to teach the subversive doctrine formerly taught in the Japanese language schools in the United States we will retain within our midst the seeds for future treachery. No person living within our country should be permitted to be taught any subversive doctrine.

2. All enemy aliens who admitted their disloyalty to the United States, by word or deed, should immediately be deported. This, of course, should include all alien Japanese who refused to renounce their loyalty to Japan or its emperor.

3. Citizens, that is persons born in the United States, who admitted their disloyalty to this country, should either be imprisoned or sent to the foreign country of their choice. Those who could not be loyal during war can never be trusted during peace and should not be permitted to enjoy the freedoms of America.

4. The Immigration Laws as they now exist must be strictly enforced and should not be amended as some are now advocating. Had the Japanese been permitted to immigrate into the United States before Pearl Harbor, instead of one hundred thousand odd there would have been over a million Japanese in California, which would have multiplied the seriousness of our problem over ten fold.

It is the fervent prayer of all that the nations of the world may hereafter live in peace and harmony but until the world has experienced many years of such peace and harmony the Americans must not relax in their vigilance, for eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty, and beautiful-sounding theories should not be allowed to take the place of experience and discretion.

Therefore, let us who have been born in this glorious state renew our vigilance and determination and do everything within our power to make certain that those things for which we have so long striven will not now be changed.

BUSTLES were worn in the late 1870's, when Coulter's Dry Goods Store was founded. Blonde Mary Joan Noerenberg models a green and gold taffeta of 1879. With it she wears a black felt hat from Coulter's Millinery as though it were made for the outfit. Modishly slim is brunette Lydia Lopez who wears a black skirt with sky-blue blouse and black hat with sky-blue satin bow.

The Style in 1878

Bustles were the style in 1878 when Coulter's Dry Goods Company of Los Angeles first began business as the firm of B. F. Coulter. It occupied a small store room, eighteen by fifty feet, in the Downey block at the corner of Temple and Spring streets, now the site of the present post-office and federal building.

Merchandise for this diminutive store was purchased in New York and the first order amounted to one thousand dollars. Business grew rapidly and one year later it became necessary to find more adequate quarters. One year later the store moved to the Baker Block at 332-34 N. Main street, that elegant landmark of the fabulous eighties, only recently demolished. There the store remained until 1885. During this period the Coulter Woolen Mills, at 439 S. Figueroa were established for the weaving and finishing of fine blankets.

The third move was a pioneering one. The Hollenbeck Hotel block at the corner of Second and Spring Streets seemed far afield from the old plaza business district. In 1898 it again became necessary to seek larger accommodations and this time Broadway between Third and Fourth in the Laughlin building was chosen.

The Coulter Dry Goods Company was incorporated in 1892 and in 1906 the firm moved to the Bicknell Block on Broadway between Second and Third Streets, and occupied three floors, representing the last word in convenience and beauty. Many were the pessimistic forecasts when the company in October, 1917, moved to its new store on the southwest corner of Seventh and Olive. Only within the last decade (1938 to be exact), the modern building on the famous Miracle Mile of Wilshire Boulevard, was built.

There many Native Daughters patronize a pioneer, truly California business. Recalling the modes of yesterday, they may find reflections of many quaint old fashions in the styles of today. To prove this, blonde Mary Joan Noerenberg, daughter of PGP Mary E. Noerenberg was invited to don a bustle dress of exactly the period in which Coulter's began business in Los Angeles. But a modern hat from stock is worn by the young miss as though it were made for the outfit. Brunette Lydia Lopez, member of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, in her modish frock and hat is a delightful contrast to the demure girl of yesterday.

RIO HONDO PARLOR NO. 284

SWELLING Native Daughter membership once more through the institution of Rio Hondo Parlor No. 284, Grand president Ethel C. Enos presided July 19 in Latter Day Saints hall, Huntington Park, Los Angeles County.

The spacious hall was filled with visiting Native Daughters from all Southern California parlors as well as from other sections of the state when the Grand President called the meeting to order. Assisting her were PGP Grace S. Stoermer, grand vice president; PGP Anne C. Theusen, past grand president; Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, grand marshal; Eleanor Killen, Wilmington No. 278, Ruby Paine, Rudecinda, No. 230, San Pedro, Vida Wells, East Los Angeles No. 266, assistant marshals; Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, official capacity; Elizabeth Curtis, San Fernando Mission No. 280, treasurer; Edith Norton, Compton No. 258, junior past president; Louise Cash, San Gabriel Valley No. 282, Leola Tembey and Bernadette Paulson, Long Beach No. 154, trustees. Evelyn Howell, Los Angeles No. 124 and Florence Grass, La Reina No. 267, sentinels; Madeline Smith, Long Beach, financial secretary.

Forty-four charter members were initiated by the following picked team: Vera West, Long Beach No. 154, president; Phillis Hirst, Verdugo No. 240, past president; Frances Galvan Kerr, Long Beach, Edna Restovich, East Los Angeles and Sue Lange, Californiana No. 247, vice presidents; Elizabeth Curtis, treasurer; Madeline Smith, Long Beach, financial secretary; Grand Trustee Schiebusch, marshal; sentinels and trustees, same as for institution. Dorothy Strubhart, Long Beach, acted as organist throughout the evening's ceremonies.

Supervising Deputy Margaret Burch of Long Beach presided over the installation which was preceded by an inspiring candle lighting rite conducted by Eleanor Killen and Edna Restovich. As acting grand marshal, Miss Schiebusch escorted PGP Grace S. Stoermer, chairman, to her station.

The installing officer was introduced and was assisted by the following: PGP Anne Theusen, past grand president; Frances Kanios, East Los Angeles, grand vice president; Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler; PGP Hazel Hansen, grand marshal; Florence Grass, La Reina, and Alice Kramer, Topanga No. 269, sentinels.

With President-elect Katherine Cross carrying red rose buds and charter past president Laura Weigand, full blown red roses, the officers gowned in white, were obligated at a satin draped altar flanked by tall candelebra. The staff, carrying fragrant nosegays of sweetpeas, included the following: Virginia Price, Grace Waters and Marjorie Applegate, vice presidents; Florence Brown, marshal; Fay Rasmussen and Carmalina Masiello, recording and financial secretaries; Jean Masiello, treasurer; Barbara Holman, organist; Jennie McLouth and Elaine Gillenberg, sentinels; Ruby Davis, Florence Rich and Helen Purciarele, trustees.

The newly installed president reviewed the projects of the Native Daughters and received many gifts, among them an orchid from her young son Jimmy, who asked for the assistance of the marshal in the best ritualistic form.

As the Grand President congratulated the new group she presented the president with a gavel and introduced Eugenia Smith of Long Beach Parlor, organizer, praising her highly for her efficient work and appointing her deputy to Rio Hondo for the current term. Miss Smith then presented a ballot box, admonishing the members to use it wisely, since it is a symbol of truth and justice.

Vera West, president of Long Beach Parlor and Evelyn Howell, president of Los Angeles Parlor, presented American flags and many financial gifts were received.

Margaret Burch, sister of Deputy Smith was presented as supervisor for district thirty-seven. Besides grand officers already mentioned, PGP Mary B. Noerenberg attended, as well as Grand Second Vice-president Walter H. Odemar and Grand Outside Sentinel Erle B. Smith of the Native Sons.

Members and guests of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 NDGW, Glendale, assembled July 23 in the Tuesday Afternoon Club in that city to witness the installation of President-elect Ethel Grimm and her corps of officers. Grand President Ethel C. Enos and other Grand and Past Grand officials were among the notables attending the ceremony.

Deputy Eleanor Campbell and installing team from Long Beach Parlor No. 154 inducted Ethel and the following members of her board into office: Flora Alice Day, past president; Margarethe Phelan, Gertrude Blakeley and Grace Stine, vice-presidents; Ethel Dolan, marshal; Shirley Marks and Eloise Frost, sentinels, and Edith Cuff, recording secretary. Also Alice Hoss, financial secretary; Venice Hutchins, treasurer; Kathryn Boehm, organist, and Mary Ella Wolfram, Eleanor Alden and Adele Baldridge, trustees. Doria Phillips was chairman of the evening.

Cabinet Installed

Evelyn Howell is newly-installed president of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 NDGW. With Grand President Ethel C. Enos and other Grand and Past Grand officers of the Native Daughters and Native Sons among the large audience attending the ceremony, Evelyn and her cabinet were inducted into office by Edith Norton and installing team from Compton Parlor No. 258.

The president's cabinet includes Ellen Wilson, past president; Olive Hedges, Louise Crawford and Genevieve McGinley, vice presidents; Bernice Setterberg, marshal; Billie Del Bane and Georgia Hart, sentinels; Mary McAnany, recording secretary, and Edna Neikirk, financial secretary. Also Jeanne Clos, treasurer; Ruth Hoffman, organist, and Lydia Lopez, Evelyn Arlen and Lillian Stratton, trustees.

Formal Reception

An outstanding social event of the Monterey Peninsula season was the formal reception given by Junipero Parlor No. 14 Monterey, for Grand Trustee Elmarie Hurbert Dyke, July 31 at San Carlos Parish Hall.

Beginning with Spanish dances, by Ladislao Narvaez of Carmel, descendant of General Jose Castro, the program included songs by Lily Walker, and monologues by Mary Abercrombie of Oakland. Musical accompaniment for the vocals and for the dancing at the evening's close were provided by Daisy Allen and Trudie Husing.

Climax of the evening was an interpretation of "A Party for the Boy Who Wouldn't Mind," from Anne Fisher's book "Bears, Pirates, and Silver Lace," with Mrs. Amelie Kneass as narrator.

Crown of Achievement

By Grand President Ethel C. Enos

Never before in the history of the world has there been a more urgent demand for clear thinking and sane solution to the problems confronting mankind. As true Californians it is our desire to ascertain and work for the betterment of humanity.

During the month of September, we find three very important dates affecting our lives through their relation to our Order, State and Nation.

Ninety-five years of Statehood for California will be the occasion for saying "Happy Birthday" on September 9. Our State's progress and phenomenal growth cannot be measured. Each day brings further development in her economic structure and the future promises added glories to her crown of achievement.

Your co-operation with Anne Whiting, State Chairman of the War Activities Committee, in her program for making this anniversary of California long-remembered will be appreciated. A bulletin explaining the plan will be sent each Parlor very soon. Inasmuch as no State-wide celebration of Admission Day may be held this year, each Parlor, or District, will hold programs in keeping with the observance of this outstanding date on our calendar.

The Constitution of the United States of America, the cornerstone of our very existence, became a part of our national life September 17, 1787. Let us not forget those principles upon which our Nation was founded and be thankful for the democratic ideals of our forefathers. We must reaffirm our faith in our Country now more than ever before, and a commemoration program held on the meeting night nearest September 17 will bring this thought closer to our hearts.

Can an organization whose roots firmly planted in patriotism and progressive ideas for fifty-nine years fail to flourish? The Founders of the Native Daughters of the Golden West and members of our first Parlors had faith in their principles and ideals. September 25, 1886, was a most important date in the lives of our Charter Members and we now realize the tremendous undertaking which confronted them and are grateful for their courage in developing our Order. It is up to us to carry on.

Members of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, be proud of your heritage! Interest other California-born women in our Order and make Founder's Day this year, a banner day in our history.

Installations

Grand President Ethel C. Enos is scheduled to visit Plumas Pioneer Parlor No. 219 NDGW, Quincy, on September 17, according to word received by President Juanita Austin.

Juanita and her cabinet were installed in office last month by DGP Stella Gallup of Plumas Pioneer parlor.

Besides the president, those installed were: Thelma Erickson, past president; Janie Hogan, Alice Bashford and Pearl Gallegos, vice-presidents; Annie Johnson and Frances Gard, sentinels; Lena Droege, recording secretary; Stella Gallup, financial secretary; Violet J. C. Mori, treasurer, and Loleta Chaffey, trustee.

Belle Reis assumed the office of president for San Luisita Parlor No. 108 NDGW, San Luis Obispo, August 6 when Elsie Soto, supervising deputy and a team from El Pinal No. 163, Cambria, officiated.

Members of the new staff include: Jennie Hillard, past president; Mary Hischier, Metta Bagley and Ida Epperly, vice-presidents; Henrietta Quisnal, marshal; Alice Farrar, financial secretary; Lorraine Wright, recording secretary; Louisa Gingg, treasurer; Harriett Zanoli, Carmel Rooks, sentinels; Margie Tomasini, organist; Agnes Lee, Anna Schlict and Julia Bartlett, trustees.

Homeless Children

The Homeless Children Fund will benefit financially through an Admission Day card party to be held September 27 by members of Lomitas Parlor No. 255 NDGW, Los Banos.

Three new members were initiated and officers were installed at a July meeting held in parlor headquarters. Marie Gagliardi, Shirley Stukey and Yvonne Erreca were welcomed as Native Daughters of the Golden West, while officers installed were Maree Janis, recording secretary; Mary Gill, financial secretary, and Rosemary Gargano, treasurer.

Canoga Park Women's Clubhouse was the setting recently for the installation of officers of Topanga Parlor No. 269 NDGW.

Deputy Juliette De Nubila and a group from Los Angeles Parlor 124 installed the following parlor officials: Minnie Palmer, president; Jennie Frye, past president; Emma Hogg, Grace Kizer and Viola Penland, vice-presidents. Also Betty Jensen, marshal; Mildred Wren and Hazel Fitzgerald, sentinels; Flora Martin, recording secretary; Dorothy Kinney, financial secretary; Doris Reavis, treasurer; Sena Baker, Georgia West and Dorothy Pogue, trustees, and Mae Foell, organist. Phyllis Hirst, of Verdugo Parlor No. 240, Glendale, was introduced as the new supervising deputy.

Assuming their stations for the present term, July 17 officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247 NDGW, were installed by Deputy Florence Grass in Severance Hall, Friday Morning Club, Los Angeles. Assisting the presiding officer were a team from La Reina No. 267.

Heading the list of new officers is Mabel Wigdal, assisted by Past President Charlotte Carpenter; Isabella Granz, Susan Lange and Genevieve Cooke, vice-presidents; Mary C. Beebe, secretary; Evelyn Skinner, financial secretary; Dexter Monroe, treasurer; Harriet Le Vitt and Ada Hendricks, sentinels; Marguerite Vaillaincourt, organist; Emma Lawson, marshal; Caroline Ellsworth, Josephine Gaige and Mona Conner, trustees.

Mary Teixeira became president of El Pescadero Parlor No. 82 NDGW, Tracy at recent installation ceremonies. Her new cabinet includes Mary Mancebo, past president; Leonie Souza, Betty Gomez and Norma Hancock, vice-presidents; Eva McGee, marshal; Edith Frerichs and Emily George, sentinels; Antionette Boltzen, Vanadine Huck and Anne Payne, trustees; Frances Huck, secretary; Bertha McGee, treasurer; Emma Frerichs, financial secretary and Ruth Altamirano, organist.

American Legion Hall in San Bernardino was the gathering place July 11 for members and guests of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 NDGW, of that city to witness installation of parlor officers.

Fern McGinty, newly-elected president and her corps of officers were inducted by Doris Jacobson and installing team from Grace Parlor No, 242, Placentia. Chairman of the evening was Past President Rena Churchill.

Besides Fern, officers installed were Mildred Meyer, past president; Lillian McGinty, Sylvia McGinty and Bella Ford, vice-presidents; May Cochran, marshal; Betty Trout, recording secretary, and Ivy Harmon, treasurer. Also Geneva Switzer, financial secretary; Freda Fox and Laverne Bramhall, sentinels; Bertha Heap, organist, and Pearl Hamilton, Mercideth Wainwright and Daphne Stevens, trustees.

Mrs. Amelia Dais and her three daughters were installed as officers of Camellia Parlor No. 41 NDGW, Anderson, recently. Mrs. Dais was inducted as president, and her daughters Irene, Ellen and Josephine (Herron) were seated as past-president, third vice-president and treasurer, respectively.

Other officers installed that evening by DGP Nelda Bowler and her team from Hiawatha Parlor No. 140, Redding, were as follows: Emma Guill, first vice-president; Margaret Underhill, second vice-president; Jewel McCormack, marshal.

Also Mary Greenhalgh and Patricia Bailey, sentinels; Rowena DiLullo, recording secretary; Lena Null, financial secretary; Cora Klotz, Annie Kitto and Maud Guill, trustees and Rosemary Wilcox, organist.

Past and present grand officers of the Native Daughters of the Golden West were among a large assemblage which gathered recently to witness the installation of officers of Dolores Parlor No. 169, San Francisco. Native Daughter's Home was the setting for the impressive ceremony, with Deputy Patricia Creighton as installing officer.

Helen Lunny was elevated to presidency of the parlor, and the following officers also were installed: Louise A. Smith, past president; Clare Haughey, junior past president; Audrey Cohn, Louise Luizza and Joan Connitty, vice-presidents. Also Maria Beadie, marshal; Marie Bisset and Madalyn Jacobsen, sentinels; Vivian Brown, Irene Gann and Elaine Pitts, trustees; Juanita Moran, secretary; Elizabeth Both, financial secretary; Linda Gross, treasurer, and Louise Nau, organist.

Mrs. Albert Cheney was installed president of Joaquin Parlor No. 5 NDGW, Stockton, at recent ceremonies held in that city's Native Son Hall.

Members of her new cabinet are Laura May Roesch, past president; Mrs. W. B. Augustine, Rose Dentoni and Wilma Way, vice-presidents; Mrs. Floyd R. Boothe, marshal; Peggy Work and Patty Work, sentinels; Mesdames Ernest Ricker and George Ohm and Miss Lottie Boyd, trustees; Edna R. Williamson, recording secretary; Mrs. Ed. R. Peyton, financial secretary; Lillian B. Condy, treasurer and Lulu Schneider, organist.

Virginia Stahl, of Ivy Parlor No. 88, Lodi, sang several songs, accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Gossett. Newly appointed SDDGP Angela Perry was introduced. Angela is a member of Phoebe Hearst Parlor No. 214, Manteca. Also presented to the parlor was newly appointed DGP Harriet Welch of Stockton Parlor No. 256, and Mrs. Arthur Morotti, who will be deputy to Ivy Parlor No. 88, Lodi.

With Grand Trustees Dorothy Donofrio, of Bonita Parlor No. 10 NDGW, Redwood, in charge, installation of officers of El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, Daly City, took place recently. Past Grand President Evelyn I. Carlson and a group of girls from Bonita Parlor assisted the Grand Trustee in seating the following new parlor officials: Marjorie Baker, president; Margaret Steele, Jr., past president; Irene Littlewood, Lillian Colloty and Thelma Ferretti, vice-presidents; Betty Czewerski, marshal; Hattie Kelly, recording secretary. Also Lucille Wohler, financial secretary; Julia Romer, treasurer; Anne Biggio, Dorothy Donofrio and Frederika Volkman, trustees, and Adele Wood, organist.

In an impressive ceremony conducted by Deputy Grand President Hilda Mathis, the officers of Sans Souci Parlor No. 96 NDGW, San Francisco, were installed July 23. They included Annabelle Gallon, president; Elizabeth Benjamin, Imelda Sanders, and Edith Meagles, vice-presidents; Lola Follawel, marshal; Theresa Pearce, recording secretary; Mary Hayes, financial secretary; Mollie Meagles, treasurer; Gertrude Sands, inside sentinel; Delphine Lopez, outside sentinel; Edith Keith, organist; Rose Norris, past president; Madge Hunter, Leah Anthony and Mary Richardson, trustees.

Among those present were PGP Emily C. Ryan, who administered the obligation; Grand Organist Frances Simas, who furnished the music for the evening and Grand Inside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney. Margaret Dahlstrom of Keith Parlor presented a vocal number.

After the installation ceremonies members and guests retired to an adjoining hall for refreshments. Chairman for the evening was Past President Imelda Sanders.

Ann Brochhohn was installed as president of Yerba Buena Parlor No. 273 NDGW, San Francisco, at impressive installation proceedings recently. Deputy Grand President Mary Luhrs of Castro Parlor No. 178 NDGW, San Francisco, performed the ritualistic work. Ann's cabinet, also installed that evening includes Ethel Matson, past president; Aida Picardo, Dorothea Skillin and Florence Latrelle, vice-presidents; Julia Bode and Elizabeth Richards, sentinels; Jessie Scott, marshal; Sophie Durst, recording secretary; Catherine Winn, financial secretary; Anne Hughes, treasurer; Mae Kellar, Catherine Winn and Lucille Geogan, trustees and Grace Dain, organist.

With Supervising Deputy Patricia Readron as presiding officer, the officers of Sequoia Parlor 272 NDGW were installed publicly July 26 in Finnish Brotherhood Hall, Berkeley. Installing officers were from Aloha Parlor headed by Jennie Peterson acting past grand president and Irene Rumetach as grand marshal. The colors were presented by Lorraine Ohman and Dorothea Bredehoft, both members of the Green Patrol team. Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler was a special guest.

Mildred Irwin of Berkeley Parlor No. 150 was introduced as the new deputy for Sequoia. Helen Garrison was presented with a past president's pin.

Fern Woodward, newly-elected president of Sierra Pines Parlor No. 275 NDGW, Colfax, and her official cabinet were installed recently by Deputy Katherine Gallino. The other officers were Adelaide Starr, past president; Julia Panelli and Charlotte Chelini, vice-presidents; Hope Thompson, marshal; Mildred Ashley and Theresa Bayne, sentinels; Ann Eddy, secretary; Olive Shear, financial secretary; Edna Viscia, treasurer, and Mardell Starr, organist.

With Grand President Ethel C. Enos and other Grand Officers witnessing the event, La Tijera Junior Unit, NDGW, in Inglewood, was instituted July 20. Thirty girls formed the charter membership.

This brings the total number of junior Native Daughter units in the state to nineteen.

Frances Setterberg was installed as president of La Tijera Juniors. She is the daughter of Bernice Setterberg, marshal of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124, NDGW.

Also installed were Myra Thurber, past president; Esther Brooks, vice-president; Norine Husing, marshal; Betty Warnick, secretary; Morna Gahlbeck, financial secretary and treasurer; Beverly Gahlbeck, sentinel; Glenna Smith, organist, and Barbara Perry, Joan Robinson and Maybelle Fitzgerald, trustees.

Winifred Tonkin, member of La Tijera Parlor No. 282 NDGW, the senior organization, was appointed chairman of the board of advisors to the younger group.

Members of Placerita Junior Unit No. 16 NDGW, Van Nuys, were in charge of initiation. Joanne Crevolin, Edwina Redona, Bonnie Gillette and Shirley Bailey composed the initiatory team.

Installing officers were members of La Tijera Parlor. They were Helen Brandt, president, and Lela Stevenson, Winifred Tonkin, Pauline Jones, Ruth Payne, Maxine Demick, Lenore Eberle, Patricia Lawing, Maxine Porter, Patricia Van Wig and Vera Warnelle. Grand President Enos's party included PGP Mary Noerenberg, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler and Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch.

Last Roll Call

Hiram W. Johnson

Senator Hiram Warren Johnson, distinguished Native Son, member of Sutter Parlor No. 111, Sacramento, passed to the Grand Parlor on High August 6.

The senator's maternal grandfather was Albert De Montfredy, a French Count and his parents were Mr. and Mrs. Grove L. Johnson who moved to California from Syracuse, N. Y. in 1865. Johnson was born September 2, 1866.

Senator Johnson was governor of California from 1910 to 1916, when he announced his candidacy for the senate, and since that time had remained California's bulwark against any and all opposition to her welfare.

Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West mourn the loss of one of their most esteemed and distinguished members whose name will be forever emblazoned on the history pages of the Golden State.

Charles Alexander

Charles Alexander, charter president of Victory Parlor No. 286 and deputy to Glendale Parlor No. 264 passed to the Grand Parlor on High August 5, 1945 at the age of forty-nine years.

Born in Courtland, Sacramento Valley, Alexander had been a member of the Native Sons five years, but during that time had identified himself as a staunch and loyal member of the Order. He is survived by his wife, Mabel, a son Charles, Jr., and his mother. He was a veteran of World War I and was a wearer of the Purple Heart.

George B. Stangenberger

George B. Stangenberger, 78, past president of Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco, and a member for forty-nine years, died June 18, at his home in Marin County.

Born in San Francisco, Stangenberger was widely known in Native Sons' circles. For years he was vice-president of the Grizzly Bear Club.

John J. O'Brien

John J. O'Brien, member of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco, died July 19. He was the brother of Frank A. O'Brien and father of Joseph J. O'Brien, both of Stanford Parlor.

O'Brien was employed by Joe Poheim, Inc., for more than sixty years, and tribute to his fraternal and business loyalty was expressed by Trustee Art Poheim at a recent meeting.

Extend Sympathy

Deepest sympathy has been extended by members of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 NSGW, Oakland to Thomas H. Carter, Sr., and his sons, Sergeant Thomas (Howie) and Warrant Officer Everett J. (Bud) Carter in the loss of their beloved wife and mother.

In Memoriam

To the Officers and Members of Fairfax Parlor No. 225, NDGW We, your Committee, entrusted with the sad duty of drafting resolutions of love and respect in memory of Emma Gruber Foley, the Mother of our Parlor, and a most helpful participant in its activities since the Parlor's inception in 1923, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called one of our beloved sisters to her home on High. By her passing our organization has been deprived of the wise counsel and genial fellowship of an outstanding member who gave unselfishly of her time and strength to us as well as to the social and welfare activities of the community. Emma Gruber Foley had the deep affection and respect of each member of this organization and of everyone who had the privilege of knowing her.

And, Be it further Resolved, That in the passing of Emma Gruber Foley, each of us has lost a dear and valued associate and the organization has lost a true and kind friend; that this Parlor expresses its profound sympathy to those who were nearest to her for the loss which has come to them; that this resolution be inscribed on the minutes of this meeting and that a copy of it be sent to Mrs. Foley's next of kin.

Sincerely submitted,

AGNES O'CONNELL,
MARGUERITE GEARY,
ALYCE ROSE MUNZ,

Fairfax, California, July 24, 1945.

Viginia Biaggini

Ill only two days, Norma Virginia Biaggini, eighteen years old, youngest and newest member of San Luisita Parlor No. 108 NDGW, San Luis Obispo, died suddenly July 20 in that city.

Shocked and saddened by the unexpected tragedy, members stated that in the short time that Virginia and her sister, Alva, had been members, she had endeared herself to all with her winning personality. The sisters joined San Luisita Parlor just eighteen days before her passing.

Sarah H. McFadden

Sarah Hopper McFadden, former member of San Luisita Parlor No. 108, passed away July 16, 1945 in Long Beach. Mrs. McFadden was the wife of the late Yancy McFadden, also a native of California and a one-time sheriff of San Luis Obispo County. She was born in Windsor, Sonoma County, and is survived by three sons and two daughters.

Mrs. Felipe V. Fullen

Mrs. Felipe Vallejo Fullen, 73, granddaughter of General M. G. Vallejo, famous in early California history, died last July in Sacramento. Mrs. Fullen lived in Angels Camp for over thirty years, but moved to Sacramento in 1936, where she resided until her death. Surviving are a daughter, a son, three grandchildren and three sisters.

Homeless Babies

By Hazel B. Hansen

STEMMING from the finest impulses of human nature, is the care of motherss, fatherless babies. Like all infants they ould be entitled to the rights and privi-ges of childhood, but without the aid of e Native Sons and Daughters, they would rfeit these prerogatives.

The efficiency of the jointly conducted omeless Children's work has been chalnged by the State Welfare Department. 'e must raise a large fund and in order to this, a statewide stamp selling drive is ing planned. The sale will begin October when "Homeless Babies' Week" will be bserved by every parlor.

The program of expansion as outlined by e State Department of Social Welfare inudes the securing of more social workers nd we must comply with other requireents entailing an increase of many thouands of dollars in annual outlay. War conditions, increased population, higher wages, greater hospital, nursing, board and medical examination costs have combined to cause the rise in expenditures.

Importance of complying with the Welfare Department's mandate is apparent For thirty-five years, the Native Sons and Daughters Central Committee has been one of two organizations licensed by the department to negotiate adoptions in California and members should be quick to answer the appeal.

Not only is the work a humanitarian one, but it engenders sturdier, finer citizens for the state.

If we do not comply with the Social Welfare Department's order, before the first of the year, there is a possibility that our license will be revoked. In that case, this great charitable work, which so closely has bound together the Native Sons and Daughters in a common effort will cease.

CHAIRMAN OF THE DRIVE to raise funds for the Homeless Children, PGP Hazel B. Hansen visits with some of the tots the agency has aided in finding happy homes.

Not one penny contributed through the Victory Chest, War Chest, Community Chest or any other public charity organization ever finds its way into the Homeless Children's coffers. During all of the thirty-five years, the two organizations have stood firmly on their own feet, furnishing the financial outlay through assessments paid by the members, and benefit affairs.

Now, with expenses greatly increased, it has been decided to admit the public into financing this humanitarian, constructive work. At the same time members will be permitted to purchase as many of the attractive stamps as they choose. The stamp selling drive method was deemed appropriate and practical, a process in which all members could join, and in which the public, as well as members, could participate.

Mailing of stamps will be directed to men and women of California who are known for their philanthropic generosity. Other sheets of stamps will be forwarded to parlor presidents who are asked to conduct special sales to the public in their own communities. Members of either Order also may purchase stamps. Each parlor president or chairman of Homeless Children is permitted to select his or her own methods in their disposition.

Methods successfully utilized in war bond sales may be brought into play. Booths in downtown locations, tie-ups with theaters, luncheons, dinners and all types of parties, with a sheet of stamps purchased at a minimum of one dollar as the price of admission, are suggested. Auctions, premiums with merchandise sales in downtown stores, or direct sales to the members are recommended. Parlor events may either precede or follow Homeless Babies' Week.

The one requirement is that stamps must not be sold for less than one dollar a sheet. All sums in excess of one dollar will be gratefully accepted and parlors will be credited with amounts directly procured by them.

Need of more social workers is seen in the fact that prospective parents are investigated thoroughly. Babies then are placed with them and final adoption papers are prepared only when parents have measured up to requirements on a basis of one year's trial.

Should social workers find applicants fail to measure up to standards, or that the child evidences it is in an environment unsuited to its personality, it is returned to the agency and another home is taken under advisement.

The agency also serves the mothers of the infants who are cared for by the Central committee until they are ready to return to their normal pursuits. Without this kindly ministration many of these mothers would be in deplorable circumstances.

When a mother desires to retain her baby, the committee sees that financial aid is rendered to surmount her problems. Each investigator is an understanding student of human nature and kindliness motivates her every decision. The one purpose is to see that babies are placed in good homes, where his or her opportunity to develop into a useful, intelligent citizen is unquestioned.

Because of the vast expense underlying this humanitarian effort, the Central Committee has seen fit to conduct the stamp drive, which, it is hoped, will return $200,000. Regardless of what sum is garnered, the dollars thus contributed will prove their usefulness in perpetuating an indispensable work.

Figures Given

During the last fiscal year, 270 children were placed by the Native Sons and Daughters Central Committee on Homeless Children in 265 homes in thirty-one counties, with Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda counties topping the list. One hundred and seventy-five adoptions also were completed during that probationary period.

As of April 1, 1945, 401 children were under our supervision in foster homes, where the probationary period was not then completed. Two deaths occurred during the last fiscal year and three children were returned to institutions and relatives.

In addition to the foregoing 270 placements, 393 other children, not placed for adoption received financial or other assistance. One hundred and twenty-seven of these were retained by relatives and twenty-eight were placed by relatives. Seven died before placement and fifty-one were rejected because of physical handicaps or legal complications. There were forty-three transferrals and 127 cases pending. The baby case load for that year totalled 828. Further, 1238 foster parents applied for babies during the year.

Since 1910, Native Sons and Daughters have placed and completed adoptions for approximately 7,000 babies, and have aided many times that number in innumerable ways.

Send your contribution to make the continuation of this truly worthwhile work to one of the Homeless Babies' Week stamp drive committee listed elsewhere in this issue.

Pass your October Grizzly Bear on to your friends. The more they read and hear about the drive, the more aid they may be inspired to give.

Homeless Children Committees

HERE are the two committees mainly responsible for the Homeless Babies' Week fund drive which the Native Sons and Daughters are staging, starting October 22.

On the Central Committee are: Martin J. Dinkelspiel, chairman; PGP Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Trustee Edward J. Wren; PGP Charles A. Koenig, PGP Hazel B. Hansen, Grand Inside Sentinel Jewel McSweeney; Rev. Edward B. Lenane, Amy Steinhart Braden, PGP Emma Lou Humphrey, Mrs. George V. Kulchar and Miss Mary Brusie, honorary member.

Miss Phyllis Dunne is executive secretary; Mary K. Adams, secretary of the San Francisco office and Miss Dorothy Schlingman, secretary of the Los Angeles office.

Bear Flag Observance Planned

THE committee on installation and maintenance of National and state flags of the Native Sons, headed by Isadore B. Dockweiler, member of Ramona Parlor No. 109, Los Angeles, with the endorsement of the Honorable Alfred W. Robertson, assemblyman from Santa Barbara, presented the matter of drafting the resolution unanimously adopted by the state senate and assembly.

Senator Herbert W. Sater, representing the County of Sonoma, in which the Bear Flag was raised June 14, 1846, introduced the resolution in the senate and moved its adoption without reference to any committee. This was promptly done and the following day the Assembly followed similar procedure.

Dockweiler plans to have Governor Earl Warren announce a proclamation in January 1946, as required by the resolution setting aside June 14 of that year as a statewide holiday to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the raising of the Bear Flag at Sonoma and many Native Sons and Daughters plan to celebrate the anniversary all over the state and cause the state emblem to fly over all public buildings. The resolution is quoted:

"Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 60—Relative to the one hundredth anniversary of the raising of the Bear Flag and requesting the governor to proclaim June 14, 1946 as a legal State holiday in commemoration thereof.

"Whereas, On June 14, 1846, the historic Bear Flag was raised at Sonoma, California by 25 Americans in protest against what they deemed to be military despotism and as a declaration of independence from Mexican rule; and

"Whereas, This incident foreshadowed the end of the Spanish era in California and the beginning of the new and glorious period which was to follow; and

"Whereas, The Bear Flag became and remains the official flag of California, symbolical of the rugged individualism of its people; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That the Governor is hereby requested at an appropriate time prior thereto to designate and proclaim June 14, 1946, a legal holiday in California in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the raising of the Bear Flag at Sonoma; and be it further

"Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of California."

Fort Ross Bell

By Grand Historian Emmet P. Joy

SEPTEMBER 3 was an eventful day at Fort Ross in Sonoma County, as the old Russian bell was returned to the church built by the Russians in the year 1812. It was a beautiful day as the early autumn sun shone brightly on the steeples of the church. The Fort separated a grove of redwood from the placid silver waves of the ocean far below, while birds flew over the wide and open valley; a valley which was at one time covered with orchards and gardens. The turn of the century changed the scene and today it is a rough and grassy place.

The Fort is extremely interesting, as well as historic. The strong stockade, partly gone, filled in the view looking south while a block house still standing is located in the southwest corner. The small chapel, symbol of the Greek form of Christianity, and at one time the center of the religious life of the settlement, is located in the southeast corner of the old fort.

The Russian Bell Restoration fete was attended by approximately 600 people from all over the northern part of the state. Most outstanding was the large delegation of Russians who were accompanied by the choir of the Trinity Russian Cathedral in San Francisco. Also present were the Metropolitan of the church and a large representation of the priests and members. Services were held in the church during the morning. At noon all enjoyed a picnic lunch on the grounds of the old Fort, preceding the ceremony.

Frank Witham, chairman of the committee of Petaluma Parlor No. 27, NSGW, who made the restoration possible, rang the bell which summoned the people for the presentation program. John T. Regan, grand secretary NSGW, chairman of the day, was introduced by La Fayette E. Carpenter of Petaluma Parlor. The presentation of the "Bell" was made by Grand President Richard F. McCarthy, Joseph R. Knowland, chairman of the State Park commission and a past grand president, accepted the gift in behalf of the State of California. He said that the state will ever guard and preserve the relic for posterity.

The chairman then introduced Hon. Herbert Slater, State Senator, the speaker of the day, who delivered a very interesting address. Grand Trustee Dr. Peter T. Conmy spoke of the history of Fort Ross and gave a historical outline from the time the Russians built the Fort in 1812 up to the time of their withdrawal from California. Other interesting features in the program were the contribution of Grand Trustee Zoura Tompkins of a poem on Fort Ross; the introduction of Frank Studdert, the first American male child born at Fort Ross; Frank P. Doyle, whose parents were former Petalumians; Mrs. C. C. Murphy, publisher of the Sonoma Index Tribune, who was called upon for a few remarks, and speakers representing the Russian Historical Society who presented a flag of the Russian American company to the State of California.

Among those Native Sons present were Past Grand Presidents Charles L. Dodge, Edward J. Lynch, Edward T. Schnarr and Grand Marshal Raymond P. Burke.

The Russian Bell was one of three which at one time hung in the belfry of the church at Fort Ross from the year 1812 until 1839. When the Russians sold out to Captain John A. Sutter of New Helvetia, two of the bells were taken to Alaska and one of them was taken by Captain Sutter and later lost to the world until 1866. In 1866 the bell was bought in a junk yard in San Francisco and put to use in a Firehouse by Company No. 1 in Petaluma. It remained as such until 1916, in which year it was moved from the firehouse and given to Petaluma Parlor. The Parlor stored the bell in the old adobe, the former home of General Vallejo. There it remained for the past twenty-five years.

Sometime ago Petaluma Parlor became interested in having the bell restored to Fort Ross. Frank Witham was appointed chairman of a committee to have this accomplished. Other members of the committee were: Attorney La Layette Carpenter, publicity; Oscar Glahn, William Sorensen, Walter Giles, Harry Mehl and R. S. Coon West, superintendent of beaches and parks. Through the fervent endeavor of this committee once again the bell tolls from its original location. Its mellow tone will sound again over the fort as it did over one hundred years ago.

Native Sons at Jap Hearing

Walter H. Odemar, chairman of the Committee on Japanese Legislation and Grand Second Vice-President, NSGW, and Eldred A. Meyer, a member of the committee, staged a determined fight recently before the house Sub-committee on Immigration and Naturalization when the latter held a hearing in Los Angeles.

Odemar and Meyer spoke, the latter filing a communication with the committee, which is quoted:

"In presenting the views of the Native Sons of the Golden West before your subcommittee, our fraternity reiterates its traditional stand of opposing any plan that would permit the immigration of Aliens ineligible to American citizenship. We are unalterably opposed to any amendment of the Immigration Act of 1924, which would grant to an Asiatic Alien the privilege to immigrate to the United States.

"The defeat of the Japanese has now been accomplished and with this victory come new problems: reconversion, rehabilitation of our service men and a period of unemployment now estimated by Washington at some five to eight millions by the spring of 1946.

"The wisdom of the part played by the Native Sons of the Golden West in cooperation with other patriotic groups in securing the passage of the 1924 Immigration Act can now be evaluated, for without this federal law the Pacific Coast states would have had a population of a million or more Japanese and the attack of the Japanese on Pearl Harbor could easily have been made on the mainland of the Pacific Coast. For over sixty years California has determinedly fought against the peaceful invasion of the state and nation by unassimable Asiatics. She contemplated the threatened fate of Hawaii and saw serious conditions developing in certain sections of the Golden State.

"Japan saw fit to wage war upon us. We are more determined than ever before that she will forever be barred from receiving immigration privileges. Any plea at this time to give Aliens ineligible to citizenship a quota can only be construed as a ruse to be used at a later and more convenient time by the friends of Japan to have their nation granted an immigration quota. The United States owes no Asiatic nation any debt but, on the contrary, those that are our allies owe us their salvation, and they should be deeply grateful to this country for gaining their freedom for them.

"We are fully aware that certain commercial groups represented by trade organizations are anxious for trade with Japan. The religious groups led by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America are now, as in the past, the champion of the Japanese in the United States.

"The war has not lessened any of their ardor for the Nipponese. The low standard of living of the Asiatics, their willingness to work for small wages against our American high standard of living, is apparent to all who have made a study of the people of Asia.

"Secretary Harold L. Ickes has recently stated he would favor statehood for Hawaii. This is a matter that should not be discussed before this committee. However, the Native Sons of the Golden West, in opposing statehood for Hawaii, correctly point out that one of their principal reasons for opposing statehood is that it would permit one hundred thousand Alien Asiatics, ineligible to American citizenship, to migrate to the mainland.

"Those who appeased Japan over the years preceding Pearl Harbor have reiterated many times that the 1924 Immigration Act was one of the principal contributing causes for Japan making war upon us.

Reviewing Admission Day

TALKING IT OVER after the program are Grand First Vice-president Walter H. Odemar, master of ceremonies, and Governor Earl Warren, speaker of the day.

Governor's Admission Day Address

GOVERNOR Earl Warren, in his characteristic friendly manner, addressed approximately five hundred members of Native Sons and Daughters of Los Angeles County, September 9 in the Greek Theater, following a barbecue of which the majority partook. Excerpts from his speech follow:

"Each year since 1850, when California first gained the position of statehood, there has been special cause for us to join in thankful observance of the day. Each succeeding Admission Day has become a better understood reminder of the resourcefulness, the faith and the perseverance of those who pioneered our state. We have learned from them and delighted in the color and romantic dash with which they made our early history.

"But, as we join in celebration on this particular September day of 1945, we are closing a new and equally inspiring chapter in California history. If there ever should be a need for a second reason for Californians to gather on September 9 in observance of a truly California holiday, that reason will be found in the war record of 1941-1945. During these years, California underwent a change such as no pioneer of Gold Rush days could have visualized. His was an era of guiding an infant state. We have lived at the time when the first full tests of maturity were imposed upon that state. We have lived to see our state prove itself capable of taking its place among the greatest industrial centers of the world.

"Much as we love to recount the colorful stories of early day California, I am sure all of us are keenly aware that we have just been living in a period crowded with equally dramatic stories—stories of heroic personal sacrifice, of unprecedented accomplishments and of phenomenal growth. True to the traditions of its pioneers, our state gave the fullest of its energies and resources to the cause of victory and freedom. We have joined with the rest of the world in rejoicing over the victory which has been won. Now we have our day of rejoicing over the discovery of a new key to our peacetime future. It is a different kind of California in which we live today—the kind of California which is fully conscious of the contribution it can make to national welfare; which feels itself linked closely with South America and with all of the islands of the Pacific—the kind of California in which the United Nations saw fit to draft the first historic charter for world security. It is a bigger California in every way than the California in which we lived before the war.

"We start the postwar period as the third largest state in the Union. What happened to us in four short years overshadows, both in suddenness and magnitude all that happened in those hectic days following the discovery of gold. With that discovery 100,000 new citizens and the birth of a new state came. With the war time discovery of our industrial capacity, came a million and a half new citizens and state maturity.

"With our pride in growth and accomplishment and in our plans for the future we must ever be mindful of those who have given us the opportunity to build a greater peacetime economy. In all solemnity, this day should be dedicated to the California men and women who gave their lives as part of California's contribution to the cause of peace. Their sacrifice should serve as a perpetual inspiration for us to build a better California—better in all the ways which they visualized in their last thoughts of home, of friends and loved ones. Theirs was a vision of happy homes, of economic opportunity for themselves and their children and active participation in community life. What more worthwhile goal could be left for us to seek?

As we strive to work out the destiny which we visualize for our home state, I know from past experience that no group of men and women will be more devoted to the task than those who hold membership in our two great statewide organizations. It is these two organizations that have done the most to keep alive the tradition and the inspirations which come to us from our state's beginnings. It is they who first championed the cause of Homeless Children and have given leadership to the preservation of many of our historic landmarks and the development of many of our recreation centers. They treasure the spirit of California only to share it with those who are willing to share it with them.

"As the native born in all parts of our state re-dedicate themselves today to the spirit which has built California, they do so with their eyes toward the future. True Californians have never lived entirely in the past. They are ever ready to come to grips with the tasks of the present. At this turning point in our state's history, we find new encouragement in the fact that our resolve to build a greater and happier state is today being shared by more millions of new citizens than ever before."

Victory Parade

Victory celebrations by San Francisco and Alameda Counties September 9 were highlighted by a parade on Market Street with representations from every branch of the military services. General Jonathan M. Wainwright was the guest of honor. Native Sons and Daughters followed the military. The Chinese followed with their traditional dragon and behind them came thousands of horsemen. An estimated 500,000 persons witnessed the spectacle.

In the evening the two Orders staged a banquet with approximately 500 attending. Toastmaster of the evening was PGP Raymond D. Williamson and principal addresses were delivered by Grand Presidents Richard F. McCarthy and Ethel C. Enos.

Alameda County parlors held a banquet September 8 in the Leamington Hotel, Oakland. Toastmaster was Frank P. Smith of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 and Grand President McCarthy was the speaker.

Parlors holding open house the evenings of September 8 and 9 were South San Francisco, Guadalupe, Castro, El Carmelo and Utopia.

Celebrating Admission Day, members of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, Redwood City, hosted a party in that city's USO clubhouse on September 8, with Madeline Wallace in charge. Following a short program, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by the large crowd present.

Members of Calistoga Parlor No. 145 NDGW, marched in their city's Admission Day parade, which served as preliminary to a rodeo staged by the town's American Legion post. Murl Duff headed the parlor's parade committee, with Pearl Sims, Grand Trustee Edith Cavagnaro, Florence Henning and Auburn Decker, cooperating.

Hortense Hill, past president of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266, presided as chairman of the Breakfast Club gathering September 8 in observation of Admission Day. Speakers were Grand Trustee Anna T. Schiebusch, who discussed activities of the Native Daughters, particularly stressing the Homeless Children project, and Grand Second Vice President Walter Odemar, who presented a colorful story of California's admission into the Union. Members joined in singing California songs.

Carrying out her plan to brighten servicemen's stays in the bay district, President Helen Lunny, Dolores Parlor, No. 169 NDGW, San Francisco, held a victory party for uniformed men recently at the Native Daughters' Home. Dancing and games, followed by refreshments, provided the amusement. The Dolores drill team in its gay maroon and white uniforms took part in San Francisco's Victory Parade, Admission Day.

Admission Day was celebrated by members of Utopia Parlor No. 270, NSGW, and Utopia Parlor No. 252, NDGW, both of San Francisco at a joint "open house" party September 8. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by the large gathering of members, their families and friends.

Both parlors were represented in San Francisco's Victory Day parade on Admission Day by their drum corps, drill team and marching units.

Historic Homes

Junipero Parlor No. 141, NDGW, Monterey, celebrated California's ninety-fifth birthday with two outstanding events. Friday evening, September 7, they reserved California's First Theatre in Monterey.

Approximately 150 natives and their friends enjoyed the play and buffet supper in the lounge afterward. SDDGP Ethel Hyde was chairman and Mrs. A. A. Arehart was in charge of the supper. Honored guests were Grand Trustee Elmarie H. Dyke and PGP Bertha Briggs of Hollister, as well as presidents and deputies in the district.

Nearly two hundred men and women, members of the armed forces and Native Daughters participated in a tour held by Junipero Parlor on Saturday, September 8. Many historic buildings were visited as well as homes not usually open to the public. Mrs. Alice Larkin Toulmin, granddaughter of Thomas Oliver Larkin, only U. S. Consul to California, received the guests in the famous Larkin House.

At conclusion of the tour, which was supervised by Mrs. William Kneass, Jr., a silver tea was served at the House of Four Winds for the benefit of the Homeless Children's Fund. Grand Trustee Elmarie H. Dyke and Miss Joan Giamona served. Ethel Hyde gave a most illuminating talk on Homeless Children. Mrs. C. B. Bentley was chairman of tea arrangements.

Anita Church, president of the parlor, received congratulations of many visitors, including President Emeritus Dr. Aurelia Rhinehart of Mills College, for making it possible for interested groups to enter historic homes. Many Native Daughters, attired in historic costumes, acted as hostesses.

Attend Banquet

Sequoia Parlor No. 272, NDGW, Berkeley, will hold its annual card party this month, according to word received from press chairman Clara Barton.

Members of the parlor attended a banquet and program in Hotel Leamington, Oakland, September 8, observing Admission Day, and the Green Patrol drill teams of Sequoia and Argonaut Parlor No. 166, Emeryville, NDGW participated in a parade the following day in San Francisco, she reported.

Estella Marinella and Alissia Martin were initiated into the Order August 23 during a meeting of the parlor. Special guest of the evening was former deputy Ethyl Kern, who was presented with a gift.

Vera Giordano is new president of Sequoia Parlor, and her cabinet includes: Marian McGuire, past president; Hannah Bredehoft, Martha Gohl and Jeanette Anderson, vice-presidents; Alice Gilligan, secretary; Edna Williams, financial secretary; Bellah Wakefield, treasurer. Also Mary Galotta, Clara Barton and Dena Benson, trustees; Beth Evans, marshal; Eleanor Garrison and Nellie Homeward, sentinels and Tessie Socker, organist.

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary recently were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Dechent, parents of Charles W. Dechent, member of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco. Both are native San Franciscans and have frequently attended affairs of Stanford Parlor.

Early Movies

The Officers of Verdugo Parlor were hostesses to an Admission Day Banquet held at the Tuesday Afternoon Club House September 10. Past Grand President Hazel B. Hansen, chairman of the evening, gave a brief address of welcome and introduced the guests and the speaker, Walter H. Odemar, Grand Second Vice President, NSGW. The evening was concluded with the showing of movies of Early California, and the Admission Day Parade of 1940.

Ethel Dolan, ways and means chairman, announced that a bazaar would be held at the Exhibitorium in Glendale on Wednesday, November 7.

Family Picnic

Long Beach Parlor No. 154, NDGW, held its first meeting of the fall term September 6 at New Masonic Temple. Hortense Hill, of East Los Angeles Parlor No. 266, NDGW, was introduced as the new deputy to the parlor by outgoing deputy Lottie Miller, of Compton Parlor No. 258. Supervising deputy is Margaret Burch of Long Beach Parlor. The parlor voted to send a donation to the order's Seeing Eye Dog project.

Admission Day, September 9, was celebrated by members of Long Beach parlors of Native Sons and Daughters at a "family picnic" in Houghton Park, with Joe Sousa and SDDGP Dr. John Schwamm, speakers.

Jap Hearing

Nothing could be further from the fact. Japan was not singly selected, but was merely one of the many Alien Asiatic countries declared ineligible to citizenship. How do we reconcile this with the fact that away back in 1902 Australia passed a law directly pointed at the Japanese which excluded them and other Asiatics from Australia? Why did Japan smilingly accept the law in Australia and strenuously protest it in the United States? Simply because Japan knew Australia meant what it said and that in the United States she had friends, those I have previously referred to, that would strive to have the objectionable immigration law repealed. War, or no war, the friends of Japan keep up the good fight for her. That is precisely what is happening now! It is inconceivable that any group would seek to have Aliens immigrate to the United States at a time when our own citizens are unemployed!

"The plea that our trade relations with the Orient would be more favorable if these Asiatic nations had an immigration schedule is a misstatement. Following the passage of the Immigration Act of 1924, our Asiatic commerce steadily increased. Asiatic nations are like others in respect to trade; they seek out the best markets and buy to their best advantage. Granting a quota to them now would not guarantee any trade increase in the future years.

"All first-class nations exclude as permanent settlers those who for any reason may be objectionable in that capacity.

"Finally our first consideration in all immigration matters should be to enact laws that are best for the permanent welfare of our Nation, notwithstanding the desires of foreign nations or the interest of any class, or group interested in religious, pacifist or business activities. The time has come when the United States should maintain its principles and policies for the protection of its own people."

Following up on the most successful Admission Day observance in recent history, in which they had the cooperation of Santa Barbara Parlor, Native Sons, members of Reina del Mar Parlor, NDGW, are preparing all-out participation in the October drive in behalf of the Central Committee Homeless Babies Week campaign.

Meeting September 26, at Women's City club, Reina del Mar Parlor followed potluck supper with a program marking the fifty-ninth birthday of the Order. Anita Harp, president, presided and the program accented the Homeless Children Placement drive.

The birthday observance was furthered by the presence of PGP Cora B. Sifford of Ventura. Honor guests were seven charter members of the parlor and nearly all of its thirty-three past-presidents.

Presenting Flag

Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26, NDGW, is possessor of a beautiful American flag, presented by past president Luene Jensen, Alverda Wyman and Truella Jensen in loving memory of their mother and grandmother, the late Mary Ann True, a revered member of Santa Cruz Parlor. Truelle Jensen, acting as color bearer, made the actual presentation during a meeting September 10.

Later, members joined with those of Santa Cruz Parlor No. 26, NSGW, in a colorful ceremony to observe Admission Day. Past President Stanley Tait acted as master of ceremonies. W. S. Rodgers, Sr., gave an inspiring tribute to the flag and past president Arnold Baldwin spoke on California history preceding and following its admission into the Union. Others on the program were Pete Lazarrotti, past presidents Lela Swasey and Josephine Brazill. Chairmen for the event were Hazel Kunde, Josephine Brazill, Stanley Tait and Neil Reid.

Grand Trustee Webster K. Nolan recently was promoted in the state guard from captain to major, it was announced by officials of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco. Major Nolan, a former Washington correspondent, is now connected with William Randolph Hearst's publications in San Francisco.

NATIVE SONS

Class Initiations

National Parlor No. 118, NSGW, San Francisco will stage a dance and buffet supper Saturday night, October 13, in the Grizzly Bear Club, 414 Mason street. The popular master of ceremonies, Arnold Spinetti will officiate.

The parlor was host on September 13 to a large delegation of members from Piedmont Parlor No. 120, NSGW, Oakland, headed by Grand President Richard McCarthy.

One of the highlights of the evening came during the initiatory work when the Grand President volunteered to act as marshal, substituting for the regular marshal, Milton Winter, who had been delayed en route to the meeting.

Following an inspiring address, McCarthy presented coveted fifty-year and twenty-five-year pins to ten members of National Parlor. They were Dr. W. H. M. Burfiend, Thomas Carr, W. J. Russic, D. J. Sullivan, F. E. Kroeger and George J. White, who received the half-century tokens, and Charles H. Beschorman, Alex Campbell, Louis Romano and Carlo Santa Cruz, who were awarded twenty-five year pins.

Following the meeting, a buffet dinner was served, prepared by Grand Trustee Ed Wren.

Present that evening were members from California, Golden Gate, Pacific and Mission Parlors. Among them were PGP Charles Koenig, SDDGP Lou Giegerich, DDGP John P. Ferry, Larry Elower and San Francisco's city treasurer, Tom McCarthy. A membership drive for fifty new members has been launched by National Parlor, under leadership of Doctor Gilbride.

President's Banquet

Cliff Wayman, president and Charles Naumann, junior past president of Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco were honored guests recently at a semi-annual Presidents' Banquet, attended by members of the parlor, their families and friends.

Thomas Duffy "emceed" the gay event, and as usual was in "top" form. Gardenia corsages were presented to all the ladies present. Important dignitaries introduced were Judge Bradford Bosley, of Castro Parlor No. 232, San Francisco; Judge Harry Neubarth, of South San Francisco Parlor and Judge Twain Michelsen, of Pacific Parlor.

Judge Bosley, chairman of the Grand Parlor Juvenile Delinquency Committee gave an enlightening talk on the subject. He described the aims of the Native Sons organization to cope with this problem. Judge Neubarth also responded with a timely address and Judge Michaelsen, announced his intention of taking a more active part in Pacific Parlor affairs. The judge has been serving with the Volunteer Port Security Force, USCG.

Other speakers were Frank Soracco, who spoke on past years' activities of the parlor; Tom Ryan, who discussed Veterans' Welfare work and Lew Giegerich, who stressed the need for increased membership in the parlor. Inspired talks were also presented by the two honored guests, President Wayman and Past President Naumann. Bill Young was in charge of dinner arrangements.

Presidio No. 194	300

Pacific Parlor

An aggressive drive for more members now is in full swing at Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco, according to Lewis A. Giegerich, chairman.

The parlor currently has a membership of three hundred and eighteen, he stated, due to excellent campaigning by members last year.

"However, with the return of peace and normal times, the time is ripe for us to reach our goal," he told those present at a recent meeting. Full co-operation by all the parlor personnel was urged by the campaign leader.

Baseball League

Plans for the formation of a Boys' Baseball League in Alameda County, to be sponsored by the Native Sons of the Golden West were discussed at a recent meeting called by Louis Giegerich, chairman of the State Athletic Committee and Bob Jones, member of Piedmont Parlor No. 120 NSGW, Oakland.

Attending the session were representatives of NSGW parlors in Alameda County who will present the idea to their parlors for official sanction. Present were Art Cardoza and Bill Lewis of Estudillo Parlor, Monte Florence and Ed Marks of Eden Parlor, Ed Sturgeon and Ray Burke of Claremont Parlor. Tim Murphy and Bernie Abrott of Berkeley Parlor. Al Erle and Frank Smith of Piedmont Parlor. J. Hubbard and Guy Robinson of Fruitvale Parlor.

If the parlors' reports are favorable—the league will be formed, it was stated.

Vacations

Want to know where some of the gang from Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco spent their vacations?

Well. Financial Secretary Bert Paolinellis and wife, Selena spent their time visiting Santa Barbara, the Russian River, Cloverdale and other scenic points. Bob Peters vacationed at Santa Margarita Ranch near San Luis Obispo and bagged himself a deer.

Inside Sentinel Franklin Campbell and family visited historic Monterey and Treasurer Emmett Chapman and wife, Muriel went to Lake Tahoe and became so enthralled with its beauty, they bought a summer home on Meek's Bay.

Observatory Parlor

Approximately one hundred members of Observatory Parlor No. 177, NSGW, San Jose, gathered recently at Bert Barrett's mountain headquarters for their annual stag barbecue. Choice cuts of "good, old-fashioned pre-war" steaks were served the men, who always look forward to this occasion. In fact, so celebrated is this yearly "feed," Grand President Richard McCarthy and PGP Charles Koenig drove down from San Francisco to attend.

George Leese was chairman of the barbecue, assisted by a committee of sixteen. Members were unanimous in their agreement that the affair was one of the finest parties held in the history of the parlor.

Clyde Arbuckle, San Jose city historian, addressed members at their meeting September 10 on California's Admission into the Union.

The new officers for the fall term who will guide the destinies of Observatory Parlor No. 177, NSGW, recently were installed by SDDGP Harold Semichy, and a member of San Jose Parlor No. 22.

Officers installed were: Walter Penney past president; Clarence Leese, president Robert Drexel, Russ Carlson, and Raynold Giese, vice presidents; George Gomes, marshal; Norton Mahon, and Louie Doerr, sentinels; Harry Pacheco, senior past president; Herman Mager, recording secretary William Compton, financial secretary; S Kaycer, treasurer; Ed Gibbons, trustee.

Three former members of the armed forces are now civilians. They are Allan Honn, Grant O'Neil, and Carl Palmer.

Pebble Beach

Supervising Deputy William S. Burke, assisted by DDGP Irving Lee; Grand Trustee Milton Moenning and Joe Murphy, all of Observatory Parlor No. 177, San Jose installed officers of Pebble Beach, No. 23 NSGW, August 8.

All paid glowing tributes to the officers for their past work and offered full support for the future. The new cabinet includes, D. Armas, past president; Charles Mattei, president; Donald Mattei, Earl Williamson and John Pimentel, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively Robert Baptiste, marshal; M. R. Mattei recording secretary; John Dias, financial secretary, J. A. Moore, treasurer; Jack Davi, William Rose and Joe Lawrence, trustees; Eddie Weeks and Gene Cabral, inside and outside sentinels.

William S. Burke, past president of Observatory No. 177, has recently received the appointment of District Deputy for District No. 5, replacing Joe Semino of Mt View Parlor who was forced to resign because of illness.

Piedmont Parlor

Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 12 NSGW, Oakland, on September 27 were guests of the Oakland Elks lodge No. 17 at the latter's clubhouse. The visit is a annual event for which elaborate preparations are made.

On an earlier date, September 19, Grand Trustee Edward J. Wren and members of National Parlor No. 118, San Francisco entertained Piedmont members at National Hall, San Francisco.

Coming Events

Supervising Deputy Dr. John Schwamm f Los Angeles announces plans for coming events for his district:

Tour Landmarks

A pilgrimage to historic spots was made by Grand President McCarthy and fellow grand officers September 15. Saturday morning the group started out, visiting Stockton, Ione, Plymouth, Sutter Creek and Jackson in Amador County; thence to San Andreas, Angels Camp and Murphys in Calaveras County. While in San Andreas, a meeting was held with Grand Marshal Doris Treat of the Native Daughters where plans for the institution of a Native Sons parlor in that city were discussed.

At Angels Camp a conference was held with Senator and Mrs. Jesse Mayo for similar purposes. It was hoped also that interest in a parlor for Murphys might result in the visit planned with members of Chispa Parlor No. 139. Following their stop-over at Murphys, the Calaveras Big Trees were visited and from there the party journeyed to Columbia and Sonora in Tuolumne County. There a dinner was served and forty candidates initiated into the Order.

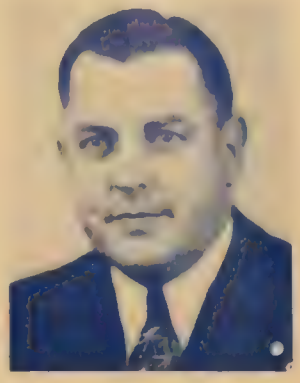
Wilmington Parlor

Members of Wilmington Parlor No. 280 NSGW initiated four new members, two by proxy, at a recent meeting. They are Tige Clinton, Leonard Davis, Claude Brown, Jr., and Samuel Hood, Jr. Latter two, members of the armed forces, were unable to attend.

Japanese Legislation was discussed at the meeting by Grand Second Vice-President Walter Odemar and Grand Trustee Bernard Hiss spoke on the Homeless Children Fund drive which commences this month. He urged all present to "get behind the drive one hundred per cent."



Songs by A. B. (Bud) Fages, of Valley Parlor No. 285, Van Nuys, and piano numbers by organist Don Carter, of Wilmington Parlor, rounded out a highly entertaining evening.

Ray Saltonstall, Wilmington Parlor, No. 280, NSGW, announces the program committee is planning a pork barbecue to be held sometime in November. He will have assistance from the social committee in planning the event.

Staff Sergeant Alfred Franchi, member of Pacific Parlor No. 10 NSGW, San Francisco, has returned to the DeWitt General Hospital at Auburn after a month's furlough with his family in San Francisco. A series of anticipated operations is expected to restore Franchi to good health.

General Assembly

Governor General Donald E. Van Luven

As this issue of the Grizzly Bear goes to press, preparations have been completed for the General Assembly of the Past Presidents' Association to be held at Crestline October 20, under the leadership of Governor General Donald E. Van Luven.

This will be the second time the General Assembly has been held in the southland and also the second time Arrowhead Assembly No. 14, instituted in June, 1934, has had a governor general. Since the present leader of the assembly is also a charter governor of Arrowhead Assembly, something should be known about his career as a Native Son.

Van Luven first saw the light of day in Santa Monica, September 1, 1899. After christening him Donald Earl, his parents brought him to San Bernardino and he has been a resident there ever since, except when attending Oregon State College and when serving his country in World War I.

Van Luven joined Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, March 10, 1920 and took an active interest in the affairs of the parlor. He was elected to the presidency in 1929, serving two terms and in 1943, he was called upon to act a third time as the parlor's executive.

As a grand trustee, the subject of this sketch served the Grand Parlor from 1934 to 1936, and during the next three years was on the state board of appeals. From 1940 to 1942 he acted on the Grand Parlor financial committee. Since 1943 Van Luven has been a member of the board of controls and this year is its chairman.

Becoming a "judge" in July, 1927, when he was elected to the police court bench, Van Luven is now serving his home city for the nineteenth year in this responsible position.

Members of Arrowhead Assembly are working to make this General Assembly as enjoyable as the one held at Crestline in 1940 when our present general chairman, Walter E. Hiskey presided as governor general. Roy B. Finkle, chairman of transportation will instruct anyone seeking advice on how to reach San Bernardino after he detrains or arrives by other methods of transportation in Los Angeles. His address is 770 Eighth Street, San Bernardino.

After two years of action in the South Pacific, Seabee Herb Otto, member of Ramona Parlor No. 109 NSGW, Los Angeles, is home on furlough and visited fellow members at a recent meeting. Otto was among the fighters who recaptured Guam.

MELESS BABIES WEEK

OCTOBER 22 to 27

T 'EM DOWN

For 35 years the Native Sons and Native Daughters have sponsored the statewide work of placement of homeless babies for adoption.

This year the need is greater than ever. The State Department of Social Welfare has served notice that this program must be expanded.

The best effort of every Native Son and Native Daughter is called for in this campaign.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS

Official Visits

Marking her first official visit to Sacramento County and the second of her term, Grand President Ethel C. Enos was honored September 4 at a joint meeting of Sutter Parlor No. 111 and Coloma Parlor No. 212, Sacramento in Odd Fellows Hall, Oak Park.

Coral Davis, of Sutter Parlor presided at the opening and closing ceremonies and Marie Adams, of Coloma Parlor officiated during the balloting and initiatory ceremonies.

Distinguished guests present at the impressive affair were Grand Marshal Doris Treat, San Andreas; Grand Trustee Betty Read, Jackson; PGPs Mary E. Bell, Dixon and Edna B. Briggs, Sacramento; SDDGP Myrtis Orr, DGPs Blanche Perret and Lavinia Blakely.

Grand President Enos was presented a gift from the two parlors by SDDGP Myrtis Orr.

Seventy-six representatives of Native Daughter parlors in Amador, Sacramento and El Dorado Counties attended the fiftieth anniversary observance of Forrest Parlor No. 86 NDGW, held August 30 in Plymouth. Among those present also were Grand President Ethel Enos; Grand Trustee Betty Read, of Ursula Parlor No. 1, Jackson and Past Grand President Gladys E. Noce, of Amapola Parlor No. 80, Sutter Creek.

Fifty-year membership pins were presented by the Grand President to three surviving charter members of Forrest Parlor. They were Minnie Ekel Catto, Diamond Springs; Mary Silva Burke, Plymouth, and Etta May Lamson Hervill, San Francisco.

The parlor was organized in 1895. President Celia Sherwood was in charge of ceremonies.

Initiations

"South of the Border" was theme of the occasion, when Copa de Oro Parlor No. 105 NDGW, Hollister, initiated three candidates, installed officers and complimented President-elect Gladys Jones, who recently performed splendid educational work among Mexican nationals.

DGP Myrtle Hughes, assisted by members of Aleli Parlor No. 102 NDGW, Salinas, was installing officer. Gifts were presented to Grand Trustee Elmarie Dyke, retiring president Eugenia Walker, SDDGP Ethel Hyde and DGP Hughes. Strolling Mexican musicians helped in accenting the theme.

Fruitvale Parlor No. 177, NDGW, Oakland, held its first initiation September 2, inducting Dorothy L. Maynard into membership. Deputy Irene McNiece of Brooklyn Parlor No. 107, NDGW, Oakland, attended the ceremonies. Nell Crowley, chairman of war stamps and bonds has commenced a Victory Bond drive for the parlor.

A gay picnic lunch followed by dancing all the afternoon was enjoyed recently by members of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, and Redwood Parlor No. 66, NSGW, at Bear Lodge in Kings Mountain. Music was furnished by the Native Sons band.

Receptions

Grand Vice President Loretta Cameron will be honored at a reception to be given by members of her own parlor, Twin Peaks Parlor No. 185, NDGW, San Francisco, at 8:30 p.m. October 10 in Dovre Hall. Merle Sandell is in charge of arrangements.

Honoring Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, forty members of Aloha Parlor No. 106, NDGW, Oakland, gathered at a dinner September 11 preceding the regular meeting. A lovely corsage and a gift order was presented to the Grand Secretary by the parlor, and friends presented her with many gifts.

After the dinner a business meeting was held, at which the Ways and Means Committee outlined plans for the year. On October 23 a Hallowe'en party will be held, with Lorraine Threatt as chairman. Observing Armistice Day, November 11, Aloha Parlor will have a pot-luck supper.

The semi-annual "Pal Dinner" of Occident Parlor No. 28 NDGW, Eureka was held September 27 with Mrs. Oscar G. Johanson, president, as official hostess. Mable Scott was reservation chairman for the enjoyable affair.

Visitors at the parlor's meeting on September 19 were Mrs. Fred B. Le Vitt and Mrs. H. C. Haughman, both of Californiana Parlor No. 247 NDGW, Los Angeles.

Installations

While whistles, bells and sirens shrieked outside in celebration of V-J Day, and milling crowds along Market Street below yelled in jubilation over the news, officers-elect of Castro Parlor No. 178, NDGW, San Francisco went calmly about the business of being installed. They celebrated afterwards, during reception-hour.

Andreine Heins was seated as president and the following officers were also installed: Lillian Chasseur, past president; Madeline Devencense, Virginia McGuire and Frances Faenzi, vice-presidents; Katherine Bertetta, marshal; Mae Waring, treasurer. Also Alice Lane, financial secretary; Dorothy Mefford and Carmella Allen, sentinels; Nelda Ehrhorn, Sadie Ingham and Edith Keane, trustees; Adeline Sandersfeld, recording secretary, and Isabel Standing, organist.

Joint installation of officers of Bonita Parlor No. 10, NDGW, Redwood City and Redwood Parlor No. 66, NSGW, took place recently with deputies Mary Fisher of Menlo Parlor No. 211, NDGW, and Leonard Avilla as installing officers.

Adding a charming touch to the ceremony, charter member Mamie Glenan was given the special privilege of standing in support of her daughter, Alleen Maguire, as the latter was installed as president of Bonita Parlor. As Alleen and newly-elected president Charles Curran of Redwood Parlor were presented at the altar, members of Bonita's Drill Team formed an escort.

Agnes Casaretto was chairman of the evening, with Dorothy Sabin in charge of refreshments.

Also installed as officers of Bonita Parlor that evening were: Margaret Jory, past president; Dorothy Sabin, Dolores Bozzo and Ulrica O'Sullivan, vice-presidents; Mary Sears, marshal; Lil Raso and Elvira Hughes, sentinels; Martha Bernasque, recording secretary; Bertha Brown, financial secretary; Agnes Casaretto, treasurer. Also Dollie Jamieson, organist and Mamie Glenan, Jessie Blomquist and Dorothy Bank, trustees. (Editor's Note: The names of Native Sons officers were not sent to the Grizzly Bear.)

Eschol Parlor No. 16, NDGW, Napa, has formed a drill team, with Georgia Gensoli in charge, according to word received from Ella Ingram, parlor secretary.

She also reported that joint public installation of officers of Eshcol Parlor and Napa Parlor No. 62 NSGW took place recently, with Louise Geiger and Phillip Malloy seated as presidents of their respective parlors. Gertrude Briggs, of Vallejo Parlor No. 195 NDGW and Jess Stephenson, of Napa Parlor were installing officers. Dancing and refreshments followed the ceremonies.

Anniversaries

Celebration of the 37th anniversary of the founding of El Pinal Parlor No. 163, NDGW, Cambria, was highlighted by attendance of First Lieut. Lila Soto, just returned from the British Isles, where she served as an army nurse. Immediate members of Lieut. Soto's family were special guests. A delicious dinner featuring chicken polenta was served. Katie Jewett and Dena Dickie formed the dinner committee.

Feast of St. Raphael

San Rafael Native Daughters who pro-ote, sponsor and plan an annual Fiesta e anticipating a joyful and successful ent for October 11, 12, 13 and 14. The casion honors the feast day of the city's tron saint.

Time was when the feast of St. Raphael, e healer, was a religious observance, but times have changed, it has been neces-ry to stage the fiesta on a more con-nient date. October 24 was the date for-erly set aside on which to honor the rchangel Raphael, for whom the mission d city were named.

In the early days, it was the occasion for e gathering together of Marin's residents r a carefree week of barbecues and danc-g. Visitors from all parts of California id Mexico were royally entertained. Sport-g events included a bull and bear fight.

At the turn of the century, prior to World ar I, the celebration gradually dwindled include only private parties or barbecues r old timers. To the Native Daughters, ith the cooperation of the Native Sons go e credit for reviving the fiesta and per-tuating the historical traditions of Cali-rnia. For several years Marinita Parlor o. 198, now the largest in the state, has rected the celebration almost without out-de assistance and much credit is due them. he program was outlined in the Septem-r issue of the Grizzly Bear. For further formation, members are requested to ntact Lee Brice, general chairman, 20 ss Street, San Rafael.

Float

A striking float, depicting a scene of ow and ice in the Aleutians was entered the huge San Francisco Victory Parade Admission Day by Orinda Parlor No. , NDGW, in that city. Title of the float as "Native Daughters of the Golden West ntribute Sunshine to the Aleutians," and as enacted by three veterans of World ar Two around a large sunlamp, amidst e ice and snow. Nine girls, forming a ter "V", marched behind the float, essed in white, wearing Uncle Sam hats d carrying red, white and blue streamers. embers sat on seat tiers built on the float.

Annual Bazaar

Annual Bazaar of La Reina Parlor No. 267 NDGW, Los Angeles will be held November 7 at 1853 So. Arlington Ave., according to Edith Metz, chairman. A dinner will precede the bazaar that evening, the chairman stated, with the public invited to attend both affairs. Many useful and lovely articles are now being prepared by members to go on sale that night.

Cleora McAlpin, chairman of the parlor's Activities committee called a meeting at Cecelia Valenzuela's home recently, to plan the year's program. A beach party and a night of rolling skating were two social events decided upon by the committee.

La Reina Parlor's seventh anniversary was observed with a delightful party September 13 at Casa de Adobe, Southwest Museum. Marcella Palethorpe acted as hostess to members and friends.

Milk Fund

Organized only three months, La Tijera Parlor No. 282 NDGW, Inglewood, has taken steps to adopt its first homeless child. The parlor recently voted to name the baby Helen, in honor of its charter president, Helen Brandt. Great pride is expressed by representatives of the parlor for having taken this humanitarian course in its third month of organization.

As chairman of the campaign, my home, 535 North Howard Street, Glendale, Zone 6, will be headquarters for the drive. Communications should be forwarded to me there; to Miss Phyllis Dunne, executive secretary, Central Offices for the Homeless Children, 135 Stockton Street, San Francisco 8, or to Miss Dorothy Schlingman, 3924 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles 27.

Now that everyone in California has an opportunity to join in financing the Homeless Children's project, it readily can be seen that the work in future will be conducted on an increased scale with resultant benefits for children and mothers.

Native Sons and Daughters will not let the Homeless Children down. They will increase their efforts in furthering the Homeless Children project. The love every member has for this greatest of all work springs from the heart and cannot suddenly be stilled. Every member will rise up and exercise every influence within his power in one unified effort to retain and promote the Homeless Children's Agency during Homeless Babies' Week and every day, week, month and year as long as Native Sons and Daughters exist as organizations.

LETTER BOX

The Grizzly Bear received the followi note from an anonymous person: "May offer a few suggestions for the Nati Daughters' department of your magazine as a past president of our Order, I wo like to see published, following grand o cers, a list of past grand presidents t same as published for the Native Sons, a the past presidents associations, NDGW a now eliminated, while NSGW are publish . . . Seems to me that is knowledge all N tive Daughters would welcome. . . ."

The note is signed, "An Old Subscribe Anonymous communications are unfair editors. In this case, the only reason are answering here is because so ma misunderstandings exist regarding Grizzly Bear's position in the matter publishing directories.

The Grizzly Bear did not publish a p grand presidents' list until last year, wh your editor found a communication in file from a past grand president addres to the former editor suggesting it. Thi ing it was an excellent idea, we inserted list for a time, but after the cost of p duction soared so high and space was tight, it was necessary to omit it. The c cial directory is furnished to the Nat Daughters for far less than cost of p duction.

The past presidents' association direct was placed in the magazine as an adv tisement by that organization and wher became necessary to raise advertising ra for reasons beyond our control they c celled their contract. The junior unit di tory is omitted because no one takes trouble to send the corrections or additi for this directory and it is our belief t it is better to leave it out than to publ it incomplete and with erroneous inf mation. All directories are paid adverti ments.

The Native Sons subscribe to the ma zine 100 per cent and for this reason th directory is furnished to them without c while only one-fifth of the Native Daugh membership subscribes.

The editor asks in fairness to the pu cation that all communications be signed the writer who should also supply his her address.

Mourn Members

Death claimed two prominent members of Stanford Parlor No. 76 NSGW, San Francisco recently. They were James T. Monahan and Fred R. Varni. Monahan, member of the northern city's police force, joined the parlor in 1924 and was an active member of its baseball team. Varni, a salesman, joined in 1943.

Joe Desimone

Death recently erased the name of Joe Desimone from the roll of Observatory Parlor. He was a long time member and the name of Desimone and the early days of San Jose are almost synonymous. Deceased always took a very active part in Parlor activities, especially in debating.

John Going

For sixty-one years a member of Excelsior Parlor No. 31 NSGW, Jackson, John Going, sexton of the Mother Lode city's St. Patrick's church, passed away at his home August 17, following an illness extending over many months.

Born in 1862 and the son of pioneers, Going was a charter member, who in earlier life engaged in mining and became operator of the old Jackson chlorination works. His passing leaves one remaining charter member for Excelsior Parlor, Harry W. Jones.

ALTA L. DOUGLAS,
Committee.

Georgetown, California, September 10, 1945.

Lena Jackson

Descendent of a pioneer Napa County family, Lena Jackson, eighty-three, was overtaken by death August 26 after a prolonged illness. She was a charter member of Eshcol Parlor No. 16 NDGW, Napa. Miss Jackson served for many years as a school teacher in and around Napa, and then became superintendent of Napa County schools. Long after her retirement she continued her interest in educational programs and, as long as she lived, kept in touch with her former students.

Genevieve Wheeler

Mrs. Genevieve Wheeler, mother of Bernice Setterberg, marshal of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 NDGW and Frances Hohl, of the same parlor, died suddenly September 11 at her home in Los Angeles after undergoing an operation. Funeral services were held September 17, attended by members of the parlor. Besides Bernice and Frances, Mrs. Wheeler is survived by her husband and a son, Fireman 1/C Kenneth Wheeler.

Virginia Ballard

Virginia Mae Ballard, 24, member of Colus Parlor No. 169 NDGW, died August 28 in the Community Hospital, Grass Valley, from a long attack of rheumatic fever followed by a serious abdominal operation. She was stricken with illness while employed in the office of the Colusa county auditor. Her removal to Grass Valley for treatment was decided by the fact that her parents resided in the High Sierra city, and she wished to be near them.
